Plat and Schedule Ready On Third Street Paving

Plat and schedule for assessments required by the paved margins, curbs and gutters on Third Street NE were approved at Monday night's council meeting, so the property-holders involved will soon be able to learn what their individual assessments will be. Assessment amounts will be posted at the city hall.

No objections were offered at the hearing on the 1951 city budget, scheduled in conjunction with the council meeting, so the city fathers approved the budget estimate as published.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hauge and family

"Pigs is pigs" to the most of us — rather smelly, unpleasant animals, which we'd just as soon have little to do with until transformed into table fare. But Dale Hauge looks upon them somewhat differently.

As an enthusiastic Duroc breeder, he not only views his pigs as a very remunerative cash crop but openly admits that he thoroughly enjoys working with them. He also takes considerable pride in the quality of his herd of "reds" and concentrates steadily on improving its quality.

Mr. and Mrs. Hauge and their four youngsters live on an "eighty" just northeast of Belmond, owned by her father, Wes Braner. It's been their home for the past six years. Dale got his start in Duroc breeding — with a single purebred brood sow — a year prior to the Hauges' move to their present location.

Steady development of the herd has brought it to a dozen fine sows and Dale this season has 87 spring pigs. His particular pride is a pair of litters produced by two especially good sows he bought from outstanding Duroc breeders.

One of the bred gilts was bought from Pearson Stock Farm of Radcliffe, Iowa; her litter was sired by the 1949 Indiana state fair junior champion boar. The other, which was bred to othe boar which won the junior championship at last year's Iowa state fair, was obtained from Knotek Brothers of Riverside, Iowa.

All of Dale's swine stock is purebred. Up to date he has done no showing, but this year he plans to enter several of his best animals at the North Iowa Fair. The idea of making some state fair entries is tempting him, also; but he doubts that he'll make his debut at Des Moines this year.

Out of 87 pigs, he intends to keep about 25 boars and the same number of sows to sell as blooded stock and retain another 10 sows for breeding purposes. The remainder he will sell on the open market. He has not registered any of his springs pigs, but he says that all are eligible for registry and that he can obtain papers in a hurry if the buyers of any of his stock requests them.

He'll be keeping his eye out for a couple of good, bred gilts again this fall, to again bring his number of brood sows up to an even dozen. That's about the maximum number his farm will accommodate.

Dale believes that dealing in purebred stock well repays a farmer for the extra expense and bother involved. Last year his boars sold at prices that averaged better than twice what they'd have brought on the open market. His sows didn't bring quite such a high premium, but nevertheless sold much better than ordinary meat animals.

All of the grain crops of the Hauge farm go to feed his swine, except for the 13 to 14 acres he has in soybeans. It will be recalled that Dale won second in the district soybean yield contest conducted last year by the Belmond Chamber of Commerce, with a fine average of 37.25 bushels per acre. We asked Dale if he'd sold the beans when the market was near its peak.

"Well, no!" he admitted. "In fact, I've still got them,"

But he considers the current price still a good one and isn't worried about making a very reasonable return on the '49 crop.

He says that at the present stage his 1950 crop looks every bit as good as last year's. He's not counting on another record yield, since the beans still have a long way to go before harvest time. However, with decent breaks on the weather, Dale is confident the crop will be a good one.

Your reporter had to interview Dale rather late last Friday night, as he'd been busy combining oats till sundown. Dale planted the Ames variety and predicted the crop would run better than 50 bushels to the acre. He had 15 acres in oats.

A firm believer in the value of spraying for borers, Dale had all 20 acres of his corn treated once during the first brood period. His corn was planted rather late, so he considered a second spraying for the first brood unnecessary. He's definitely planning on another spray job, though, when the second hatching period arrives.

Dale didn't leave any check rows in order to measure the effectiveness of the spraying. He says he's completely satisfied that the chemical treatment pays off well and saw no need for proving it to himself by sacrificing part of his yield through leaving some rows untreated.

When we say that raising Durocs of a purebred variety is Dale's pride and joy, we really should qualify the statement somewhat. Because, needless to say, neither Dale nor his wife would rank their four younguns behind a passel of pigs. Their quartet of towheads are really up-and-comers and a handsomer family of children would be hard to find.

Linda, age eight, is their eldest. Then comes Dennis, who's five; Paul, three; and little Jean is a year old. We can only hope that none of the bunch turns out to be fickle-minded. There are four potential heart-breakers, if ever we saw any.

Of course, if their affections are as slow in burning the length of the fuse as their parents' were, there's not much to worry about. Although Velma was a year behind Dale when they attended Belmond High school, they sat in the same home room for three years; and neither gave the other so much as a measuring glance.

Then a couple of years later the tide of events threw them together for a first date. Whatever was the cause of their earlier indifference towards each other passed out of the picture in a hurry. Both are still unable to explain the delayed action that characterized their romance; but they're mighty happy that their eyes were mutually opened when they were.

JOE DUEA PURCHASES GILT AT DUROC SALE

Joe Duea, wellknown Duroc breeder from Belmond, purchased one of the bred gilts in the big sale held in connection with the 1950 National Duroc Congress at Hawkeye Downs, Cedar Rapids, on July 28-29. A total of 269 of the country's finest Durocs consigned by the leading Duroc breeders of the nation competed for national honors in this two-day event.

The gilt purchased by Duea for $300 was consigned by Greg F. Vasko and Sons, widely known Duroc breeding firm of Dyersville, Iowa.

Climax of the two-day Congress program was a sale of 187 Duroc bred fall gilts, spring boars and gilts. A total of 1,592 Duroc breeders, "red hog enthusiasts" and farmers from the Cedar Rapids area were at the ringside. Twenty-eight states were represented and the bidding was brisk, with a Mississippi firm buying the top selling animal, a spring boar, at $1,100.

Duane Sandage requests that farmers of Belmond, Pleasant, Grant and Iowa townships cast a a speculative eye on their cornfields with a view to spotting a likely yield contest entry.

Deadline for submitting entries in the second annual yield contest sponsored by the Belmond chapter of Future Farmers of America is Aug. 19. Mr. Sandage, chapter advisor, says he's noted a number of promising fields and has high hopes for the success of the 1950 competition.

An entry fee of $3.00 is charged, but if a field doesn't warrant checking when harvest time has arrived all but $1.00 will be refunded.

The F. F. A. boys hope there will be enough good entries to accurately reflect the quality of corn grown in this corner of the county. Consequently, they encourage tentative entries wherever a field looks particularly good.

A handsome trophy will be awarded to the contest winner and the Iowa Corn and Small Grain Growers' association, co-sponsors of the contest, will award medals to all farmers achieving a test yield in excess of 100 bushels per acre.

There will be other awards for yields exceeding 125, bushels, and winning entries will be eligible to compete for state prizes.

Wes Braner was the winner of last year's F.F.A. contest with a yield of 104.5 bushels.

Would-be contestants are reminded that yields must be from a 10-acre area; in checked corn, yield must be on 50 consecutive hills in a row, including missed hills; and in drilled or power-checked corn, row length must be exactly 50 times width between rows.

Rows must not be less than 36 inches apart. Yield must be calculated on a uniform basis of 15.5 per cent moisture, from three ears selected at random.

Do you hope he gets away with it?

Suppose it were an automobile he was taking; would you still want him to get away with it? What the boy is doing is very human, isn't it? But is it right or wrong?

All through our lives we have to think whether it is right or wrong to undersell a competitor, to use power politics, to hold back some of the truth, to . . . well, to do a thousand different things. Those who want to build a better world are constantly concerned with the problem of right and wrong.

The Church, too, is vitally concerned with that problem. Its leaders and its followers have spent long hours studying, praying, living, to find the best and truest answers. The Church has good, realistic answers to the questions of right and wrong, answers all men need, answers that, if followed, will build a better world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Wright County Administrative Costs

Compare Well With State Average

Figures released last week by the Iowa Taxpayers association on per person cost of the combined administrative county offices for the year 1948 showed that Wright county's elected officials, in general, did quite well in holding expenses down.

Of 51 counties in the 15,000-25,000 population bracket, Wright ranked 20th with total administrative per person cost of $3.43 and was 21 cents under the average cost for the population group, although 11 cents over the statewide average.

Comparing our figure to that of neighboring counties gave further credit to the Wright administrators. Hamilton beat us a bit, having an average of only $3.25 per capita; but Franklin's average was $4.50, Hancock's $4.13 and Humboldt's $3.96. All of the last three, however, experience the disadvantage of having somewhat smaller populations to share the over-all expense.

Wright's per capita administrative cost was up 41 cents from its 1947 average of $3.02, but the per cent of increase was a shade less than the average for the state as a whole.

Nine county offices are included as administrative units: board of supervisors, engineer, attorney, sheriff, superintendent of schools and the offices of the auditor, treasurer, clerk of court and recorder.

One thing was particularly eye-catching in comparing Wright's breakdown by administrative divisions to that for the combined counties of the state.

Total administrative costs for all counties was $8,430,535, of which $825,801—or less than 9.8 per cent—was expended on the boards of supervisors.

Wright county's total administrative cost was $68,789, of which $13,349—or more than 19.4 per cent—was made up of payments to the county supervisors.

This contrast between the relative cost of county boards, the state over, and the cost of our own board of supervisors emphasized the fact that this is one Wright county administrative division that could and should watch expenses more carefully in the future than it has in the past.

Wright's favorable rating in the matter of per capita administrative costs has been achieved in spite of, rather than with the help of the board of supervisors.

Farmers Out-Slickered City Folks

In The Division of Highway Funds

According to figures just released, net receipts of the state Road Use Tax fund for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1950 total just under $62,050,000. This includes approximately $2,958,000 in vehicle registration fees not yet called in from county treasurers, but which comprises a part of the fund for the year recently ended.

With the money made available for road construction under the new highway legislation enacted by the 53rd general assembly, Iowa should make some real progress toward developing a road system in which all residents of the state can take pride.

There is one angle to the program, however, which may leave urban dwellers wondering if they aren't rather getting the small end of the deal. They should have no objection to the $26,060,000 going to the primary road fund, because they will benefit equally with their rural brethren in the highway improvements. But the cut of less than five million that is returned to municipal road and street funds isn't too impressive.

Although Iowa is generally looked upon as very predominantly an agricultural state, actually only 57.3 per cent of the population lives on farms. Fifty per cent of the aggregate road funds is expended expressly for the benefit of the farmers on secondary road construction—and you might say their proportionate share in the primary road fund (on the population basis) amounts to 24 of the 42 per cent of the over-all road budget devoted to highway improvement.

In other words, the farm folks' share of the total road fund is about 74 per cent; and the city residents directly benefit from the other 26 per cent. It all adds up to the fact that urban money is financing a pretty fair share of secondary road construction, in which the city dweller has relatively small interest.

We'd be the last to contend that city and town enjoy no indirect benefits from the development of secondary roads. On the other hand, eyeing Belmond's own needs along the line of street improvement, we'd say the rural spokesmen definitely stole the show when division of the highway funds was determined.

State Democrats "View With Scorn"

Beardsley Record Up to Present

Iowa's Democrats are having a big time these days taking pot-shots at the record Governor Beardsley has established during his term in office. All but the most enthusiastic GOP followers are apt to agree in at least limited fashion that the governor's performance has been something less than phenominal.

Beardsley's administration has been characterized more by sins of omission rather than commission. He has not directed the legislature into actions that were particularly open to criticism; but, on the other hand, the lawmakers have inserted no spectacularly gaudy feathers into their collective hat, either.

Democratic state headquarters makes an especial point of the failure of the committee on reorganization to consolidate state bureaus and departments, with a corresponding reduction in the number of state employees. The Demo's point out that the year of 1949 witnessed an increase in the state payroll to the extent of 40 persons, rather than any decrease. After 15 months of deliberation, the "Little Hoover Commission" has yet to get a good tooth-hold on its problem.

Besides his avowal to reorganize the state personnel for greater efficiency and economy, the Democrats find a number of other Beardsley promises that do not bear very close inspection in the light of accomplishment.

We wouldn't go so far as to join Democratic Publicity Director Frank Moorhead in his awestruck critique, "What a record of mismanagement, stupidity an inefficiency!" But as the opposition views with scorn, Governor Beardsley is going to be somewhat hard pressed to find compensating achievements at which to point with pride.

——O——

We know of an Iowa youth with a previously good record who was recently sentenced to 20 years in the state penitentiary for embezzlement of something less than $2,000 from the bank for which he worked. This week we noticed that Richard H. Crowe, the New York banker who absconded with nearly $900,000 last year, has been paroled after serving 13 months of a three-year sentence. We hold no brief for embezzlers, but certainly a social register rating doesn't compensate for the obvious inequity of the sentence handed to the young Iowan. Contrasts of this nature make excellent propaganda material for Joe Stalin's stooges.

Five years ago last Sunday the United States blasted Hiroshima with the first atom bomb dropped in military action. Less than two weeks later, with Red forces still 170 miles distant from the nearest Japanese army in China, Russia declared itself responsible for ending World War II when the Japs sued for peace. Handwriting on the wall clearly outlined the future, then and there; but—scribbled in Russian—Uncle Sam apparently couldn't read it.

Names Make News

Last week The Independent carried in its local news columns over 1600* names of people, from Belmond and the nearby communities of Goodell, Meservey, Alexander and Rowan, and their friends.

If you are interested in people, you will be interested in The Independent, for in no other place can you find out what so many of the people you know are doing.

True, the greatest part of these names were not involved in big news. And this is fortunate, for big news is usually bad news. But if you want to know the things that happened, good and bad, to the people around you, read the Belmond Independent.

Extension Funds Raised to $7,750 By Farm Bureau

The Wright County Farm Bureau board of directors recently voted an appropriation of $3,875 from membership funds to support the extension program for the remainder of 1950.

This allotment, plus a similar amount transferred to the extension fund earlier in the year, makes up a total of $7,750 of Farm Bureau dues paid out to aid in the educational program. The second-half apppropriation was voted at the monthly Farm Bureau board meeting July 31.

Lynn Thompson, Wright County Farm Bureau president, announced the transfer of funds and pointed out that nearly three-fourths, of all membership dues spent in the county is used to support extension work. Mr. Thompson reported that these funds carry a sizeable share of the cost of 4-H clubs, extension home economics and the general educational program as directed by the extension director and the youth assistant.

The Wright county contribution to the extension service is considerably higher than the state average, according to President Thompson. Over the state as a whole, 100 county Farm Bureaus transferred more than $600,000 in funds from voluntary membership dues to the educational phases of the program.

This money is used to promote better agricultural practices and better farm living for all farmers in the county, he said, whether the farmer be a member of the Farm Bureau or not.

The extension service is partially supported by an annual appropriation of $3,000 from county tax funds, partially by grants from Farm Bureau and partially by state and federal funds. As the needs of farmers have required additional technical personnel in the county extension offices, Farm Bureau grants have increased through the years until they now average about twice as much as the county taxes.

The Wright county extension staff is headed by Extension Director Aaron Bowman, Mrs. Lettie Zuber directs the home economics program, and Art Hibray serves as a full-time youth assistant.

READ THE CLASSIFIEDS

WALTER WILSON, who came to Wright county last September to assume the duties of fieldman for the Wright County Farm Bureau, has been rehired by the board for another year. He is in charge of membership and organization work, directs legislative activities and assists in the various services conducted by the Farm Bureau in this county. His office quarters are in the Farm Bureau office in Clarion.

The Clarion bank, rural women's chorus and the girls 4-H chorus will furnish the musical portion of the evenings' program.

The big event is sponsored by the Wright County Farm Bureau and Clarion Chamber of Commerce for everyone in the county, town and country people alike.

The above resolution was adopted on motion by Greenlander, seconded by Pinkham, said motion unanimously carried.

Whereas, Wright County, Iowa, acquired title to the South 22 feet of Lots Seven (7) and Eight (8), and the South 22 feet of the East 6 feet of Lot Six (6), in Block Fourteen (14), in the Original Town of Clarion, Iowa, from the United States Government and said property was included in the plat and dedication of the Town of Grant in Wright County, Iowa, which bears date October 30, 1865; and,

Whereas, Wright County, Iowa, attempted by deeds recorded in Book 2, pages 28 and 67, of the Town Lot Deed Records of Wright County, Iowa, to convey said property to subsequent purchasers thereof; and,

Whereas, some question has arisen as to the validity of said deeds and as to the sufficiency of the acts of the county officials executing the same to convey away the title of Wright County, Iowa, in said properties; and,

Whereas, First National Bank of Clarion in Clarion, Iowa, is now and for many years passed has been the actual owner of said real estate and has been paying the taxes thereon; and,

Whereas, Wright County, Iowa, has no interest whatever in said property; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, that George S. Trowbridge as Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, be and he is hereby directed to sign and execute a quit claim deed for said real estate to said Bank and upon the signing and execution thereof, he shall return the same to this Board for approval.

Be it further resolved that Roger E. Charlson, Auditor of said county, be and he is hereby authorized and directed to attach the seal of said county to said instrument and attest the same by his signature.

Supervisor Fisher moved the adoption of the foregoing resolution, and Supervisor Pinkham seconded the motion. Upon roll call, all members present voted in favor of the motion and thereupon the Chairman declared the motion carried and the resolution adopted.

Whereas, said resolution further directed the County Auditor of this county, Roger E. Charlson, to affix the seal of the county thereto and to attest to the execution of said instrument by his signature; and,

Whereas, said deed has been so executed, attested and sealed and has now been returned to this Board for approval and it appearing to the Board that said deed in all respects complies with the former resolution ordering the same, now, therefore,

Be it resolved that the said deed be and the same is hereby approved by this Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors Henry moved the adoption of the foregoing resolution which was seconded by Supervisor Greenlander. Upon call of the roll, all members present voted in favor of the resolution and thereupon the Chairman declared the motion carried and the resolution adopted.

Moved by Fisher, seconded by Pinkham, that non-resident notices be served on the following: Roy Smith, Dows, Iowa. Motion carried.

Motion by Henry, seconded by Fisher, that the resignation of Alice Moore as County Public Health Nurse be reluctantly accepted, said resignation to be effective September 1, 1950. Motion carried.

Moved by Henry, seconded by Fisher, that the Wright County Health Council be authorized to accept applications and make recommendations to the Board of Supervisors for the selection of a new Wright County Public Health Nurse. Motion carried.

Moved by Pinkham, seconded by Henry, that the appointment of Alicia Dean as Deputy County Recorder, to be effective August 1, 1950, be approved. Motion carried.

Motion by Fisher, seconded by Pinkham, that $75,000 be transferred from the Secondary Road Construction fund to the Secondary Road Maintenance fund. Motion carried.

Whereas, there is now in the hands of the treasurer the sum of $42,332.46, credited to the General County fund, and

Whereas, there is now in the hands of the treasurer the sum of $0.00, credited to the Eagle Grove Jr. Fair fund, and

Whereas, it is desired to transfer $500 from the General County Fund to the Eagle Grove Jr. Fair Fund, for the following reasons:

Inadequate levy made in 1949, and

Whereas, proper arrangements have been made for the return of this money, same to be returned within one year from date of transfer and

Whereas, there is sufficient money in the General County fund to meet all demands thereon, until said money can be returned, and

Whereas, all laws relating to municipalities have been complied with,

Now therefore, be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, subject to the approval of the State Comptroller, that said sum of $500 be, and the same is hereby ordered transferred from the General County fund to the Eagle Grove Jr. Fair fund, and the County Auditor is directed to correct his books accordingly and to notify the treasurer of this transfer, accompanying the notification with a copy of this resolution and the record of its adoption.

The adoption of the foregoing resolution was moved by Fisher, seconded by Pinkham, said motion being carried and the resolution duly adopted.

Minutes were read and approved.

Even as you and I, the aristocrats of the golf fairways sometimes find the white, rubber sphere, taunting their best efforts. Fred Gordon might have had "Woodchopper's Ball" as his theme song as he started play in the Sani Open at Des Moines last Saturday.

By the time he'd hacked his way into the cup, the Iowa ex-champ had a super-ample seven on the par 4 No. 1. That was all the funny business for the day, though, as Fred completed the round with 16 pars and a birdie.

—M-S—

Many a golfer will understand perfectly the anguish that clutched a young club-swinger about 12 years og age, who was playing the Clarmond course with his Dad lasts Saturday. As he advanced down the fairway, he was mumbling unkind words about well-meaning advice he'd received from his male parent.

When a six-foot flub capped his efforts, the boy exploded in righteous wrath! Apparently mimicking his tutor, he wailed: "Keep your left arm stiff! Keep your right knee stiff! . . I feel like a doggone corpse!"

—M-S—

But don't fret too much, duffers. Our period of ordeal is drawing to a close. We noticed a gas main is being tapped to provide the courthouse at Clarion with a new source of fuel for the coming winter. The step signifies not only abandonment of annual stoking activities at the courthouse but the coming of fall and surcease to our woes. Soon will come wintertime, during which we can dream away our faults and view the coming of another golf season with renewed ardor.

Joe Skarr, one of the "hill" dwellers, was wondering this week if it really pays to go to church. Last Sunday morning Joe was in attendance at the Trinity Lutheran services, his car parked near the church. When he was about to drive home, he discovered that some culprit had very carefully unscrewed his car-radio aerial from its moorings and absconded with it. Seems you can't trust NO-body, NO-where!

Belmond is now the best equipped with municipal automotive equipment that it has ever been. On Saturday the city received delivery on both its new street truck and the new police patrol car.

While the new truck was undoubtedly needed and will fulfill a very worthy function, the police car makes a bit more appeal to the imagination and will be very widely welcomed by residents of the community as a decidedly wise purchase. The city fathers and Mayor "Andy" Loats are to be commended for this sensible acquisition in behalf of the police department.

—M-S—

Glenn Martin reports that three more Belmond business firms have subscribed to the "Plan for Safer Living" poster service — Rowat and Murray, Hensel Brothers and Infelt's store. That brings the local total up to an even 50.

Bear in mind that the state-wide, two-week Drive Right campaign begins next Tuesday, with the saving of a life-a-day (over the two previous years' record) as its goal. Wright county had NO deaths during the equivalent period in 1948 and 1949 . . . Drive sensibly. DON'T SPOIL THE RECORD AT THE COST OF YOUR LIFE!

—M-S—

One of Belmond's prominent attorneys (we're not saying which) is impatiently waiting for his next go at golf, when he plans to spring a little psychological warfare on his cronies. He has acquired a yellow, wooden tee that must be close to five inches tall and he's hoping that its use will so distract his opponents that he'll be the long-driver with gratifying regularity. A further advantage of the king-size prop is pointed out by his remark, "No more toppin' drives for me!"

Fred Gordon Places 10th Among 228 in Sani Open

Fred Gordon failed to finish among the "money winners" in the Herman Sani Open golf tournament at Des Moines' Hyperion club last weekend, but nevertheless made a good showing.

Turning in a four-over-par 220 for the 54 holes, the Belmond links star finished tenth in a field of 228, and third among the amateurs. He was two over perfect figures with a 74 on this first nine and finished with a pair of 73's.

Accompanied by Mrs. Gordon, Fred will leave Friday for Minneapolis to get in a couple of practice sessions on the Minneapolis Golf club course prior to competing in the U. S. National Amateur tournament, which starts this coming Monday.

Hospital Board Vote Monday; Building Sketches Ready Soon

During the balance of this month two large strides will be taken toward bringing to realization the dream of a new community hospital.

Next Monday's election of a board of hospital trustees will be one. Receipt of sketches representing the proposed hospital's exterior from Architect William Beuttler of Sioux City will be the other.

Although all three candidates for trusteeship—R. W. Courson, Eva Hansen and Jack Shepard—are unopposed, the hospital committee is hopeful that a representative vote will be cast next Monday as evidence of interest and confidence in the hospital project.

According to the ordinance calling for special election, the responsibilities of trustee nominees will involve "the management, control and government of the municipal hospital."

Voting will take place between 8:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. at the usual polling places: 1st Ward, city library; 2nd Ward, city hall; 3rd Ward, high school.

One of the first duties of the newly elected board members will be to sign a contract with Mr. Beuttler. He is proceeding with preliminary plans under a "gentlemen's agreement" with the hospital planning committee at present, according to Chairman Gene Woolley.

In the course of a meeting with hospital planners last Wednesday, Mr. Beuttler agreed to rush work on first-draft plans and to have rough sketches of the hospital building ready for public release in approximately two weeks.

The specimen contract he submitted was largely approved by the key committee members who conferred with him and will undoubtedly be accepted by the trustees with few amendments. Some few details remain to be worked out, but they should be clarified so signing of the contract will be possible soon after the election.

Developments have now reached the stage at which payment of pledges is about the most important matter on the docket. The finance committee repeats its plea that settlement of pledges should be made with Treasurer A. C. Hanson as promptly as possible.

Plane Explosion Destroys Belmond Soldier's Trailer

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Anderson, both of them now in California with the U. S. Army, narrowly escaped death in the tragic B-29 crash at Fairfield-Suisan Air Base which claimed 19 lives on Aug. 5.

Nels, who is assigned to the base, and his family were living in the trailer camp that was demolished when the dozen 500-pound bombs aboard the plane exploded. He was helping fight the fire in the plane wreckage up to the time orders were given to evacuate the area.

His wife and two daughters, ages 15 and 10, also escaped injury by promptly heeding the evacuating warning, but the family's trailer and belongings were lost in the explosion.

Nels' brother, Melvin—who is stationed at Fort Ord—had just arrived by bus for a visit when the plane crashed about a block from him. Both brothers protected themselves from the blast by ducking under cars.

Melvin searched frantically for Nels and his family after the explosion and it was some time before, to his immense relief, he found them alive and unharmed.

TWO VETS AT HOSPITAL NOT DOING SO WELL

Two Belmond men who are at present patients at the veterans' hospital at Des Moines are currently reported to be showing unsatisfactory improvement. Adolph "Duffy" Rierson has not been doing too well since his return to the hospital after a visit home several weeks ago; and Richard Finn is reportedly facing another major abdominal operation, similar to one he underwent some time ago.

SEEKS GOLF TITLE

Jay Garth, Jr., of Houston, Tex,. a second cousin of Preston Tyrrell, was among the qualifiers for the National Junior Golf championship tournament currently in progress at Ames. The Texas youth turned in a 79-79--158 for the 18 holes of qualifying play.

COME AND GET IT!—

Agricultural Land Tax Credit Checks Written, Sullivan Says

"Come and get it!"

That's the invitation of County Treasurer Harold E. Sullivan to rural landowners who are eligible for refunds on school taxes paid during the years 1946 through 1949 under the Agricultural Land Tax Credit law.

Mr. Sullivan now has refund checks made out for the four-year period, but he says that placing them in the proper hands poses somewhat more of a problem. His office records do not list the mailing addresses of real estate owners.

"To illustrate the difficulties involved," says the treasurer, "Dayton township residents receive their mail from Eagle Grove, Clarion and Holmes. In addition to this type of circumstance, many owners do not even live in the taxing district in which their property is located."

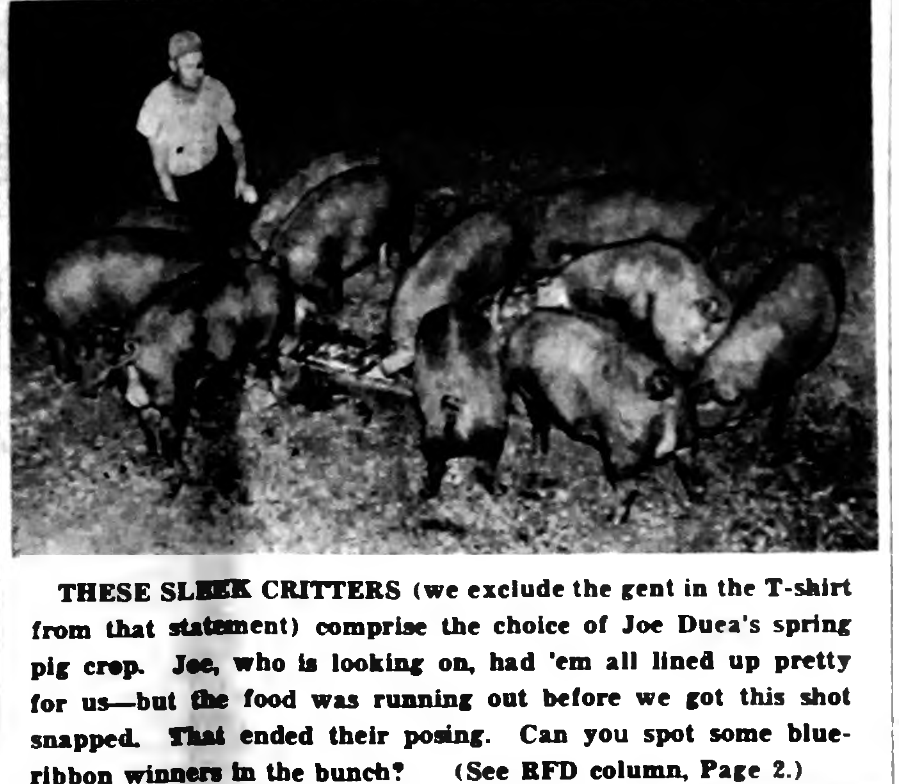
Since it would take a well qualified sleuth to search out the proper mailing address of a large portion of those having checks due, the "come and get it" policy was more or less forced upon the treasurer's office.

To cover the period of 1946 (tax due in 1947) through 1949 (tax due in 1950), 2,449 checks have been written.

They aggregate $66,190.95 and represent school tax paid in excess of 15 mills on properties of 10 acres or more lying within the confines of a school district.

Total refunds to the county for the individual years are: 1946—$4,194.13; 1947—$17,401.29; 1948—$16,573.24; 1949 — $28,022.29. Only in 1949 was the legislature's appropriation for Land Tax Credits sufficient to provide 100 per cent payment under the law. For the other three years, in order, settlement was on the basis of 16.9 per cent, 38.18 per cent and 36.6.

Mr. Sullivan says that all independent and consolidated districts surrounding the various towns were beneficiaries under the act, plus the following: Dayton, Eagle Grove and Iowa townships, Lincoln school districts 1-6-7-8 and Vernon Nos. 2-5-6.



THESE SLEEK CRITTERS (we exclude the gent in the T-shirt from that statement) comprise the choice of Joe Duea's spring pig crop. Joe, who is looking on, had 'em all lined up pretty for us—but the food was running out before we got this shot snapped. That ended their posing. Can you spot some blue-ribbon winners in the bunch? (See RFD column, Page 2.)

QUALIFYING STARTED IN MEN'S GOLF MEET

Qualifying for the annual men's golf tournament is to be completed this week at Clarmond Country club. Each entry is required to post a nine-hole score and pay a tourney fee of $1.00 to be eligible for the competition.

All qualifying scores must be posted by next Monday, at the latest. Pairings will be posted the following day and one week will be allowed for each round of play, according to the tournament committee.

Eighteen-hole matches will be in order. Sixteen players will be assigned to the championship flight, in which the winner's name will be recorded on the Dr. G. H. Steele Memorial Cup. Other flights will be restricted to eight men each.

The tourney committee states that prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in each fight.

Karen McCann, 8, Dies After Fall

Funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon at the Fundamental Baptist church for Karen Fay McCann, eight-year-old daughter of Harley McCann, who died a week ago Wednesday of injuries sustained in an accident.

A. T. Rollene officiated at the services and burial was in the Belmond cemetery. The final rites were overseen by Fulton Funeral Home.

Karen, who was born Jan. 20, 1942, had lately been a resident of the Annie Wittenmyer Home at Davenport, as is her twin sister Sharon. She was fatally injured when she tumbled 25 feet from the roof of a laundry building at the home. Her death occurred while she was being rushed by ambulance to Iowa City.

A report to the state board of control stated that she had reached the roof by climbing a tree and was endeavoring to descend when a limb broke and sent her plunging to the ground. An inquest is planned to ascertain if officials of the home were guilty of undue negligence.

Karen is survived by two brothers and a sister, in addition to her twin; by her father and her grandmother, Mrs. S. M. Campbell, all of Belmond.

LAWN SUPPER PLANNED

St. John's Lutheran church Ladies Aid will hold a lawn supper this coming Saturday adjacent to the church, starting service at 5:00 p. m. The menu will include sandwiches, cake, pie, ice cream and coffee. In case of rain, the supper will be served in the church basement.

Labor Day Plans Rapidly Forming; Speakers Picked

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the VFW Labor Day celebration which Pierce-Zeiger Post No. 4244 is organizing for Monday, Sept. 4.

Keith Chandler heads the general committee and is being assisted by the following sub-committees: advertising —Ted Behrends and Marvin Pals; parade—Earl Cronk and Bill Covington.

Baseball — Arlo Stoltenberg and Bob Churchouse; dance—Marvin Meinders, Ed Reasoner, Claude Larkin. Bob Garms and Fred Dahm are also assisting on parade plans, and individuals wishing to have a float or other type of entry in the line-up can notify either of them or Keith Chandler.

Belmond's three political candidates running for state offices in the coming general election will appear as speakers on the celebration program.

Clark McNeal and Vernon McLaughlin, state representative candidates of the Republicans and Democrats respectively, and Rodney Urdahl, Democratic state senatorial candidate for the 37th District, will present addresses from the park bandstand over the noon hour.

Opening event on the day's program will be the parade at 10:30 a. m. The column will feature the Belmond High school band, colors of both veterans' organizations, some fine riding horses, several floats and a variety of kiddie entries in the nature of decorated bicycles, tricycles, wagons, doll carriages, pets and the like.

Family picnics will be the order of the day during the noon hour "speech-making". It is hoped that a large number of family groups from Belmond and neighboring communities will pack a lunch and plan to join the throng.

Two ball games will comprise the afternoon portion of the program. At 1:00 p. m. two all-star peewee nines representing the northside and southside of town will tangle at the high school diamond. At 2:30 o'clock, Garner's North Iowa league champions will oppose the Belmond Tomahawks.

The day's festivities will conclude with a dance at Veterans' Memorial Hall, with Happy Jake and His Cowboys providing the music. Dancing is to start at 9:00 p. m.

Admission of 50 cents will be charged for the baseball double-header and dance admission will be $1.00 per person. Ducats for either of the events can be obtained from any member of the celebration committees.

Draft Examinees Amaze Meaicos; All Eleven OK'd

Wright county's selective service examinees who traveled to Des Moines for physical check-ups last Tuesday batted 100 per cent. Since rejections have been running high, the perfect record was viewed by the examiners with some awe—and was gratifying to the local board.

No notice has yet been received by the Wright board in regard to its quota for the September call, but last week's accomplishment built up its pool of physical-examined draft eligibles to 15.

Of the 14 scheduled to be examined last week, only 11 made the trip to Des Moines. Two had not reported married status to the board and the third absentee is now in the merchant marine, shipping out of Texas ports.

Belmond men who passed their examinations were Kenneth Johnson, Gordon Quandt and Clair Hanson.

On Monday the county board was notified that it will be expected to send 28 examinees to Des Moines on Sept. 11. The board is currently engaged in drawing up this list.

Bowlers Will Organize; Two Meetings Scheduled

Captains of Women's League bowling teams are scheduled to meet at 8:00 o'clock this evening at the city hall to complete plans for opening league play. Mary Gordon, women's secretary, emphasizes that any feminine bowlers as yet unassigned but interested in league competition should make a point of attending the meeting.

Organization of the men's leagues for the new season will take place Friday night at the Bowl-Mor, starting at 8:00 o'clock. There are a number of matters to be decided at the gathering, so prompt and generous attendance at the meeting is urged.

Three Tots from Belmond Entered in Baby Contest

Belmond will make a bid for the state baby health championship title at this year's Iowa State Fair in Des Moines, according to exposition officials.

Entries announced today in the baby health contest included Darlene Ann Stoffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Stoffer; Sandra Lee Johnson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Fred H. Johnson; and Marietta Ann Schaal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schaal.

Babies from all parts of the state will compete for this year's baby championship at the state fair. Over $500 in trophies and medals will be awarded the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tracy, Betty and Patsy returned Saturday from a week's visit with relatives in Omaha and Harlan.

School Will Open August 28, Supt. Faris Announces

Supt. Don Faris announces that the Belmond public schools will open the new school year at 9:00 a. m. on Monday, Aug. 28, with a complete schedule of class sessions planned for the day.

Freshmen registration will be held Friday, Aug. 25, in Principal Ceabern Squires' office from 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. Registration for students in the upper high school grades who have not previously registered in Belmond will take place at the same time.

Pupils from kindergarten through the eighth grade who have not previously attended the Belmond school or who were not in attendance last year, are asked to report to the superintendent's office either Thursday, Aug. 24, or Friday, Aug. 25. Parents of the younger children should accompany them in order to give all data necessary for enrollment.

Bus routes will cover the same territory as last year, Mr. Faris says, and will pick up the country students at approximately the same time as last year.

The hot lunch program will be in operation the first day of school, under the same plan as last year. Belmond schools offer Class A lunches under the state department's supervision. In addition to food obtained from surplus commodities, the school provides items necessary to maintain a well balanced meal at a low price.

During the summer further steps were taken in the Belmond school's long-range program for improvement and maintenance —which includes regular addition of new fluorescent fixtures as well as necessary painting in popular pastel colors. Each year the school board has been adding 40 new classroom desks to the school.

This summer the outside windows have been painted and repaired, Mr. Faris reports, and new playground equipment has been added to the playground. Most of the work has been performed by the school custodians, Lloyd Finn and Harm Groen.

LEAGUE PLAY-OFF

Plans for the post-season play-off were drafted Tuesday evening by officials of the North Iowa baseball league, with the top four teams contending for honors. This coming Sunday, Belmond will play host to the Kanawha nine and the champion Garner team will entertain Rowan. Winners of the first two contests will meet the following Sunday, the site to be named after the survivors have been determined. Garner's first round opponent was decided by draw. Rowan was fourth in the final standings.

Ten tents will be erected and between 20 and 30 Scouts, possibly including one tent-full of Cubs during the daytime, will participate. The group will be headed by Scoutmasters Glenn Martin and Glenn Eccles.

Mr. Martin, who planned the demonstration, states that the public will be welcome to visit the campsite at all times.

Activity will get under way at 1:00 p. m. Saturday, when the boys will set up camp. At 4:00 p. m. a fire drill is scheduled, during which the Scouts will receive instructions regarding operation of a fire truck and hand fire extinguishers. Supper will be prepared at 5:00 p. m., with the boys doing their own cooking, of course.

Thompson Hybrid Nursery Busy as Beehive

Buying a bushel of hybrid seed corn is a simple proposition these days. However, the process of producing that bushel of seed is not so simple. A brief visit to Thompson Hybrid Seed Corn company's nursery at the Andy Lieuwen farm southeast of town will convince you of that in short order.

Last Friday a crew of 16 men were hard at it, carrying out the various procedures involved in producing experimental seed, developing new strains and creating seed stocks of established strains. This week should see the end of the pollination period, which is THE BIG season in the hybrid corn industry.

Charles Wilmarth, head of the Thompson research department, directs activities at the nursery. During the past four weeks his crew has been busily engaged in enclosing tassels in manila bags as the stalk tops reached the pollination stage, capping ear shoots with glassine sacks before silks began to form—and then fertilizing the developed silk with pollen from the tassel bags.

It is this basic step that lies behind the true breeding of hybrid strains—which in turn provide the commercial seed that has so vastly increased yields in the cornbelt over the past few decades.

But, though a basic step, this performance is preceded by a long line of previous operations. Behind all hybrid corn lies the development of isolated, highly inbred strains that have distinct and desirable characteristics.

The seed corn producer keeps a sharp eye out for strains that are disease and pest resistant, that mature in specific lengths of time, bear ears at a height well adapted to corn-pickers, yield heavily, are sturdy enough to withstand high winds, etc., etc. etc.

To obtain these basic strains, the producer begins with a single, likely-looking ear and inbreeds from the original seed—year after year—until desired characteristics are firmly established and can be expected to distinguish that particular seed with dependable regularity.

In so establishing such a strain, each year the plants representing it are self-fertilized—that is, the silk is fertilized by pollen from the same stalk and then promptly covered so that no cross-pollination from other plants can occur.

In the process of inbreeding, the plants themselves become increasingly runty-looking and often appear most unpromising. But in passage of five to 12 years, the plants become uniform and the strain is ready to be crossed with others.

The first-crossing of two strains promptly brings forth the desirable characteristics that have been bred into them, and the resulting plants are invariably bigger and more robust than their inbred ancestors.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

As fair season rolls around this year, Joe Duea will be in there shooting for the blue ribbons again — but without a single Shorthornr in his show troupe.

"Just couldn't find any good Shorthorn in his show troupe. price," Joe says. "All the breeders know my weakness for Shorthorns, and it almost seemed like when they saw me coming, the price went up."

But even if he has no animals of his pet cattle breed, he's pretty well fixed to go after further honors in the show ring.

—RFD—

Joe admits he looks upon showing at fairs and stock shows as a serious business. When he has an animal that exhibits good possibilities, he sets out with grim determination to bring out those possibilities to the very fullest extent.

That's why last year at the state fair he had the champion Duroc barrow and top pen of three barrows, and why . . . ; but there's no use trying to recount the many champions that his careful grooming has produced. He's walked off with top honors at shows ranging in size and importance from small regional affairs to "the big one" itself, the International Livestock Exposition.

—RFD—

Joe got his initiation into 1950 fair activity last Thursday when he had a pen of five Hampshires entered in the fat lamb show at the Mower County Fair, Austin, Minn. One of the lambs double-crossed him by rating only a red ribbon, so the pen ranked outside the money.

When we interviewed Joe on Wednesday evening of last week, he told us of a fine Angus steer he'd been interested in buying from Art Pringnitz. Somewhere along the line, the deal failed to go through—but Joe was still quite enthusiastic about the big fellow. And well he might have been. Newspapers the next day revealed that the steer won the reserve grand championship at Austin.

Joe has a bunch of Aberdeen Angus steers in his feed lot that he's bringing along with a view to developing a prize-winner. He's currently grooming seven of them. Periodically he drops one from the lot as he becomes convinced that it's doomed to be an also-ran. But, with the International as his goal, he's hoping that one or more will attain the earmarks of a potential champ by the time December arrives.

—RFD—

His main interest this year, however, is his Durocs. He really has a likely looking batch of "reds" this season (what year hasn't he, for that matter?) and hopes to have a whole string of blue ribbons to display to potential buyers when he holds his Duroc sale the latter part of October. We strongly suspect that he'll have 'em, too.

—RFD—

It's a dead cinch that his herd boasts bloodlines that should produce some top winners. Of course, the herd includes a number of "kinfolk" related to his champion barrows a year ago. But that's only the start of it. He's picked up some new stock in the meantime that really has blue blood in its veins.

—RFD—

He has a litter of nine pigs from a sow bred to Distinction, the Indiana State Fair junior champion boar of last year. Another eight pigs claim Fenmar Royal Admiral, 1949 Illinois State Fair junior and grand champion boar as their "Pop". Sire of another eight from his spring crop was Dazzler, junior and grand champion boar at last year's Minnesota State Fair.

—RFD—

Joe is particularly proud of a litter of seven sired by the Iowa junior champion boar of 1949, Fleetline, which Pearsons of Radcliffe sold for a neat $2,700. And he hit the jack-pot in a litter from Kayward Leader, the 1948 Iowa reserve grand champion boar—11 pigs in all.

You'll notice that Joe's average of saved pigs per litter stacks up remarkably high, on the basis of those just mentioned. That's why he was pretty indignant when one of his Duroc sows lazily produced just THREE this spring, and generally raised hob with his over-all average.

First of his fair exhibits this year, so far as hogs are concerned, will be a junior yearing boar which is slated for appearance at the North Iowa Fair at Mason City. Joe owns this fellow in partnership with Dale Hauge. The boar was bred by Greg Vaske, well-known Duroc fancier of Dyersville, and shows a lot of promise.

As Joe and your reporter were discussing the brute's virtues, he stuck his snout under the fence gate and nonchalantly boosted the barrier about a couple of feet off the ground with a view to joining a sow at a nearby feed trough. However, Joe put the fixin's to that idea, and we shifted our attention to the likely looking sow that was enjoying herself at the trough.

—RFD—

Like most showmen, Joe's pretty hesitant about getting out on a limb in predicting success for any particular animal without tossing in a lot of qualifications. Nevertheless, there's a gleam in his eye when he discusses this sow.

She's trim, smooth, remarkably heavy in the hams, and even to a layman more used to admiring pork on a plate than on the hoof—looks like a prospective winner. She'll show as a junior yearling at Des Moines, and Joe frankly has high hopes for her.

—RFD—

There's one pen of 11 pigs on the Duea farm from which the other fair entries will be selected. While he hasn't definitely decided just what he'll pick from this bunch, at present it appears he'll have in the junior pig class two boars and a gilt sired by Fleetline and another gilt sired by Dazzler.

He had another very handsome gilt in the pen up to a short time back, when S. C. Schrange from Eagle Grove paid him a visit and took a particular fancy to the animal. Not wanting to sell her, Joe put a price on her which he felt certain would keep her right there in the pen. To his surprise, and also somewhat to his chagrin, the determined Mr. Schrage reached for his pocketbook—and that was that.

—RFD—

In an adjacent pen is a batch of pigs that, two months ago, were a sorry looking mess. According to Joe they were small, slow in getting started, and generally disappointing. About June 15 he started feeding them a special formula that featured APF and auromycen — and you should see those pigs now.

You'd never suspect that two brief months ago they were laggards. They're trim, well filled out, glossy-coated; all-in-all, Joe's pretty proud of them. Moreover, he's firmly sold on the new antibiotics—and the importance of religiously following a starter formula to give slow pigs the best possible chance to catch up.

—RFD—

Oddly enough, cattle and hog enthusiast that he is, Joe confesses that nothing on his farm produces as much income in relation to feed and care involved as his sheep. He has 16 ewes, which produced 24 spring lambs. As weed-cutters, he says, they're unexcelled; and they're just as hard to beat as money-makers.

* * * *

Mrs. Howard Carpenter had the over-all winner in the Rowan Review club's fifth annual flower show, held last Wednesday in the community room of the school house. Her entry was a U. S. flag design, submitted in the "hooked rug" classification.

In the over-all arrangement division, Mrs. Joe McKinley was top prize winner; and a gladiola entered by Mrs. Floyd Allen was awarded first in the single specimen class.

The 10 major winners in the show, in order, were Mrs. Hugh Whitten, Mrs. Lloyd Drury, Mrs. Frank Drury, Mrs. Clifford Steffens, Mrs. Selma Aldrich, Mrs. D. W. Whitten, Mrs. John Jacobson, Mrs. Lester Smith and Mrs. Minnie Pelley.

There were 438 individual entries, the largest classes being those in buffet, coffee table and low vase arrangements. The show was witnessed by nearly 250 flower-lovers, who registered from Clarion, Dows, Mason City, Belmond, Ackley, Alden, Eagle Grove, Marengo, Galt, Alexander and Maynard, as well as Rowan.

Open house was held both afternoon and evening with brief programs at 3:00 and 8:30 p. m. Door prizes, consisting of bouquets of "glads" from Gordon's Greenhouse of Clarion, were awarded in the afternoon to Mrs. Fern Hoyt of Clarion and Mrs. Florence Aldinger of Rowan.

At the close of the evening program a large basket of "glads", from Weitmon's Flower Shop at Clarion, was presented to Mrs. John Jacobsen of Dows.

Girl Scout cookies and punch were served as refreshments both afternoon and evening.

Considerable interest was shown in the juvenile classes, in which top place winners were:

One to six-year-olds — Leslie Drury 1st, Mary Drury 2nd; six to 12-year-olds—Collene Sellers 1st, Carolyn Ihm and Mavis Sanders tied for 2nd.

Ernie Waltons Play Host To Busload of Eighteen Children of Missionaries

Eighteen sons and daughters of missionaries, from Missionary Children's Home Inc., in Siloam Springs, Ark., were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Walton. They were accompanied, in a second-hand bus lately acquired by the home, by Mrs. Walton's parents.

The Rev. and Mrs. Shortridge are former missionaries themselves, and Mrs. Walton spent seven years in Africa with them as a child when they were still active in the field.

The home is a cooperative venture, subsidized by churches and individuals interested in the project, and is intended to provide the youngsters with a place to stay while their parents are busy in missionary work abroad.

Ranging from four to 17 years in age, the children found activities on the Hubert Tudor farm—on which Mr. Walton is tenant—both entertaining and edifying.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ketchum and children of Rockwell, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Shineman and granddaughter of Oelwein and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Ketchum and son of Belmond visited Mr. and Mrs. Herb Ketchum.

Ladies Day Event At Country Club Attended by 175

Clarmond Country club's invitational ladies golf-bridge day was a big success as 125 women gathered Tuesday to compete for laurels on the links and over the bridge table. Guests from out of town numbered 78, representing clubs at Eagle Grove, Humboldt, Ames, Iowa Falls, Fort Dodge, Webster City, Hampton and Forest City.

Sixty golfers vied for prizes in the morning. Lucille Everds of Ames had low score for 18 holes with an even 100 and Myrtle Locke of Iowa Falls was second with 101. Ruth Harwood and Mrs. Jeff Wackery of Hampton were low scorers for nine holes with 51's.

Two Eagle Grove women monopolized low-put honors. Clara Christensen required only 27 for her 18 holes, and Melva Bonwell had a total of 16 for nine. The day's door prize was carried home by Nell Birdsall of Clarion. A number of visiting guests were awarded bridge prizes at the conclusion of the afternoon card playing.

The clubhouse was attractively decorated for the occasion and the miniature putting greens that embellished the luncheon tables drew enthusiastic comment from the guests.

A. D. TerHark Takes as Bride Marjorie Trenary of Kanawha

In an impressive candlelight ceremony Wednesday evening of last week, Marjorie Trenary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Trenary of Kanawha, became the bride of Allen D. Ter Hark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ter Hark of Belmond.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. H. Plesscher, pastor of the Kanawha Christian Reformed church, who also officiated at the wedding of the bride's parents 23 years ago.

Anna Smidt, dressed in a white formal, furnished the piano music and also accompanied the soloist, Arnette Ter Hark, brother of the groom, who sang, "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin made with a high yoke of net set off with rows of Chantilly lace and fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, full skirt with tiers of lace and satin in front extending into a long lace-edged train. The finger-tip veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade of yellow roses tied with lavender streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Genevieve Ruter, who was dressed in a yellow formal and carried a colonial bouquet.

Lee Abbas and Duane Thompson of Belmond were ushers and candlelighters.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors where a two-course luncheon was served.

The bride graduated from Kanawha High school, attended ISTC at Cedar Falls and then taught school for two years.

The groom, a graduate of the Belmond High school, has been employed by Helland and Long Implement company of Belmond for the past three years.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in an apartment at Belmond.

BRAVES WHIP CUBS FOR PEEWEE TITLE

Championship honors in the peewee baseball league went to the Braves when they downed the Cubs by a 9-to-3 score Monday evening. The winners were presented with a handsome trophy provided by Boyd Berghefer, director of the summer recreation program. It will go each year to the champion team.

On Friday night young Jimmy Johnson twirled a no-hitter against the Braves to give the Cubs a 1-0 victory and throw the two teams into a first place tie. The same evening, the Cards were eliminated from the champion picture when the Yanks (aided by four Braves substitutes) lowered the boom 17 to 6.

All boys who participated in peewee ball during the summer are to be treated Thursday evening with a jaunt to Mason City, where they will see the Legionnaires play an Iowa State league adversary. The peewees are to be ready to leave from the city park at 6:00 p. m.

Expense of the champion Braves' trip will be paid by the Belmond Auto company, while fathers of the other boys will foot the cost for them. Travel will be by private car.

GARNER SEVEN-RUN RALLY IN 8TH, 9TH BEATS HAWKS, 9-8

Garner made Belmond a gift of the crucial North Iowa league game here Sunday that carried with it a share in the championship for the Tomahawks. The Hawks admired the gift for seven innings, then placed it on a silver platter and handed it right back to the Cardinals.

Which is just one way of saying that Belmond took its lumps by a 9-8 margin in a contest that saw the visitors scoring seven times in the last two innings.

The Tomahawks spotted Garner one run in the second, then came back in the third to tally four times on four hits and three Cardinal errors. They followed up with three more scores in the third to take a 7-1 lead and posted another in the sixth—to cancel a Garner run.

It looked as if it were all over but the shouting with the Cards trailing 8 to 2 and only two innings to go. Then, with two down in the eighth, a bobble by Ozzie Nelson at first inflamed Garner's hopes and the visitors crossed the plate with three runs before the pesky third out was rung up.

In the Garner half of the ninth, the Tomahawks treated their fans to a comedy of errors that saw their advantage steadily diminish until a pair of walks and an error finally gave the league champs' their one-run victory margin.

There were some redeeming features to the Tomahawks' play. Lowell Gaetzke performed his second base duties like a big-leaguer and stabbed one liner for an out although it looked like a perfect hit. Bud Nissen, for the most part, hurled good ball until the poor fielding support flustered him in the final inning.

All in all, it was one of those "might have been" games, which the over-eager Tommies could just as well have won by a comfortable margin instead of losing by that single, cussed run.

the result. It is from a second-cross plant that the true hybrid seed is obtained.

The process goes like this. Inbred A and Inbred B are crossed, with pollen from the one strain fertilizing the silk of the second and producing Single-Cross AB. In adjacent plots Inbred C and Inbred D are crossed in like fashion, yielding the combined strain, Single-Cross CD.

Then comes the final step developing the hybrid seed. Single-Cross AB and Single-Cross CD are combined by cross-pollination—one of the singles serving as male parent and the other as female parent. The resulting second-cross provides the seed to be planted in the commercial seed plots, which produce the varieties in commercial quantities.

In the Thompson nursery at present there are about 2,000 inbred lines and single crosses. When a desirable hybrid has been developed, it graduates from the breeding plots to the seed plots and is offered for general sale. Thompson's currently offers 23 commercial varieties. A twenty-fourth will be added this fall.

"Chuck" Wilmarth says that new varieties are constantly being added—and some of the old ones dropped. He says, however, it is difficult to "kill of" an old, established variety. There always seem to be some customers who have found it suits their needs ideally and they holler like everything when they learn they'll no longer be able to get it.

During the peak of the pollination season, the nursery crew 'sets down' pollinations on an average of 4,000 plants per day. The figure may run as high as 5,000 if rain delays a day's work. "Chuck" ends up with a complete record on anywhere from 30,000 to 45,000 individual, hand pollinations.

Because such a long period of time can be involved in evolving a new hybrid variety, Thompson's usually operates a nursery in the Rio Grande valley of Texas during the winter. This makes possible a gain of a full year in the time required to bring a new variety into being.

As complicated as the process is, it's easy to understand why the farmer is well satisfied to leave seed production up to the commercial producer. It is certainly no one-man proposition.

But the commercial producers must be doing a good job. Cornbelt farmers have become so unanimously sold on hybrid corn that the producers have to travel far to find any open-pollinated corn to introduce into their breeding plots in the never-ending search for new and better strains.

Health Official Warns Smallpox "Shots" Lose Effectiveness in Time

Just 10 years ago Iowa led the nation with the dubious honor of having one-seventh of all the smallpox cases in the United States. Dr. Madelene M. Donnelly, director of the division of maternal and child health of the Iowa State Department of Health, says that this can happen again if parents do not have their children vaccinated now.

Many Iowans were vaccinated against smallpox from 10 to 12 years ago. This protection has lost its value without booster shots, and according to Dr. Donnelly, this state is "ripe" for another widespread smallpox epidemic.

Smallpox is a needless disgrace because it is one of the few diseases which can be prevented entirely, says Dr. Donnelly.

Although there have been immunization programs in several parts of the state, studies show that too many parents are not protecting their children with immunizations. Whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus (lock jaw) and smallpox can be prevented by immunizations given by the family physician. These should all be started in the first year of life, states Dr. Donnelly.

This protection, however, does not last a life time. Booster shots should be given before entering school, and at regular intervals later as the doctor prescribes.

The cost of immunizing a child against these four diseases, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox, is not much compared to the cost of sickness or death, adds Dr. Donnelly. It is the responsibility of parents to see that their children are safe.

Nearly $12,700 in U. S. Funds Aided County's '49 School Lunch Program

School children in Wright county benefited to the extent of $12,662.99 in federal funds used to help finance their noon lunches during the school year 1949-1950, C. W. Sankey, county superintendent of schools, announced today.

Seven Wright county schools—including Belmond, participated in the Iowa school lunch program during the past year. In these schools 216,132 Type A or complete lunches and 18,971 Type C lunches were served. (The Type C lunch is a half-pint bottle of milk). Of this number 10,502 lunches were served free to children unable to pay.

In addition to these funds, Mr. Sankey reports that the schools received without cost to them except for the transporation from the distribution center, a large variety of commodities such as concentrated orange juice, peanut butter, cheese, canned tomatoes, dried fruit, honey, fresh apples, fresh pears, Italian plums, canned peaches, canned plums, tomato paste, canned corn, frozen turkeys, butter, dried milk, dried eggs and potatoes for use in the program.

These commodities are purchased partly through the U. S. department of agriculture's price support activities and partly with federal school lunch funds.

Mr. Sankey said the money paid to participating schools in this county is part of the total of $1,050,714 allotted to the public schools of Iowa to help finance the lunch program in the 930 participating schools.

That word comes from C. W. Bangs, Des Moines, the state director of the school lunch division of the state department of public instruction. This division administers both the school lunch program and the commoditiy distribution program in Iowa.

Bangs also reports that the total value of commodities distributed to schools and eligible institutions last year amounted to $1,415,000. Present indications are that a wider variety and larger quantities of U. S. D. A. commodities will be available this year.

Mr. Sankey says Bangs reports that an increased number of Iowa schools will participate in the school lunch program during the coming school year. Fifty or more additional schools have requested applications for participation.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Art Pringnitz Looks Upon His Herd of Angus As Equal Source of Cash and Real Enjoyment

What would you think of a cattle breeder who can boast he's never had a show entry that failed to bring him a championship—and never consigned an animal to sale without receiving one of the top prices?

That is the record of Art Pringnitz, who lives about three miles north and four west of Belmond and looks upon his Aberdeen Angus cattle as both a business and a hobby.

Of course, it should further be mentioned that Art has entered fair competition only one time — and so far has consigned only one animal to a purebred sale. But now the "bug" has bitten Art, and you are likely to see more of those Pringnitz "blacks" at fairs and sales hereafter.

Last Wednesday a steer he exhibited at the Mower County Fair, Austin, Minn., picked off the reserve grand championship. And last fall an 11-month-old heifer he consigned to a big sale at Marshalltown brought him a neat $420, one of the day's highest prices in the open heifer class.

It is Art's belief that prospective buyers are apt to remember a breeder's mediocre exhibits at fairs much longer than his conquests; and that's the reason he's been on the conservative side in making show entries to date.

A Pringnitz raising and showing Angus cattle is something on the order of a Floridan expounding the virtues of southern California. Other members of the family have been Shorthorn enthusiasts for two generations. Art, too, started out a Shorthorn breeder; but he completely abandoned that breed when he moved to his present farm three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Pringnitz and Karen

Art explains that the Angus, to his notion, finishes off quicker and need not be a resident of the feed lot so long as a Shorthorn. Besides that, he just likes the looks of the "blacks" and likes to handle them better.

He had his first experience working with Angus cattle about seven years ago when he bought a couple of grade cows. Two years later he purchased six purebred "blacks", five heifers and a cow. In 1947 he disposed of the last of his Shorthorns and has since concentrated entirely on his Aberdeens. He has added two purebred cows since his original purchases, and this spring acquired a herd bull.

At present he has 17 cows, all with calves—about evenly split between heifers and steers. The animal he showed at Austin was from his own herd, bred and raised by Art, himself.

One, lone Jersey, which provides the family's milk, completes the bovine stock on the farm. Art also has 114 Chester-Hampshire spring pigs, from 15 sows. He's raised pigs with regularity, year after year, but says he's seriously thinking of getting out of the hog business entirely. He feels he could do just as well by concentrating on cattle and that he enjoys working with them a great deal more than he does with hogs.

On his 159 acres, Art has 56 acres of corn; 36 acres of oats (he planted both Ames and Clinton, averaging 62 bushels to the acre —but predicts he'll plant mainly Ames next year); four acres of Hawkeye soybeans, to take up the corn acreage slack; and the rest of his land is in hay and pasture.

Art sprayed a 12-acre patch of alfalfa just before the second cutting went to blossom, with a view to harvesting the seed. He says the field looks very good and he's expecting a pretty nice crop off of it.

Mrs. Pringnitz' department is the poultry. She has about 600 straight run chickens and a laying flock of some 200 Red Rocks and Hy-Lines. Customarily she has about 300 layers and will establish a flock of that size again next spring.

Her hobbies are flowers, crocheting and embroidery; but she confesses that she hasn't much time for any of them. Karen, the Pringnitz' six-year-old daughter, has the typical little-girl hobby of dolls. Her mother says there's hardly room for Karen in bed of a night by the time she's lined up her doll sleeping companions.

Art gets too much enjoyment out of his cattle operations to need any sideline avocation. They're his work — and his play, too, he says.

IOWA SAFETY CONGRESS

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded b nesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the I Safety Congress.

Temptation -- that urge to push ahead through traffic, to let 'er rip, to take a chance -- it comes to every driver. Such temptation may be only momentary. It may consume only a few seconds of high speed driving, of recklessness, of inattention, but it may also consume a life, a whole family, a small fortune.

Keep temptation chained during the "Drive Ri campaign, Aug. 22 thro Sept. 5. Help save 14 l in Iowa. If you are tem to take a chance, remem this: of the 284 drivers volved in fatal Iowa tra accidents during the first months of this year, 212 never had an accident fore. Temptation. 12 Demonstration Teams to Compete

Twelve local 4-H Home Furnishing Achievement shows have been held to judge and select exhibits for Junior Fair at Eagle Grove next Monday through Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Doty of Lake City is the judge for Junior Fair. Mrs. Doty is a graduate of Iowa State college and has judged for a number of years for girls 4-H exhibits. She comes to the county highly recommended.

On Monday, the judging of exhibits in the girls' 4-H building will start at 10:00 a. m. Any one who is interested may come and listen to the judge's comments as she judges the various exhibits.

On Tuesday, all Home Furnishing demonstrations will be given, starting at 9:00 a. m. No one will be allowed to enter the 4-H building during a demonstration. People in the building are asked to be seated and give attention to the demonstrations, so as not to distract the girls presenting them. Mrs. Gerhard Thompson is in charge of demonstrations.

The demonstrations program follows:

Junior Teams

9:00-9:20 — "Waste Not, Want Not"—Grant Go-Getters, Jeanine Hardy and Nancy Barnes.

9:20-9:40—"It's Pert and Pretty Painted"—Little Libery Ladies, Janet Olson and JoAnn Haviland.

On Wednesday morning, the booths will be judged. The best booth will go to North Iowa Fair on August 31.

The fair building will be closed to the public on Wednesday from 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 to clear it for the "outstanding girl" practice at 10:00 a. m. The outstanding girl from each club must report to Mrs. Fred Kirstien at 10:00 a. m.

The Wednesday afternoon program will begin at 2:00 p. m. in the girls' 4-H building. Mrs. Fred Kirstien is in charge of this program, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Mathre. The program is:

Remarks on Fair — Mrs. McBride.

Introduction of new and retiring county officers and 4-H county committee—Mrs. Kirstien

Presentation of 4-H Membership Certificates — Mrs. Lettie Zuber.

Presentation of the three teams who will represent Wright county at State Fair, North Iowa Fair and Cattle Congress — Mrs. Gerhard Thompson.

Remarks on Exhibits and Demonstrations—Judge, Mrs. Doty.

Talk on Citizenship Camp—Chloe Hammond, Rowan

"Talk—"What is 4-H Work?"—Mrs. Zuber.

Talk—"Advantages of Attending State Conservation Camp"—Rachel Peterson, County Vice President.

Crowning of Queen—Mrs. Kirstien and Mrs. Mathre.

The public is cordially invited to attend all the 4-H programs in the girls' building. No two demonstrations are the same and the committee promises they will offer many constructive ideas to use in any home.

A visit to the girls 4-H building will provide a good indication of what the 4-H girls in Wright county have accomplished during the past year.

Lookin' and Thinkin'

The little girl in the picture gazes across the tumbling waters of the mountain stream and wonders about things.

She wonders about the other side of the stream; about the wild life that flourishes in its depths and along its banks; about the great mystery of the waters as they roll on to the distant river and the far-off sea.

As she grows in years and stature and her mental horizon expands she will know more about these and many other things; but always there will be things to be learned, problems to be solved, mysteries to be explained.

The little girl is a symbol of humanity as she stands and looks and wonders. For man is always peering into the dim distances and wondering what lies beyond.

But there is a key to all human problems and a solution for all mysteries. It is the key of faith. It is found in the Scriptures and the teachings of the Church. It is God's gift to those who live by faith.

Religion helps men to solve present perplexities and lights up the dim beyond.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Student Patrol Offers Solution To Problem of School Traffic

In the interest of consistency, it appears to us that the "STOP" sign on Third Street NE at Sixth avenue should get the axe. There is undoubtedly a traffic problem at that intersection, due to the proximity of the school; but we feel it is not a proper place for a permanent "STOP" sign.

Certainly if there is need for such a sign at Sixth avenue, there is equal need for one a block west on Fifth avenue—which is the logical crossing point for all school children living in the central and west parts of town.

We've always felt that student traffic patrols were useful, both from the standpoint of instilling a sense of responsibility in the young patrolmen and in eliminating permanent "STOP" signs from intersections that provide a traffic problem only during periods immediately before and after school hours.

Consequently, we earnestly suggest the establishment of a student patrol to police the Fifth and Sixth avenue crossings on Third street NE. The patrols could also take charge of the placing of portable mid-street "STOP" signs on either side of both avenue intersections to halt vehicles during the periods of heavy student traffic; and see to their withdrawal when the time of need has passed.

This step would not only eliminate the unnecessary stopping of cars over weekends and at other times when student traffic presents no hazard; but it would also benefit members of the patrol.

We further suggest that the Chamber of Commerce might provide patrol belts and portable stop signs for the project. The cost would not be great and the benefits would be considerable.

Winneshiek County Supervisors Have Chicken Come Home to Roost

Last weekend a news story revealed that a maximum 40-hour week, at 70 cents an hour, has been established for road workers in Winneshiek county because the board of supervisors disapproved of union affiliation by some of the crew members.

A member of the board pointed out that some workers were making $40 to $50 per week prior to the new ruling. Now the county roadmen will be limited to a maximum wage of $28 per week.

All we can say is this. Any laborer doing sufficient road work in a week to earn $50 at 70 cents an hour would have to be driven by grim need for the money. Figure it out for yourself. Assuming they don't work the poor devils on Sunday, they would have to put in all of 10 hours a day, six days a week to hit the $50 mark—WITH time and half for overtime.

We would say that the Winneshiek supervisors have inspired their own problem. If we had to work regularly 60 hours a week to earn barely enough to support a family, we'd be looking for union assistance, too.

It's the prevailing social philosophy in this nation of ours that any work worth doing is worth a living wage. Of course, sweat shop conditions still exist in some isolated cases; but in general, minimum wage scales are expected to provide a breadwinner's family with the necessities of life. It's a moot question if $28 a week would fill the bill.

In Wright county, road workers receive a minimum hourly wage of 90 cents —or a minimum monthly salary of $205. That's a far cry from Winneshiek's standard of about $120 per month, under the supervisors' punitive ruling. The ruling, incidentally, effects union and non-union labororers alike.

We earnestly suggest to each member of the Winneshiek board that he labor for just one week with the road gang, and then see how munificent that $50-a-week at 70-cents-an-hour strikes him.

Advance Criticism of Safety Campaign Makes Us Curious As to Motives

We've read several sour-grapes editorial comments in exchange papers regarding the statewide campaign of the Iowa Safety Congress, which is being launched next week. We don't quarrel with their right to criticize, but we've been curious about the willingness of a few editors to condemn the whole campaign as a failure before it even starts.

Rather typical is an outburst in the Hampton Chronicle, presumably penned by Tom Purcell, which was so distorted in fact as to be funny. It left no doubt that Tom has an axe to grind that has little if any relationship to the actual safety campaign itself.

"Safety promotion in Iowa has been at a high level, and very little more can be done except to continue in the same way," declares the Chronicle. This statement blithely disregards that 549 persons were killed on Iowa highways last year—and that the carnage has been appreciably greater so far in 1950 than it was during the same period in 1949.

It also discounts the fact that farming in recent years has risen to third in rank among the most dangerous occupations in the United States. Safety education to date has been unsuccessful in stemming the increasing toll of highway and farm fatalities in the state. That's a plain statement of fact that cannot be truthfully denied.

Then the Chronicle describes the Safety Congress' campaign as "a most ridiculous scheme to promote a program which does not mean a single thing except to put a lot of money into the hands of the card sign promoters." The writer of the editorial either disregards the fact —or is insufficiently informed to be aware of it—that close to 60 per cent of the entire proceeds of the poster service goes into the coffers of worthy organizations sponsoring the campaign in the various communities.

We don't say that the "Plan for Safer Living" will accomplish all its aims. But any newspaper advertising man will tell you that repetition is the BEST way to put a product across. It seems logical that this should be true, whether the product is public safety or a brand of gasoline.

Perhaps it's an unkind thing to point out, but surely the nationwide publicity that Hampton gained through a highway catastrophe only last spring should make any resident of that community hesitate to say that there's no need for improved safety education. And carping at the imminent statewide campaign before it is even launched can only lessen its effectiveness.

That's why the Independent intends to support the campaign in every way it can, until the plan has had ample opportunity to prove itself. Furthermore, we're proud of the enthusiastic response of Belmond business firms to the Boy Scouts' appeal to join in the safety movement.

—o—

It was with considerable interest we noted that the price and wage control bill passed by the house of representatives authorizes the president to clamp on ceilings based on the May 24-June 24 period of this year . Too many opportunists in industry have been boosting prices the past few weeks in hopes of enjoying a higher ceiling base when the lid slams down. We'd love to see 'em foiled.

—o—

Hasn't the time come for the U. S. administration to give unequivocal support to the remnants of the Chinese Nationalist government in Formosa? Certainly any illusion that we can possibly profit by recognizing the communist regime in China should by now be dissipated. To our notion, any force which opposes communism—for whatever reason and in whatever manner—is allied to our present cause.

Statewide Safety Campaign Opens August 22 With Two-week Drive to Cut Highway Deaths

The Iowa safety congress drive to save 14 lives on the state's highways in a two-week period was opened today by Governor William Beardsley, who proclaimed a Drive Right campaign to begin in Iowa at noon, Aug. 22, and continue until noon, Sept. 5.

At the same time, stop signs carrying safety posters appeared all over Wright county and the state as the safety congress brought its safety poster service into action against accidents.

Posters placed in the stop signs today—the first in a 52-week series—highlight the Drive Right campaign and carry the illustrated message, "Keep Temptation Chained."

The message refers to the "temptations" to speed, to drink and drive, and let attention wander while driving and to be less than cautious at railroad crossings.

Aimed at saving a life a day on the highways, progress of the Drive Right campaign will be gauged by comparison with an average traffic accident record for the past two years in Iowa and in separate counties.

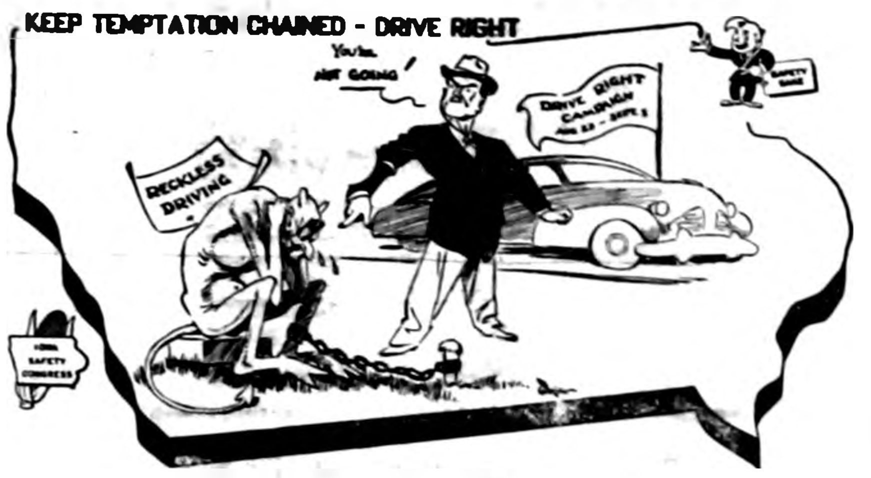
In the two weeks corresponding to Aug. 22 through Sept. 5, an average of 27 persons have been killed and 795 injured in 1,657 Iowa traffic accidents in each of the past two years.

Wright county's share in this two-week toll has averaged nine inured in 15 accidents. The county economic loss due to accidents during the period has averaged $18,848, and the state loss $1,206,942.

While the Drive Right campaign will be a statewide safe driving effort, it will be sponsored on the county level by civic groups in cooperation with the Iowa Safety congress. Sheriff Bob Blecker, who has replaced Rev. W. B. Gamble of Clarion as county chairman, will head Wright county activities.

The next two safety posters issued by the safety congress to its subscribers will also emphasize the Drive Right campaign and help direct the attention of drivers toward the saving of 14 lives on the state's highways between Aug. 22 and Sept. 5.

KEEP TEMPTATION CHAINED - DRIVE RIGHT



This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

Temptation -- that urge to push ahead through traffic, to let 'er rip, to take a chance -- it comes to every driver. Such temptation may be only momentary. It may consume only a few seconds of high speed driving, of recklessness, of inattention, but it may also consume a life, a whole family, a small fortune.

Keep temptation chained during the "Drive Right" campaign, Aug. 22 through Sept. 5. Help save 14 lives in Iowa. If you are tempted to take a chance, remember this: of the 284 drivers involved in fatal Iowa traffic accidents during the first six months of this year, 212 had never had an accident before. Temptation. It comes to every driver. Keep it chained.

When a big semi-trailer truck upset and turned over near Panora recently, the 7,000 chickens in it went "over the hill." Part of the cargo, whose total value was $12,000 was salvaged. The truck was driven by Richard Van Sickle, of Smyra, Delaware. Both the driver and his companion, Robert Roth, were pinned in the cab and had to be chopped out with axes.

What adds that crowning touch?

BUTTER!

Piping hot biscuits . . . rolls — or vegetables, pancakes, potatoes — they're ALL so much better with plenty of butter. More nutritious, too. The natural golden color of butter comes from ruch golden cream — since four pints of cream go into the making of each pound of butter.

For nutrition, for health, for downright goodness ...there's nothing finer than the high-score Iowa butter for which our creamery has built such a reputation. Use butter generously in cooking, and at every meal.

VOL. 30 NO. 45 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, August 24, 1950 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Culling our files of 1900, we found the following commentary on the ways of men: "Man born of woman is small potatoes and few in a hill. In infancy he is full of colic and Godfrey's Cordial, and in age is full of cuss words and rheumatism.

"In his youth his mother taketh him across her knee and sweetens his life with her slipper, and when he is man grown the sheriff pursueth him through the alleys all the days of his life.

"He spreadeth like the green bay tree. He getteth into office and his friends cling to him like flies to a sugar barrel. He swelleth with vanity. He cutteth ice a time, but is hewn down at the next convention and cast into the salt box and his name is MUD.

Out of office and out of friends, he goeth busted and lieth down in the cow pasture. He dieth out of the world and goeth where it is warm enough without clothes, and the last end of man is worse than the first."

Anyone looking for "a sign from on high" could certainly have placed about any interpretation he wished on the unique display of northern lights that emblazoned the sky last Saturday night.

If there's ever been a match to it in this relatively southern clime, it wasn't our privilege to witness it. Unlike most showings of the aurora borealis visible in these parts, which rarely extend to the sky's zenith, Saturday's display extended well into the southern half of the heavens.

The eerie arcs and beams of luminescence were enough to send a chill down one's spine, even without the unseasonable coolness of the evening. Anyone who gave the celestial fireworks a casual glance and no more missed out on the real thrill. As one's eyes became more adjusted to the night's gloom, the flickering streamers appeared increasingly brighter and more impressive.

The glare of street lights and advertising signs downtown made the beautiful sight entirely invisible, so many a shopper who hurried home and rushed into the house could have missed the display completely.

What causes the ghostly pyrotechnics, even our wisest scientists do not know. There's an electrical phenomenon involved, they agree, but other than that they can afford no explanation. If we may venture our own hypothesis—it looks like a celestial short-circuit of some sort.

This was Wallace Week, insofar as Independent renewals were concerned. From Mary Wallace, now living at 312 Lafayette, Wateroo, comes a money order and some kindly remarks: "Please send me the Independent for another year. Always enjoy reading of the dear old friends in the good town where I spent nearly 50 years of my life. No better town or people anywhere."

And in the very next mail, from the C. H. Wallaces of Vallejo, Calif., a renewal check and the confession, "Would sure be lost without your paper. A good way to keep brushed up on the Old Home Town. Everyone fine and busy."

It's always a pleasure to do business with appreciative customers!

—M-S—

Made a minor error last week in reporting that Fred Gordon finished "out of the money" at the Herman Sani Open at Des Moines. We learned later that his third place among the amateur entries brought him a $57.50 watch as a prize. If we ever won a piece of boodle like that, we'd definitely consider ourselves "IN the money"—up to our hips!

COUNTY DRAFT QUOTA EIGHT FOR SEPTEMBER

Instructions have been received by the Wright County Selective Service board from state draft headquarters to the effect that this county will be expected to fill a call for eight inductees on Sept. 8.

These men will be the first inducted from this county under the new draft and their selection will more than halve the selective service board's present pool of 15 physically acceptable draft eligibles.

Names of the eight draftees will likely be selected at a meeting of the Wright county board members this Friday night. At the same meeting it is probable a list will be drawn of 28 examinees who are to report to Des Moines for physicals on Sept. 28.

Muhlenbruch Has Champ Baby Beef, Pals' 2nd; Thor Boy's Market Pig Tops All at Junior Fair

This year's Junior Fair at Eagle Grove once more established a firm claim to being one of the leading if not the state's most outstanding district swine shows, with nearly 500 head of outstanding hogs contending for blue ribbon honors.

Richard Severson of Thor, member of the Eagle Grove chapter of Future Farmers of America, exhibited the grand champion market pig — a fine Duroc. A Chester White of Bernard Maier, Eagle Grove, was awarded the reserve championship.

Don Williamson of Eagle Grove, also showing Chester Whites, won the grand championship in the pen of three division. There were 54 entries in the division. Reserve champion pen was shown by young Maier. Best market litter, out of 18 competing, was the batch of Hampshires shown by Harlan Poolman of Galt.

Only firsts won by a Belmond entry went to James Fetrow, the lone exhibitor in the Spotted Poland China division. Third places were awarded to Ronald Ketchum's Duroc boar and gilt and a second to his Duroc litter.

Following are the placings in the market pig division:

A fine Angus calf entered by Willis Muhlenbruch of Clarion was awarded the grand championship in the baby beef division of the Eagle Grove Junior Fair as cattle judging was conducted Tuesday. Reserve championship went to a Shorthorn exhibited by Arlen Pals of Belmond.

In the judging by breeds, Cecil Hill of Dows had the reserve champion Angus, Daryl Claude of Woolstock the reserve Shorthorn, Bob Brisbin of Eagle Grove the champion Hereford and Charles Espe of Goldfield the reserve champion.

Marcella Martin of Dows had the Holstein breed champion in the dairy department and Robert Smith of Belmond the reserve winner. Miss Martin showed the winning yearling heifer, Smith the top purebred heifer calf and Tyrrell Baker of Belmond the best grade heifer calf.

Among the Guernseys, Shirley Keeling of Clarion swept the field, showing the champion and reserve and the top grade heifer calf and yearling heifer. The Brown Swiss entries of Ronald Pals, Belmond, similarly spreadeagled the field. He had champion and reserve, top purebred heifer and yearling heifer.

Bertha Barz of Dows had the Ayreshire champion and Bill Barz the reserve. Leo Powgnas' purebred heifer was champion of the Milking Shorthorns. Second to the Clarion youth was David Bahr, also Clarion, with another fine heifer. The purebred heifer of David Crawford, Belmond, was unchallenged in the Jersey class.

Orin Nelson of Woolstock had the best ewe lamb and top ewe-and-lamb in the purebred sheep show and the No. 1 market lamb. The purebred lamb of Larry Kastler, Woolstock, topped that class.

Other baby beef blue ribbon exhibitors from this area included Merlin Halverson and Larry Wicks of Kanawha, Herefords; and Danny Aldrich of Rowan, Angus.

Other dairy winners from nearby were: John Lager, Rowan, Holstein; and Lewis McKinley, Rowan, Milking Shorthorn.

SHINING 'ER UP is no chore for Day Marshall Dale Walrod, who's plenty proud of the city's new police patrol car. He was giving the siren a high sheen when "snapped" last weekend. Night Marshall Harve Seals shares Dale's enthusiasm over the acquisition.

Tax Exemption Requests Reveal Home Buying, Building Slower

While the post-war wave of home purchases and new home building still continued into this year, the county board of supervisors discovered Monday that it is slackening off somewhat. The supervisors met to examine applications for 1950 homestead exemption and applications for military service exemptions.

In the former category, in which tax allowances must be sought yearly, 3,493 Wright county taxpayers living in their own homes requested exemptions. Two were disallowed and a few others are to receive further investigation.

In 1947, only 3,229 homestead exemptions were allowed; there was a jump of 75 in 1948, bringing the total to 3,304; and 136 more were added in 1949 to make the aggregate 3,440. This year's increase of approximately 50 therefore indicates a perceptible slow-up in the trend.

Eleven of 143 military service exemption applications were disallowed by the board, and several others will be investigated further. These exemptions apply to personal property, not necessarily real estate, and need be requested only once instead of annually.

The number of allowed exemptions of this nature will likely reach 1,100 for 1950. In 1949 the number was 982, in 1948 was 888 and 1947 totaled 803.

Auditor Roger Charlson explains that in some instances veterans apply for such exemption even when they have no property upon which it would apply. They're just hopeful as to what the year will bring!

BHS '50-51 FACULTY, LARGEST IN HISTORY, WILL MEET SATURDAY

Belmond students will be greeted next Monday by the largest teaching staff the local faculty has ever boasted. In addition to Supt. Don Faris and Principal Ceabern Squires, there will be 26 classroom intructors.

Superintendent Faris anticipates that the enrollment will reach record heights, also, with registration continuing higher than normal in the lower grades. He expects the high school student body to be approximately the same size as last year.

One new staff member has been added since changes were announced early this summer. Mrs. Alta Smith is replacing Hermia Shefveland as school nurse.

She completed her nurse's training at Mercy hospital in Marshalltown in the fall of 1941 and immediately thereafter joined the nursing staff at Steele Memorial hospital. Mrs. Smith worked full-time until 1945, and part-time for an additional two years.

The other newcomers to the faculty are Coach Don Merritt; Donald Bunnell, junior high teacher; Rhoda Symens, fifth grade, Colleen Kelly, girls physical education; and Daphne Snyder, first grade.

Initial faculty meeting of the year will be held at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and first classes will convene Monday morning.

Cubs "Camp Out" --Then "Camp In"

Seven Cub Scouts of Falcon Den No. 2 tried "camping out" for a night in Mrs. Lois Hammond's backyard on Wednesday of last week. The attempt was not altogether a success, due to the poor sportsmanship of several older boys — who endeavored to frighten the young ones; and to rain—which descended about 2:00 a. m. The downpour made it necessary to move the boys inside (whether awake or otherwise), but the Cubs seemed to enjoy the experience despite the hazards encountered.

"Duffy" Rierson Rites Yesterday

Adolph N. Rierson, 55, known to his host of friends as "Duffy", passed away Monday at the Veterans hospital at Des Moines and funeral services were held from the Trinity Lutheran church yesterday.

Rev. O. M. Severseike officiated at the services and military honors were performed by the VFW firing squad during burial rites at Belmond cemetery. Boone Funeral Home was in charge of the funeral.

"Duffy" had been a patient at the Veterans hospital for six months, excepting a 28-day visit to his home in June and July.

Born on a Norway township farm on Dec. 12, 1894, "Duffy" was the son of Rier and Nettie Rierson. He spent his entire life in this vicinity.

He served in the U. S. Army during World War I, seeing some action overseas.

Among members of the family surviving are three brothers, Harold and Glenn of Belmond and Archie of Chicago; and a nephew, Philip, who made his home with Glenn and "Duffy". He was preceded in death by his parents, one sister and two brothers.

GRID PRACTICE STARTS; FIRST GAME SEPT. 15

For the past three days Coach Don Merritt has been issuing football gear to Belmond High school's 1950 gridiron hopefuls and first practice of the season was scheduled for today.

The Broncos will have just three weeks to round into shape for their opening encounter. A game with the Dows eleven, on the Belmond gridiron, will inaugurate the season on Friday, Sept. 15.

Mrs. Jenison Back Home After Suffering Stroke

Mrs. Ralph Jenison, who suffered a stroke at Inkom, Idaho, last week while on a western auto trip, was brought back home by train Monday evening. She had been traveling with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs Melvin Richardson of Clarion, who returned by car.

Mrs. Jenison was accompanied to Belmond by a daughter, Mrs. Ina Pfalgraf of Pacoima, Calif. Also at her bedside in Idaho were two sons, Cleo of Pacoima and Delbert of Dayville, Ore., who returned to their homes upon their mother's departure.

JUST OVER 50 VOTES CAST FOR TRUSTEES

Slightly over 50 votes were cast in the special municipal election Monday that made R. W. Courson, Mrs. Eva Hansen and Jack Shepard members of the board of trustees for the new Belmond hospital.

Fifty-four votes were cast for Mr. Shepard, 50 for Mrs. Hansen and 49 for Mr. Courson. Two ballots apiece were cast for George Hake and Claude Benson and single votes for Roy Henderson, Sol Krass, Mary Hildebrand, John Greenlander and Emil Bock.

One of the first official duties of the new trustees will be to sign a contract with William Beuttler of Sioux City, the architect unofficially engaged by the hospital planning committee to draft plans for the proposed structure.

Ben Dorr of St. Benedict is visiting his brother Albert Dorr.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Sandrock and Mrs. Mollie Sandrock are guests in the Fred Plesch home.

CLARENCE PETERSON HURT, CRASH KILLS COMPANION

KANAWHA—Clarence Peterson, 23, of Kanawha suffered only leg and back abrasions as a driving companion lost her life in a car accident early Sunday morning near Woden.

Fatally injured was Wilma Isebrand of Woden, who was driving the auto when it left the road, crashed down an embankment and into a field. The girl died without regaining consciousness.

M. F. Birdsall Will Head County Civilian Defense

M. F. Birdsall, Clarion attorney, has been named by Gov. William Beardsley as chairman of the Wright county civilian defense committee.

Responsibility of forming the defense organization will fall to the new chairman.

Phases of activity which are to be mobilized for adaption to defense activities, should the need arise, are communication, transportation, health, fire, police, utilities, water, observation and construction.

Elliott's Winner In Softball Meet

Elliott's Hardware softball team proved that their winning of the regular season title was no fluke by winning the post-season tournament last week without any great effort.

Surprise of the meet was the play of the VFW team, which lost to Elliott's in the Friday finals by a 15-10 score. Although they finished fifth in the softball league standings, the Vets nudged General Mills in the first round, 8-7; and then dropped Mello Maid in the semi-finals, 14-9.

Mello Maid nosed out Helland and Long in the other first round game, 8 to 7. Elliott's won the lower bracket semi-final game from John Deere, 12 to 6.

Elliott's team personnel, which was materially the same as that which gave the hardware outfit the 1949 city title, follows: Cooney Smith, p.; Al Braner, c.; Dick Barkema, 1b; Daryl Boelman and Loren Mennenga, 2b.; Roland Pals, ss.; Russ Gaetzke, 3b.; Hank Pals, lf.; Don Friesleben, cf.; Oscar Lundstrom, rf. Manager Bud Boelman also saw some service behind the plate.

Grocery Stores Announce New Policy on Delivery

Since start of school will be depriving most of them of their delivery boys, the Belmond food stores that regularly deliver to customers announce in today's paper a change in policy.

Beginning next Monday, delivery of orders will be made only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings. To be assured of delivery, housewives are urged to place their orders before 10:30 a. m.

The stores involved are Gunderson's Market, H. and H. Market, Jensen's Grocery and P. and G. Grocery.

P.-G. A YEAR OLD

Ed Garbielson and Phyllis Pals this Saturday are observing the P. and G. Grocery's first business anniversary with some special "doin's". A 54-piece set of chinaware will be presented to some fortunate registrant and every fiftieth customer during the day will receive as a gift a $5.00 box of groceries. During Saturday afternoon P. and G. customers will be given salt and pepper shakers as souveniers of the occasion, and there'll be free frosticks for the kiddies.

New Ford Sedan Offered as First Prize in Contest

Giving away a beautiful new Ford, in addition to a "pot of gold" containing almost $1,000 in cash awards, The Belmond Independent this week launches a "Good Will Circulation Campaign." The campaign is designed in keeping with progress made by The Independent in Belmond and surrounding area. The big drive gets off to a whirlwind start Thursday and will continue through October 6.

The new Ford, purchased from Belmond Auto company, will go to the person turning in the most subscriptions to the Independent during the contest. The car will be delivered to the winner with all taxes paid and will even have the Iowa license plates provided.

Winner of the second place will be awarded $400 in cash; third $200, and fourth $100. Every candidate entering the contest will be a winner, for a 20 per cent cash commission will be paid those not in the first four places. This is an unusual contest since there will be no losers among the workers.

The campaign is being conducted by Nickerson Circulation Co., of Corpus Christi, Texas, and will be in charge of Grace Koppenhaver of Marion, Iowa.

As only a limited number of candidates will be accepted, those who wish to try for the prizes must enroll before the quota is filled.

The object of the huge campaign is two-fold. Primarily, it is intended to increase the subscription list of The Independent. The publishers wish to extend its coverage to outlying areas and by increasing Belmond's trade territory, also increase the usefulness and value of The Independent to local advertisers. Secondly, it affords readers an unparalleled opportunity to profit in a big way through their spare time activities in the next few weeks.

To gain this end quickly and advantageously, this valuable and attractive list of prizes is available for distribution among participants. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success. The plan adopted is straightforward and simple.

Everyone in the community will benefit from the campaign. Those who enter will be paid for their efforts, and merchants will also profit. The more readers the Independent has, the more value these will be in retail advertising.

The prizes will be awarded according to the vote standing on Oct. 6. The "Good Will" candidate having the highest number of votes will be awarded the new Ford car. The remaining three cash prizes will be awarded the same way. Votes will be tabulated as explained in the double page spread carried elsewhere in this issue of The Independent.

Any man or woman can enter the campaign and become a member of the "Good Will" brigade. There is no entrance fee of any kind. Simply fill out the entry blank which will be found in the advertisement.

Driver Uninjured In Crash; His Car Didn't Do So Well

Robert Maxheimer, Clarion youth, is apparently of a belief that practice makes perfect. About a month ago he sustained a fractured ankle in a mishap. He was still wearing a cast on his foot Monday when he rolled his car on a gravel road southwest of Clarion, "turned turtle" and clipped off a power line pole in the process.

He emerged from this scrape with nothing more than a shaking up.

He reported to the sheriff that he was driving south when a car from the opposite direction forced him to swerve and jam on his brakes. His 1940 "Chevie" 4-door went out of control and he ended up in the lefthand ditch.

His vehicle didn't come through so well. Sheriff Bob Blecker estimated damage to the car at $200; and with a '40 Chevie—well, that's just about it!

Plans Announced For Boone Valley Tourney, Sept. 10

Clarmond County club will play host to the Boone Valley Golf association on Sunday, Sept. 10, with some 125 club-swingers expected to participate in the annual tournament.

Golfers from Eagle Grove, Eldora, Hampton, Humboldt, Iowa Falls, Jewell, Rolfe and Webster City will compete, in addition to the Clarmond entries.

Bob Rost, Hampton, was individual champion in last year's tourney at Eagle Grove and Humboldt's four-man team won club honors.

Pairings will place 16 men in each flight, with prizes provided for all flight winners and runners-up. Both team and individual competition is planned, as in the past.

All golfers are urged to report at the club house in good time on the morning of the tournament, as the size of the field will require that qualifying play start at an early hour.

Food and refreshments will be available at the club house throughout the day.

DRIVE RIGHT CAMPAIGN -
1. ADAPT DRIVING SPEED TO EXISTING CONDITIONS
2. IF YOU DRINK, DON'T DRIVE
3. DEVOTE ALL YOUR ATTENTION TO DRIVING
4. BE ESPECIALLY ALERT AT RAILROAD CROSSINGS
"HELP SAVE 14 LIVES"
SAFETY SAKE

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

This line isn't just something to stand in or something to throw. It's the line of active defense against accidents. Drivers cooperating in the Drive Right campaign are building the line of greatest resistance against accidents that has ever been seen in Iowa.

They know that upon each driver depends the security and safety of all other drivers. They are in line to save lives between Aug. 22 and Sept. 5, the dates of the Drive Right campaign. It's a tough assignment, because these are two weeks which each year have seen 27 persons killed on Iowa highways.

Drivers in line for the campaign are going to adapt their speed to road and traffic conditions, because speed caused 139 fatal accidents in Iowa last year.

If they drink, they are not going to drive, because drinking drivers caused 116 fatal accidents in Iowa last year.

They are going to give all their attention to driving, because inattentive drivers caused 76 fatal accidents in Iowa last year.

And they are going to be especially alert at railroad crossings, because 55 were killed in train-car crashes in the state last year.

Or you can say it in fewer words! They are going to DRIVE RIGHT.

by "Pat" Gallagher

Albert Clark of the Kanawha neighborhood is one farmer who's needed no coaxing to become interested in the possibilities of harvesting grass and legume seed. Albert has already been harvesting seed from his hay and pasture land for two or three years and is well aware that it's a paying proposition.

We didn't have much of an opportunity to talk with Mr. Clark during a visit to his farm last weekend; but did have quite a lengthy conversation with his son, Martin, who this fall will be completing the last quarter of his third year at Iowa State college.

—RFD—

During the war, Martin was an aerographer's mate in the Navy—or "flying weatherman". The work, though extremely interesting, did not distract him from his aim of becoming a first-class farmer. He is taking animal husbandry and plans to specialize in hog breeding when he's gotten his diploma.

—RFD—

First seed crop to be harvested from the Clarks' 365-acre farm (which is rented) was from a 15-acre patch of canary grass. The field has been planted in the reedy grass for at least 10 years, but this is only the second time the Clarks have stripped the seed since they moved on the farm in 1943.

Martin admits that a farmer starting out for the first time to harvest grass seed may find he has a lot to learn. His father puts an extension on the combine platform to raise it to about four feet and just clips the heads. The adjustable oat sieves are left in the combine and a good deal of trash is thereby eliminated from the seed in the stripping process.

—RFD—

The product of the combining was taken to Klemme and placed in a quonset type corn storage bin for drying. The whole pile had to be shoveled around daily for a week, and on alternate days for a second week. The Clarks then brought the seed home and cleaned it in a fanning mill.

At present there is about 30 bushels of seed left, but Martin says that further cleaning will reduce that to some 20 bushels of saleable seed—with enough left over to provide his father with seed for his own use. The methods the Clarks now use leaves quite a bit of hulled seed, which they will keep for their own plantings.

Martin says that a preferable way to harvest canary grass would be to use a windrower with elevator attachment to a wagon. The windrower should be adjusted to clip only the heads (an old-fashioned header would do the job very well, Martin declares). He suggests the heads should be then dried artificially and threshed in a slow-running combine; then fanned. This method, Martin says, would save a higher percentage of the seed.

Having worked with canary grass over a number of years, the Clarks are much more familiar with it than a good many farmers in these parts. Martin says that it really does bind the soil, as the experts attest. In one very peaty area on the farm where it was formerly impossible to drive any farm machinery, the combine can now ride over the sod without any trouble at all.

Canary grass will become sodbound in time, from lack of nitrogen. Some farmers, Martin remarked, have the misconception that the condition is simply created by too heavy a root mass and try to correct it by use of a spring-tooth harrow.

Actually, all that's needed is a liberal application of nitrogen on the field and the tightness is quickly eliminated, Martin stated. This step was taken on the Clarks' original field of reed. Beforehand, bluegrass had been threatening the stand. After getting the nitrogen booster, the canary grass came back strong, with a very apparent effect on both hay and seed production.

—RFD—

Last year the seed was selling at $1.40 to $1.50 per pound—so even 20 bushels (740 pounds) represents a nice side-crop. In addition, Mr. Clark took 1,400 bales of hay off the field with the first cutting and another 1,000 bales from the second—after capturing the seed.

Albert Clark was busy harvesting seed from a 40-acre field of timothy when we called at the farm. It's the third year he's harvested some timothy, but this year's acreage is the largest yet. The field was sprayed with 2-4-D last spring to kill the wide-leafed weeds.

Prior to harvesting, the hay is windrowed and allowed to dry out thoroughly. Mr. Clark then gathers the seed with the combine and later will clean it by fanning. Last year his crop ran about four bushels to the acre and sold at about $15 per bushel. Martin says this yield wasn't too good and that yields up to seven and eight bushels per acre are entirely possible.

As evidence that Mr. Clark doesn't miss any opportunity for bonus crops from his farm, we might add that he also harvested 24 acres of alfalfa for seed. The alfalfa had been carefully sprayed with DDT and Toxaphene to protect it from grasshoppers and other insect pests. The first cutting was used for hay and seed taken from the second.

Last year Mr. Clark harvested 17 acres of alfalfa and obtained a bushel of good, market seed, plus enough for his own use to plant 60 acres. The alfalfa seed last year produced about $30 in "found" money.

—RFD—

When we talked to Mr. Clark in the timothy field, as he paused a moment during his combining, he cast speculative eye on an adjacent 12-acre field of red clover.

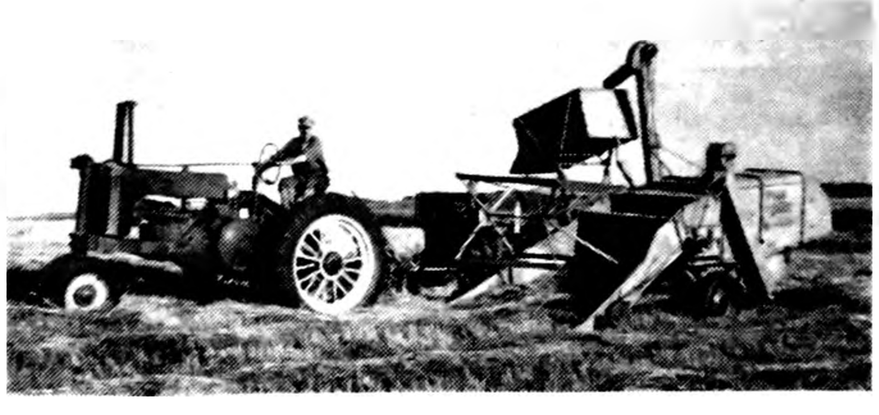
"Might decide to harvest that for seed, too'," he remarked. "It's really a little too good a stand. Thinner clover seems to produce seed better. But it looks like nice clover and is clean."

—RFD—

By this time you may have arrived at the conclusion that the Clarks don't miss very many angles. That's about the way we figured it, too.

With canary grass in heavy demand for grassed waterways and other erosion control measures—and all grass and legume seeds in short supply right now, Mr. Clark is simply taking advantage of an opportunity that is open equally much to many another farmer.

"Before too long, enough farmers will get interested in seed-harvesting that the supplies will go up—and those prices will go down," Mr. Clark predicted. As a prediction of our own, we'd guess that when that day comes, those Clarks will succeed in finding some other circumstance that spells opportunity to them.



"MONEY IN THE BANK" is what grass and legume seed harvests mean to the farmer these days, if they're fortunate enough to have a field heavy in seed. Albert Clark of the Kanawha neighborhood is shown above as he was harvesting a "bonus crop" of timothy seed with his combine last week.

Rowan Belmond's Foe in Play-off

Belmond's Tomahawks and Rowan won their way into the finals of the North Iowa league baseball play-offs Sunday. Belmond downed Kanawha 12 to 10 in a hit fest that saw each team bang out 13 safeties. Rowan took a 4-2 decision from the loop champions behind two-hit pitching by Bob Keleher.

Play-off finals between Belmond and Rowan will take place at 2:30 p. m. Sunday on the local diamond.

For a time it appeared the Tomahawk-Kanawha game might be a repetition of the Belmond-Garner debacle of a week earlier. Belmond jumped into a 7-0 lead in the fifth inning, only to see the visitors knot the count with four runs in the seventh and three in the eighth.

Belmond regained the lead with a five-run outburst in its half of the eighth, aided by a four-bagger over the leftfield fence by Max Spain, to go ahead 12 to 7.

With two down and two on in the ninth, Lynn Knoll jumped one over the fence for a homer and shortened the count to 12-10. The tying run was on base before the Tomahawks chalked up the crucial third out, retiring Harold Hill on a fielder's choice.

The Rowan-Garner contest saw the losers stay in the running through nine innings, although they never did get an earned run. Garner tallied first on an error. Rowan tied up the game at 1-all, only to see their foes once more take a one-run lead. The victors again deadlocked the score in the ninth, 2-2.

In the tenth, Don Ahrens got two bases on a Texas leaguer and Stan Fitz brought him home with a single. Burnield Jones followed with a safety to score Fitz. Garner was unable to tally in its half of the extra frame.

On Aug. 30 the Tomahawks will tangle with Garner at 8:00 o'clock in a game that will officially dedicate the Cardinal's new lighted diamond. Each team holds a win over the other, Belmond winning the season's opener at Garner, 2 to 0, and the Cards taking the season's league Efinale here, 9-8.

REALLY "FANCIED UP" — that's the Spahn and Rose lumberyard office since a program of remodeling was recently completed. More efficient use of space now allows for better display of merchandise and redecoration lends a good deal to the attractiveness of the office. Russell Hook is shown jotting down in the absence of his brother, Manager Denny Hook.

166 of County's 185 4-H Girls Have Undergone Physical Exams

Of 185 4-H girls in Wright county, 166 received medical examinations during the months of June and July.

The girls went to their own family doctors at the time designated by their physicians. The cost of the complete physical examination was three dollars, which included hemoglobin, urinalysis and T. B. skin tests. Some clubs paid a dollar on each examination.

Dental cards showing completed dental work were turned in by 161 girls.

Eight of the 12 4-H clubs had 100 percent records in medical and dental examinations. They were Belmond Busy Bees, Belles of Boone, Dayton Dandies, Grant Go-Getters, Little Liberty Ladies. Lincoln Lassie League, Woolstock Willing Workers and Eagle Red Peppers.

Iowa U-Go-I-Go will receive a five dollar award for having done the most in health improvement the past year. The club's improvement record will be sent to the state 4-H office to enter in state competition. Mrs. James Groom, Rowan, and Mrs. Harry Hinckley, Belmond, are leaders of the club.

A number of the improvements recommended by the doctors in this year's health examinations are being corrected by the girls.

"This is the cooperation wanted, because a physical examination is worthless unless the girl corrects the trouble," says Alice Moore, former county nurse. She made home visits to discuss with the mothers how the suggested improvements can be made.

A county summary of the 4-H physical examination shows: number of girls with no suggested medical correction, 64; suggested vision deficiency, 21; weight problem, 17; foot abnormities, 18; poor posture, 5; heart condition, 4.

Number of girls who need tonsils and adenoids removed, 7; need immunization, 18; suggested skin deficiency, 20; kidney condition, 4; girls with corns and callouses, 13.

Number of girls who bite their fingernails, 14; hump shouldered, 2; suggested ear trouble, 8; allergies, 2; anemia, 2; thyroid deficiency, 3; menstrual irregulariity, 2; need teeth cleaned, 3; need chest x-rays, 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ferran and family of Eagle Grove were Sunday supper guests at the Luke Wessels home.

A "tiger" cat on the Clifford Olson farm, six miles south of town, became the mother of six and a half kittens. That is, one of them is a two-headed creature—with two mouths and four eyes, but only a couple of ears.

FORTY YEARS AGO

A large crowd was in attendance at the creamery picnic last Wednesday. The ball game was won by Olaf, 6 to 1. Dillon struck out 11 men and Corri Fitts was the only man who found him for a hit. The speaker did not arrive until the afternoon, so the exercises in the opera house were cut short.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE RATES are lower than you may think

Numerous surveys have proved that most people guess wrong on long distance telephone rates. They always guess too high. Long distance telephone rates are surprisingly low at all times . . . and even lower on Sunday and after 6:00 P. M. on weekdays.

Include the priceless advantages of speed, and often the peace of mind a long distance telephone call can bring—and you will realize how very, very little this convenient service does cost.

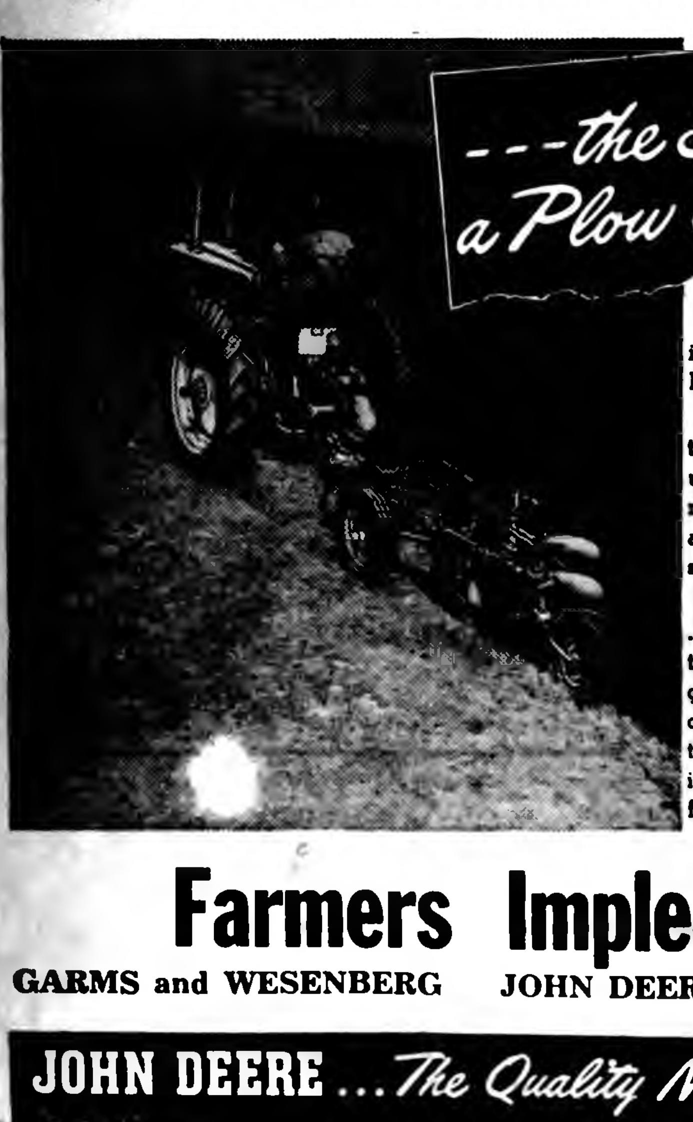
TRUSS-FRAME CONSTRUCTION



---the Soundest Design a Plow Ever Had!

It's the design of a plow that makes the big difference in field dependability. It's the design that makes John Deere today's plow leader.

Thanks to the exclusive Truss-Frame construction, the John Deere is rigidly bound together as a solid unit with plenty of strength and toughness for the most difficult plowing jobs. Shocks of hard work are absorbed by the entire plow—not by a single bottom standard or frame member alone.

There's plenty of clearance for fast, deep plowing . . . for working in trashy field conditions. Servicing, too, is simple, economical. And when you add genuine John Deere plow bottoms, which assure light draft, excellent pulverizing and good scouring, it's then you'll agree—a John Deere Truss-Frame Plow is everything you want—everything you need. See us for complete details the next time you're in town.

Why A Circulation Contest?

How can The Belmond Independent afford to give away $2600 in prizes?

These are questions we expect to be asked, and we'll try to answer them as briefly, simply and fully as possible.

Why? To get more subscribers, to widen our sphere of influence, to give the merchants a better advertising medium, to create a better and more widely-read newspaper.

A news magazine remarked that compared with the more than 2,000,000 circulation of the New York Daily News, the New York Sun with only 500,000 circulation was almost talking to itself.

Our circulation on The Independent has been good, though not 500,000. But we'd like to fatten it up, and perhaps at the same time fatten our egos. We want to talk to as many of you through these columns as will listen, and we're going to find out how many will listen.

How $2600?

Well, every newspaper figures on putting on a certain part of its circulation revenues into promotion costs such as commissions, prizes, solicitation literature, and so forth.

Our contest wraps up the costs all at once, so to speak, and gets results at once, instead of spread out over a long period of time.

It takes personal incentive to get results, as the Russians found out when they tried to set up a society that worked without it, and our incentive in this case is a new Ford car.

Newspaper subscriptions have to be sold, just as automobiles, refrigerators, electric blankets, gas ranges and women's clothing must, and our contest is one way of getting the job done.

We believe that the $3 a year you pay (in Wright and adjoining counties) for your Belmond Independent subscription is the cheapest money you can spend, for a number of different reasons.

Consider this alone: Taking advantage of any one of hundreds of bargains offered each year by advertisers in the Independent will save you the subscription price of The Independent, or more.

But we'll leave the selling job to the contest workers. You'll be hearing from them, if you don't want a Ford badly enough to sign up yourself.

Demos Hope "Young Republicans" Are Mad Enough to Scratch Ballots

This week's publicity release from Democratic state headquarters makes capital of the fact that the Democratic ticket for November's general election is generally dotted with young men, practically all of whom boast war service records.

Among the youthful candidates mentioned is Belmond's own Rodney Urdahl, who is 27 and spent three years in the merchant marine—when trans-Atlantic passages had small resemblance to pleasure jaunts.

What gives rise to the Demos' boast concerning the prevalence of young men on its slate is the disgruntlement that exists in Young Republican ranks over failure of the GOP state convention to name Ed Kallemyn as candidate for state treasurer.

We don't pretend to know what deals led to the convention's selection of M. L. Abrahamson of Boone for the nomination. Of course, Abrahamson topped the primary candidates in the primary, but that fact would likely have cut little ice if the GOP "inner circle" had looked with favor upon one of his opponents.

There is no question but what a sizeable number of Young Republicans felt their organization had been let down when the youthful Pella candidate for treasurer was passed over. Whether this dissatisfaction will lead to outright defection by these young party members in the general election remains to be seen.

The Democratic candidate for state treasurer is Leonard Wegman, 40 years old and an army veteran with a record of four and a half years' service. If sufficient Young Republican protest votes are cast for him to produce a close race for the treasurer's post, it should be a very plain tip-off to the GOP wheelhorses that they can't afford to disregard the youthful element in the party.

As things stand, the race for the state treasurership promises to be one of the most significant in this fall's election. It would behoove the Republican policymakers to watch it closely.

Farmers: Read How A Pulled Tooth May Increase Your Corn Yield!

Once there was a fellow who had the "misery" in his left knee. It was slowing him down in his work, robbing his days of pleasure and his nights of comfort. As the condition got progressively worse, he at last decided something must be done about it.

He went to the drug store and got some salve. Lavish applications of the goo accomplished little more than blistering his hide; but he kept on using it against the possibility that it might, in the long run, be helpful.

Then he started drinking a patent medicine widely ballyhooed to correct the results of various vitamin and mineral deficiencies in the human system.

To supplement the salve and medicine, he bought a heat lamp—just in case its torrid rays might end his pain. He also purchased an elastic bandage, a special insole for his shoe and took to rubbing his throbbing knee with a chestnut.

By that time, he was about ready for crutches. As a last resort he visited a doctor. The physician dscovered a badly decayed tooth and recommended a trip to the dentist. The molar-mauler grabbed his forceps and extracted the offending tooth. The charge was five dollars.

Before too long our hero's knee was practically as good as new. Over a year or so of self-prescribing he'd spent $27.50 for salve, $108.75 for medicine, $25 for the lamp, $1.00 for the bandage and 85 cents for the insole. He'd lost working time equivalent to $237.25. It totaled up to $400.35.

We know a lot of farmers who apply fertilizer on their fields in much the same manner as the man seeking relief from his "rhumatiz". They know something's needed but aren't sure what. Ten bucks for a thorough soil-test of the farm might be just as profitable as that five dollar tooth-pullin'.

P. S.—The ideal time for soil-testing is just around the corner.

Pamphlet on Atomic Bomb Effects Rapidly Gains Best-Seller Status

Time was when demands for U. S. government publications centered primarily on pamphlets dealing with children and gardening—and, in later days, aviation. Ten cents to a quarter was big money to pay for such pamphlets, and a great many of them were free for the asking.

Now the Government Printing Office announces that a new "best seller" is coming to the fore in popular demand. With recent release of the Atomic Enery Commission's publication, "The Effects of Atomic Weapons," a flood of mail orders began arriving from all over the country and a line-up of would-be purchasers flocked to the printing office's book store at the capital.

Interest in just what happens when an atomic bomb explodes is quite understandable. But that this interest should reach such heights that large numbers of the populace willingly cut loose with a dollar and quarter to learn the worst is more than a little surprising — to us at least.

Truly a new age has been born when ways and means of avoiding atomic poisoning and of constructing buildings that are blast-resistant to a maximum degree compete in popular interest with the care and feeding of infants, and measures for combatting plant lice.

Any of our readers who anticipate "atomizing" of the General Mills plant and want to be prepared can obtain "The Effects of Atomic Weapons" from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. . . . And don't forget the $1.25!

Farmers Warned That Country Road Driving Provides Biggest Risk

Death is on the march on country roads these days.

Norval Wardle, extension farm safety specialist at Iowa State college, reports that accidents on country roads are increasing steadily. So he says farm drivers may well heed the tips in the state-wide Drive Right campaign, Aug. 22 to Sept. 6, which is sponsored by the Iowa Safety Congress.

Contrary to a common belief that highways are the most dangerous driving places, Wardle says the highest percentage of accidents per number of drivers is now on county roads.

He blames this partly on less driving supervision there, fewer road signs, narrow roads and loose surfacing which makes it hard to stop quickly. All of this means that slow driving is vital to farmers' safety, Wardle warned.

The safety specialist points out several things that may help cut down accidents on country roads.

When driving onto any road from a private drive, bring the vehicle to a complete stop, according to law.

Tractors and other farm implements are required to have at least one white light in front and one red light in the rear if one the road at night. These lights must be visible from 500 feet, which eliminates the use of reflectors.

A driver's license is required of any person who operates a farm vehicle on any public road except when going between farm buildings or nearby farm fields.

The tractor driver is in a dangerous spot if he has an accident with a car. One out of every 15 tractor highway accidents results in death, while one out of every 111 car accidents kills someone.

Automobile drivers can be warned much sooner that there's a tractor on the other side of the hill if a pole and red flag is fastened to the implement, extending eight feet above the road.

The Plan Is Brief

The object of the big distribution on is twofold: primarily to increase the already large subscription list of the Belmond Independent in order that large numbers may have the opportunity to read this informative newspaper, and at the same time affords our friends and readers an unparalleled opportunity to profit in a big way through their spare time during the next few weeks. So it is a plan that works both ways, and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this end quickly and advantageously, one of the most valuable and attractive list of prizes ever offered by a local newspaper in this section of the state has been made ready for distribution among those who participate most heartily. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success. The plan adopted is straight-forward and simple and is fully outlined in this announcement.

Let it be understood at the very outset that it is not a "beauty" nor "popularity" contest, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition for enterprising men and women, and one in which no element of chance enters. One feature of this campaign is the fact that there will be no losers in this race!

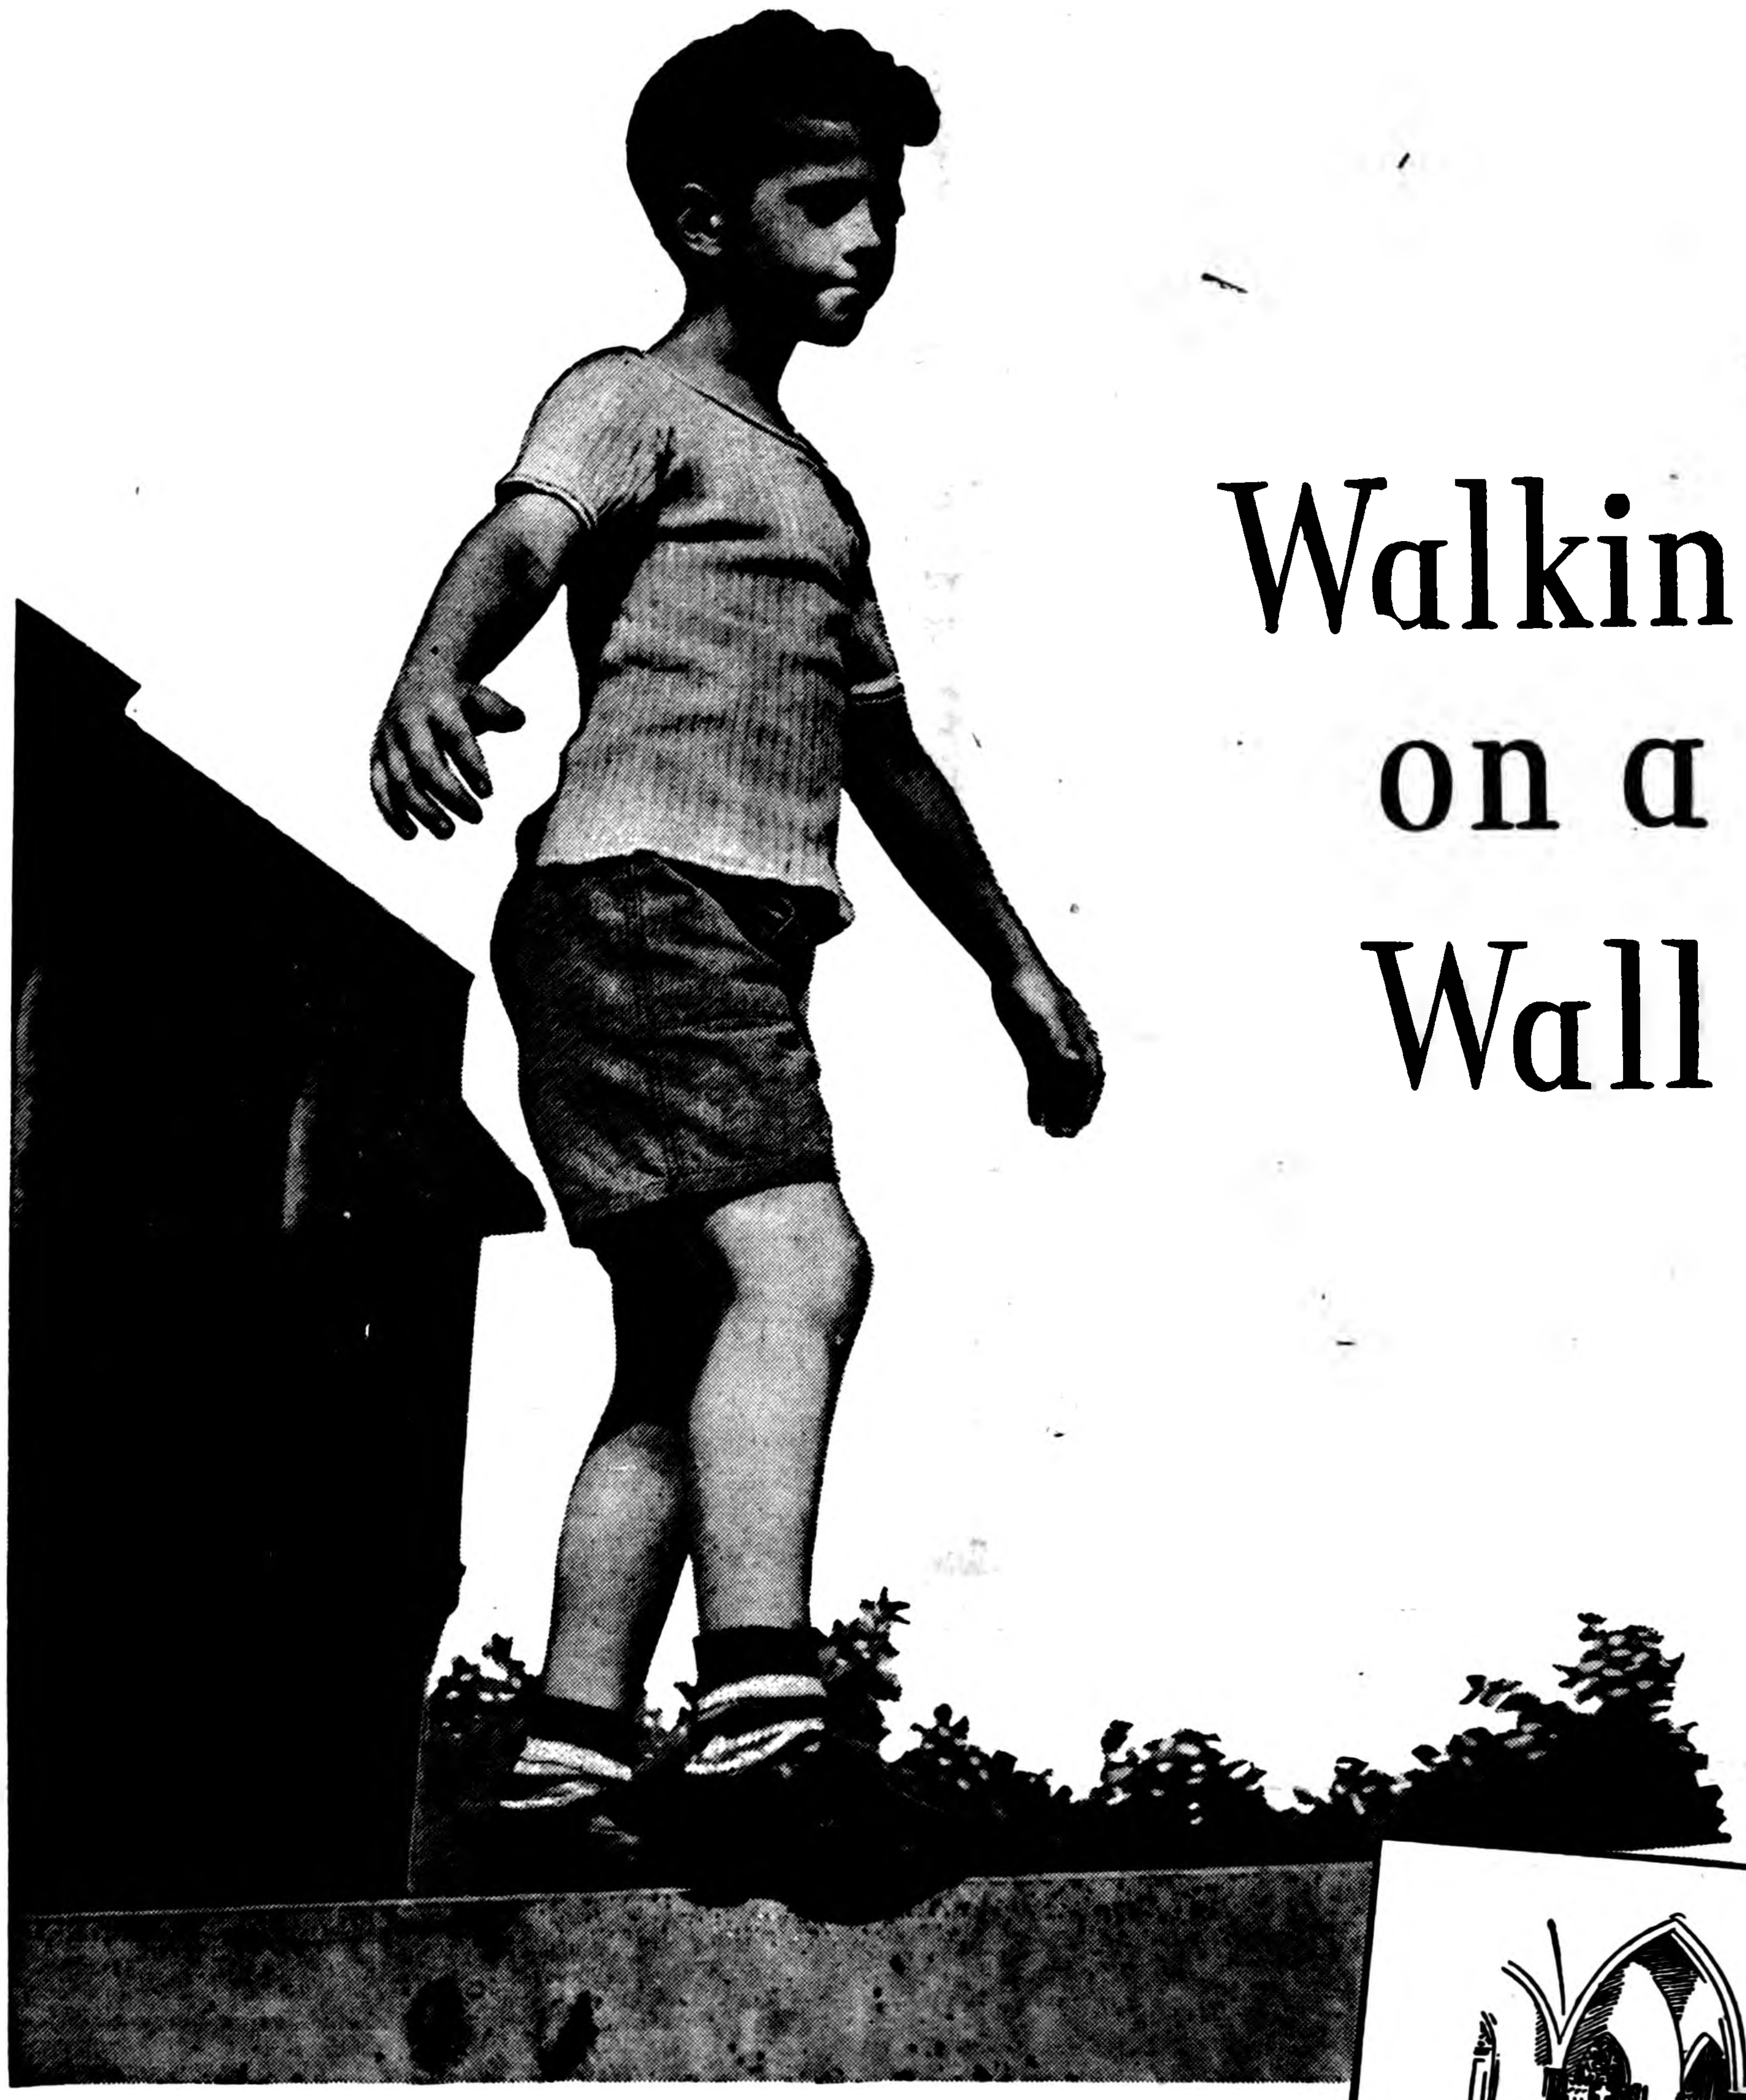
Walking on a Wall



The little boy in the picture is practicing one of the earliest and most essential arts of life—the art of balance.

His real problem is to keep the weight of his body evenly distributed so that the line of gravity passes through his feet. It is the first lesson a child or young animal must learn in assuming an upright position.

Children derive much pleasure and satisfaction from their ability to walk a wall or narrow curb or rail fence. It gives them a sense of accomplishment when they are able to perform these feats without falling.

Balance is important not only in physical posture and movement, but in all the relations of life. It is especially important for children, as well as older people, to learn to keep their balance, mentally, morally and spiritually.

The life without religion is an unbalanced life. Man needs religion and the consciousness of God to keep him from falling under the weight of temporal cares.

The Church provides religious instruction and spiritual inspiration for all who seek its ministrations.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Britt Hobo Convention

Has 50 Years Behind It

(Clipped from the Chicago Inter Ocean, The Iowa Valley Press of Belmond reprinted the following article regarding the first annual hobo convention up at Britt, which was held in August og 1900, and its founder.)

This convention will be the second annual meeting of the Tourists' Union, composed of the hoboes of this country. The masterful genius is Charles N. Noeo, Head Pipe of the Tourists' Union, the organization of gentlemen of the road, who is once more at work.

The eccentric youth says that the gathering this year at Britt, Iowa, will eclipse the convention held at Danville, Ill., last year, and will cause even more comment than that much talked of affair.

A hobo convention is unique. The originator is more so. Charles F. Noe, who lives with his father at Sycamore, Ill., does not remember the time when he did not take to the grime and grease of a box car like a duck to water. Noe has yet to see 24 years of age.

Since he was a boy at Danville, a stolen ride on a freight train had more enjoyment for his mind than a trip by palace car.

Noe, with a few chosen spirits, spent more time on the road than he did in school. In company with several of his comrades, who now hold high offices in the Tourists' Union, he attracted the attention of his townspeople by "bumming" to Canton, Ohio, during the presidential campaign of 1896 The story of the lordly way the youthful tramps marched on the famous grass at the McKinley residence and shook the hand of the Republican nominee is still related at Danville.

It was shortly after this trip that the young man conceived the idea of a Tourists' Union, now a flourishing organization. Why not the hoboes? he asked, and the result was the Danville branch of the Tourists' Union.

From the parent union the order rapidly spread, and whenever a hobo came into town or was met on the road, he was taken into the union and given a card ornamented by a coupling pin and link, the insignia of the union.

A rigid examination, however, had to be passed. The applicant was forced to answer successfully numerous questions. Among them were: "Did you ever panhandle a dookie?" "Will you petiton the congressman in your district for free soup houses in every railroad center?" "Do you prefer a box car to a Pullman sleeper?" "Do you promise to assist all fellow tramps when they are being run out of a one-horse village by the town marshal?"

All genuine tourists easily answer the questions and as a result the membership of the union grew. Head Pipe Noe estimates his followers in the thousands. He says that comradeship is close and that a fellow tourist always helps a member of the organization along the road.

• • • •

The Britt News of that day added: "The program of this year's gathering will be of general interest and all who desire to learn the latest ways of 'hitting' side-door sleepers should make it a point to be in attendance. If you want to have the greatest day of your life, come to Britt on Aug. 20: you will never forget it."

• • • •

The Iowa Valley Press reported the day following the convention that the attraction drew a crowd of "probably 4.000 persons".

"The keys to the city were thrown into the swamp near Bailey's sanctum and the Britt people fed the crowd and drank them, too. There were something like 150 genuine tramps in attendance but the numerous aristocratic hoboes completed the crowd. Hoboes Way and Potter amused the people with their cakewalk and it is said that Chaplain Nagle of the Tourists' Union made the best address."

The latter remark might have been taken as somewhat of a reflection upon W. E. Bullard, Belmond's august attorney-at-law, who was on the program as a speaker, himself — using as his topic, "How it seems to live on Easy street."

This year's convention is to be held on Aug. 29.

BEES

When Rev. C. H. Peters climbed a ladder at his Gilmore City home recently, to cut down a swarm of bees, he cut the branch off alright, then fell and broke his arm. The bees did the sporting thing and returned to their hive anyway.

QUARREL

A traffic violation near Bloomfield helped patch up a family quarrel. As the husband was "leaving home forever", he ran through a stop sign and was arrested by the highway patrol. Sensing that the driver was under emotional tension, the patrolman took him back home to get his driver's license. While looking for the license, the husband and wife patched up their differences.

Present Time of Year Best of All To Check Gully Erosion on Farms

The attack on gully erosion—which is carving big chunks out of Iowa—can start now. Reed canary-grass has shown unbelievably fine results when planted in late August or early September, says H. D. Hughes, Iowa State college agronomist.

Grass taken from sod banks and sodded in now will be established in good shape by winter. Then it will be ready to hold the soil when spring floods start their erosive destruction.

Many Soil Conservation Districts in southern Iowa have their own sod banks. Where these plots aren't handy, farmers may need to grow their own, so Hughes has a few tips for starting a sod bank.

Seeding a sod bank can be done anytime now before the middle of September. Farmers can also do it in the spring, but fall seeding has the advantage of being established and ready for use by the following fall.

Sow about eight pounds of seed per acre to establish a sod bank. It can be seeded on poorly drained ground of at least medium fertility. It's from these sod banks that the plants should be taken for gullies.

An easy way to harvest the sod crop is to plow up the amount needed and then disk it into small pieces.

These pieces can be planted in small washouts with a spade. Heel plants in firmly to brace them for the first heavy rain. Plants that are put in about two inches below the soil surface will withstand washing better than surface planting.

Hughes advises spacing plants about 18 inches apart for quick gully coverage.

Deep ditches covering large areas will have to be handled differently than small gullies. The deep ones need to be filled in first and thoroughly firmed. The agronomist suggests spreading pieces of sod with a manure spreader, using a power scoop for loading.

Thorough, heavy rolling is extremely important when following this practice, since packing wil firm the soil around plant roots and speed the establishment of the new planting.

VOL. 30 NO. 46 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, August 31, 1950 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

The Independent takes a deep bow to Rev. H. P. Senft for the very thoughtful gesture made by him and his congregation in recognition of the series of church advertisements currently running in this paper. A card of appreciation was mailed by them last week to all Belmond businss firms cooperating in sponsorship of the advertisement, as follows:

Dear Friends:

We are very happy over your interest in the fine full-page ad as run weekly in our local newspaper, THE INDEPENDENT. We appreciate your interest and we do want to say thanks.

We believe our wonderful privileges as Americans are made still more precious and grand by our own business people. Pastor and people of St. John's American Lutheran church are happy over your decision to keep BELMOND—A FINE PLACE TO LIVE!

Members of St. John's and Rev. H. P. Senft

"We like to do our business in Belmond!"

—M-S—

Incidentally, if you have not been reading these advertisements CAREFULLY and THOROUGHLY, we urgently recommend that you begin doing so. They're GOOD! Written in simple, sincere and unstilted language, they really strike home. We can say in all honesty that The Independent has never devoted advertising space to a cooperative project which it found greater or more humble pride in jointly sponsoring.

E. E. Keister of Strasburg, Va., the newspaper man who is author of the advertising copy, shows a rare perception of religion's true significance and the importance of The Church in community life.

—M-S—

From the Iowa Division of The American Cancer Society, The Independent has received a "1950 Award for Distinguished Service" citation for our most willing contribution to the local drive in behalf of the 1950 Cancer Crusade in the way of news support. We were gratified to receive the recognition, but frankly feel that aid to so worthy a cause should require no "pat on the back".

We were pleased to be informed that the Iowa Division has apparentaly earned the second highest ranking in the United States for its efforts in the combined education-fund raising drive that began April 1 and extended through Sept. 1.

Certainly Dr. H. W. Morgan of ason City, division president, and his affiliates DO deserve a lot of credit for making the Crusade in Iowa so successful.

—M-S—

Don't know whether it's because there's a particularly large number of birthdays coming up, or because car drivers are becoming especially license-conscious now that the state no longer sends out expiration reminders—but a lot of folks have been alling the Independent lately to earn when licenses can be renewed at Clarion.

Examiner C. E. Condon of the highway patrol is at the courthouse on both Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 8:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. Written tests, for those seeking a license for the first time or having to reinstate a license that was allowed to expire, can be taken up to 3:00 p. m. on those two days.

We'd recommend, however, at you get over during those 30 ays prior to your birthday so ou can renew without having to ke the written test. Even hough you've been driving every day, you might find some of ose exam answers a bit elusive.

—M-S—

Jim Adams informs us that the ty dump grounds north of wn are looking very neat these ays. Haven't been up to admire e scene ourselves, but we understand that some special effort has been put forth to make e area as inoffensive as possible. Considering the type of esore that most community mps constitute, let us in unin emit an approving "bravo" behalf of the City Fathers for eping Belmond's . out of that ass.

A junior sow which he'd placed high hopes in justified those hopes by taking down the reserve championship in her class.

In addition, a junior spring gilt m the Duea herd placed cond in that classification. Another Wright county entry in the me group, shown by S. C. rage of Eagle Grove, was rded third place.

Contest Entrants Will Receive Bonus Votes on Work to Sept. 7

By Grace C. Koppenhaver
Campaign Manager

With a 1950 Ford tudor sedan as first prize, and three cash awards of $400, $200 and $100 to work for, the "Good Will" circulation campaign being conducted by The Independent is stimulating much community interest.

The campaign got underway last Thursday and the first report night was the following Saturday night. There are 9 candidates now working in Belmond and the surrounding community and it is the hope of the publishers that every home in the trade territory will be visited by the contestants before the close of the campaign, Oct. 6.

Workers who do not win a prize will be paid 20 per cent commission on their sales. This is one contest in which everyone wins. There are no losers.

During the "Opportunity" period, which closes Sept. 7, all workers are making a special effort to convert promises into votes; for on Sept. 7 a bonus of 300,000 extra votes will be given for each $15 worth of business turned in since the start of the campaign. This is the time to choose a favorite candidate and give her your support.

NOTICE, SUBSCRIBERS

During the course of the current circulation campaign, no changes will be made in subscription expiration dates as they appeared on mailing addresses prior to the contest. All will be brought up to date at the close of the drive.

The Independent's subscription campaign is strictly a business proposition. It's not a game or lottery, but a chance for honest employment with each contestant being his own boss and paymaster.

The work is dignified and pleasant and is paid exactly in proportion to the amount of effort expended. The winner will be the person who has worked hardest and most consistently.

The aim of the campaign is to acquaint every one in the vicinity of Belmond with the newspaper value offered by their weekly newspaper. Through extended news coverage, subscribers profit. A large subscription list is an advantage to both the advertiser and the reader.

This campaign is an effort on the part of the publishers to make this paper a more useful newspaper. Merchants will profit, of course, by the increased circulation — the more readers, the greater will be the value of advertising.

Although the campaign has been underway for several days, there is still room for a few more energetic men and women to enroll with a good chance of becoming winner of one of the wonderful prizes to be awarded Oct. 6. No contestant has secured sufficient lead that it cannot be overcome by work and effort on the part of a newcomer.

Anyone interested may call the office of the Belmond Independent and entry blanks will be furnished.

Listed below are the contestants, listed in alphabetical order since it is too early in the campaign for a tabulation of votes:

Mrs. Florence Aldinger, Rowan; Mrs. Howard (Donna) Boller, Goodell; Mrs. Glenn Eccles, Mrs. June Hawley, Mrs. Henry (Gertrude) Johnson, all of Belmond; Mrs. Lynn (Donna) Knoll, Kanawha; Mrs. Mrs. Claude Larkin, Belmond; and Mrs. Homer U. Ness, Olaf; Mrs. H. A. (Flo) Peters, Alexander.

SEVENTY-FOUR X-RAYS FIND FOUR INDIVIDUALS HAVING TUBERCULOSIS

Seventy-four persons were x-rayed during the ninth annual case-finding program in Wright county, according to a report from the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health association. Four cases of tuberculosis were found

The program was directed by Alice Moore, public health nurse, who interviewed persons believed to have been exposed to tuberculosis. She took 80 case histories, called in 32 homes and had conferences with 30 physicians.

The case-finding program is sponsored jointly by the Wright County Tuberculosis and Health association and other ineterested agencies. Local Christmas Seal funds help defray the expenses of the program.

Besides the tuberculosis findings, non-tuberculous findings revealed in the chest x-rays included four heart conditions, one fibrosis, five with calcifications, and four other conditions for which further medical study was recommended.

ROWAN HERE SUNDAY

Rain necessitated postponement of the game scheduled here last Sunday between the Belmond Tomahawks and Rowan to determine the play-off champions of the North Iowa baseball league. Weather permitting, the contest will be held at the local diamond this coming Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

LEAVES FOR "L. A."

Mrs. Mary Smith, Department President of Iowa Woman's Relief Corps, will leave tonight (Thursday) for Los Angeles, Calif., to attend the National Woman's Relief Corps convention from Sept. 3 through 7. As department president she will be in charge of the Iowa headquarters at the meeting.

McCANN GIRLS' DEATH BRINGS JURY PROTEST

Jurors investigating the fatal injury of eight-year-old Karen McCann at the Annie Wittenmeyer home in Davenport vigorously criticized the delay that was permitted before the Belmond youngster was started to Iowa City's university hospital by ambulance

The Scott county coroner's jury reported that the little girl received a basal skull fracture in a 25-foot fall on the grounds of the home. Three hours elapsed before the ambulance was dispatched to Iowa City and the youngster died before its arrival at the hospital.

Members of the jury severely condemned the home's policy of sending emergency patients to the university hospital and recommended that in the future all patients deemed in critical condition or considered emergency cases be taken to Davenport hospitals for possible treatment and further diagnosis.

White 'Safety Banner' Marred By Three Road-Mishap Stripes

In the first week of Wright county's participation in the statewide Drive Right campaign, three red stripes were placed on the white "safety banner" flying from the courthouse flagpole at Clarion to indicate auto accidents.

Only 10 and a half hours after the campaign started at Tuesday noon of last week, the first mishap occurred. Junior Hinz, 21, a Corwith farmhand driving on a country road six and a half miles west and a mile to the south of Belmond, lost control of his car.

The 1948 Plymouth coupe, slithered on the gravel, bounced along the lefthand ditch and rolled over twice. Although neither Hinz or a companion, Gail Wigans of Renwick, were hurt to speak of, the car was estimated a total wreck at a loss of $1,200.

Lester A. Hanson, Goldfield farmer, and Harlan L. Heard, Eagle Grove businessman, added the second red stripe with an intersection collision at Eagle Grove on Thursday. Hanson's wife and daughter, Sandra, suffered cuts and bruises; Heard was cut about the face. Damage to the cars was placed at $500 each. Hanson drove a '49 Ford, Heard a '50 Plymouth.

Friday evening about 11:00 o'clock a carload of teen-agers came to grief four miles west and three and a half south of Belmond. Driver Larry Barga, 16, of Meservey said his vision had been obscured by dust from a passing car and he lost control of his vehicle when it hit loose gravel.

His '40 Plymouth hurtled into the lefthand ditch and was smashed beyond repair. Damage was set at $500.

Myron Trager, 16, of Belmond, one of the car's occupants, was hospitalized briefly because of painful chest injuries. Others in the car were William Dirks, 16, of Meservey, Carol Morris, 15, and Leonard Gobeli, 16, both of Thornton.

Algona Men Buy Cafe of Spurling

Ed Spurling announces that he has sold his cafe to Myron Alderson and his son, Arnold, of Algona. The new owners will take possession tomorrow (Friday). The move was prompted, Ed says, by his imminent re-entry into the U. S. Army.

Currently Ed is enjoying a 21-day furlough prior to reporting for active duty. He underwent his physical examination at Des Moines on Tuesday.

He was a Sergeant First Class when discharged after World War II and expects he'll be assigned once more as an instructor in cooks and bakers school.

Mr. and Mrs. Alderson and their son will live in the quarters the Spurlings have been occupying over the cafe. Mrs. Spurling and young son will move into a new remodeled apartment to the rear of the same building.

The Aldersons plan to retain the same restaurant help as has been working for Ed. They are experienced in cafe operation, having owned one at Ruthven several years ago.

Sales Volume Here Drops 4% During First Quarter

Figures released by the state tax commission last weekend revealed that volume of business in Belmond followed a statewide trend and fell off about four per cent during the first quarter of this year, compared to the same period a year ago.

Sales tax returns here in the first three months reflected sales totaling $658,600. In the same quarter of 1949 sales subject to tax amounted to $688,300, or $29,700 more.

A drop of $36,100 was reported for Clarion, down to $1,059,450; Eagle Grove's trade slipped by $32,400, to $1,117,750; and Garner had a drop of $20,800, to $759,800.

General Mills Officials Hosts To Men Who Supply the Beans

General Mills rolled out the plush carpet for elevator operators and grain dealers throughout the Belmond plant's buying area last Friday night with a dinner and program at Clarmond Country club.

Including the plant officials who played host and the guests, nearly 100 persons enjoyed the chicken dinner and brief talks that followed. Manager Gene Woolley acted as "master of ceremonies", if so dignified a term could be used in conjunction with the informality that characterized the program.

Fred Hafner of the Minneapolis office, who is in charge of GMI soybean oil meal sales, offered a review of the soybean market outlook. He reported that present crop predictions point a 1950 harvest of at least 270 million bushels, or 35 million in excess of last year's.

He pointed out that animal protein factor provided by soybean meal stands ready to compete sharply with fish and meat meals as a supplemental feed ingredient if those two products go any higher in price. He added that availability of cotton seed meal is considerably under that of last year and will undoubtedly improve the marketability of soybean meal. All in all, he foresees little effect on the market from the larger 1950 bean crop.

A poll of the guests indicated that frost damage to the bean crop to date has been practically negligible—certainly running no more than two per cent. The elevator men were in agreement that delivery of beans could not be expected before the first week in October.

Mr. Woolley told the guests that the Belmond plant would be prepared to operate on a two-shift basis, from 6:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m., when the beans start coming in. He predicted that the plant would likely process slightly over four million bushels this year, compared to three and a half during the past crop year.

Iowa's expected soybean crop for this fall is 38 million bushels, the plant manager stated, compared to the state's processing plant capacity of 40 million.

The program concluded with a description of the Chicago Board of Trade and how it operates, presented by Mrs. Eunice Dustin of Chicago. She is educational director for the board.

Her explanation of trading processes, analysis of cash and futures buying and selling, and detailed report on how trading is conducted in the various pits at the Board of Trade were highly interesting to the guests and evoked a number of questions.

at Belmond city park.

Preparations have been completed for the big Labor Day Celebration under sponsorship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which will provide all-day "fun at home" next Monday for residents of Belmond and the neighboring countryside.

Festivities will start at 10:30 with the street parade. Owners of horses that will appear in the parade are asked to bring their steeds to the sale barn at 9:30 a. m. Other parade entries will gather at the Veterans Memorial building at the same hour.

Bands from Belmond, Alexander and Meservey High schools will provide march tempo. As a special inducement to all youngsters, to be on band with pets or decorated doll buggies, tricycles or bicycles, the parade committee has announced that all young paraders will be treated to ice cream cones at the city park when the marching is completed.

Des Moines Register and Tribune carrier-salesmen are expected out in force, since the "R&T" has put up a football as prize for the best decorated bicycle in this section of the parade. Several floats and the color guards of the veterans' organizations will complete the parade.

Line of march will be from the Veterans building to the hospital corner, north to Main street, west to First Avenue N. E., north around the city park, and thence back to the Vets hall, where the parade will disband.

At 12:00 o'clock from the bandstand, brief messages will be heard from three Belmond political aspirants, Vernon McLaughlin, Clark McNeal and Rodney Urdahl. A get-acquainted family picnic in the park will occupy the noon hour. Musical entertainment will be provided by an Old-Fashioned German Band.

Peewee all-star baseball teams representing Belmond's Northside and Southside will clash at the high school diamond at 1:00 p. m. At 2:00 o'clock, Belmond's Tomahawks and Garner's Cardinals wil renew their rivalry.

Dancing to Happy Jake and His Cowboys at the Veterans hall, starting at 9:00 p. m., will conclude the day's activities. The committee requests that all veterans who had tickets to sell make their reports at the dance before 10:30 Monday evening.

Enrollment in the Belmond schools, as classes started this week, showed more than a 10 per cent increase over the starting enrollment a year ago.

Supt. Don A. Faris reports that 672 students have been registered for 1950-51, compared to 609 last fall. High school enrollment has dropped from 188 to 186, but there are 486 children in the grades compared to last September's 421.

Kindergarten enrollees number 57—19 more than at the start of school last year. Superintendent Faris admits that he is just a bit perplexed concerning where all of the 51 first-graders came from, who are enrolled this fall; since only 38 started kindergarten a year ago.

Monday was "the big day" for the following youngsters who were launched on their educational careers by entry into kindergarten:

Sam Bell, proprietor of Hunters Lodge on Elm lake, appeared before Judge H. E. Fry in district court at Fort Dodge on Tuesday and pleaded guilty on two charges that grew out of a raid on his establishment July 3.

On his plea to the charge of illegal possession of liquor, Bell was fined $300 plus costs and sentenced to three months in the county jail, The jail term, however, was suspended on good behavior and he was paroled to Sheriff Bob Blecker.

On county attorney's information charging him with illegal possession of gambling devices, Bell's guilty plea brought him a fine of $100 and costs.

Officers raiding the Elm lake tavern last month discovered 29 bottles of liquor and a variety of gambling equipment.

Thompsen Heads Bowlers; Leagues To Start Sept. 11

A. P. "Dutch" Thompsen was elected president of the Belmond Men's Bowling association at the meeting held recently to plan league activities for the coming season. Jim Mariga was chosen as vice president and R. B. Thompson as secretary-treasurer.

It was agreed by those in attendance at the meeting that league play should start on Sept. 11. Membership in the various leagues will remain largely the same as last year, with the few disbanded teams to be replaced by new outfits.

It was also decided that the teams bowling on Wednesday and Thursday nights should alternate early and late shifts.

New rules were adopted governing handicapping and forfeiture of games in such instances as team members are late in arrival or an entire team fails to appear.

Play is to start promptly at 7:00 and 9:00 p. m. and each team must have a minimum of three men present in order to bowl. Latecomers will be permitted to catch up if they arrive before the fifth frame has been rolled. Any unrolled lines will be given a "dummy" score of 120 pins. If three men from one team are not present at starting time, a forfeit is mandatory.

The group voted that the championship team trophy donated by Kyseth and Dougherty should become the permanent possession of any team winning it twice.

There was discussion of establishing a Classic League, in which all bowlers compete without handicap, but it was decided that it would be another year before there would be a sufficient number of "scratch" or near-scratch bowlers to make up such a league.

PAPER ONE DAY LATE

Bowing to the custom that nobody labors on Labor Day, The Independent's newspaper force will join the populace in "a day off" next Monday. Consequently, the paper next week will be out on Friday rather than Thursday.

Rowan School to Open Monday All Rooms Newly Redecorated

Rowan Consolidated school will open for registration and assignment of books and instruction materials next Monday morning. Only a morning session is scheduled for Labor Day.

The school lunch program will start Tuesday, according to Supt. H. L. Pesch. Charge per student for 1st and 2nd grades will be $4.00 a month and for 3rd and over, $5.00. First payment is due the opening day of school, with payments the first Monday of each school month thereafter. Cooks for the year will be Celeste Hadley and Gladys Whitten.

The school interiors have been repainted in accord with recommendations of an expert sent to Rowan by the firm which supplied painting materials. He made a complete survey of the building and drew up a color scheme for each room, taking into consideration its educational purpose, window arrangement and lighting.

Herman Fruh did the painting, assisted by Superintendent Pesch, Carl Pesch and Custodian William Bingham. The superintendent is highly pleased with the results and says the rooms are now very attractively decorated.

Two new stokers have been installed and it is the hope of the board of education that they will solve the heating problem and add materially to the comfort of the students and faculty members.

On the school staff this year are the following: Mrs. Richard Basham, kindergarten and 1st grade; Chloe Hammond, 2nd; Marie Finn, 3rd and 4th; Margaret Rietz, 5th and 6th; Nina Heathershaw, 7th and 8th.

Besides Mr. Bingham, Earl Baker will serve as a custodian; and bus drivers will be Clarence Lindsey, Donald Lyons and Mr. Baker.

* * * *

MRS. L. G. CLASSICK

The First Methodist church at Sibley was the scene of a lovely wedding Sunday afternoon, Aug. 20, at 4:00 o'clock when Charlotte Marie Christensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nic Christensen of Sibley, was united in marriage to Leslie G. Classick, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold J. Classick of Belmond.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown consisted of a white chantilly lace bodice over white satin, tight fitting sleeves, and a white nylon marquisette skirt with court train. Her lace edged veil fell from a halo type cap of chantilly lace, trimmed in pearls. She carried a white orchid with satin streamers and stephanotis falling from a white prayer book.

Her attendants were Mrs. J. Wesley Reed of Pasedena, Calif., a cousin, who acted as matron of honor and wore a gown of nile green taffeta, with matching head band, and carried nile green and yellow asters in a colonial bouquet; Mrs. Miles Huntsinger of Minneapolis was attired in a purple taffeta with matching head band; Margaret Reeves of Sibley wore a floor length gown of lavender taffeta, Mary Lou Stevenson of Cedar Rapids had a gown of orchid taffeta. These attendants wore matching head bands and carried colonial bouquets of deep purple, lavender and rose asters.

Before the ceremony Miss Stevenson sang two numbers, "At Dawning" by Cadman, and "Ich Liebe Dich" by Grieg. Following the prayer by the pastor, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Acting as best man was Harold Classick, Jr., of Bartlesville, Okla., the groom's brother. The ushers were Charles Papousek of Belmond, Rolland Wormwood, of Sioux Falls, cousin of the groom, and Gorman Tutsch of of Sibley. All wore summer formal attire.

The church was beautifully decorated with white candelabra, fern and floor baskets of white gladioli. A floral piece of white gladioli was on the organ.

A reception was held in the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Christensen, following the ceremony. Mrs. Harold Classick of Bartlesville cut and served the wedding cake, while Mrs. Wayne Winkler of Bartlesville poured, and Mrs. George Reed of Minneapolis served the punch.

After a short wedding trip to Greeley, Colo., the young couple will be at home at a furnished apartment in Audubon, where they have been employed as teachers in the Audubon public school for the coming year. Mrs. Classick will teach second grade and Mr. Classick, science in the high school.

Bouquets of yellow gladioli and lighted candles provided the background as the church pastor, Rev. J. Heber Miller, read the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Clifford Anderson of Klemme, wore a white gown with a fitted bodice of net over taffeta, a lace edged finger tip veil held in place by a coronet of seed pearls, and elbow length mitts. She carried a white Bible, a gift of the groom's mother, with red roses and long streamers of rosebuds. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone necklace, a gift of the groom.

The ushers were Roland Kinseth of Belmond and Clark Miller of Cedar Falls, a cousin of the groom.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a rayon faille gown with a net yoke, and net over skirt., which fell in to a long train. Her net veil was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was red roses and white asters. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Joye Vestweber of Alexander was maid of honor and wore a green satin gown. Bridesmaids were Vivian Stromer, sister of the groom, and Gloria Pals. They wore yellow embroidered organdy and lavender sheer and the three attendants had corsages of lavender asters.

Dorothy Ostendorf, sister of the bride, was flower girl and wore a pink organdy formal and carried a basket of petals. [illegible] Stromer, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer, carrying a white satin pillow. He wore a white suit and a white aster boutonniere.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Halfpap of Goodell played nuptial music and accompanied Phyllis Vestweber in several vocal selections.

The bride's mother wore navy printed sheer and the groom's mother forest green.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for 150 guests. Mrs. Gene Ostendorf poured and Mrs. Arnett Ostendorf cut the cake. Alice Ann Fischer was in charge of the guest book.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Stromer left on a short wedding trip. They will be at home on a farm near Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Evenson of Fertile spent Monday among local friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Walton of Iowa Falls were Sunday afternoon and lunch guests at the Mrs. John Ahrenkiel home.

Andrew Lauen Highly Pleased With His Crop of Hybrid Pigs

One of the better herds of market pigs in the vicinity of Belmond this fall is the fine lot of hybrids on the Andrew Lauen farm, five miles east and two and a half north of Goodell.

For a number of years Mr. Lauen has been raising Duroc-Spotted Poland China crosses, alternating the breed of his boars each season. Last spring he decided to take a flyer on hybrids and bought his first hybrid boar.

Andrew had 16 sows and averaged better than eight saved pigs per litter, entering the summer with 132. When the pigs had reached about the 75-pound mark, six healthy-looking ones just "up and died" for no apparent reason, leaving him at present a total of 126.

The first of his pigs were farrowed about March 8, and the balance arrived over the following couple of weeks. Although the porkers have not been slopfed at any time, they have gained rapidly and about a week ago—between five and six months of age—averaged 190 to 195 pounds apiece.

Andrew says he has fed only corn, oats and supplement, grinding all the grain up to the time the pigs hit about 150 pounds, and hand-feeding whole corn since then, along with ground oats and supplement in the feeders.

Mr. Lauen expresses complete satisfaction over his initial experience with hybrid pigs and states that he intends to follow up with another hybrid boar to sire his next spring crop.

Asked what he plans to do when inbreeding makes further use of sows from his own herd inadvisable, Andrew said he contemplated the purchase of several good, purebred, bred-gilts before that time. He'll then use gilts from their litters as his brood sows, to avoid the genetic dangers of inbreeding.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

In the belief that Duane Sandage, Belmond vocational agriculture instructor, might "have something on his chest", we invited him to take over part of the RFD column this week. Duane's comments follow:

Hats off to all the Wright County boys and girls who have just helped complete one of the biggest and best Eagle Grove District Fairs ever held!

The past week was open house at Eagle Grove for all 4-H and FFA livestock projects in Wright county and surrounding townships. Some of the very best livestock in the state was on hand to be viewed by the public.

Some of the most outstanding exhibits were in the swine department. By far the majority of these projects came from the Eagle Grove FFA.

Even with as many as 54 entries in one fat hog class, quantity did not cut quality. This was proven later in the week when 70 hogs represented the Eagle Grove chapter at the Iowa State Fair, where they copped four breed champions in the heavily contested open class of the market hog show.

—RFD—

Not to be outdone entirely, Belmond was well represented in the purebred hog department by Ronnie Ketchum, Alfred McLaughlin, Robert Fetrow, Odean Severseike, Louis Oberhauser and Roy Johnson.

Well established 4-H clubs in the Belmond community made stiff competition in the beef department. Good feeding and a plentiful supply of grain this past year made possible good quality calves.

Arlen Pals won reserve champion of the show after topping the Shorthorn class.

Other Belmond exhibitors included: Merlin Halverson, Beverly Lerdal, Byron Koenen, Roland Lerdal, Bob McClure, Don McClure, Bill McLaughlin and Jerry McLaughlin. Also Vernon McLaughlin, Larry Mennenga, Sherman Oberhauser, Betty and Carolyn Schleiffarth and Richard Goeman were Belmond exhibitors.

Both dairy and sheep departments have afforded little competition but there was an increase in both departments this year. Two boys, Paul Nassen and Clifford Toft, exhibited sheep from Belmond.

—RFD—

Even with one of the best district shows in the state and the model state fair at our disposal, it is often difficult for vocational agriculture instructors, 4-H leaders and county youth assistants to convince parents and club members of the merits of exhibiting their projects.

All FFA and 4-H members should consider the exhibiting of their projects as one of their goals. This does not mean high priced animals are needed. It simply means a good job must be done in caring for their project.

County and state fairs and other livestock exhibitions have done much to promote the production of good livestock. According to Ronald Diggens, Eagle Grove vocational agriculture instructor, competitive swine production has done much for the No. 1 livestock enterprise in his community. Boys competing against other boys and in some cases, boys competing against their dads, has been a factor in developing good swine programs.

—RFD—

Joe Duea, one of the local purebred Duroc breeders exhibiting at the state fair this year, believes raising a project without showing it is like having football practice without scheduling a game.

He says a boy can learn the qualities of a good animal most rapidly by trying to produce good qualities and then competing against others doing the same. This gives the exhibitor a chance to have his animal evaluated

Mrs. Duea, two-time exhibitor of the second place Hereford steer at the Chicago International, agrees that a farmer's wife must have an appreciation of good livestock, especially if her husband is a purebred breeder.

—RFD—

With the Iowa State Fair almost over, we have other events that will possibly find Belmond participants. Some of these events include the North Iowa Fair at Mason City, Aug. 25 to Sept. 1; the National Barrow Show at Austin, Minn., Sept. 13 to 16; the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress and Fat Animal Show in October and the Chicago International in November.

—RFD—

Taking the ball from Duane, we might add that it was his belief that Willis Muhlenbruch's grand champion Angus baby beef at Eagle Grove was just as good as the calf that took grand championship honors at the state fair. He reports that the state fair winner was a bit better finished, but that the Clarion boy's animal had other superior characteristics that should have compensated for the slight inferiority in finish.

On that basis, it appears that Thompson's Hybrid was making no mistake in bidding so high for the steer—and in taking Joe Duea in on partnership basis to prepare the handsome Angus for showing at the International.

—RFD—

Those FFA boys from Eagle Grove have practically taken over the state fair as their own private show. Again this year they took the grand champion and reserve champion placings in every FFA breed division in which they exhibited. Their success in the open classes was just as phenominal. As Duane Sandage pointed out, they took championship honors in four breeds.

One of the outstanding "stars" of the E G. show troupe was 15-year-old Richard Severson of Thor, who had never previously been a fair exhibitor. He made his debut by taking the grand championship at the Junior Fair and reserve championship in the open class at Des Moines.

—RFD—

Success of the Eagle Grove boys cannot be explained by lack of competition. Wilbur Plager, state fair swine show manager, termed this year's barrow show the best in the fair's history and the quality of the animals shown superior to any previous year.

Which brings up the question of just what makes a champion. At Eagle Grove, Severson's Duroc was awarded the grand championship. At the state fair FFA show the same animal was ranked behind the grand champion Berkshire of Norbert Vorrie (Thor) and reserve champion Chester White of Don Williamson (Eagle Grove).

Then, in the state fair open show, Severson's Duroc was rated reserve champion (behind the entry of some interloper from Marshalltown!), topping both Vorrie's and Williamson's entries.

Anyway, it was the fourth time in five years the Eagle Grove boys had provided the grand champion FFA animals at Des Moines — and despite varying opinions on the part of the judges, no doubt was left that the Wright county boys are in a class by themselves when it comes to raising pigs.

Ruth Martin Outstanding 4-H Girl of County; Belmond Demonstrators to North Iowa Fair

As highlight of the 4-H girls' competition at last week's Junior Fair at Eagle Grove, Ruth Ann Martin, retiring Wright county girls' 4-H president, was named as the county's outstanding club girl.

She is a member of the Belles of Boone club and last spring was graduated from Renwick High school.

Iowa township's U-Go-I-Go home furnishing demonstration team topped all of its competitors to earn the privilege of representing Wright county at the state fair. The winners, Pat Ketchum and Marjorie McKinley, gave a demonstration on home lighting entitled, "The Eyes Have It".

On the second place team were Florence Mechem and Marcia Rasmussen of Dayton Dandies, who will present at the Dairy Cattle Congress their demonstration on flower arrangements—"Fun and Fascination with Flowers.

Outstanding expense record books were judged to be those of Margary Ann Roseland of Little Liberty Ladies, Janice Nielson of Woolstock Willing Workers, Norma Jean Mishler of Eagle Red Peppers and Janice Hammond of Iowa U-Go-I-Go.

Superior home furnishing record books were those entered by Florence Mechem of Dayton Dandies, Maurine Nissen of Belles of Boone, Judith Woodin of Grant Go-Getters and Charlene Edwards of Little Liberty Ladies. All eight of the record books will be in the Wright county booth at the North Iowa Fair.

4-H girls of the county entered 366 home furnishing exhibits at this year's fair, of which 103 were awarded blue ribbons, 165 received red ribbons and 98 white.

Under a new ruling this year, each county was permitted to send only one exhibit from each class on to the state fair. As a result, fewer were sent to Des Moines than in the past.

Sewing unit for room with painted finish, Pat Ketchum, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; improvised unit for room, Janice Hammond, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; long-time expense account book, Ruth Martin, Belles of Boone.

Among club booths illustrating club activities and special features, only four received blue ribbons in both categories. They were the booths of the Belmond Busy Bees, Dayton Dandies, Iowa U-Go-I-Go and Woolstock Willing Workers.

Special awards were presented to Janice Hammond for her expense book, Ruth Martin for her long-time expense book, Janice Nielson for her long-time record book, and Mary Lou Baker for her home furnishing record book.

REMINDER TO RENEW DRIVERS LICENSE NO LONGER MAILED OUT

The state safety department is no longer mailing reminder cards to motorists telling them when to renew their drivers licenses, S. N. Jaspersen, highway patrol chief, warned today.

"If each driver will look at the face of his license, he will find printed there the date on which that license expires," Jespersen said. "The license must be renewed any time during the 30 days prior to that expiration date."

The department discontinued mailing the reminder cards last June 1, when the birthdate license renewal law entered its third year in operation. At that time it was decided motorists were familiar enough with the law to let the department save the expense of mailing more than 500,000 cards yearly.

Several thousands posters pointing out the expiration date on a facsimile license have now been distributed to various public places throughout Iowa.

Jespersen listed these pointers for renewing licenses:

1. Don't wait to receive a reminder card from the department. Look at the face of your license and check the date on which it expires.

2. Go to a drivers license examining point any time during the 30 days before the license expires.

3. Take your old license with you for it must be surrendered to examiners before a new license can be issued. If you have lost your license, apply for a duplicate.

Failure to renew a license on or before the date it expires may result in a driver having to take the entire driving test over again beforea new license can be issued.

Thompson's Hybrid Corn company paid top price on Wednesday of last week at the Eagle Grove Junior Fair livestock auction, bidding in the grand champion baby beef of Willis Muhlenbruch at $46 per hundredweight. That price brought the Clarion youth $492.20 for his 1,070-pound Angus steer.

Arlen Pals of Belmond received $404 for his reserve champion Shorthorn when Eagle Grove Chamber of Commerce bought the 1,010-pound animal for $40 a hundred.

Eight other Belmond business concerns made purchases at the baby beef auction. Prices they paid per hundredweight and in total were: Hub Garage $33.50 and $355.10; Tyrrell Stock Farm $31.50 and $322.87; First State Bank $31.50 and $322.87; First State Bank $31.50 and $324.45.

Courson and McNeal $31.50 and $280.35; Christie and Larson $30.00 and $295.50; Tip Top Market $31.00 and $265.05; Helland and Long $31.00 and $248; Belmond Coop Creamery $29.75 and $267.75.

A total of $36,805.81 was paid for the calves auctioned, and the average price per hundred was $31.70—comfortably over Mason City top grade prices for the day.

Thompson's is taking Joe Duea in on partnership on their prize purchase and the prominent Belmond cattle and hog showman will add the calf to those in his feed lot that he is preparing to exhibit at the International Livesock Exposition in December.

A record high was bid in the market pig auction at the fair when Fort Dodge Serum company paid 64 cents a pound for the grand champion Duroc barrow exhibited by Richard Severson of Eagle Grove. The reserve champion Chester White of Bernard Maier, Eagle Grove, went for 41 cents per pound.

Average sale price for the market pigs was a handsome $29.66 per hundred and swine sales totaled $5,783.70. The champion litter of market pigs shown by Harlan Poolman of Galt, which included 11 pigs with aggregate weight of 2,300 pounds, sold for $38.50 a hundred.

BUTTER!
How those vegetables disappear when you add lots of butter! Children love the flavor of golden butter — so rich in the vitamins they need. Its natural golden color comes from rich golden cream —since four pints of cream go into the making of each pound of butter.

Sometimes when you've about decided that lack of consideration and general thoughtlessness are both major characteristics of the human race, some small evidence to the contrary bobs up to leave you wondering if you aren't wrong. We had just such an experience last week.

For some mystical reason beyond our comprehension, our car generator began charging "like all get out" and on a daytime jaunt to Clarion we drove with the lights on to avoid damage to the battery. It never occurred to us that it was anybody's business but our own.

But before we got out of town, two groups of boys waved vigorously to indicate our headlights were burning. As we started to pass a car, the driver directed a spotlight back toward us and blinked it helpfully; and after we'd passed, we saw in the rearview mirror that his own headlights were meaningfully winking at us.

We'd estimate that at least 75 per cent of the opproaching cars, all the way to Clarion, blinked their lights at us to give us the tip-off. On the return trip, it was the same. Finally, feeling like a dog for rejecting the helpful interest shown in our apparent absent-mindedness, we decided the battery would just have to take its chances—and we turned off the disturbing headlights.

It was a small thing, we'll grant you, yet those blinking lights rather brightened our whole day. Yes, sir. Man's thoughtfulness toward his fellow men sometimes shows up in the doggonedest ways!

Here's One Iowa Publisher Who's Going To Make A Dream Come True

A number of times every year, all weekly newspapers receive offers from individuals who would like to write columns for them—for a consideration, of course. Ordinarily, we aren't even idly interested. First, because we have to battle for sufficient news space most of the time; and second, because most of the specimens are out-and-out tripe.

However, this week we were approached on a column deal which we rejected with sincere regret. It came from a fellow Iowa publisher, Paul J. Metzer of The Ringstead Dispatch. In the course of 30 years in small-town newspapering, starting as a printer's devil, Paul acquired three weeklies—and a family of four kids.

Now the youngsters are all grown, he's disposed of two of his papers and has offered the third for sale. He says that he and his wife plan to leave shortly on a "honeymoon trip" they never got around to before.

As a "Dairy of a Country Editor", Mr. Metzer will relate his travel experiences in a column bearing the appropriate title, "Following the Four Winds". He plans no set itinerary, just traveling when and where he and "the missus" wish. It's an entrancing prospect; and we'll bet it produces some mighty readable columns.

Paul offers his service at the rate of $10 for each quarter of the year, on a strictly money-back basis. While we don't feel we can accommodate the column ourselves, we hope he has lots of takers. When he departs on his jaunt he'll be realizing the dream of many editors—who are still raising their kids and haven't as yet acquired three papers to put on the block.

Country School's Days Are Numbered, Notwithstanding Reorganization Fight

Much talk is bandied about these days on the subject of school reorganization. Staunch defenders of "the little red schoolhouse" (which seems to have adopted a coat of white, with the passing years) still view centralization of educational facilities as an infringement upon rural independence.

And in the 1950 primary election, Bill Nicholas acquired the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor standing firmly on a declaration to the farm voters that he'd not allow their schools to be closed down without their consent. Of course, the existing law assures just such protection to rural school districts—but that is neither here nor there.

But release of the rural teachers' list for 1950-51 by County Superintendent C. W. Sankey conclusively proves that "reorganization" has made vast strides, whether opponents realize it or not. In 1930 there were 120 country schools operating in Wright county (although three were closed that year for lack of pupils). This coming school year will see only 49 opening their doors.

Certainly this comparison offers evidence in itself that the days of the typical country school are numbered. Conversion to centralized schooling still will not be an overnight proposition. But in due time, demands for higher educational standards, equal opportunity for all students and efficiency of school operation will see "the little red school house" joining the horse and buggy, steam-driven threshing machine and kerosene lamp in the limbo of outmoded adjuncts of rural life.

It All Depends Upon Who's Getting What For Nothing

As we occasionally have to point out to well-meaning folks who come into the Independent office asking for "free space" in the paper, a newspaper's main stock in trade is advertising space. If it doesn't get paid for publicizing undertakings of a profit-making nature, it had just as well close up shop before the the sheriff gets into the act.

We gladly supplement with news coverage any advertising that involves a project with a legitimate news angle. Consequently, we succeed in staying on amicable terms with most of our callers who have in mind making an honest dollar or so off John Q. Public.

A horse of a different color is the type of "news publicity" we receive weekly from dozens of industrial press agents. They exhibit the utmost gall in their efforts to obtain free advertising, with the solitary aim of lining their clients' pockets—and, indirectly, their own.

A prime example arrived in the mail last week. It was a "news picture" of an exhibit a certain firm had on display at the state fair. It was plain advertising, involving space for which a national advertiser would have to pay us $6.62.

We couldn't help but smile, envisioning the reaction had we published the material—then visited the fair and offered the printed matter as purchase price for some $6.50 item in the manufacturer's display. The ensuing furore would have been a lulu!

Houdini used to be regarded with great awe for his ability to make an elephant disappear. Now we learn that, by U. S. Army standards, Houdini was a piker. During World War II about 85,000 tanks were produced. Army records at the war's end indicated 25,000 should have been left; but a tank "census" revealed that 9,000 of them had disappeared.

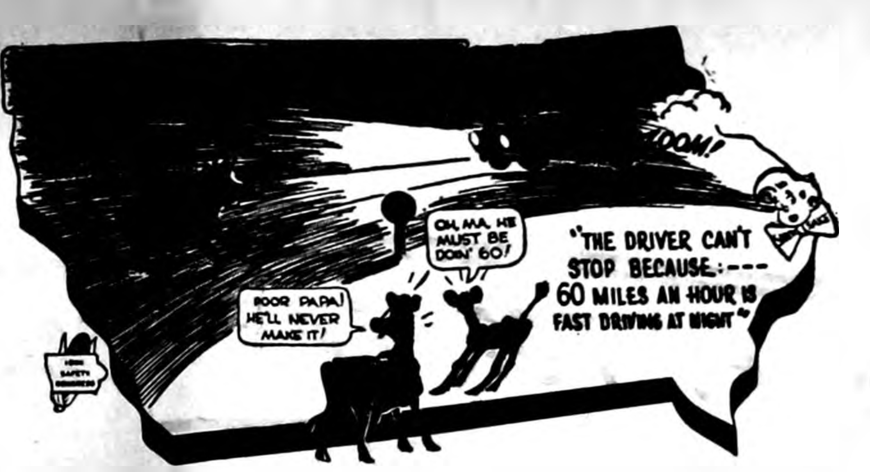
On the occasion of Bernard Baruch's eightieth birthday last week a columnist attributed to beloved elder statesman the remark that, "Being influential means you must be right." We can think of a number of individuals prominent in public life who would do well to paste that statement in their hats.

———O———

Lucky, lucky us! For our benefit the federal bureau of publications keeps in print pamphlets dealing with "Recipes for Cooking Muskrat Meat", "Interaction of Sex, Shape and Weight Genes in Watermelons", "Eliminating Bats from Buildings" and "Habits, Food and Economic Status of the Band-Tailed Pigeon". Now if they'd just add to the list a tome on "Eliminating Bats from Congressional Belfrys" . . . !



ZOOM!
OH, MA, HE MUST BE DOIN' 60!
POOR PAPA! HE'LL NEVER MAKE IT!
"THE DRIVER CAN'T STOP BECAUSE:--- 60 MILES AN HOUR IS FAST DRIVING AT NIGHT"

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

And here's why 60 miles an hour is fast driving at night. Average good headlights show you the highway ahead for about 250 feet. But at 60 miles an hour, your stopping distances—from the moment you first sight danger—is 331 feet.

So, if you are driving 60 at night, if you have good headlights, if you have good brakes, if your reactions are quick and your attention keen and if you hit the brakes the moment your lights first pick out danger on the highway—you're still going to plow 81 feet beyond that danger point, or into it, before you can stop.

Half of all fatal accidents occur at night though only one-third of total traffic moves at night. Slow down. Drive Right.

Don A. Faris, chairman of the Salvation Army Service Unit in Belmond, stated today that the Salvation Army drive for funds in this community has been well received. The returns have reached $250, with the goal a quota of $420.

Lamont Higgins, field representative from the Iowa Division, has been active in the solicitation here.

Mr. Faris asks that any who have not as yet made their contribution, either by mail or personally, please do so as soon as possible so that the financial part of the drive can be satisfactorily concluded. All checks may be mailed directly to B. C. Hewlett.

A portion of the funds will be left with the committee, and there will be no restriction as to its use.

The remainder of the money raised will be used to provide maintenance of hospital, fresh air camp benefits for mothers and children, services to veterans and other regional services including a reserve fund for emergency use and disasters.

The regional program is available to Belmond whenever the need arises.

Sunday guests at the Ed Rayl home in Clarion were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bayliss, Janeal and Mrs. Tom Bayliss of Belmond.

ALL SET FOR LABOR DAY

Well, here we are, folks! The greatest group in America—the family! Along with millions of other families, we constitute the backbone of American life. We are America—America at her best!

We are all set to celebrate Labor Day—a holiday set aside by our government to emphasize the dignity and importance of labor as the basis of our national and individual prosperity.

We till the soil, man the shops and factories and offices, build the homes, support the schools and churches, and aim to have the best government and greatest freedom of any nation on earth. And that is just what we have.

In any period of national crisis, in war or peace, the government turns to us—the homes of America—the families and workers of America—and we never fail.

For our homes and our families are built on faith—faith in God's power and providence in human life. Our churches inspire us to live uprightly, to be happy and hopeful, and to build that most blessed of all institutions—the American home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

By George - Dick - Pat

You've heard of a person's hair turning white over night. Well, our operatives inform us that Vicki Jean Pals, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pals, came close to being a victim of this phenomenon a lot quicker than that. A can of white paint, rather than a bad scare, was responsible for the sudden change in the color of Vicki's locks.

We are informed that Leo Hilton, Jr., a Clarion member of the Clarmond Country club, recently realized that dream of all golfers—a hole-in-one. It was, to the best of our knowledge, the first ace to be made at the local club since Mary Gordon achieved that distinction a couple of years ago.

Both of the holes-in-one were accomplished on No. 6, which the card describes as being 139 yards in length. In fact, that is the only Clarmond hole that would provide a likely setting for a "dodo". To hole out on any of the others would require a drive little less phenominal than a hole-in-one.

Leo was not among those who have invested in the Loyd's of London policy that pays off 100-to-1 on a $4.00 premium. As a consequence, his ace represented a feather in his cap—but not $400 in the bank.

From Mrs. Louise Veeder, 2024 Pierce street, Sioux City, comes a renewal fee for her subscription and the following note:

"I love to get the Belmond paper and I would be lost without it. It is so nice to read about all the old friends. While there are not many more left, the memory lingers on. I love dear old Belmond; I only wish I could come and visit once more. I have not been there in six years and many changes have taken place. I still feel it is my home."

When the town's smoke-eaters took off for the Arthur Stockseth farm Wednesday in reply to a fire call, it was like old times to see R. A. Thompson clinging to the rear of one of the trucks. "Rich, Sr." retired from the fire company about 10 years ago, after nearly half a century of voluntary service. As near as the current fire-fighters could recall, Wednesday's jaunt on the truck was his first since he laid away his helmet.

The fire was no great shakes—a pile of cobs near a corncrib threatened to ignite the crib after a shift in the wind—and R. A. lost his hat, en route. The fact that he didn't get ahold of a nozzle while the cobs were being doused was somewhat compensated for by the fact that the old-timer recovered the missing fedora on the way home.

The Independent's one-man gang, Cpl. Robert Foss of the U. S. Marine Corps, declared he wasn't reporting for duty until President Truman apologized to the "Leathernecks". He added that he wasn't sure that he'd accept the apology, even when, as and if it came . . . Well, thats one way to get an indefinite deferment. Of course, he's not going to be of much use to us over there in Leavenworth.

WRIGHT COUNTY HELPS IOWA TO RANK SECOND IN '50 CANCER DRIVE

MASON CITY—In attaining over 144 per cent of its assigned quota, Iowa ranked second among all state divisions in the 1950 Cancer Crusade officially ended August 31.

Lynn county ranked first among the Iowa counties with 285 per cent of quota. Second place honors went, as in 1949, to Wright county—Mrs. Maurice Crabbe of Eagle Grove, chairman—with 274 per cent of quota. In third place was Story county, with 263 per cent.

In a campaign that saw nearly $14,000,000 contributed nationally, Iowa was topped only by South Carolina, a state with one-fourth the quota of Iowa. This information was released by H. B. Hook of Mason City, for the fourth consecutive year state campaign chairman of the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society.

With ninety county chapters having made or exceeded their quotas, including 12 that doubled, an Iowa record-breaking total of $435,239.50 was contributed Hook stated.

This was $133,338.50 more than the state's assigned quota of $301,900, and marked the fourth consecutive year Iowa has substantially exceeded its quota.

According to Hook it has been the Iowa division's "over-the-top" funds that have allowed it each year to expand its service and education programs at the county levels as well as support research projects at the State University of Iowa and at the national level, thus winning recognition as one of the top ACS divisions.

A. C. Hinman Heart Attack Victim; Funeral Rites Conducted Tuesday

Death came suddenly last Saturday night to Arthur Cheney Hinman, 77, a lifelong resident of the Belmond community. He had suffered a heart attack in the afternoon, following a morning trip to Iowa Falls. A second attack not long before midnight proved fatal.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Congregational church, with Rev. A. B. McKeith officiating, and burial was in Belmond cemetery. Boone Funer home was in charge of the services. Pallbearers were Preston Tyrrell, George Elder, Henry Larsen, Ronald Courson, Claude Benson and William Trafford.

Mr. Hinman was a community leader in a variety of respects. While still residing on the family farm northwest of Belmond he served as clerk and as a trustee of his school district. For some years he was president of the cooperative creamery board.

A member of the Congregational church throughout his lifetime, Mr. Hinman served the church in almost every official capacity and some years back was elected honorary deacon for life. For many years he was Sunday school superintendent, as his father had been before him.

As teacher of the boys' class for many years, he was very popular with his young students. At the time of his death he was teacher of the adult Bible class. He gave unstinting of his time and effort in behalf of the church and his absence from the congregation will be sorely missed.

Born on March 24, 1873 near Belmond, he was the son of Stephen Nelson Hinman and Ellen Cheney Hinman. He grew up on the family farm and attended

Play in the Clarmond Country club golf tournament over the past week saw the winners decided in two flights. In the first flight, Ken Firkins of Dows whipped Jerry Hanson of Belmond by a 5-4 margin; and Don Jerde of Clarion beat a fellow-townsman, Jim Bolger, 5 and 4 to take the third flight.

Firkins had earlier won from George Hansen by default to gain the final round, and Jerry Hanson had upset Preston Tyrrell, one up. Bolger gained the third flight finals by nosing out Jack Shepard of Belmond, one up; and Jerde downed another Belmondite, Hank Stokke, two up to reach the final bracket.

Contenders in the championship bracket have been pared down to four. Rev. R. A. Ormsby, who beat out Eldon Vroman on the 19th hole, will meet Pat Gallagher this week in the top semi-final match. Gallagher defeated George Infelt, 6 and 5. Defending Champion Cliff Campbell gained via a default from Charlie Birdsall and will tangle with Leo Hilton, Jr., who edged out Toby Whitman, 2 and 1.

In the second flight, Dr. A. M. Larson took the measure of Bob Davidson, Clarion, to reach the finals. He will play "Dutch" Thompsen, who downed Lloyd Volker, 4 and 3, in the lower bracket.

Les Bergmann advanced to the fourth flight finals with a 4-3 win over Elmer Hanson and will meet R. B. Thompson, who won from Russ Schaal by forfeit. Finalists in the fifth flight are C. A. Handfelt, who ousted Dick Elliott, and Walt Hotvet, winner over Damon Denger.

Duea Durocs Given High Placings at M. C. Fair

Chief winner among the animals exhibited by Joe Duea was a junior yearling sow, which not only topped her class and the senior sows but was named grand champion female of the show.

The Belmond stockman also had the two top junior spring gilts, the best later being judged the junior champion gilt; and his junior spring boars placed one-two in their class.

Men Bowlers Plan Tuesday Meeting

With action in the men's bowling association due to get underway Monday of next week, a meeting of league members has been called by President R. B. Thompson for Tuesday evening at the city hall in order to complete organization for the year.

Representatives from every men's team should be on hand at 7:00 p. m., Mr. Thompson says. Awards will be presented to last season's league winners and individual league officers for the new season will be elected.

Following are the match line-ups for next week, except for the GMI league—which has not announced pairings:

Monday, 7:00 p. m. — General Mills league; 9:00 p. m.—Tri-City league — Minidocs vs. Coast-to-Coast, Meservey vs. Latimer, Alderson's Cafe vs. Flanagan's Real Estate.

Wednesday, 7:00 p. m.—Board-splitters—Thompson's (plant) vs. Quig's Grill, Finn's Skelly vs. Spahn and Rose, Bowl-Mor vs. Kanawha; 9:00 p. m.—Westenders—Tip Top vs. Urdahl's Tavern, Stoltenbergs' vs. Dan's Barber Shop, Dows vs. Scott's Agency.

Thursday, 7:00 p. m. — Mainstreeters—Thompsen's Clothiers vs. Independent, Mello Maid vs. Thompson's (office), Rowat-Murray vs. Madole-Kinseth; 9:00 p. m.—Inter-City—Alexander vs. Goodell, Rowan vs. Dows, Meservey vs. Belmond.

Six in District Court Get $300 Fines on OMVI

Six defendants were heard Wednesday morning by Judge S. A. Clock in district court at Clarion on charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

The following were all fined $300 and costs and their driver's licenses suspended for a 60-day period: Joseph Morphew and Ira Lee of Eagle Grove, Sam Blau of Alexander, William F. Brinkman of Dows and Donald Haack of Woolstock.

Ruby May Ward of Mason City was assessed the same penalties, but $100 of her fine was suspended on good behavior.

Gerald M. Barry and son David of Minneapolis, Minn., visited in the home of Mrs. J. F. Barry and other relatives and friends from Sunday until Tuesday afternoon.

Lutheran Welfare Group Employs New Caseworker

JUNE HAUGE

Lutherans of this community will be interested to learn that June Hauge of Des Moines has been appointed caseworker for the Fort Dodge branch of the Lutheran Welfare Society of Iowa. She replaces Ruth Carlson, who resigned at the time of her marriage in June.

A graduate of Waldorf college at Forest City and Washington university's school of social work at St. Louis, Miss Hauge has had experience in business as well as social work. From 1944 to 1946 she was a Navy WAVE.

Last year the Fort Dodge branch of the welfare society provided care for 58 children, in addition to giving help to several unmarried mothers and their infants.

BOONE VALLEY GOLF COMPETITION SLATED SUNDAY AT CLARMOND

Preparations have been completed for handling an entry list of well over 100 competitors in the annual Boone Valley Golf association tournament, which will be held this coming Sunday at Clarmond Country club.

An attractive collection of prizes has been assembled for presentation to the winners and runners-up in the various flights. Each flight will include 16 men, plus all additional who tie for highest qualifying score for any particular group.

A set of matched irons will go to the champion and a set of woods to second low scorer. Other golf equipment will be awarded prize winners in the lower flights.

Clarmond Country club members are urgently requested to "be on the firing line" at 7:00 a. m., so a good share of the local golfers can be on their way by the time out-of-town contenders arrive.

Twenty-seven holes will be played by all golfers in the three flights, and 18 by contenders in the remaining flights.

Team championship will be determined on the basis of aggregate scores of the top four players from each competing club. Both the individual championship and the team title will be based on the full 27 holes of play.

Various Township Meetings Slated On Family Living

Mrs. Lettie Zuber, county home economist, announces that Family Living organization meetings have been scheduled in all townships of Wright county for some time in September or October. All homemakers are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

Two sepcial sessions on "Flower Arrangement" will be presented at Clarion's Legion Hall on Sept. 29 at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m. by Charles Sherwood, horticulture specialist from Iowa State college.

First regular township lesson, to be presented during October and November, will be on "Home-Made Christmas Gifts".

For the regular year's program, each township will have a choice of any two of the following three subjects: (1) vegetable cookery—to make it more attractive; (2) color harmony in the house; (3) our youth of today. At the various organization meetings, the women will vote on their choice of lessons.

Date and place of organization meetings in the Belmond vicinity follow: Belmond township, Thursday, Sept. 28, at the home of Mrs. Sanford Severson with Mrs. Thomas Mathre as committee woman in charge; Grant—Tuesday, Sept. 12, with Mrs. John Van Haften, Mrs. Nels Lindvall in charge.

Norway—Friday, Sept. 15, with Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Mrs. Gerhard Thompson in charge; Pleasant—Friday, Oct. 6, place to be set, Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Jr., in charge; Iowa — Tuesday, Sept. 12, with Mrs. Howard Box, Mrs. Studebaker in charge.

ONE-TIME ORPHANAGE WARDS HOLD REUNION

A week ago Sunday Mrs. Erma Nielsen and her son, Donald, attended the Grace Lewis picnic held at the I. O. O. F. home in Mason City.

It was a reunion of orphans of the home at the time Mrs. Nielsen and her sister, Mrs. Oril Howe, were there.

The gathering is named after the matron then serving. Eight persons were present, including the families of the former orphans.

Vets' Labor Day Features Draw Large Turn-Out

Few holiday events in Belmond's history have matched the success enjoyed by the Labor Day celebration last Monday, sponsored by Pierce-Zeigler Post No. 4244 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Blessed with perfect weather, the day saw large crowds enjoying every event on the program. Festivities opened with a parade, at least a half-mile in length, which was viewed by many hundreds of onlookers.

Although there was no official judging of floats, opinion on them was passed by the three men selected to place entries in the D. M. Register and Tribune carriers' decorated bicycle contest. Rodney Urdahl, Clark McNeal and Vernon McLaughlin agreed that the V. F. W. "Prayer for Peace" entry would have been first, likely followed by that of the Belmond Auto company, portraying its various service departments.

Jerry Chandler won the football offered as prize for best carrier entry. The judges personally awarded cash prizes to winning entries in the open competition for decorated bicycles and in the pet parade.

John Murray's "bike" was picked as first place winner, followed by that of Charlotte Studebaker. First in the animal division went to the clever circus-cage entry of Veloice and Roger Henn and Lynette Houston.

Many handsome horses strutted in the parade, a large portion of them on hand through the courtesy of the Garner Saddle Club—and, incidentally, advertising that organization's horse and pony show scheduled for Sept. 17.

All in all, the parade was generously praised by those who witnessed it; and many expressed the hope that it might become an annual Labor Day event.

Although the crowd at the city park was considerably depleted by time of the scheduled addresses by Candidates McLaughlin, McNeal and Urdahl, their messages were well received by the politically alert citizens who made it a point to be on hand.

An excellent crowd attended the ball games in the afternoon and enjoyed seeing Belmond's future baseball stars display their talents in the peewee curtain-raiser. Garner adherents were somewhat more pleased than Tomahawk followers as the Cardinals trounced Belmond in the main event, 14 to 4.

Another large turn-out showed up for the evening dance at the Veterans Memorial hall, to which all local service men shortly to report for duty were admitted without charge.

Keith Chandler, chairman of the VFW committee which planned the celebration, had this to say the day following: "The Veterans of Foreign Wars wish to express deep and sincere appreciation to all who contributed time and effort to making the occasion so great a success. The Vets were so pleased with the popular acceptance of the event that they very much hope it may be possible to establish such a celebration as an annual affair."

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brasser of Mankato, Minn. spent Monday at the Severin Chinberg home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Classick of Audubon were weekend guests at the H. J. Classick home.

Payment of Paving Assessments Due

At a meeting of the city council held Wednesday evening, that group adopted a resolution levying assessments on the property adjoining the pavement-widening improvement on Third street N. E.

Beginning Sept. 6, 1950, the effected propertyowners have a period of 30 days within which they must pay either one-tenth of their assessment, or—if they prefer—they may pay the entire assessment and avoid all interest charges.

After the 30-day period has expired, the city clerk must certify unpaid assessments to the county auditor. Thereafter all assessments will bear interest at six per cent per annum.

The council urges all the propertyowners owing on assessments to call at the city clerk's office and pay at least the required minimum of 10 per cent within the allowed 30 days.

Official publication of the resolution regarding payment of assessments will appear in next week's issue of the Independent.

Safety Campaign In Wright County Cuts Traffic Toll

Whether or not the Drive Right campaign throughout the state paid off, the experiment was a better than fair success in Wright county, in the estimation of Sheriff Bob Blecker.

For the third consecutive year this county saw the period of August. 22 to Sept. 5 —including treacherous Labor Day weekend — pass without a single traffic fatality. In addition, this year saw the number of road accidents and injured reduced far under the average.

Whereas 15 accidents and nine injured were to be expected from past performance, there were only three accidents this year during the two-week period, and none of the four persons hurt suffered worse than minor injuries.

Economic loss from the customary toll of accidents had previously averaged $18,848. This year the total loss would have been no more than one-sixth of that amount.

Belmond's Tomahawks closed their 1950 baseball season by taking two out of three games played in the past week—including a victory over Rowan that gave them the play-off championship of the North Iowa league.

Last Wednesday night the Belmond nine helped Garner dedicate its fine, new baseball field by taking the Cardinals into camp in a night game, 5 to 2.

Pitcher Bud Nissen was in firm control of this one from start to finish, striking out 10 batters and allowing only five hits. Bud Boelman got two of the Tomahawks' seven safeties, while "Doc" Misner contributed a double and Wes Boller, Jake Koenen, Nissen and Ace Stoltenberg each singled.

In downing Rowan last Sunday for the league play-off title, 6-2, the Tomahawks touched Bob Keleher for a total of 12 hits, while Nissen limited the visitors to six. Five errors helped to keep the Rowan moundsman in hot water; they particularly hampered Keleher in the opening frame, when three bobbles helped the Tomahawks tally four times on only two hits.

Rowan never was able to rebound from that initial inning, although a triple lashed out by Dean Freese in the sixth momentarily cut Belmond's lead to 5-2. Bud Boelman had earlier gotten a three-bagger for the winners, in the third.

Trying to save Nissen from his third time on the mound in six days, Belmond introduced Don Heins of Hampton as opening pitcher against Garner on Labor Day. After a good start, the imported hurler got into trouble and was jerked after three and two-third innings. The Cardinals got two runs in the third, which Belmond matched in its end of the frame.

Nissen took over from Heins, but he simply didn't have his stuff and by the time Don Faris relieved him in the sixth, Garner led 9 to 2. Faris allowed five more runs in the seventh and eighth before being replaced by Koenen. Two late runs by the Tomahawks provided a little salve for their wounds but had small effect on the game's final score of 14-4. The Cardinal victory left Garner and Belmond all even in four meetings this season.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bailey, Mrs. F. E. Purcell and Lois Clark attended a reunion at Oakland Valley, Sunday afternoon.

By Grace C. Koppenhaver
Campaign Manager

Mrs. Henry Johnson of Belmond heads the list of workers in the first tabulation of votes in the "Good Will" circulation campaign being staged by the Belmond Independent. The first report night was Aug. 26.

The leader's margin is small, with Mrs. Glen Eccles of Belmond, Mrs. Homer U. Ness of Olaf, Mrs. Howard Boller of Goodell and Mrs. Lynn Knoll of Kanawha following closely in the order named. All are in position to climb to the top position. No one holds an assured placing at this point.

All contestants are working hard, especially during these first weeks of the campaign when the vote count is at its peak. On Sept. 7 each contestant will be given an extra 300,000 votes for every $15 turned in since the beginning of the campaign.

The first period is the big vote period. After its close, Sept. 21, votes drop in value. Another vote bonus will be given to the workers on Sept. 21, when 500,000 votes will be given for each $20 worth of business turned in from the start of the campaign.

All workers appreciate the cooperation and help given them by friends and patrons of the paper. Subscriptions may be left at the office of the Independent, designating to whom the credit shall be given, and the contestant will be given credit as specified.

Many persons are extending their subscriptions to assist a favorite contestant. With a limit of three years in advance, and a special price of three years for $8.50, quite a number are taking advantage of rates during the campaign. Also many new subscribers are being added to the subscription list.

The regular rate for the Belmond Independent is $3 a year in the trade territory and $3.50 outside the trade territory. Now is the time to choose a favorite and then lend her your support.

A newspaper plays an important part in the life of a town. It deserves the loyalty and support of the citizens of that community. Through this medium, one keeps abreast of coming events as well as those which have transpired.

It is important to the merchants of a town to have a wide circulation, for through the advertising columns of the paper they are able to meet competition and bring prosperity to their community. Through these ads, dollars are saved by patrons of the paper far in excess of the cost of a subscription.

In order to produce the best possible newspaper, the publishers need the backing of the town and the trade territory. There are few people living here who have not, at one time or another, benefitted from having a progressive paper in the community.

Choose a candidate. Give your support and be a participant in the "Good Will" campaign.

Shown below is a listing of the candidates. The votes are prorated, only a fraction of the actual vote being shown at this time.

Mrs. Henry Johnson, Belmond, 277,000; Mrs. Glen Eccles, Belmond, 275,000; Mrs. Mrs. Howard Boller, Goodell, Homer U. Ness, Olaf, 273,000; 270,000; Mrs. Lynn Knoll, Kanawha, 268,000; Mrs. Florence Aldinger, Rowan, 80,000; Mrs. Claude Larkin, Belmond, 10,000; Mrs. H. A. Peters, Alexander, 10,000.

Mrs. June Hawley, Belmond, has withdrawn from the campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frohling and Mrs. Florence Aldinger of Rowan were Sunday callers at the Jelto Beenken home.

Pheasant Season Again 25 Days in This County; Opens on November 11th

The State Conservation Commission has announced the 1950 pheasant hunting regulations, shooting to open at 12:00 noon Nov. 11 for 25 days in 70 counties in the long season zone, and for 10 days in 13 counties in the short season zone.

Shooting will be allowed from 12:00 noon to 4:30 p. m. each day. The daily bag limit has been raised from two to three cock birds, and possession limit is also three cock birds.

A commission pheasant census indicates that the heaviest centers of pheasant population are in the northern three tiers of counties through the western two-thirds of the state.

Among the counties in which the long season will be allowed are Wright and the following near-by: Hancock, Franklin, Hamilton, Webster, Humboldt, Kossuth and Cerro Gordo.

Iowa families received $9,790,000 in life insurance death benefit payments in the first half of this year, compared with $10,165,000 in the corresponding period of last year and $6,126,000 in the first half of 1941, it was reported today by the Institute of Life Insurance.

The number of policies becoming claims in the first six months was 6,307 which compares with 6,246 in the corresponding period of the previous year and 4,690 in the first half of 1941.

"These payments reflect the greatly increased use of life insurance by the American people in their family financial security plans, during the past decade," Holgar J. Johnson, president of the Institute, said in announcing the figures.

"Death benefits paid in the first half of this year countrywide are nearly 60 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of 1941 even though mortality among policyholders generally is at or near a record low rate. Aggregate ownership of life insurance in this country has risen 85 per cent since 1941."

Of the aggregate payments in this state, $8,128,000 was under 3,596 ordinary policies; $1,094,000 was under 542 group life insurance policies; and $568,000 was under 2,169 industrial insurance policies.

For the nation as a whole, $809,487,000 was paid as death claims under 718,726 policies in the first half of 1950, compared with $753,167,000 under 695,640 policies in the corresponding period of last year and $507,869,000 under 563,080 policiies in the first six months of 1941.

Area Social Security Fieldman Reviews Effects of Amendment

Here is what happened to old-age and survivors insurance in Northwest Iowa Monday when President Truman signed the 1950 amendments to the Social Security Act.

All monthly insurance checks now being paid to the 2,130 social security beneficiaries in the 11 counties administered by the Fort Dodge field office—including Wright county — are to be raised substantially, beginning with the September checks scheduled to reach beneficiaries during the first week of October.

Increases will range from about 50 per cent to about 100 per cent. The average benefit of approximately $26 will be increased to about $46. A widow with two children who has been receiving $55 a month will now receive about $110 altogether.

Manager Clifford W. Swedlund said that under the old terms of the social security law, the 2,130 beneficiaries in this area would have received about $36,850 for the month of September. Under the new increases, however, total payments for September are estimated to be about $68,200.

Under the new law the amount of earnings which a beneficiary may make in a month, and still accept his insurance payment for that month, is raised from $14.99 to $50. This applies to beneficiaries under age 75, and for earnings in a job covered by social security.

After attaining age 75, a beneficiary may have any amount of earnings and still accept his insurance checks.

A very important aspect of the new legislation is the more liberal qualifying conditions. Swedlund pointed out that any individual now age 65 or more who has at least six "quarters of coverage" may be immediately eligible for monthly benefit payments. Many aged persons may now claim benefits even though they had not been employed long enough to qualify under the former requirements.

Swedlund said that this would affect a considerable number of aged persons in this area who had once filed claims for social security benefits but had not at that time been able to qualify. The Fort Dodge office has been reviewing records for several weeks to locate as many as possible of these persons and has sent letters notifying them that benefits may now be payable if a claim is filed.

Other persons not yet age 65 (those now 63 and over) will also need only six quarters of coverage (roughly a year and a half of employment in work covered by social security) to be insured upon reaching age 65 and retiring

A sliding scale requires longer employment for those reaching age 65 after 1953, but in no case will a person be required to have more than 10 years of employment under social security in order for benefits to be payable.

the public schools of Belmond.

Mr. Hinman took some teacher training and for a time held a teaching certificate. He also attended business college in Chicgo; and for two years he taught at the boys' state training school at Eldora.

For a time he was employed at Kearney, Neb., and it was there in 1901 that he married Elizabeth Mary Keenan. Shortly after marriage he returned to help his father on the home place. Two daughters were born to this union, Mary Ellen—now Mrs. Gunnar Ahlstrom—of Belmond and Agnes of Minneapolis.

On Dec. 18, 1912, Mr. Hinman wed Marjorie McGrann. To them two daughters and four sons were born: Ethelyn (Mrs. Alvin Benson) of Clarion, Ruth (Mrs. Ray Baldwin) of Emmett, Idaho, Stephen, Earl and George of Belmond and Robert of Klemme.

Surviving beside the widow and children are two sisters—Mrs. Bessie Butterfield of De Soto and Mrs. Carrie Schlieffarth of Belmond; and 10 grandchildren. One grandchild preceded him in death.

Many will share the sentiment expressed by the Rev. Mr. McKeith when he remarked, "Mr. Hinman's passing is mourned by a host of friends. All who knew him called him friend. His leadership and congenial presence will be missed in the church and in the entire community."

Courtesy

Courtesy like sincerity cannot be bought or sold. It can be found in the market place but it has no price tag on it. It plays an irreplaceable, indispensable role in human relationship. Politeness may be merely a pleasing attitude. True courtesy, however, shows a practical consideration for the feelings of others by respecting their wishes.

FORMER CLARION MAN DISCOVERS—

Thar's Gold in Them Thar Eggs If You Mine It; Home Grading, Packing Pays $1.76 an Hour

AMES—When Randall Matson—a native of Clarion—takes his eggs to town, he gets at least five cents above market price for them. He says any Iowa farmer or farm wife could do the same thing, if they would bother.

Matson's eggs sell for a higher price because he washes, candles, grades and packages them. If that sounds like a lot of work, please take note that Matson's records showed he earned $1.76 an hour for the extra time he put in on his eggs last year.

He averaged about nine hours a week extra work, on the 10,000 dozen eggs from his flock of 600 white Leghorns.

He found himself in a predicament familiar to operators of small farms. Livestock and crops on his 80 acres five miles south of Ames didn't take all his time, but feeding more livestock or poultry meant investing several thousand dollars for barn space. He wanted some way to use his surplus time, without making a big cash investment.

His thoughts turned to the egg market because it irked him, anyway. If the Matsons took large, clean eggs to town the day after they were laid, they brought the same price as medium-sized eggs of indefinite age, adorned with feathers or straw. He thought housewives would pay extra for eggs they could trust to be clean and fresh.

An Ames grocer thought so, too. He agreed to keep the eggs under refrigeration until sold, and to promote them as a better product. The Matsons set up shop in their farmhouse cellar with a one-egg candler and a hand scale—total original cost, $5.

The Matsons gathered their eggs two and three times a day, cooled them immediately in the humid cellar to hold down moisture loss, graded them for size and got them to market before they were 48 hours old. Housewives knew they were buying fresh eggs—date the eggs were laid was stamped on the carton. Matson agreed to take back any eggs that were seven days old and still in the store. He has taken back only two dozen—those cartons incidentally were buried at the bottom of the stack.

This February, a grocer near the Iowa State college campus became Matson's second retailer. This summer—the slow season for egg production—he has been buying eggs daily from three neighboring flocks. (One flock belongs to Mrs. Matson's parents, the Carl Riggenbergs.

He now has a mechanical egg washer and an automatic grader, which gives eggs a second candling and sorts them by weight. And he has ordered a new machine which will wash 1500 eggs an hour, and dry them, too. His total equipment cost to date runs only $320.

Knowing that housewives frown on washing eggs, Matson hastens to explain the principle of his machine. "The eggs are under a 150 degree spray for about 14 seconds," he points out. "The heat expands the contents just enough to create pressure on the shell and prevent bacteria from entering through the shell." A spiral brush scrubs the eggs as they pass through the spray.

The Matsons bought 850 chicks this year, 200 more than they have ever had, before. Matson is experimenting as he provides space in a two-story barn for the additional pullets. His hens will be asked to roost upstairs, and eat and deposit eggs on the ground floor.

"I figure nobody brings my breakfast upstairs to me," he says, "but we'll have to see what the chickens think about it."

Eggs graded for size have about a five-cent difference in price between the grades. Top-grade eggs weigh more than 26 ounces, per dozen. Large eggs weight at least 24 ounces a dozen. Other grades taper down to pullet eggs, which usually weigh less than an ounce and a half apiece.

"Really," Mrs. Matson commented, "extra large eggs at 50 or 55 cents a dozen are a much better buy than pullet eggs at 35 cents, but women will just flock to buy the little ones. They aren't getting nearly as much for their money."

Iowa farmers could make a lot more egg money than they do, Matson feels, if they would take time to grade their eggs and prepare them for market. He points out that Iowa farmers market more eggs than any other state in he union, but they are far from the best quality.

Sale of eggs added $130 million dollars to Iowa farm income last year. Poultrymen estimate that a widespread grading program would increase the total income at least 10 million dollars.

Matson, himself, isn't growing rich from his egg business. It's only a part-time activity — he feeds 125 hogs a season, and this year raised a lamb crop of 60. He grows about half his feed. Last month he spent 25 hours caring for his flock, not more than two hours a day handling their eggs and those he buys. "But," he grins, "at $1.76 an hour, that two hours isn't bad—especially when most of it is done before breakfast.

Matson and his wife are both graduates of Iowa State college in Ames. They have two sons, Lee, four, and Lynn, 18 months.

PMA CHAIRMAN TELLS HOW—

Minerals in Soil Steadily Depleted by Crops; Testing Will Indicate Fertilizers Required

By O. J Hanson, Chairman Wright County PMA Committee

Farmers who plan to use commercial fertilizer in their farming operations for next year are encouraged to have the fields tested for fertilizer needs for the various crops to be grown on them. Basic in ACP operations is the realization that all conservation efforts must fit in with each farmer's current production operations.

It is a known fact that, in the past, commercial fertilizers of the wrong kind and amounts have sometimes been used.

The Wright county PMA has a program man, S. W. Witzel, who will, upon request from the farmer, contact the farmer and go over the fields with him to take samples of the soil and get the history of the past crop production and rotations. This information is very important in submitting the samples and report to the Iowa State college testing laboratories for analysis.

A fee of one dollar a sample is required by the laboratory for making the test and recommending the kind and amount of fertilizer to be used for the specific crop to be grown on the field in 1951.

Lime requirements will also be given if the test shows that lime is needed. Acid soils without lime become unfavorable to the growth of legumes and grasses, soil structure breaks down, and the land is harder to work. Also, minerals essential to good plant growth are tied up and conditions become unfavorable to the activity of micro-organisms needed for good plant growth.

Much could be said in regard to the use of commercial fertilizers in a conservative program. The key to fertile soil is "humus" or organic matter. Lacking this it is much like steadily drawing money from a bank account when lesser amounts are put back into it. Something cannot be taken from nothing and when soil fertility is not maintained, the soil is certain to become less productive.

Following are some pertinent facts in respect to mineral elements removed from the soil when its products go into food and fiber.

During a six-month period of pasture season, a cow removes from the soil approximately 115 pounds of nitrogen, 26 pounds of phosphate, 93 pounds of potash and 37 pounds of lime.

Five 200-pound hogs, or a 1,000-pound steer, remove as much phosphorus in their carcass as can be returned in a 100 pound bag of 0-16-0 superphosphate.

Forty bushels of corn removes about 56 pounds of nitrogen, 21 pounds of phosphate and 23 pounds of potash.

Forty-five bushels of oats removes about 55 pounds of nitrogen, 21 pounds of phosphate and 46 pounds of potash.

A ton of grass removes about 50 pounds of limestone

Unless these nutrients are returned to the soil in the form of plowed-under legumes, barn yard manure and commercial fertilizers, the soil is being depleted

Anyone interested in having soil tests made for fields that are to be seeded to hay or pasture next spring should contact the Wright county PMA office or S. W. Witzel, Clarion, Iowa.

Samples should be taken when the soil is in a favorable condition, as it takes several weeks to get the information and test analysis back from the laboratory to the farmer and there will not be sufficient time to complete a test analysis next spring between the time frost leaves the ground and seeding of the crops.

The theme of this prize-winning demonstration emphasized the proper first aid treatment of the most common type of injuries such as cuts, burns and fractures, and the treatment for shock.

Getting Back, Once More, To That Matter of Surfacing Our Streets

Since the flurry of interest several months ago when the city council gave brief consideration to applying oil-asphalt on Belmond's unpaved streets, nothing has been said on the matter of street improvement here.

This situation was brought to our mind by a brief editorial that recently appeared in the Lake Mills Graphic commending Northwood for undertaking a rather ambitious paving project.

"Northwood is to be congratulated," concluded the editorial, "on taking this long stride to build a more progressive community."

We are still convinced that a street improvement program could also become a reality in Belmond. The problem warrants study to determine what type of surfacing would be both economical and acceptable; but certainly the need exists.

Not only is the need present, but we believe that the desire for a surfacing project exists, also. We have heard too many individuals express interest in participating in such a project to think that the thing is beyond the realm of possibility.

What's needed is some open exchange of opinion to serve as a guide to the council in helping it fulfill its determination to give the people what they want.

If YOU could have paving adjoining your property for, say, only $15 to $20-per-year assessment—would YOU be interested in participating in a paving program? There is reason to believe that actual assessments against a residential lot of average size might well fall within those figures.

We believe the fuse is there to be lit, if only something will provide the spark. Maybe some Public Forum letters would generate enough thought and comment on the subject to get the ball rolling. We'll gladly publish any and all letters we receive expressing opinions in the matter.

There's No Need to Feel Sorry For Country Kids These Days

Time was when city folks felt rather sorry for farm youngsters and their lack of advantages. We suspect that even then, the lack was more imaginary than real. Today, certainly, any sympathy for rural children on the count that they enjoy fewer opportunities than city kids would be grossly misdirected.

Fact of the matter is, we're beginning to feel a bit sorry for the boys and girls who live in town. Certainly the rural young folks—who decide to remain on the farm—upon graduation from high school are much better equipped for success than their city cousins.

A farm boy who has taken full advantage of the training offered him through the medium of vocational agriculture, activities of the Future Farmers of America and 4-H projects can boast of experience in his chosen occupation that few city boys can match.

One progressive farmer we know has even gone so far as to recommend to his sons that they skip agriculture courses, if they choose to attend college, and concentrate on studies that will broaden their scope of knowledge. He contends that any farm youth who is willing to supplement his high school education with free government literature, extension courses, and the like, can easily become an A-1 farmer without formal learning beyond the public school level.

As for "the farmer's daughters", the knowledge they acquire through Future Homemaker courses and 4-H achievements gives them well-rounded preparation for adult life that a city girl could well envy.

Even from a dollars-and-cents standpoint, we suspect that the prospects of the average rural youth are considerable brighter than those of his town counterpart. If those FFA and 4-H "alumni" aren't headed for financial security, we miss our guess.

Yes, sir. Our sympathy goes to the city kids who graduate from high school still wondering whether to become butchers, bakers or candlestick-makers; and faced with a lengthy apprenticeship before they can expect success in any chosen occupation.

Certainly Wrong on Far East Policy U. S. Administration, Or Its Critics,

It's perhaps a good thing that the innumerable critics of U. S. Diplomacy in the Far East don't have the responsibility of shaping our policies. Certainly it's a good thing, if the present policy is on the right track. There are many who would recommend a stand almost diametrically opposed to that which administration spokesmen have been taking.

We must readily confess that the logic of the latest developments escapes us entirely. Let us review the situation as we see it.

First, the North Koreans have received virtual assurance that their aggressions in the south will be forgiven and forgotten if they will just withdraw from the 38th parallel. That impresses us as practically an open invitation to Stalin to undertake similar aggressions elsewhere. For we're saying, in effect, if Russia fosters aggression and it is unsuccessful, we're satisfied to let the failure suffice as punishment.

Next, the efforts to appease the Chinese Communists border very closely on the humiliating, in our opinion. It is easily understandable that the United States doesn't want to get embroiled with China at this point; but the pleading manner in which the Chinese Reds have been urged to refrain from entering the conflict is not likely to add to our prestige in the eyes of Far Eastern anti-communists who look to us as potential defenders.

Then there's the complete abandonment of the Chinese Nationalist regime—AND its Formosan base. Shades of prewar Guam! MacArthur has made it utterly clear that, as United Nations military leader in the Far East, he considers control of Formosa as critically important. Yet President Truman is guaranteeing withdrawal of the American fleet from Formosan waters, once the Korean squabble is settled, as a bargaining point to keep the Chinese Communists neutral.

We'd like very much to think that these courses of action will prove effective; that American lives will be saved by them (NOT just temporarily); and that further communist aggression will be discouraged by virtue of the state department's temperance. If these be the results, we repeat that it's fortunate the administration's critics are not guiding our policies.

But if these latest efforts in diplomacy by appeasement prove as abysmally wrong as previous U. S. endeavors in the orient, our troubles there are only beginning.

As of September, Social Security payments to eligible individuals in the 11-county area administered by the Fort Dodge field office are hiked from $36,850 to an estimated $68,200—and correspondingly, elsewhere. Few will question the propriety of the extended coverage under the amended act. Few, also, will deem it a coincidence that the administration succeeded in pushing the amendment through congress a scant two months before the general election.

Schooling proves at least temporarily disillusioning to some kindergarteners. We know one youngster who returned home from his first day of school utterly disappointed that after an afternoon in the halls of learning he STILL couldn't read a comic book.

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

Protect our children. Obey the Iowa school bus stop law. Amended by the last Iowa legislature, this is how the school bus stop law applies to you as a driver:

When meeting a school bus on which the signal warning lights are flashing, you must reduce your speed to not more than 20 miles an hour. When the school bus stops and the stop-arm is extended, you must come to a complete stop — AND REMAIN STOPPED — until the stop-arm is retracted.

When overtaking a school bus on which the signal warning lights are flashing, you may not pass. When the school bus stops and the stop-arm is extended, you must come to a complete stop not closer than 15 feet to the rear of the bus. And you must REMAIN STOPPED until the stop-arm is retracted and the bus resumes motion, or until signaled to proceed by the driver. (Code of Iowa. Section 321.372.)

Iowa Traffic Death Rate 7th Low In U.S.--4.5 Per 100 Million Miles

Iowa's traffic death rate is the seventh lowest in the nation and the second lowest in the midwest, according to statistics compiled for the first half of this year by the National Safety Council.

Based on the number of persons killed per one hundred million miles traveled, Iowa's current traffic death rate of 4.5 is the lowest in the state's history.

"While this low death rate is encouraging, it cannot obscure the fact that more than 550 persons are killed and more than 16,000 injured on our highways every year", former state safety commissioner, said.

"More than anything else, this low death rate indicates that public support movements, such as the present Drive Right Campaign, will be needed if future gains are to be made in traffic safety in Iowa."

Kahl, who left office last week to become secretary-manager of the Iowa Automobile Dealers association, said Iowa traffic is now moving in record volume, having increased 10 per cent over this same time last year and 35 per cent over 1941, the state's highest traffic fatality year.

"Due to this traffic increase," he said, "the usual methods of safety education, enforcement and engineering are now strained to their utmost in keeping down the mileage death rate.

"The Iowa Safety Congress movement, incorporating public support and coordinating all safety efforts, is designed to be the added force. The Drive Right campaign is a demonstration of this force in action."

Pearl W. McMurray takes office as state safety commissioner Friday. He is also secretary of the Safety Congress. Kahl was elected chairman of the congress earlier this month.

This little girl is a "beginner." She has just entered the SCHOOL that will teach her HOW TO LIVE.

She'll never graduate! No one ever does! For religious education is different from secular education. It has to fit its pupils for living every day the very best way. In such a course, there just isn't any point at which the pupil can be sure he has enough "learning" to put away his books.

Therefore the Church Schools of our community provide classes for all ages. Every Sunday, while tiny tots are listening to Bible stories, grown-ups are studying the practical application of Bible truths in life.

Religious education should be a family activity. Don't just send your children to Church School. Come with them.

They need religious education because they must learn how to live. And you need it too, for life's richest possibilities are still ahead of you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

State OK Asked on Farm-to-Market Road Improvements

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

The Lloyd Pattersons, still in the throes of becoming settled in West Des Moines, where "Pat" has taken over as high school football coach, last weekend sent us the wherewithal to keep the Independent coming to them for another 12 months. Mrs. Patterson's note requested, "Please note our change of address (1114 Walnut street, West Des Moines, Iowa). This is only a temporary address, I am sorry to say, so will notify you again shortly when we are able to move into our new home."

—M-S—

Noticed in last week's Mason City news that our Cerro Gordo neighbors have just placed on the city's statutes a new ordinance which bans the indiscriminate honking of auto horns.

We suspect that the many Belmondites who were roused from their slumbers a couple of weeks ago when a parade of autos raced through the streets creating a din with their horns about midnight would thoroughly approve a similar ordinance here. For that matter, the parties mentioned could have been nabbed on a charge of disturbing the peace, without any stretch of imagination.

The M. C. Globe-Gazette reported that a couple of thoughless horn-tooters were stuck 10 bucks apiece last Thursday for raucous honking at 11:12 p. m. Good idea!

—M-S—

Many Mainstreeters arrived at work Tuesday morning blithely confident that they were reporting for duty in good time, only to find the boss glancing meaningfully at the clock as they entered the door. Lo and behold! It was an hour later than they'd thought. (Of course, some of the bosses had fallen victim to the same error.)

It was all a little surprise sprung by Central States Manager Cecil Carstens, who had chosen Monday night to have some alterations effected at the sub-station. Plans to get at the job some time earlier had been delayed by the imminence of a baby delivery at the hospital, but Monday night Central States got the "all clear" signal.

No apparent harm was caused by the numerous late appearances Tuesday a. m., and we suspect that that welcome, extra hour of sleep benefitted some of the late-comers more than a little bit. When the blackout was repeated Tuesday and Wednesday nights, most of the electric alarm clock owners were on the alert and not "caught napping" again.

—M-S—

We're afraid that our publication last week of the addresses and phone numbers of the school faculty members might possibly have produced what Jimmy Durante would call a "mis-pre-aprehension".

Seems we had Eldoris Kinzi Bunnell living at 720 Sixth Street NE and Donald Bunnell, her groom of only a relatively few weeks, making his home with the Milo Lauffers at 607 Sixth Avenue NE.

Just to quiet 'the tongues of the back-fence gossips, let us make it clear that no separation has occurred in the Bunnell family and that BOTH Eldoris and Donald are happily residing at seven-two-oh Sixth Street.

More Clarmond Tourney Flight Winners Decided; Top Finalists Vie Today

All matches in the annual Clarmond Country club men's golf tournament had been completed last weekend, with the exception of the final contest in the championship flight.

Pat Gallagher of Belmond and Leo Hilton, Jr., of Clarion were scheduled to play for the 1950 title this (Thursday) afternoon. Gallagher last Saturday eliminated Rev. R. A. Ormsby, 6 and 4. Hilton ousted Defending Champion Cliff Campbell in the other semi-final match.

Joining Ken Firkins of Dows and Don Jerde of Clarion as flight winners—the two former had emerged victors in the first and third flights a week previous—Dr. A. M. Larson, R. B. Thompson and Walt Hotvet last week were survivors in the second, fourth and fifth flights.

"Doc" Larson took top honors in his bracket by nosing out "Dutch" Thompsen, 1 up; "Rich" Thompson took the measure of Lester Bergmann, 4 and 2; and Hotvet was winner over C. A. Handfelt of Clarion.

"Good Will" Contest Throws Spotlight Upon Community Services Performed by Newspaper

By Grace C. Koppenhaver
Campaign Manager

The home-town newspaper is familiar to every American old enough to read. Yet how well do these readers understand its problems and purposes—its importance in their lives, and the life of the community, state and nation?

A home-town newspaper, such as this one, is so many things. It is similar to, and yet unlike many other businesses, professions and institutions in this community. Its services are so varied that it is a part of all the others.

It might be called a mirror of the community, a library of local information, a market place, a partnership in which the owners, advertisers, readers and the whole comunity have a common interest.

It is not a food store, for it cannot feed the people of the community, but its advertising columns do nurture the food store.

Although it cannot render banking service, it is a well known fact that the newspaper is the bank's protector against the damage which misinformation or misguided interference might cause.

It does not practice medicine, but it does play a vital part in preventing disease and the spread of epidemics.

It lays no claim to being a lawyer or court of law, but it stands ready to prevent or correct injustice.

Neither the publisher, editor nor members of the newspaper's staff claim a superior status in the community. They admit only that the newspaper tries to do its job. And when information regarding the community is desired, the place most often visited is the office of the local newspaper.

Mrs. Homer U. Ness of Olaf this week holds the coveted first place in the Independent's "Good Will" circulation campaign, with Mrs. Henry Johnson—who last week was first—a close second. Mrs. Lynn Knoll of Kanawha, Mrs. Howard Boller of Goodell and Mrs. Glen Eccles of Belmond are still close enough to be well within reach of top honors, for the race still has four weeks to go.

The first period, which is the big vote period, will end Sept. 21. Workers will be given a bonus of one half a million extra votes for every $20 turned in since the beginning of the campaign, at the close of this period. Workers are making every endeavor to convert promises into votes during this period, and many folk are extending their subscriptions in order to help a favorite contestant.

These bonus votes may determine the winner. Subscriptions may be left at the office of the Belmond Independent and credit will be given to any contestant specified. During the campaign, a rate of three years for $8.50 is in effect, but subscriptions of more than three years in advance will not be accepted. The regular rate is $3.00 a year in the trade territory of Belmond and $3.50 a year outside the territory. Subscribe TODAY.

Mrs. Homer Ness, Olaf	682,000
Mrs. Henry Johnson, Belmond	680,000
Mrs. Lynn Knoll, Kanawha	677,000
Mrs. Howard Boller, Goodell	674,000
Mrs. Glenn Eccles, Belmond	673,000
Mrs. Florence Aldinger, Rowan	80,000
Mrs. A. J. (Flo) Peters, Alexander	40,000
Mrs. Claude Larkin, Belmond	10,000

Merritt Has Fingers Crossed As Bronco Team Faces Opener

Coach Don Merritt admitted the middle of the week that he's facing the start of the 1950 football season with his fingers crossed. He is looking forward to the opener with Dows here Friday night with just about as much curiosity as the average Bronco fan.

This year's Belmond High squad is not exactly loaded with material. Line talent is particularly short in quantity, with all of the replacements and even some of the first-string players as yet untried.

Don believes he has several boys who may prove adept at carrying the ball—if he can develop a defense that gives them a chance to get underway. However, he has been disappointed in the blocking and tackling exhibited to date.

He would like to see the boys show a bit more determination in practice than they have demonstrated so far. Don says his proteges have been getting a lot of fun out of their workouts; but he feels it would make for a better team if they were getting a few, well-earned lumps along with their fun.

One of the things that disturbs Coach Merritt the most at this point is his uncertainty regarding the calibre of competition his team is going to face in the North Iowa conference. In this regard, Bronco fans could likely offer him some reassurance. Minimum defense has more or less characterized NI teams in the past, and no radical change is probable this fall.

Other backs who undoubtedly will see action are Don Faris, Arnette Ter Hark, Claude Larkin and Alan Madsen; and linemen, Merlin Stockseth, Wilbur Daniels and Kenneth Eccles.

BOB TOMSON GROCERY SOLD TO B. KINSETH

Tomson's grocery at 607 Fifth street NE changed hands this week with the sale of the establishment by Bob Tomson to Bernold Kinseth. The latter took possession on Tuesday and the new owner's son, Roger Kinseth, will be in charge of the store's operation.

Mr. Tomson has been proprietor of the store since it was opened about four and a half years ago. He states that his future plans are somewhat indefinite at this point but that he plans to remain in Belmond.

Regina Ormsby Departs On European Pilgrimage

Regina Ormsby, who spent the past summer here with her brother and sister, Rev. R. A. Ormsby and Rose, left Sunday for Chicago to join the Iowa Pilgrimage leaving Chicago Monday and sailing from New York to Europe on the S. S. Washington, Wednesday afternoon.

The Pilgrimage will arrive in La Havre, France, on Sept. 19 and will spend some time visiting Paris, Lourdes, Nice and Genoa before arriving at Rome on Sept. 29. Their stay in Rome will extend to Oct. 2 and will include an audience with Pope Pius XII.

Other Italian cities the tour will visit are Venice, Milan and Florence. The pilgrimage will also go to Lucerne and Brussels. Two days will be spent in England and two in Ireland, visiting the cities of Dublin, Killarney and Cork. On Oct. 27 the group will sail for home.

Another Two Reservists Ordered to Active Duty

Two more Belmond reservists have been ordered to report to active duty, one to the Marine Corps and the other to the Army.

Reynold Kinseth, Jr., on Sept. 27, is to report to Fort Hood, Texas, for Army assignment.

Gordon, Clarmond Take Top Honors In Boone Valley

Clarmond Country club came through with flying colors Sunday as it played host to the annual Boone Valley Golf tournament. Fred Gordon picked off the individual championship, with Pat Gallagher in the runner-up spot; and this pair was joined by Cliff Campbell and Leo Hilton, Jr. of Clarion to bring Clarmond the team trophy.

One hundred and eight golfers participated in the tourney, contenders in the championship and first flights playing 27 holes and the remaining golfers, 18.

A qualifying score of 40 or better was required to make the championship division, as Dr. Vidal of Hampton turned in low score for the first nine holes with a 36.

Gordon was a stroke over the medalist on the opening round with a 37, but came back with a 35-36 to give him an even par 108 for the 27 holes. Gallagher had a 38-36-38--112 to tie with Defending Champion Bob Rost of Hampton (38-35-39--112) for second best. The Belmond golfer won runner-up honors in a sudden-death play-off with a par 4 on No. 1 after Rost hooked a drive out of bounds.

To Gordon's 108 and Gallagher's 112, Campbell added a 119 and Hilton 122 to give Clarmond a team score of 461—29 over par for the aggregate 108 holes.

Hampton was second with 474, the defending team from Humboldt was third with 482, Webster City fourth with 486, Jewell fifth with 491, Iowa Falls sixth with 492 and Eagle Grove last with 496.

Dale Kessler of Belmond finished among the prize-winners with runner-up honors in the second flight, while another Clarmond entry—Dr. G. J. Meier of Clarion—was third in the same bracket.

King-Size Cucumbers Grow in Suntken Garden

Mrs. Harm Suntken of Meservey paid the Independent a visit Tuesday and presented us with a couple of king-size "cukes", the likes of which we'd never seen before. Both measured better than 14 inches in length.

This is the first year Mrs. Suntken has planted the China Long variety, but she vouches they live up to their name. She had one cucumber that measured 17 inches and supplied "makin's" for a full quart of pickles, all by itself.

There were three hills of "cukes" in the Suntken garden, from which Mrs. Suntken put up 70 quarts of pickles—and "gave an awful lot away".

Andrew W. Bullis Services on Friday

Andrew W. Bullis, retired Belmond mason, passed away at his home Tuesday afternoon after an extended period of ill health. He was 86 years old on his last birthday, Aug. 26.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. J. Heber Miller at the Methodist church Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with Boone Funeral home in charge. Burial will be in Belmond cemetery.

Mr. Bullis is survived by his wife; a step-son, Karl King of Fort Dodge, the noted composer of band music; and a sister, Mrs. William Luick.

OVERLOADED TRUCKS BRING 4 INTO COURT

Among three drivers arrested by Patrolman M. G. Schroeder was L. W. Stoffer of Belmond, at the wheel of a truck owned by E. Stoffer. An overload of 1,440 pounds brought a fine of $5.00 and costs.

L. M. Yancey of Des Moines, driving a van owned by Winston and Newell Wholesale Grocers, was charged with a gross weight overload of 2,050 pounds and overload on one axle of 3,500. He paid $5.00 and costs on the one count and $10.00 on the other.

W. L. Tew of Clarion was fined $5.00 and costs for a gross overload of 1,440 pounds; and John Hoffman of Woolstock had to pay $10.00 plus, for an overload of 5,360 pounds.

Four from Here Attend Cub Scouters Gathering

Walter Hotvet, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham and Mrs. Lois Hammond attended the Cub Scouters Powwow at Camp Roosevelt, at Clear Lake, last Sunday afternoon and evening.

Projects to Cost $126,000 Mapped By County Board

Approval of the state highway commission for a farm-to-market road improvement program in Wright county, entailing expenditure of $126,400 in funds during the current fiscal year, is being sought as a result of action taken last Friday at a meeting of the county board of supervisors.

At the same time that the resolution was passed involving the above step, another was favorably considered naming the Belmond engineering firm of Rowat and Murray to oversee planning of the road projects.

Of greatest interest to the northwest quarter of the county are proposed improvements effecting the 3.4 miles from Highway 69 to Lake Cornelia and a 4.25 stretch running a mile north from Rowan and thence three and a quarter west.

Cost of work on the "country club road" to Cornelia is set at $18,400 and cost of the County D improvement from Highway 3 north of Rowan at $22,520. A three-mile stretch on County K in Norway township, ending at the Hancock county line, is also included in the program at a proposed expenditure of $16,000.

Longest of the road areas in the farm-to-market project is one 8.6 miles in length, adjoining the Rock Island tracks southeast from Galt and then south—on the parallel road a mile east of Highway 69—to within a mile of the Hamilton county line.

Fifth of the projects involves a 1.45 mile piece extending from the east edge of Eagle Grove — budgeted at a cost of $8,700 — and then three miles south on County E. The latter portion was listed with a proposed cost of $16,000. Altogether, the 1950-51 farm-to-market improvements will see work done on 23.7 miles of roads.

Work on these road areas will include installation of new drainage facilities and replacement of old culverts, where needed; grading of the roads, and creation of a "compacted surface" by use of sheeps-foot rollers.

According to Engineer L. W. Murray, the road surfaces will be rolled after every 6-inch raise by grading. The purpose of this process is to establish a highly stabilized surface that would lend itself to black-topping when the inauguration of a farm-to-market surfacing program is feasible.

Such a program is not in the immediate offing, however, as several more years will be required to complete the current plan for the grading and proper drainage of farm-to-market roadways throughout the county.

Highlight of the convention was a banquet for 800 in honor of the G. A. R.. Theodore A. Penland, national G. A. R. commander from Vancouver, Wash., was present at the one session. He is 106 years old and has to use a wheel chair.

Dick Elliott Takes Part In Boy Scout Conference

Dick Elliott, Belmond's Eagle Scout, was among the discussion leaders at a training conference for patrol leaders of the Winnebago Council of B. S. A. held last Friday and Saturday at Camp Roosevelt, Clear Lake.

NIELSEN TAKES EXAM

Don Nielsen of Rowat and Murray's engineering staff received orders from the U. S. Army to report for physical examination at Des Moines yesterday, preparatory to receiving an active duty assignment. At the time of his discharge following World War II, Don held a Sergeant's rating as a personnel technician.

Shirley Eliason to Show Paintings at Kanawha Friday

What will likely be the first private show of authentic, original paintings ever conducted in Kanawha is to be held tomorrow (Friday) night at that community's Methodist church under sponsorship of the Kanawha Woman's club.

Shirley Eliason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Eliason, will be the exhibitor. The public is most cordially invited to visit the show; also, to hear a lecture which the young artist will present at 8:00 p. m. There will be on display between 50 and 75 canvases, in a variety of mediums.

Demonstrating that "it's an ill wind that blows nobody good," an attack of "polio"—to which Shirley fell victim when she was in sixth grade—can be given at least partial credit for her pursuit of an artistic career.

It may be recalled by a number of readers that Shirley was obliged to "attend" her seventh and eighth grade classes at Norway No. 1 school via Teach-a-Phone, a two-way intercommunication system that enabled her to remain home and still keep even with her classmates.

When she resumed her actual class attendance, with the freshman class at Kanawha High school, Shirley's left arm and leg still showed to some degree the ravages of paralysis. That her enforced absence from school had not handicapped her scholastically, however, was evidenced by her standing as valedictorian of the class of 1947.

At this point came the "break" due to her bout with "polio". The vocational rehabilitation division of the state education department advised her that a two-year scholarship would be available to her if she chose to obtain further training of an approved nature.

During her high school years, Shirley had taken a correspondence course in drawing, and she expressed interest in attending the American Academy of Art in Chicago. She was promptly awarded state aid for two years of study.

At the conclusion of her first year at the academy, Shirley was awarded a competitive resident scholarship at the Three-Arts Club, a rooming and boarding house. The club is endowed by a group of wealthy Chicago women and was founded with the express purpose of aiding young women aspiring to careers as artists, actresses or musicians.

After completing her course at the American Academy of Art in June of 1949, Shirley enrolled in the Chicago Art Institute. Her work has been of such high calibre that she earned a scholarship at the Three-Arts Club again last year and succeeded in retaining it for the coming year.

It will require another year and a half for her to complete her study at the institute, at the end of which time she will receive the degree of Bachelor of Art Education.

When she gets her diploma from the institute, Shirley would like to obtain a position teaching art in a college. She is also hopeful that she may be able to manage a small, private studio where she can continue her own painting. Among her ambitions is that of becoming an illustrator for children's books.

Of all the various painting mediums, Shirley likes water colors best. She has been painting in oils for only the past six months, but has already developed an admirable technique with them. She says that creating perspective or depth in her paintings was the most difficult knack for her to master.

At least, she says, she got her work placed where the public could view it and form its own estimate.

Shirley is hopeful that a large crowd will attend her show at Kanawha tomorrow. She finds thorough enjoyment in painting and is eager to share her pleasure with others. One thing can be promised all who plan to exhibit the display. They'll find none of this modernistic stuff that looks like outgrowth of a Welsh rarebit nightmare. Shirley's work is realistic, colorful, and thoroughly pleasing to the eye.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET

Quality of Mercy Was Strained When Mantell Played 'Richard'

By BILLY ROSE

A few years back, I got the nobby notion of reviving "Henry VIII," by one W. Shakespeare, and the day after the first three-line announcement appeared on the drama pages my office was cram-jammed with well known actors who were willing to work for what ordinarily would have been their agents' commissions.

Subsequently, for reasons that have nothing to do with this piece, I pigeon-holed my plans for doing "Henry," but I sure learned a lot about show folks during the month I was buddying up to the Bard.

Billy Rose

To nine out of ten of them, I found, the pentameters of William the Great are the chocolate sauce on the profiterole, and during rehearsals they go about their business as if they were in a temple of worship. On opening night, as far as the cast is concerned, the theater has stained glass windows, and I'm not exaggerating when I say the actors would probably kill anyone who tried to foul up the performance

BACK IN 1904, an obscure thespian named Robert Mantell, who had been playing desultory one nighters in the Midwest, received word that a choice Broadway theater would be available during the Christmas season. He promptly cancelled his road engagement and brought his troupe to New York, but shortly after his arrival he discovered that the "choice" theater he had been offered was the Princess, a small second-story auditorium on Broadway between 27th and 28th streets.

No more daunted than solvent, Mantell announced he would present his production of "Richard III" on December 5, and when friends and colleagues warned him that not a hundred people would climb a flight of rickety stairs to see a Shakespearean play during the holidays, he shrugged his threadbare shoulders and posted his rehearsal schedule.

Immediately, however, there was trouble. The stage crew insisted on a scenic rehearsal, and when the impoverished actor refused they decided to get even by lousing up his show on opening night.

On the evening of the 5th, a minute after Mantell began to decibel his way through the initial lines, a stagehand lunged at him from behind a cloth drop and almost knocked him into the pit. And a few moments later the same "accident" happened again.

When the act was over, Mantell quietly told the crew that he would kill the next man who tried to disrupt his performance—and halfway through the second act he darned near did. In the middle of a speech, he saw the outline of a hand behind the curtain trying to locate him and, never faltering in his lines, he drew his dagger and plunged the blade full-force into the drop.

When he went into the wings at the end of the scene, one of the crew grabbed him and said, "You've killed our head carpenter."

.."I hope to Heaven I did," said Mantell. But when he examined the stagehand he found the wound was only a gash in the thigh

TO MAKE SURE no one would misunderstand how he felt, the actor went up to his dressing room and came down wearing the iron-studded glove that was part of his costume in the last act. "Any more trouble," he said, "and I shall brain each and every one of you."

The stagehands looked at Mantell, at the mailed glove, and at the bleeding man on the floor. And from then until the final curtain, the crew was as quiet as a Scottish meeting house after a call for contributions.

Next day, the critics hailed Mantell's performance as "the greatest 'Richard' since the days of Booth," and before the week was out he had been signed by the late William A. Brady, under whose management he went on to achieve recognition as one of America's leading classic actors . .

Recently, Theresa Helburn of the Theatre Guild offered to let me buy a small piece of "As You Like It," starring Katharine Hepburn. "In all fairness," she said, "I think I ought to tell you that Katy's contract is only until June."

"I'm not going to brood about that," I said. "The play is by Shakespeare, and if it gets over, I doubt whether Hollywood will see her again until both she and the scenery fall apart."

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Pick Your Winner

"Greatest stock show in the world," Joe reports.

"I got a special kick out of the way those exhibitors stick up for their particular breed. I heard a Hereford cattle owner arguing, hammer and tongs, with an Angus owner. I couldn't help chuckling, because both men looked pretty prosperous. So both breeds must be right good."

Isn't that true of most people's tastes and preferences right here in our town too? Neighbor Ed may prefer roses in his garden, while I like perennials. Ed is a great believer in buttermilk, and I prefer a temperate glass of beer. There'd be no more sense in our getting hot and bothered over such preferences than there would be in a Hereford man taking picks on an Angus man.

Both are right. And in this good, free country we can be thankful that we can always make our own choice.

Tri-County Institute Will Consider How to Teach About Atomic Energy

Birth of the atomic era will receive official recognition at the multiple-county teachers institute which Wright county faculty personnel will attend at Webster City on Monday of next week.

For the first time, the problem of studying atomic energy on grade and high school levels will be among the institute's group discussion subjects.

Schools throughout Wright, Hardin and Hamilton counties will be closed as the teachers, themselves, go to school for the day. Instruction will be offered in 12 different fields.

A highlight of the day's program will be an address by Dwight D. Miller, superintendent of schools at Watertown, S. D. and a recent visitor abroad, on the topic, "European Observations".

The forums on atomic energy will be led by Esther Hult of Iowa State Teachers college, for the elementary teachers; and by G. E. Holmes and W. H. Bragonier of Iowa State college, for high school instructors.

Other major discussion topics on the program will be: "Art in the Elementary School"; "The Five-Year-Old Program in Iowa"; "Special Education"; "Teaching Reading Skills"; "Audio-Visual Programs"; and "Life Adjustment Program".

On the institute faculty, beside those already mentioned, will be three public school instructors: Mrs. Ruth Amundson of Sheldon, Harvey Kluckhohn of LeMars, William N. Grimes of Hawarden; and from junior college staffs — Amney Wood of Estherville and Roy Goddard of Rochester, Minn.

College representatives will include Dorothy Koehring, ISTC; Arthura Jane Michael and Lee F. Parman, State University of Iowa; and F. Edward Del Desso of Drake.

Meservey Tot Comes Out 2nd Best in Controversy With Nest of Angry Bees

MESERVEY — Little two-year-old Larry Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Johnson, was all puffed up last week—with pride having not a thing to do with it.

While watching a road crew cutting down trees at the Leonard Schmidt home, the little tyke accidenly stepped in a bumblebees' nest. About half a dozen of the insects took the intrusion as a personal affront and expressed their displeasure by stinging young Larry about the face and arms.

In spite of prompt medical attention, Larry came out of the experience with one eye tightly swollen shut and his face badly knotted from the stings.

Kossuth Farmer Named Head of CROP Campaign For 5-County District

Des Moines—J. C. Skow, Wesley farmer, has been appointed district supervisor for the 1950 Iowa Christian Rural Overseas Program. His district includes Hancock, Humboldt, Kossuth, Winnebago and Wright counties.

He will work with leaders of each county to set up county CROP organizations before CROP Week which will be held Nov. 12 to 18. During this period, volunteers will make a farm-to-farm canvass to seek gifts of farm commodities for distribution to the needy overseas by church agencies of the donor's choice.

Mr. Skow, who was a township chairman of CROP in 1948 and Kossuth county chairman in 1949, also is active in Farm Bureau, Rural Electrification Administration, a coop creamery, Red Cross and various church activities.

"My experience has been that Iowa people are liberal to support any cause that helps human suffering," says Mr. Skow of the forthcoming CROP campaign.

CROP, the collection and shipping agency sponsored by Catholics and Protestants, sent relief goods into 25 countries last year, with the major portion going to refugees in Western Germany who still are unable to help themselves.

Food now is being stockpiled in Japan for distribution in Korea as soon as relief agencies can get into that country.

Iowa's 1950 CROP goal is 255 carloads of farm commodities. County goals will be set at county CROP rallies to be held soon.

Ross Henry Releases Figures Illustrating Progress Made to Date on Tax Equalization

Increase in assessment valuations on real estate, personal property and public utilities in Wright county was virtually equalled by decrease in taxable moneys and credits, according to 1950 figures just released by County Assessor F. Ross Henry.

In making the figures public, Mr. Henry reminds taxpayers of the county that increase in valuations is not the goal of the equalization program instigated this year; but that the aim is to establish a better parity among all the payers of county taxes.

The assessor's flight figures show an increase in assessed value of rural buildings, from $5,604,836 in 1949 to $5,811,779 for 1950—a difference of $206,943. A comparable increase of $247,571 in the value of town buildings was produced by a total valuation boost from $6,521,484 to $6,769,055.

That assessed values on land were slightly reduced is indicated by the fact that valuation of all real estate, including buildings is up only $446,710—from $36,447,551 to $36,894,261—whereas there was an aggregate increase of $454,514 on town and country buildings.

Personal property valuations for 1950 exceed those of 1949 by $1,459,793, the total having jumped from $5,559,926 to $7,019,719.

Assessed value of public utility holdings, set by the state tax commission, were raised almost a million dollars—$998,822, to be exact. The 1949 total was $3,692,198, compared to this year's $4,691,020.

Total property valuations for Wright county were increased $3,048,974, or from $45,556,026 to $48,605,000. On the other hand—due to the $5,000 credit which is permitted by law for the first time this year—the aggregate of taxable moneys and credits in this county has fallen from $6,065,241 in 1949 to $3,052,489, a decrease of $3,012,752.

Mr. Ross points out that all the real estate figures above do not take into consideration deductions for Soldiers' Exemptions. The total of such exemptions was $583,156 in 1949. The amount for this year hasn't yet been determined.

"Almost everyone will concede that it will require some time to obtain equalization," Mr. Ross stated in releasing the above date. "However, we do want people to know that a decided effort is being made to attain this goal, and we believe that progress is being made."

The House that CONVICTION BUILT

When many people have the same conviction about a thing, they usually get together. They become members of a party, or a society, or a congregation.

Every Sunday in the churches of our community many people get together. They have the same conviction about God — they worship together.

When they worship, they offer thanks, they ask help. They sing to express their happiness. They listen to enrich their minds with the truth that comes from God. And before they bow their heads to receive final benediction, they give such gifts as they can to their Lord's work.

All of us have need for worship—it is a part of human nature and the divine will of God. So for your greatest benefit and happiness, choose a Church in this community—attend its services and join in its work. Make it YOUR CHURCH.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Groundwork Currently Being Laid For Establishment of Community Chest

After several years of idle consideration, there is a good chance that a Belmond Community Chest may this year become a reality. A committee has been named by Chamber of Commerce President George Infelt to set up the frame-work of the organization, including all local youth and recreational agencies that desire membership.

In addition to such groups as the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts—and, probably, the summer recreation program — all state and national welfare agencies that regularly conduct personal solocitation of funds in the community would be included in the Chest.

On the basis of recent years, provision would have to be made for inclusion of CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program), American Cancer Society, Salvation Army, U. S. O., Iowa Children's Home Society, Volunteers of America (supplanting the usual Have-a-Heart tag day) and possibly one or two other organizations.

Each member organization will be asked to provide the Chest Council with its estimated budgetary needs for the coming year, or the quota Belmond will be expected to fill as its contribution to state or nationwide charitable projects.

Also, each of these organizations or agencies will have a representative on the Chest Council, which will establish Chest policies and be responsible for division of funds.

There are several things to be gained by having a Community Chest. Among them:

(1) An accurate, broad picture of the community's financial obligation for charitable, welfare and recreational purposes is obtained by consolidating the needs of all the major agencies into a single budget.

(2) The base for giving is expanded by spreading solicitation of funds throughout the community instead of centering the bulk of it in the business district.

(3) The number of annual fund drives will be drastically reduced by inclusion of most of them in a single, yearly campaign.

It will be highly important that the Chest membership be as all-inclusive as possible. For that reason, sponsors of charitable undertakings are urged to notify Roy Henderson, Don Nolan or Pat Gallagher of the Community Chest committee if they wish their agency to be included in the Chest campaign. Furthermore, budgets and quotas of prospective member organizations should be promptly estimated, as accurately as possible, so that a reasonable fund-raising goal can be set for the Community Chest campaign.

We believe that Belmond can benefit in a variety of ways by the establishment of a Community Chest. It's success, however, will be measurable by the degree of active cooperation the undertaking receives. Any and all comments and suggestions will be gratefully accepted by members of the drafting committee.

As Target of Congressional Scorn, Fred Stover Finds No Apologists

After the congressional blast leveled at the Farmers Union last week, defenders promptly went to bat for the state presidents in Minnesota and North and South Dakota. Noticeable by their absence were all apologists for Iowa's Fred Stover.

It's difficult to understand how any man raised on Iowa "vittles" and American priciples could become so warped in his thinking as our Hampton neighbor.

Some of Stover's spoutings we've been willing to excuse on the theory that he was simply gullible. But any individual fostering the Stockholm peace petition as an instrument of democratic action is not misguided; he's an outright tool of Communism, and could hardly escape being well aware of his status.

Respect for National Flag and Anthem Is Simple Matter of Good Breeding

Several members of the VFW remarked, following the Labor Day parade, of the number of male onlookers who failed to remove their hats when the flag passed by and when the national anthem was played in the park.

Such omissions of courtesy are relatively unimportant in themselves, and in most instances likely indicate nothing more than thoughtlessness. But there is no denying that disregard of patriotic custom connotes a certain amount of disrespect for our nation and the things for which it stands.

Like speaking pleasantly to passers-by on the street, being prompt with "please" and 'thank you" and observing the other niceties of correct social behavior, doffing one's hat to the stars and stripes and remaining attentive when the national anthem is played simply add up to good manners. We would all do well to bear this in mind.

P. O. Department Bad Management Cost YOU $3.50 During Past Year

Did you know that your share of the Post Office Department's deficit for the federal fiscal year which ended June 30 was close to $3.50—or, if there are four in your family, the entire family's per capita share was nearly $14? And that a large part of that amount represented printing done at a loss by the government, mass mailing of commercial advertising at a tremendous deficit, and similar examples of just plain, poor business?

We didn't just guess at those figures. The postal department operated at a loss of $558,000,000 for the latest fiscal year. Iowa's share of that deficit was $8,816,400—and Wright county's was approximately $69,500. For just one year, mind you. Since the end of World War II the Post Office Department has racked up a total deficit of more than $1,758,000,000.

Despite numerous recommendations by the Hoover Commissiion for putting the postal department on a business-like basis, you'll recall that congressional efforts to lop a measley $28,107,000 off the expected $555,000,000 postal deficit for this year brought a substantial reduction in service—but no significant economies in operational procedures.

The Hoover Commission pointed out that great similarity in size, number of employees and nature of services (communications) exists between the Post Office Department and the Bell Telephone System. Last year the Bell combine operated at a profit and paid federal, state and local taxes totaling $346,144,000.

As in so many other phases of the present federal administration's performance of duty, much too large a share of the postal department's burgeoning deficit can be attributed to political expediency.

Personally, we feel that the $84 which is the pro rata share of the Independent force and their families in last year's postal deficit could have been put to much better use. We'd rather be applying that sum on meat and potatoes than investing the 84 bucks in bad management.

The U. S. Senate subcommittee on utilization of farm crops is trying to determine how it is that over-the-counter meat prices can take such sizeable jumps in the complete absence of any increase in prices paid to the farmer. The packers testify that they simply charge what the traffic will bear. Consequently, when the buying public refuses to let a boost in meat prices effect its purchases, another retail increase is in the making.

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

"Where are you going?" That's probably the most common question among members of any family. When the youngster leaves the house, it's "Where are you going?" When the husband leaves the house, it's "Where are you going now?"

Behind that question lies the urgent desire to keep things in order, to keep all members of the family out of trouble.

And so in traffic. Whether you are driving a car or riding a bicycle, nearby drivers want to know where you are going. They want to know if you are going to turn or stop.

To keep traffic in order, to help keep yourself and other drivers out of trouble, always give a definite, correct hand signal before you turn or stop.

The signals shown in the pictures above are the only hand signals approved in Iowa for drivers of all vehicles. When making a left turn, it's smart to complete your signal by pointing one finger in that direction also, to make your intention absolutely clear.

Drivers who failed to signal or who gave the wrong signal caused 743 accidents in Iowa last year.

Signal. Tell other drivers where you are going, so they won't have to tell accident investigators how you went.

Gillette Provides Hint As to What's in Prospect In Regard to Livestock

WASHINGTON, D. C. Special)—Senator Guy M. Gillette today quoted two Washington farm reporters as follows, commenting that the opinions were not his own but were passed along because of their interest to people in Iowa:

> "Intentions now are to announce livestock goals to continue toward production trends, but no big increase. Possibly a five to 10 per cent increase to produce 105 million hogs per year. Of course actual increase will be influenced by hog prices this fall. Beef cattle slaughter is expected to increase by not more than two or three per cent."

"They are thinking at Department of Agriculture in terms of hog price supports at $18 this fall; and of hog prices at farm down to a range for a short time of $16.50 to $17.50. A five per cent larger pig crop to heavier weights will bring a sharp break. Prices won't go so low as last year, but the drop will be greater."

think what it means to HER . . .

Yes, just think what it does mean to her . . . to have another harvest coming in . . . to have the assurance of a regular weekly pay check . . . to have enough money in the bank for comfortable living.

These are important things, all of them dependent on you. If something were to happen—well, you've probably thought of that, too. And maybe you've worried about it more than you should.

There's just one protection against this fear of family insecurity—that's life insurance. Yes, there's only one way to assure her future and that of the children. No matter what kind of work you do, no matter how much you earn, you owe your family the security of life insurance protection.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

This week RFD has as "guest columnist" Pat Ketchum of the Iowa U-Go-I-Go 4-H club, whose demonstration team represented Wright county's 4-H girls in the statewide competition at the Iowa State Fair. Following is a report on her experiences during a week at the fair.

* * * *

Sunday morning Marjorie McKinley and I, composing the Iowa U-Go-I-Go demonstration team, were ready for Des Moines at 8:45. The morning was damp and dark, but not our spirits for we were all ready for our stay at the State Fair. Mrs. James Goom, our leader, was in the same high spirits. Mrs. Lettie Zuber and her daughter Mary Kay accompanied us from the Greyhound station. We reached the 4-H girls dormitory at the fairgrounds about 11:00 a. m.

At the new dormitory we registered, found our assigned beds and then went to dinner. The "dorm" is on top of a hill and the dining hall was clear at the bottom. Going down to the meals wasn't nearly as hard as climbing back up after you had eaten.

In the afternoon we went to the 4-H building and looked until we found almost all of the Wright county exhibits.

Sunday evening was the dedication of the new dormitory and there was a short talk given by Governor Wm. Beardsley. At this first meeting we were told not to leave the dorm after dark without a leader, to keep rooms neat and clean and beds made ready for inspection.

Finally it was bed time and we gladly crawled in for a restful night of sleep.

—RFD—

MONDAY—At 7:30 a. m. we met our folks with the demonstration materials and then returned to the Women and Children's building by 8:00 for the first assembly. We were on needles and pins wondering if we would remember our demonstration when the time came.

Then was the dinner hour. Time was getting short, 2:15 would soon be on us; and before we knew it, it was! We started our demonstration and it seemed that in no time at all we were finished. (Could it be because we forgot some of it?) We had a better feeling from then on, the rest of the week.

Monday night after supper we 4-H girls were all lined up four abreast, attired in uniform, and given motorcycle escort to the grandstand. We sure felt important. The show was almost all musical and was very pretty. Other acts were put on by dogs, ponies, cats and jugglers.

After the Big Show we were escorted back to our dormitories and our first real day at the State Fair had ended. I don't know how anyone could have made it more perfect.

—RFD—

TUESDAY — Didn't get up so early this morning as we were pretty tired after our first big day. At assembly we heard a talk by Breena Scheele, a girl from Holland who is now living in Scott county.

After assembly we were ushers in the 4-H building for the rest of the morning. This was lots of fun. People asked all sorts of questions and we tried to answer them as well as we knew how.

This was our night off to go wherever we liked. Mrs. Groom, Marjorie and I all went to the horse show.

—RFD—

WEDNESDAY—We were more tired than ever this morning so we skipped breakfast but did go to assembly. A 4-H girl played the piano accordian. This morning we heard some more demonstrations. They were very interesting to watch after having been working on one ourselves.

After dinner there was a style show. There were lots of pretty clothes, made by the girls who modeled them.

After supper the Kiwanis club had a party for us. We played games and did some dancing and met lots of other boys and girls. A group of Des Moines high school girls put on a rope-jumping exhibition which was very good.

—RFD—

THURSDAY — Got up late again. Went to assembly and ate breakfast afterward. Then we took a taxi into Des Moines and went shopping.

At noon, Mrs. Zuber took us to luncheon at Younkers tea room. It was very nice and lots of fun.

For supper we went to a barbecue sponsored by John Morrell and company. They put on a wonderful floor show, with music, trick dogs, acrobats, etc. It was an interesting show.

We weren't as tired as usual tonight but we were hustled off to bed anyway. We really didn't mind.

—RFD—

FRIDAY — This was our last day. The morning and afternoon programs were combined because of the limited time. We went to the 4-H building and heard the general comments on all of the demonstrations. We were interested in the foods and nutrition, as well as home furnishings, as that is our project for the next year.

We were divided into groups and awards for the blue ribbon record books were given. I received a green and white Iowa State Fair pencil.

The time was sure dragging because we were so anxious to get our decision. We were sitting on the edge of our seats and heaved a sigh of relief when Wright county didn't receive a white ribbon and we thought we were pretty good when we were going to get a red ribbin. But when they read off Wright county for a blue ribbon, we were just plain flabbergasted but proud as peacocks.

After we heard our decision, Mrs. Groom and I went to Younkers tea room for a luncheon with 125 other 4-H girls and leaders to see a style review, Marjorie [illegible] grounds wi[illegible] friends from [illegible] think she had as [illegible] we did.

Many's the time we've heard e accusation, "Wait till some- e from the Independent ap- ears in mayor's court, and watch w it's buried inside the paper." ell—here it is:

J. R. "Pat" Gallagher, Independent editor, was arrested Wednesday morning by Officer Dale Walrod for traveling at the rate of 45 miles an hour on the stretch of Third street NE between the Rock Island tracks and the east edge of town. Fine $3.00, costs $2.00.

Interviewed after the trial, the lprit had only this to say, With no houses in view, it oked like wide-open country me; but "Pinky" said it was sted with 25-MPH signs — and rned if it isn't."

—M-S—

In spite of the question mark ill existing in regard to the ospects of the 1950 Bronco even, Lloyd "Pat" Patterson st Friday night was no doubt calling enviously the good old ays when he was BHS coach.

While the Broncs were tripping up Dows, 21 to 7, Pat's West Des Moines team was absorbing a 37-0 larruping at the hands of Albia. If we know Pat, those WDM boys are due to get their noses well sharpened on the grindstone in the next few weeks. Mr. Patterson doesn't like to lose; and 37 to 0—OUCH!

—M-S—

Last Saturday morning, house- old duties at the Hansen manse ere interrupted by prolonged nging of the telephone. When va silenced the shrill summons raising the receiver, all she ould hear at the other end of e line was some unintelligible abble. After a moment, the gib- erish was replaced by a familiar ice.

Emma Thompsen informed the rplexed Mrs. Hansen that son ouglas, who will be two in No- ember, had apparently been en- rtaining himself with the phone d by coincidence had fingered ansens' number. It was a big lief to Eva, who was beginning wonder which was off—her- lf or the phone.

It isn't often that an infant has the privilege of attending a "stork shower" planned as pre-natal diversion for his mother. Such was the case last Friday, however, when a group of friends entertained Mary Gordon — and son, Lee Baird, at the A. P. Thompsen home.

The event had been planned r an earlier date, but young ee's premature advent inter- ered. Weighing in at five pounds, ine and a half ounces on Aug. , his appearance was not yet xpected. As a consequence, he ad the pleasure of attending lom's party, and the feeding, urping and diapering of the un- xpected guest added consider- bly to the evening's entertain- ent.

ouble - Barreled nniversary For oneses Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones, proprietors of the Standard Service station and cafe on the west side of Highway 69, have a double-barreled anniversary coming up this Saturday—and they are inviting their customers and friends to join them in celebrating the occasion.

It was just two years ago that they went into business at their present location; and 25 years ago that they formed the marital partnership that reaches its Silver Anniversary on Sept. 23rd.

Estate Files $69,000 Suit in Death of Howard Boller

Two Other Cases Entered in Court On Helland Crash

Last week in Hancock county district court, three damage suits were filed which will be of particular interest to people of this vicinity. One of the suits involves the tragic highway accident that took the life of Howard Boller, Goodell, on July 15; and the other two developed from the fatal collision of a carload of college students with an auto driven by L. M. Helland of Belmond on Feb. 10.

Harvey E. Boller, as administrator of the estate of his late son, Howard, has filed a petition asking judgment in the amount of $69,090.60, plus costs of the action and five per cent per annum from July 15. Defendants in this case are Ervin C. Miller of Ruthven, doing business as the Miller Truck Lines, and the driver of the vagrant semi-trailer that killed young Boller, Stanley F. Johnson.

It will be recalled that the truck tractor and semi-trailer driven by Johnson hurtled from Highway 69 as he applied his brakes to avoid what he considered an imminent collision with another vehicle. The careening "rig" crashed through the repair shop of the Boller service station at Goodell and struck Howard Boller, injuring him fatally.

In the other two actions, L. M. Helland is co-defendant with Jens Jacobson of Paton, owner of the student-filled car which was driven by Eugene Helmke of Lake Wilson, Minn. Judgment of $50,000 plus costs is sought against the defendants by William Johnson of Rutland, administrator of the estate of William Johnson, Jr., who died of injuries soon after the accident.

The second suit, for $15,000 and costs, is brought by Harold Larson of Rutland in behalf of his minor son, Jerry Lee Larson, who suffered serious injuries in the collision . The accident occurred on Highway 69 just south of Forest City as the St. Olaf college students were riding south en route home for midterm vacations and the Helland party was on its way to witness the Belmond-Forest City basketball game.

Plaintiffs in these cases charge the collision was caused by the negligence of Mr. Helland and the recklessness of Eugene Helmke, driver of the car owned by Defendant Jens Jacobson.

Explanation given to law officers immediately after the accident was to the effect that Helmke had endeavored to pass a car ahead, then decided he could not make it when he saw Helland's car approaching. While endeavoring to withdraw into the proper lane, the students' car reportedly struck a patch of ice and swerved cross-ways into the path of the Belmond auto.

Tumble in Dark Leads to Death Of Geo. Bohning

George Bohning, 77, a resident of this general vicinity during his entire life, died last Monday at Steele Memorial hospital. His death was attributed to injuries sustained in a fall a week previous, and ensuing complications.

About 2:00 a. m. on Tuesday of last week, Mr. Bohning had gotten out of bed when the electric current was turned off in town and in the dark tumbled down the stairs. His wife promptly called a physician and later Tuesday he was taken to the hospital.

There it was found he had suffered five broken ribs and received a brain concussion. Mr. Bohning had been in ill health for several years and failed to rally from the results of the unfortunate accident.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Immanuel Reformed church, Rev. O. G. Poppen officiating and Fulton Funeral home in charge. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Bohning was born in Franklin county on Nov. 30, 1872, son of Andrew and Geelke Bohning. When he was in his early teens, the family moved to a farm northeast of Belmond.

Tina T. Frohling became Mr. Bohning's bride on Feb. 22, 1897. They were the parents of four children.

Mr. Bohning engaged in farming until his retirement in 1925, first on the "Dick Barkema farm" northeast of town and then for 25 years on the land southeast of Belmond which the Bohning family still regards as the "home place".

On July 2, 1922, Mr. Bohning became a member of the Immanuel Reformed church and was a faithful worker in its behalf. He served two terms as deacon.

Surviving are his widow and four children—Andrew F. of Belmond, Fredric of Des Moines, Mrs. Benjamin (Galenda) Heginger of Goodell and Mrs. E. A. (Grace) Galloway of Oelwein; and four grandchildren. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Ida Steenblock of Belmond; and two brothers, Will of Belmond and John of Clear Lake.

Wayne Wesenberg Died Unexpectedly Wednesday

Word was received Wednesday of the sudden death of Wayne Wesenberg of Garner, partner with Bob Garms in the Farmers Implement store here.

Mr. Wesenberg also operated a similar concern at Garner and the Goodell implement business formerly conducted by his father, L. W. Wesenberg.

As The Independent was going to press, no funeral arrangements had yet been made.

BAZAAR DATE CHANGED

A change of date has been made for the Ladies Aid bazaar of St. John's Lutheran church. Mrs. Herman Heginger of the bazaar committee states that the auctioneer could not be obtained for the original Oct. 19 date, so the event has been advanced one day, to Oct. 18.

Henry Steenblocks Discover Son Has Big Head--Of Cabbage, That Is

PRIZE CABBAGE HEAD is displayed by Murland Steenblock, in the company of his father—Henry Steenblock—and his daughter and son, Brenda and Terry.

When a Californian—even the transplanted Iowan variety—is discovered to have a "big head", it is nothing to be surprised about. Those Californians are just a prideful bunch of people.

But the "big head" that Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steenblock found their son Murland displaying, when they visited him and his family at Arcata, Calif., this summer frankly filled them with amazement. In this instance, the "big head" was a cabbage from Murland's garden; and it weighed a neat 22½ pounds.

The Steenblocks report that even Murland was impressed by the monster vetegable—to the extent that he consented to pose with it for the accompanying shot.

Murland operated a mink ranch near Belmond, prior to his emigration to California in 1949. He now operates a similar enterprise on his four-acre plot at Arcata. Obviously, he does some garden on the side.

Your editor's first suspicion upon viewing the garden giant was that Murland might claim it was a Brussels sprout. We admire his honesty in confessing not only that it IS a head of cabbage, but that it's a pretty fair specimen—even for California.

1950 BHS Grads Choose Variety of Paths

Just a year ago the 50 members of last spring's Belmond High school 1950 senior class found themselves launched on their final year of public school education. Many were very uncertain as to what they would be doing when this present autumn rolled around. Since then, many decisions have been made — and with but few exceptions the graduates have made up their minds where to head next.

Eighteen from the class are obtaining further formal education or training and have enrolled in a variety of schools. Topping the list is Valedictorian Jerry Hanson, who had a choice of scholarships at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., Luther at Decorah or Waldorf J. C. at Forest City. He chose St. Olaf.

Curt Mennenga also holds the distinction of winning a scholarship. He was one of 10 boys, out of a wide field of applicants, to receive a Sears-Roebuck agricultural scholarship for study at Iowa State college. Others who will attend ISC at Ames are Jim Thompsen, who's interested in "ag" engineering, Roger Hanson and Shirley Proeger.

Two plan to attend Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls—Marilyn McNutt, who will major in music; and Richard Kriens, who will major in mathematics. Luther has been chosen by Bob Berns, who will take business administration; and Bob Redmond, who will take a liberal arts course. Daryl Boelman will major in education at the University of Dubuque and Florence Baxter is enrolling at Waldorf.

Sidney Swenson will go to Augsburg college at Minneapolis and Virgil Bunjer to Omaha Bible Institute. With the aim of becoming dental technicians, both Janet Beavers and Darlene Hanson are taking courses at the Chicago School of Nursing.

Joyce Waddington plans to make beauty pay by taking instruction at the Patricia Stevens Modeling school in Chicago; and Shirley Nelson plans to capitalize on the pursuit of beauty by studying at Thompson School of Beauty Culture, Des Moines.

Twenty of the 1950 "grads" are settled down to jobs, temporary and otherwise. Three are employed by Thompson's Hybrid Corn company — Keith Greenfield, Marian Loats and Julane Gaffri. General Mills secretarial jobs attracted Betty Soma and Lois Mehl. Rowat and Murray provided employment for Marilyn Madsen and Darlene Rierson.

Roland Kinseth is working for Madole and Kinseth, plumbers; Vernon Dippel as an apprentice carpenter for Ted Zook; Nancy Quigley as waitress at Alderson's cafe; Edward Eccles at Model Cleaners; Marcella Green at the First State Bank; and Nancy Johnson as dental assistant at Dr. A. M. Larson's office.

Duane Trager is in the construction crew erecting the new school building at Latimer. Clerking jobs have been taken by Arlene Slining, at Infelt's; and Helene Harbison at the Ben Franklin store in Garner. Farming has drawn Robert Jenison, Derl Morris, David Pals and Deane Dorr.

Douglas Hoppel and Gordon Hildebrand are at home, with definite plans for the future still in the uncertain stage. Also remaining at home for the time being are Evelyn Ziller, Shirley Lieuwen, Darlene Chapman, Irene Smith, Conie and Mary Negrete.

Wedding bells have rung for Marjorie Kennedy, now Mrs. Roger Wagner, soon to be at home at 715 Third street NE; Carolyn Schleiffarth, now living in California as the bride of Loren Majero; and Betty Lou Nelson—Mrs. Dwane Thompson.

Marriage is in the offing for Ramona Thompson and Donna Dorr, who are at home until after marching to the altar with Joe McLaughlin and David Robertson, respectively.

About 15 years ago that trip to high school graduation night looked like a well nigh endless journey to the 50 young folks named above. Like their elders before them, they've now discovered that time is truly fleeting—and there's more comes after than ever came before.

Plan 1st Program Of Women Voters

First fall meeting of the Belmond League of Women Voters will be held in two divisions next Wednesday, since membership in the organization has reached proportions that would make a single gathering too large.

Members may attend either one of the study sessions they desire. At both, discussion will center around a background study of the United Nations.

Hail, Wind Cause Damage Monday

Hail and wind caused quite severe damage in a relatively small area south of town Monday evening about 6:30 p .m. There were some reports of hail in parts of the Goodell neighborhood about the same hour.

Ralph Baker's farm, about six miles southeast of town, seemed to be in the middle of the swathe cut by the wind and hail in that area. A chicken brooder house was completely demolished, the barn's haymow door was ripped from its moorings and hurled into the loft, a small feedhouse was damaged and many windows in the farm buildings cracked.

Siding on the west part of the house was dented by the hailstones and the wind sent several trees crashing. A portion of Ralph's corn was virtually stripped of leaves.

Whether farmers whose corn lay in the hail's path were seriously worried or not depended on how soon they'd gotten their crop in. Ralph is fearful that the harm done to his crop might be appreciable.

Frank Caldwell, on the George Hake farm a mile west of the Baker place, was hopeful that his corn was sufficiently hardened that the damage would not prove serious.

Mrs. Ness of Olaf Still Holds Top Position; Four Other Contest Candidates Close Behind

Campaign Manager
By Grace C. Koppenhaver

How important a part does advertising play in the life of your home town newspaper? Advertising is commercial news. Without it this newspaper would be a vastly different publication. It would be much less interesting and it would cost the subscriber considerably more.

The commercial and professional announcements of the business and professional men of this community are important to all who live here. Some people do not grasp the importance of the role of advertising in the home paper.

There are merchants, for example, who seemingly do not realize that failure to acquaint people with their goods and services handicaps both the store and its customers.

"Space" is the property of the newspaper. Those who advertise actually rent space in which to publish their commercial news. Space rented for advertising is the principal source of revenue to all newspapers. Such revenue makes possible the delivery of the newspaper to subscribers at actually less than the cost of publishing the paper.

Advertising in the home town paper is a sound investment. The advertiser gets direct return in more business and good-will, and the community benefits from the information. A large subscriber list insures these benefits to the merchant and patron alike.

The second period of the "Good Will circulation campaign is now underway, the first period closing Sept. 21. The second period will close Sept. 28. Votes have dropped in value and will again drop at the close of the period.

Contestants will be given 400,000 bonus votes for every $20 worth of business turned in between Sept. 21 and 28. Contestants are working hard to convert promises into votes, for it is votes and votes only which will determine the winner.

Many persons who are interested in various contestants are extending their subscriptions already given, and many new and renewal subscriptions are being added.

Mrs. Homer Ness, who held the coveted top position last week, again holds the lead; but Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. Lynn Knoll are very close.

Mrs. Howard Boller and Mrs. Glen Eccles are also keenly competing for top placings. Who will win? It is still too early to tell, for work done in the next two weeks may completely change the picture.

Many nine months subscriptions are being taken out at $2.75 for young folks going away to school. The regular rate for a year's subscription to the paper is $3.00 in the trade territory of Belmond and $3.50 outside the trade territory.

During the campaign, a special rate of three years for $8.50 is bringing in many three-year subscriptions.

Take care of your subscription TODAY!

Belmond High's Broncos presented their new coach with a victory in the season's opener against Dows here last Friday night, 21 to 7. Despite the score, the contest was no walk-away; but it might well have given Don Merritt hope for better things to come.

Dows jumped into the lead near the end of the first period following a pass from Paul Holmes to Vance Paulson that was good for 67 yards and advanced the pigskin to Belmond's three-yard line. The Broncs held for three downs before Russ Bridges succeeded in punching the ball over. A plunge for point put the Tigers ahead 7 to 0.

The Broncos wasted no time in retaliating. Dave Helland returned the kickoff to the 35 and, after a pass attempt failed, Jack Riggs rambled for 38 yards. One play went for nothing, then Riggs covered the last 27 yards at a gallop and a Helland-to-Severseike pass for the point tied up the ball game.

Except for a 30-yard pass from Riggs to Marlyn Watermiller, Belmond didn't show much during the remainder of the half. In the closing seconds Dows reached the Broncs 14-yard line, was tossed back to the 24 on a tackle by Odean Severseike, then slammed back to the 10. There a nice stop by Bill Trees gave Belmond the ball on downs just before the half ended.

As the second half started, Riggs broke loose on a 53-yard TD jaunt, only to have it nullified by an offside penalty. Undismayed, the Broncos buckled down and romped clear to the Tigers' 10-stripe before a penalty and a couple of losses gave Dows the ball 'way back on the 35.

Stan Eccles got the Belmond attack back into gear by recovering a Tiger bobble on the 36. Clelan Redmond gained 14 yards in three attempts, then Riggs hit for 12—and again for 10, anr the score was 13-7 for the Broncs. Redmond successfully plunged for the extra digit.

Dows started out the final stanza with a flourish, racking up three successive first downs before Watermiller grabbed a fumble at mid-field. Erickson promptly covered a Bronco fumble on the next play, but Dows couldn't get going again and Belmond took over on downs at the 50.

Three plays left the Broncs still a yard shy of first down. Riggs and Watermiller had the answer to that, however. Jack pitched a perfect pass 20 yards downfield; Marlyn gathered it in and continued to the pay stripe without even being threatened by a tackler. Redmond sliced off-tackle for the point which made the final count 21-7 for Belmond.

With Bridges doing most of the toting, Dows dashed to Belmond's 30-yard line in the moments that remained after the kickoff. It might be explained that the Bronco line-up was well dotted with reserves during that time. But the seconds ran out before the threat could become a really serious one.

Riggs and Redmond served notice that North Iowa foes can expect plenty of trouble from their direction during the season to come. In the Belmond line, Center Howard Wagner played a bang-up defensive game. Flashes of latent talent were shown by most of the other linemen. Mention should also be made of a creditable quarterbacking job by Dave Helland in his initial varsity start.

BRONCS CLASH FRIDAY WITH BRITT IN FIRST CONFERENCE CONTEST

Coach Don Merritt the first of the week expressed neither pleasure nor dismay over the showing of the Belmond High gridders in their season opener against Dows. He very openly, however, expressed the hope that the Broncos' performance against Britt this Friday would show an improvement.

Last year the Broncs took the Eagles into camp with little difficulty. That Britt is again headed for a not too impressive season was suggested by their 19-0 trimming by Rockwell City last week. However, the Eagles outgained their foes by a sizeable margin and the victors twice got "unearned" touchdowns via pass interceptions.

Three other North Iowa conference teams, besides Belmond, opened their cards with wins. Northwood, the defending champions, nosed out St. Ansgar 7 to 0, Lake Mills dropped Manly 13-0, and Forest City galloped past Clear Lake 19-0. In the remaining loop encounter, Garner bowed to Renwick by a 13-0 count.

Although Coach Merritt considered that Center Howard Wagner and his pair of starting ends—Odean Severseike and Marlyn Watermiller—committeed themselves well, he was generally dissatisfied with the line play. He hopes to see his linemen charging lower and harder in succeeding games.

The new mentor found considerable pleasure in the performance of the Bronco backfield, but feels his ball-carriers should get away quicker. All in all, he feels there's a good deal of room for improvement — and he hopes to see that improvement evidenced in some degree at Britt.

Play in the 1950 Clarmond Country club men's golf tournament reached its close last Thursday when Pat Gallagher brought the title to Belmond with a victory over Leo Hilton, Jr., of Clarion, 7 and 6.

Hilton had the poor luck of catching the new champion on a day when the latter produced his best 18-hole score of the year. On the outgoing nine, Gallagher had a two-under-par 34 to the runner-up's 40 and started the final round with a five-up advantage.

After the match was closed out on No. 3, the pair completed the round with Gallagher finishing with a 36 and Hilton approximately matching his first round effort.

Fred Gordon, Clarmond's No. 1 golfer, was busily engaged with the U. S. Amateur at Minneapolis and the Iowa open at Mason City during the opening week of the local tournament and was unable to compete for the championship this year.

Dick, Model T Stop Again; Bride, Still 'to Be', Along

It's getting so Belmond is regarded virtually as a "home away from home" by Dick Thompson, the young Lochinvar from Minneapolis who earlier this summer passed through town en route to a wedding in Houston, Texas—his own.

He's still got the '26 model T which took him to Houston in three days' time. When he stopped in the Independent office recently on a return trip to Minneapolis he was still a bachelor, too; but he was making real progress in that direction. He had his bride-to-be along with him.

Mary Gibson, his fiancee, planned to become Mrs. Thompson after the couple's arrival in Minneapolis. The jaunt north, incidentally, was being made at a much more leisurely pace than the one to Houston. Stop-overs had been enjoyed by the betrothed pair at Waco, Kansas City and Des Moines.

Site of the proposed honeymoon had been changed from Galveston to Canada. Personally, we're convinced it's in the cards — but whether it'll turn out to be in Canada, Timbuktu or the Galapagos islands, we'd hesitate to venture a guess. Those kids do move around!

IN IOWA — LAND OF THE SADDLE CLUB

Horse in No Danger of Joining Dodo

Iowans have been taking to horseback like a dry-land duck takes to a heavy rain, the Iowa Development Commission commented today.

In the state where the word "horse" used to mean the eating end of a corn cultivator or a mowing machine, more than 200,000 light horses now have happy homes. Their owners are active in 175 saddle clubs, which have an average membership of 125.

More American Saddle bred horses are registered in Iowa than in any other state, and it is estimated that Iowa leads in the total light horse population. Iowa town dwellers own 42,350 horses. Only 2500 are owned by training stables.

Illustrating the interest in serious horsemanship is the 100-mile trail ride, which will be held Sept. 21-22-23 near Osceola. This is the eleventh year for the competitive ride, in which the trophy goes to the rider who displays the best horsemanship and keeps his mount in the best condition for the entire ride.

A 70-mile competitive ride was held in Cedar Rapids earlier this month. Non-competitive excursion rides are scheduled twice a month by most saddle clubs. Riders frequently cover 20 or 30 miles on a Sunday pleasure ride.

When Iowa horsemen aren't in the saddle, they're watching show horses perform. Interest in the show ring has grown tenfold since 1942, when only 25 horse shows were scheduled in Iowa. By the time November arrives, this year, there will have been 275 horse shows throughout Iowa, according to Harlan Conley, field representative for the Iowa Horse and Mule Breeders association.

Iowa owners probably keep more breeds of horses than you would find in any one state, elsewhere, Conley said. There are Iowa breeders of America saddle bred strains, quarter horses, Morroccos, Arabians, Morgans, Standard bred and Palominos. This fact tends to make Iowa shows more colorful, and competition in open classses more varied.

Three shows of national scope have moved to Iowa. The National Stallion Show was first held in Waterloo in 1946, and has become an annual April event. This year the National Shetland Pony Congress was held in conjunction with the State Fair, for the third successive year.

The National Belgian show is scheduled at Waterloo early in October, in connection with the National Dairy Cattle Congress. More than 175 entries are expected. A light horse show held at the same time attracts entries from all over the Midwest. Last year 236 harness and saddle horses competed, and this year entries are expected to be the largest in the show's history.

Dobbin hasn't been crowded off Iowa farms, even if Iowans do have more tractors than farmers in any other state. At the draft show at Stanwood this month, more than 100 Belgian horses competed. Conley reports more interest in pulling contests this year than in the last four years.

"There have been more entries, and better attendance, too", he said. The Horse and Mule Breeders association conducts pulling contests with a machine to measure the force of the pull. A series of contests are held over the state during the summer and fall.

Draft horses have stayed on Iowa farms because they earn their keep, according to Conley. "There is a place for one good team on even the most mechanized farm," he said.

"For slow jobs and small jobs, particularly in cold weather, a team is much more economical. When it's below zero, you can have a team hitched and at work before a tractor is warmed up."

AMBER

SNAKE

Goodwin Linn of Colfax had an unpleasant shock recently when he went into the bedroom of his home and found a large yellow snake slithering across the floor. It was about a yard long.

Belmond Realtors Plan To Attend State Parley

Several Belmond realtors planned to attend the annual convention of the Iowa Real Estate association being held at Des Moines from Thursday through Saturday of this week.

Heading the delegation is Neil Flanagan, who this year served as association vice president for the northwest Iowa area. Others expecting to attend at least part of the convention were R. W. Courson, Clark McNeal and possibly A. C. Hanson, all representing the Wright County Board of Realtors.

Mr. Flanagan, in his official capacity, is to have the distinction of a place at the speakers' table during tomorrow's sessions. He reports that an especially large turnout is expected at the convention as a tribute to the late Wayne Raymond of Waterloo, who died this year during his term as president of the state association.

Bill Waggoner came from Kansas City, Mo., to get his wife and two sons who have been staying at the parental Otto Hosick home and also visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eko Bekker.

Hello . . .

It is with pleasure that we announce the purchase of the Michelson Shoe Repair Service in Belmond and that we are now in possession of the business.

Shoe repair is not new to me as I was in that business for several years previous to coming to Belmond. I find that I'm not as fast and that I'm a little out of practice, but hope my customers will have patience and bear with me for a while.

We will continue the line of Wear-u-Well shoes and will endeavor to carry on the business, to the best of our ability, in the same manner in which it was conducted by Mr. Michelson.

The EARL FERGUSONS

Goodbye . . .

It is with regret that we must say goodbye to the many of you who have been our friends and customers during the past five years we have operated the Michelson Shoe Repair Service in Belmond.

However, circumstances have forced us to make the decision of moving to our new home in Tacoma, Washington, and we can only anticipate a future that will turn out for the best.

Our successor in the business, Mr. Earl Ferguson, needs no introduction to the people of this community and we wish for him every success in the future.

EAGLE GROVE—Dr. Floyd Andre, dean and director of agriculture at Iowa State college, will speak on town and country relations here at Greenwood Park next Tuesday during the afternoon program of Co-op Barbecue Day according to an announcement by Roy Larson, president of the Eagle Grove Chamber of Commerce.

Another featured speaker of the day will be Howard A. Cowden, Kansas City, president and general manager of Consumers Cooperative Association. Cowden will discuss the place of cooperatives in the present economic system and will dedicate the two Eagle Grove plants operated by CCA.

Although Co-op Barbecue Day was primarily planned for farm families and residents of small towns in the area surrounding Eagle Grove it is creating much interest all over the state, says Albert Koolhof of Webster City, general chairman. Reports coming in from various sections of the state indicate some 10,000 persons interested in Iowa agriculture will be coming, including many from widely scattered points.

Eight baby beeves, purchased at the Eagle Grove fair to provide meat for the old-fashioned barbecue dinner, have been slaughtered. According to Ed Olson, chairman of the committee responsible for preparation of food and serving it to the big crowd, the meat is now under refrigeration to acquire that degree of "aging" best suited for barbecuing.

Co-sponsors of the event are the Eagle Grove Chamber of Commerce, Boone Valley Co-op Processing Association, Consumers Co-op Association, and 20 local farming cooperatives located in Eagle Grove and surrounding towns.

HANDLES BIG JOBS WITH PTO POWER

Cupped knives on this yard-wide cylinder take less power, yet provide big capacity. This combination slicing and throwing action on a wide, thin stream of material handles heavy crops in a hurry. Knives are kept razor-keen with built-in power sharpener—honed right on the cylinder.

The Allis-Chalmers Forage Harvester is built for family farm ownership. No waiting for help. You catch each crop at its peak in quality. It's a 3-way machine which handles: (1) Row crops (2) Windrows (3) Standing grass crops.

Do You Have Trouble Posing Your Posies? Hear ISC Specialist

You ladies who find your flower arrangements branching out when they ought to cluster, and clustering when they're supposed to branch out will have an opportunity to learn some finer points tomorrow evening at Clarion. Even if you're quite adept at posing your posies, you might get some good tips when Charles Sherwood of the Iowa State college horticultural department speaks on "Flower Arrangements".

Under sponsorship of the county's homemaker organizations, the flower specialist will speak at the Clarion Legion hall at 2:00 p. m. and again at 7:45. He gave four lessons for Wright county homemakers last fall on "Growing Houseplants" and is remembered very favorably by those who heard him. COLTS OPEN FOOTBALL SEASON MONDAY NIGHT BY DEFEATING GARNER

Belmond's frosh-soph football team, comprised largely of the same players that went through the autumn undefeated last season, opened its 1950 card Monday night by whipping Garner's lower classmen 13 to 0.

Although the Colts outgained their opponents by a large margin, only one of their touchdowns came via rushing. That score was racked up by Arnette Ter Hark in the final quarter on a 35-yard dash around right end, with the point added on a plunge by Merlin Stockseth.

Stockseth accounted for the other Belmond tally in the first quarter after Wilbur Daniels had blocked a Garner kick when the Cardinal Chicks were pushed back to their own 10-yard line. The ball bounded over the goal and was covered by the Colts' burly defensive guard. No extra point followed this counter.

Coach Jim Scott had only 13 men on his traveling squad and consequently all the players saw plenty of action.

Starters were: LE Malcom O'Connor, LT Sherm Oberhauser, LG Larry Nelson, C Alan Shahan, RG Larry Larson, RT Wilbur Daniels, RE Vernon Meyer, QB Dave Helland, LH Arnette Ter Hark, RH Claude Larkin, FB Merlin Stockseth. The other two boys were Kenny Eccles, used as a guard, and Sam Leinbach, defensive back.

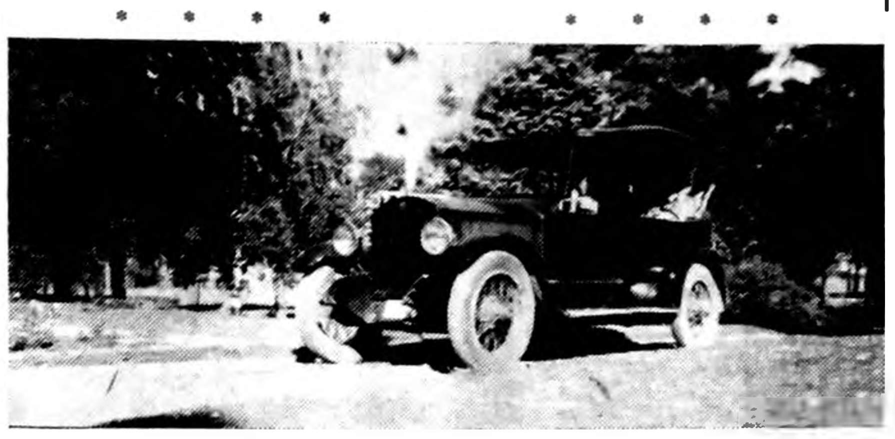
Party in Stanley Steamer Visits Vestwebers



THERE'S LIFE APLENTY IN THE OLD BUS YET

Recent visitors at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vestweber attracted a great deal of attention en route as they traveled from Rolfe in a vehicle that has been a stranger to Iowa roadways for over a quarter of a century.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hansen, owners of the 1917 Stanley Steamer that provided their transportation, and three Rolfe neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Paulson and Mrs. Mary Weible.

Although the trip to Belmond would be considered a little more than an hour's drive in a modern car, the Hansens allowed a good, full two hours for their steamer outing. The 1917 model has a cruising speed of 30 to 35 miles an hour.

Mr. Hansen, a road grading contractor, purchased the Stanley some time ago in Vermont. It was not in running order when he bought it, but its new owner is an experienced hand with engines of all kinds and soon had the antique purring like new. Mr. Hansen learned mechanics back in the days of the old-fashioned steam engine. Today his heavy road machinery all depends on diesel power.

The Hansen's undertake no trips in their Stanley Steamer on the spur of the moment. It requires about 45 minutes for the outfit to work up sufficient steam to operate. The steam is generated by a fuel consisting of a mixture of gasoline and kerosene.

Steam pressure of about 300 to 500 pounds per square inch is maintained when the vehicle is traveling. The engine has no clutch or shift lever as its two cylinders connect directly to the rear axle.

Since purchase of the 1917 steamer, Mr. Hansen has bought a second one of 1922 vintage, which he located in Illinois. He contemplates creating a "highway hybrid" in the near future by placing the '22 engine in the chassis of a 1948 Chevrolet coach.

Mr. Hansen is a member of the "Horseless Carriage Club of America", all of whose members are collectors of ancient automobiles.

Typhoid "Carriers" Now Only Contagion Source; Disease Nearly Whipped

Typhoid fever is going underground, according to reports in the division of preventable diseases of the Iowa State Department of Health. Years ago most typhoid cases got the disease from other cases. New typhoid fever is taken care of so that it can't spread from patient to patient. The records show the results.

Five cases of typhoid fever have been reported in Iowa so far this year. Five years ago there were 10 times that many. In 1908, there were 600 cases, states Dr. Ralph H. Heeren, director of preventable diseases.

"This does not mean that the danger of typhoid fever is no longer with us," Dr. Heeren adds. "That's where the going underground comes in. New cases now come from carriers; from hidden or unsuspected persons."

A typhoid carrier, Dr. Heeren explains, is a persons who harbors the disease, but isn't sick with it. Perhaps he had the fever 25 years ago, and still carries some of the germs with him. His attack may even have been so mild he didn't know that he had it. But he still may be the cause of some one else's having typhoid fever, perhaps severely.

The dramatic decrease in typhoid fever is due to a number of factors. Sanitary engineers have directed treatment of public drinking water, sewage disposal, proper handling and pasteurization of milk supplies, fly control and general sanitation.

In addition, physicians have developed methods including the use of protective vaccine that help to prevent a second case of typhoid from happening in any family. Working with health officials the physicians follow their cases carefully to learn whether any become chronic carriers.

Students, Parents Enjoy Jr. High Hobby Show; Dippel Cousins, Darwin and Gary, Win 1st., 2nd

Although 70 fine exhibits were displayed at the Junior High hobby show in the high school gymnasium last Friday afternoon, under sponsorship of the Pep Club, the show was all but stolen by the Dippel cousins of Darwin and Gary.

No names were attached to a very large majority of the exhibits, so the judges had no way to tell whose collection they were viewing, in most instances. Not until they were supplied with a key to the number listings did they know that the winners' names were as follows:

Top prize of $2.00 went to an impressive collection of unusual rocks and mineral formations which Darwin Dippel has been assembling over a considerable period of time. Second money of $1.50 was earned by a coin collection that Darwin and Gary have shared interest in. And the $1.00 third prize went to a most unusual and extensive button collection that Marjorie Johnson has been working on since she was only five years old.

Entries included collections of various natures and a wide range of handicraft articles. A lengthy comparing of notes was required before a decision on placings was finally reached by the judges: Mrs. J. Heber Miller, Mrs. Ceabern Squires, Rev. O. M. Severseike and Pat Gallagher.

Students of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, plus a number of their parents, witnessed an entertaining program after they had had opportunity to look over the exhibits. Alice Koppernagel first introduced the Pep Club officers, who announced the program numbers.

Vice President Mary Jo Benson presented Marlys Howell and Carolyn Classick in a piano duet; Sandra Kamm, who tap danced; and a piano solo by Eloise Johnson. New Junior High cheer leaders were introduced by Club Treasurer Sandra Didio. They are Anita Downs and Geraldine Jenison, eighth grade, and Mary Jo Benson and Maryellen Johnson, seventh graders. They join Ardith Johnson and Nellie McGrath, carried over from last year.

Mary Jo continued the program, presenting Eloise Johnson in a piano solo, Sandra Kamm in a ballet dance, and Marjorie Johnson in another piano selection. The judges were then introduced by Club President Ardith Johnson and Pat Gallagher announced the names of the winning exhibitors. After Carmen McLaughlin, club secretary, had expressed the Pep Club's thanks and presented a small gift to each of the judges, the affair closed with serving of refreshments consisting of cakes and punch.

Following are the names of show entrants who failed to place, but whose exhibits nevertheless won the judges' praise for their originality and the individual initiative they demonstrated:

"Rambling Ram" Truck Will Visit at Clarion For Sheepmen's Benefit

Wright county flock owners will have a chance to select a purebred mutton-type ram at a considerable saving of time and effort when a "Rambling Ram" truck pulls into Clarion this Saturday, says County Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman.

With high-quality rams being trucked into the vicinity, a farmer can save himself miles of travel trying to locate a good ram, he points out. About 30 rams, all approved by a committee who knows good rams, will be on display at the Hormel stock yards between the hours of 8:30 and 11:00 a. m.

All the rams will be registered and each sale will include the transfer papers to the purchaser. Sale will be by private treaty.

Purpose of the Rambling Ram truck is to help sheepmen in this area improve the quality of lambs and wool produced without having to drive long distances at considerable expense in order to locate desirable bucks.

The truck is being sponsored by the Iowa State Sheep association, Wright County Sheep and Wool Growers' association and the Iowa State College Extension Service.

Stover and Goss Present Contrast In Black and White of Farm Ideals

In our mail last week an interesting study in contrasts was provided by a forceful, carefully deliberated "Action Program for Defense" appearing in the current issue of the National Grange Monthly—and a hysterical outburst by president of the Iowa Farmers Union, Fred Stover of Hampton, directed at Senator Styles Bridges.

We feel no comment is necessary to emphasize the inspirational sources of the two lines of thought. Herewith we give you an excerpt from a publicity release on the program suggested by Albert S. Goss, Master of the National Grange.

• • • •

"Make no mistake," Goss declares, "we are at war on the military front, the economic front and the spiritual front, and we must be prepared on all three."

Goss outlines an eight-point program for sound national defense.

"1. We must rebuild our military might to repel future attacks.

"2. We must develop a sound tax system. There must be no war profiteering.

"3. We must finance war's cost as far as possible from current taxes requiring an austerity program both personal and governmental.

"4. We must allocate critical materials, by compulsion if voluntary means fail.

"5. We must attack inflation at its source through relation of supply of money to goods.

"6. We must have rationing when supply of any goods becomes short.

"7. We must control prices, supplemented by rationing if rationing alone fails to prevent profiteering.

"8. We must, if necessary to prevent inflation, control wages, prices and profits together, across the board."

"Let us not abandon our belief in democracy either under stress of war or in the formulation of peace policies. Let us rather strengthen it and develop practical ways of making full use of it so that we can combine the guidance of the representatives of the people with the quick decisiveness of the Executive on detailed operations so frequently necessary."

• • • •

Then take a look at the Red-dyed poppycock wired by Stover to the New Hampshire senator, challenging Mr. Bridges to appear at the Iowa Farmers Union convention this week to repeat remarks made in congress to the effect that the organization has been taken over by Communists:

"Your smear attack against the Farmers Union is in line with the Big Business plot to squeeze 3,800,000 family farmers from agriculture so their farms can be taken over and operated by large scale and corporation farming interests.

"It is intended to frighten farmers away from the only farm organization which is organizing and leading farmers in their vital fight for survival.

"In smearing the Farmers Union in your argument to have the Congress of the U. S. enact a police state thought-control law, it became evident that a farm organization like ours has no place in a police-state country which you would create. Your main aim is to gag farmers so they won't be able to protest when the big monopolies ruthlessly proceed with their belt-tightening operations."

So long as agriculture has influential spokesmen of the stature of Mr. Goss, the nation need have no fear that its farmers will continue to be a dynamic and constructive element of our American economy. But woe betide the day that the Fred Stovers of our land earn anything more than the contempt and derision of a vast majority of the farm society they would claim to serve.

Time Element Throws Time Magazine In Criticism of Korean Effort

One hazard a weekly news magazine such as Time has to face, which a periodical of strictly local circulation can forget about, is the risk of having an editorial statement outdated between time of writing and time of distribution. In these days of rapidly changing circumstances, it is remarkable that Time doesn't stub its toe more often than it does. Particularly is that true in view of Time's tendency to editorialize in its reporting.

Red in the face must be Time's "National Affairs" editor who composed the lead-off article in the issue of last week—dated Sept. 18, but nationally distributed on Sept. 14 and 15. In it Time stated, "At the rate the (U. S.) manpower buildup (in Korea) was going last week, a counter-offensive seemed no nearer than it had when the beachhead was first establishd."

Usually omniscient Time was apparently kept as completely in the dark as was Belmond's Main Street concerning the fact that approximately 40,000 Yankees, transported and supplied by an armada of more than 250 ships, would be establishing that counter-offensive at the very moment Time was criticizing its delay.

After all the fun Time had in the the same issue over President Truman's foot-in-mouth outburst regarding the Marine Corps, it will be interesting to see how the newsmagazine extracts the pedal extremity from its own oral cavity. Alert as its letters-to-the-editor fans customarily are, we predict Time will have small opportunity to ignore its awkward mouthful.

Editorial on Postal Deficit Brought Loud Reverberations

One of the things that keeps the newspaper business from becoming dull is the fact that you never know when you're going to stir up a bees' nest. Last week we did it with the editorial commenting on the deficit annually created by the Post Office Department.

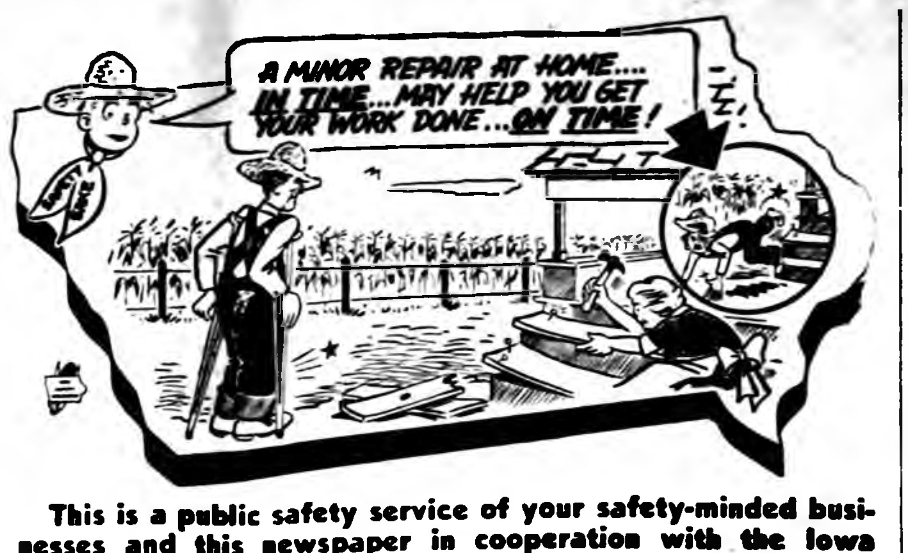
We were promptly taken to task by Postmaster Cleon Brady, primarly on two counts. First, he mistakenly read into the editorial a criticism of the manner in which he local post office is operated. In that regard, we'll simply state flatly that no such criticism was intended, to any degree whatsoever. Within the limits set by postal regulations, we're confident that the Belmond post office is run as capably as most—and probably more efficiently than many.

Secondly, we were accused of delibleraely withholding the fact that about 40 per cent of the deficit that existed at the end of the latest fiscal year can be attributed to losses incurred from carrying second class mail, chiefly newspapers and magazines.

We readily acknowledge that this figures into the picture. Our conception of this mailing privilege extended to publishers is, however, that it represents a subsidy to readers of their publications as much or more so than to the newspapers and magazines themselves. The intent, according to our interpretation, is to afford the widest possible dissemination of informational and educational matter. We don't say that the law—as it stands—couldn't bear study and modification. It has been frankly suggested by some publishers that phases of the law are outmoded and should be up-dated to fit the changing times and produce more postal revenue.

Especially in these days when heavy expenditures for military purposes are obligatory, ALL government agencies and departments need to examine their operations with a view to effecting all feasible economies.

Goodness knows, the post office department is not the only offender—nor is it the worst. But it is one of the relatively few having an independent avenue of income, and therefore—at least theoretically—in a position to be self-sufficient. It would require a joint effort on the part of the department AND congress to make it so. We still think that a determined effort in that direction would be very much to the point.



A MINOR REPAIR AT HOME.... IN TIME...MAY HELP YOU GET YOUR WORK DONE...ON TIME!

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

You work for a living. And whether you have a corn crop to harvest, merchandise to sell or a house to clean, that work must be done on time if you and your family are to profit by it.

But your work cannot be done on time if you are injured in a home accident. And it can happen. A broken step, a frayed light cord, a loose rug on a slippery floor any one of a thousand small things that are part of home living can cause that work-time wasting accident.

And if there is anything we need now, both as individuals and as a nation, it's time—production time.

To avoid accident, to help you get your work done on time, make minor home repairs in time — make them now.

THE LITTLE STREETS

Accidents will happen, but still many, many of them shouldn't
With just a little thought and care 'tis certain that they wouldn't.
The streets are made for traffic, but what morotist can say
He doesn't know the little streets are where the children play?
'Tis hard to teach each tiny tot who has no ground to play on
That when his ball rolls in the street, the curbing he must stay on.
And yet, it harder seems to be to teach some drivers wild
That they must watch the little streets or they may kill a child.
Sometimes the youngsters are to blame, they're thoughtless and dareful;
But it's a grownup's duty while he's driving to be careful.
And every driver of a car unto himself should say:
"The little residential streets are where the children play!"
I've little patience with the man who down some road goes humming,
And leaves it to the children to know just how fast he's coming.
I think the task of watchfulness the grown-ups ought to bear,
And when they drive the little streets, look out for children there.

Dear Sir:

I am writing you concerning the front page article about Robert Maxheimer's automobile accident, which you wrote approximately two weeks ago. My family feels that you were very misinformed. . . .

Apparently your informer knew nothing of the case when he reported Bob had a "fractured ankle (from a) former mishap." The case actually was nothing more than a common "gym wart", large and deep, which, after no response to burning treatments was cut out. His doctor . . . . prescribed crutches and keeping off the wound to facilitate healing . . . the so-called cast was a white wool sock over a small packing and bandages . .

As far as this accident is concerned, if you saw a 1948-49 Ford pick-up heading for you, wouldn't you slam on your brakes? . . . Unfortunately the other driver did not alter his course down the center of the road and to the wrong side, and while Bob swerved to avoid him he hit the gravel ridges the road-grader left and was hurled into the ditch . . . . The truck driver illegally left the scene of the accident without revealing himself.

The car (reported a "total loss" at $200) was overhauled last August and almost the entire front end was replaced. The value of the car was around $500, according to a local garage who sold it to him. Emotional stability varies with individuals and although this boy reflected little expression on the scene of the accident, he was most certainly shaken and felt anything but foolhardiness as your article would imply.

We feel newspapers have an obligation and code to report news as it is, and not as "someone said". Your editing has carried some worthwhile and fine stories, but in this case, we feel that on the whole, a base injustice was done to an innocent motorist.

Respectfully,
Paul Maxheimer

by "Pat" Gallagher

Recently your reporter fell into discussion with Jim Kleen, veterans' on-the-farm training instructor, regarding the relatively little known GI benefit that provides him with his job. To give the public a better understanding of what this training is intended to accomplish, we suggested that he trace for us the activities and studies of one of his 25 GI trainees. He suggested Richard Eckhoff might be considered a more-or-less typical class member, so we're putting him under inspection.

—RFD—

Richard is expected to receive an average of eight and a third hours of on-the-farm instruction each month, under Jim's guidance, and 16 and two-thirds hours of classroom instruction. Jim aims to spend about two hours a week on the farm Eckhoff is renting southeast of Belmond.

Richard, who was swine manager at Tyrrell stock farm for three years, now has 115 acres which he farms for himself. His present stock includes 62 head of spring pigs, five fall sows, four or five dairy cows and a couple of calves. He also has a flock of laying hens and a number of pullets.

Instruction got under way on July 5 when the trainees met for a session on corn borer control. A week later Jim called at Richard's farm and inspected his livestock and the two discussed stock management and prospects for the animals in the feed lots. That same evening the class met at the high school for a general discussion of farm practices and a rather detailed consideration of farm record books and their importance.

—RFD—

On July 13 the entire class attended the crop field day at the Kanawha experiment station. On the 19th Richard and his classmates received instruction in swine judging and saw a film on the uses of DDT and 2-4-D. On the 20th Jim and Richard were joined by three other class members — John Diekhuis, LeRoy Christie and Harvey Pals—at the Junior Barkema farm, where the whole group turned to and assembled a new combine that Junior had just purchased. A general class session on the next evening capitalized on the smaller group's experience and dwelt upon the intricacies of combine operation and adjustment. They topped off the session by judging several groups of swine through the medium of pictures.

On July 26 Richard joined with the class in a study of basic considerations in livestock feeding. During Jim's next session with Richard, individually, the latter was given a workout on actual operation and adjustment of a combine, with the machine used by the GI and his father George Eckhoff—serving as the "textbook".

—RFD—

With the crucial days of the hog-feeding season at hand, the class began concentrating on the finer points of hog-raising as August got under way. On Aug. 2 the whole group devoted a night to "Feed nutrients in livestock rations. Jim and Richard, on Aug. 8, made comparisons of various feeds and swine rations. Jim adds that Eckhoff does a fine job of feeding and keeps very good records. He also—as he should — keeps a close watch on the adequacy of his hogs' water supply. The next evening Richard joined with the class in the study of balancing rations and use of feeding standards.

Class session on the 16th was devoted specifically to balancing rations for swine and dairy cattle and on the 23rd, the value of various feeds was examined from the standpoint of economy. The next day, at Richard's farm, he and Jim went into the value of APF (animal protein factor) in swine rations and the virtues of sodium fluoride and phenothiazine as de-worming agents. Richard did not need to be sold on the value of APF supplements as a "booster" and was already successfully using phenothiazine. Jim suggested to him, however, that he might consider substituting sodium fluoride because of its versatility as a vermicide.

—RFD—

Aug. 25 saw Eckhoff, Christie, Diekhuis, Pals and Barkema assembled at LeRoy Christie's farm for a practical demonstration of castrating pigs—and of taking soil samples. A class session on the 28th found GI trainees figuring livestock rations, with careful attention to both balance and economy; and on Aug. 30th, the group heard a talk by Dr. H. J. Classick on "Swine Nutrition and Diseases." On the 31st Richard had Jim to himself for a two-hour general discussion of protein feeds for swine.

On Sept. 9, Richard and Jim—assisted by Stewart Eckhoff, Johnniei Diekhuis and Lyle Barkema—went to work grading the lane leading up to Richard's farm yard and filling some low spots in the feed lots. A manure loader was used to load dump wagons and a grader was borrowed for the project. Sept. 13, Richard and three of his classmates — Clem Diesburg, Junior Barkema and Johnny Diekhuis— went to the Rammer Goeman farm, where they judged three groups of hybrid market hogs; and to Lyle Barkema's, where they judged the best boar and gilt in Lyle's Duroc herd. Training in the selection of breeding gilts and market barrows was the purpose of this foray.

—RFD—

Richard Eckhoff, Russell Reed of Clarion, Clem Diesburg and Johnnie Diekhuis on Sept. 13 went to the Austin, Minn., barrow show as a team to enter the GI Trainee division of the judging competition. At present writing they have not yet learned how they fared.

The above activities and studies will give you a pretty good idea how much knowledge these GI trainees will have an opportunity to pack away in the course of their studies. Besides animal husbandry, they will be well grounded in farm crops and soils, farm mechanics and farm management. Though not mentional above, almost all of their class sessions make use of visual aids in the form of slides or moving picture films.

It's our guess that by the end of their training they'll have decided that the time they "lost" in service was not lost, at tha; since each is eligible for on-the-farm and class instruction for a full year, plus a length of time equal to that spent in the armed forces.

Rev. Tolo of Dows County Chairman For Iowa Lutheran Welfare Society

The Fort Dodge branch of the Lutheran Welfare Society of Iowa announces the appointment of the Rev. Arthur Tolo of Dows as county chairman of Wright county.

As county chairman, the Mr. Tolo will give information to others in the county concerning the services and needs of the society, as well as give assistance in publicity work and the distribution of materials during the society's annual fund campaign.

The Lutheran Welfare Society of Iowa is a licensed child placeing agency which served 641 children in 1949 by finding suitable homes for them and helping them with various problems. Also, the society gives casework services to the unmarried mother, assisting her in making plans for herself and her child.

Through the efforts of the Society in 1949, 131 displaced families from Europe were resettled in Iowa and many war orphans were placed with Iowa families. The society is supported by Iowa Lutheran churches of the National Lutheran Council. There are 83 churches within the Fort Dodge branch, which is one of seven in the state.

June Hauge, newly appointed director for the Fort Dodge branch, says that since the Lutheran Welfare Society takes care of needful children in the private home, and only uses institutional care when necessary, more boarding homes are always being sought to meet the needs of new children who come under the care of the society each day.

The society tries to find homes for needful children where these children will be able to live happily and grow both physically and emotionally as normally as possible, until they can be reunited with their own families. Boarding money is paid to the foster parents for the care of these children. Further information concerning the work and services of the society can be secured from the Rev. Mr. Tolo.

Thank You . . .

No one can be in business for almost 30 years without making friends, loyal friends who have been responsible for the existence of the business firm.

Just a "Thank You" may seem little enough in expressing my appreciation to my customers during the past years for their business and loyalty. Nevertheless, my "Thank You" is sincere and comes straight from my heart.

I am happy to recommend my successor, Daryl Leeth, to you folks as a man who is experienced in auto electric repair.. He has the "Know How" and equipment to take care of any trouble you may have in this line.. If you haven't. already met Daryl, I know he'll be pleased to have you stop in.

THE ROAD THAT LEADS NOWHERE

The road pictured below bears the time-worn marks of many travellers. Apparently it leads to some distant village or serves perhaps as a link between more vital thoroughfares.

But in reality this road does neither. Once, no doubt, it had a destination, but today it fades away into the woods a few miles beyond—a "dead end."

How many lives are like this road? They have promising beginnings, but instead of continuing to worthwhile goals, they wander aimlessly to final dead ends.

The Church teaches us to build useful lives and guides us toward noble achievements and ambitions. Regular attendance at church services gives greater assurance that our pathway of life will not lead us astray. On the contrary, it leads straight to the house of the peaceful mind and the contented heart.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hickenlooper, Lester Gillette Will Visit County Monday

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Crabtree were more than a little startled recently to learn through a national radio news broadcast that their son George is back in the U. S. Air Force and now stationed in Korea.

Previously they had thought he was still at his home in California, although they had been somewhat perplexed by a lengthier than usual absence of word from him.

The Crabtrees were paying a visit at Steele Memorial hospital and had paused outside to hear the news on their radio when they suddenly heard their son being quoted by the commentator.

"We've got them on the run now," Sergeant Crabtree was reported to have told the newscaster, who was speaking from the battle area.

When the Crabtrees had last heard from George he'd told them that, as a reservist, he anticipated he might be recalled to duty soon; but the newscast gave them their first knowledge that his call had come and that he was already overseas. Sergeant Crabtree was a cook in the air force during World War II.

Before the Orphie Andersons and Merle Bontes left on a Minnesota fishing trip last Tuesday, a couple of roast chickens, a jug of hot coffee and other viands were prepared for a stop-over lunch.

When the party reached Albert Lea, Minn., a blanket was spread on the ground and Orphie returned to the car for the "vittles".

First came a pained cry, "Didn't anybody pack the thermos?" . . . then a howl of genuine anguish, "Where's the lunch basket?"

The familiar recriminations were passed back and forth: "I thought you, etc., etc." . . . "For goodness sakes, I thought YOU, etc., etc.,"

WE MISS HIS CROONING

No off-key warbling ricocheted from the walls of the Independent's back shop as this week's press runs were in progress. We're accustomed to hearing "Irene" or some familiar ditty massacred from the start of each run into its finish. It used to grate on the ears a wee bit; but we'd give a lot if the old ear drums were still getting their customary pummeling.

The absence of song keeps reminding us that our boy Bob Foss has gone back into the Marines. He reported for his physical at Des Moines on Monday and presumably is on his way to Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif. We all got mighty attached to Bob in the 17 months he was the shop's man-of-all-work. Frankly, we miss him—very much.

We were pretty put out with Joe Stalin before Bob's departure. Now we're madder'n blazes. We just hope that Corporal Bob causes him trouble, good and plenty!

Just what there was last weekend to cause a resurrection among Easter lily plants in this vicinity it's difficult to say—but we've gotten two reports of lilies suddenly bursting into bloom. These strange phenomena occurred prior to Saturday's night's deep freeze act, we presume. On Monday, a window in Downs Texaco station was festooned with a lily plucked from the garden of Mrs. Bill Jenkins; and Mrs. Henrietta Wilkins of Meservey detected two of the traditional Easter blooms in her flower bed, defying Jack Frost.

JOIN DRAKE SORORITIES

Two Belmond girls have been pledged to national social sororities that are prominent on the campus of Drake university, where the two are enrolled. During fall "Rush Week" activities, Janis Bailey was pledged by Delta Gamma sorority and Marion Tyrrell by Delta Zeta. Miss Bailey is a sophomore student and Miss Tyrrell a junior.

Young Democrats To Hear Nominee For Governorship

Lester S. Gillette, Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa, will be the featured speaker at a reorganiaztion meeting of Young Democrats of Wright county, scheduled for next Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the district courtroom at Clarion.

There has been no active organization of Young Democrats in this county since the early 'thirties. A group of young party members banded together prior to the first Roosevelt administration and was active for a year or so thereafter.

Plans for the meeting were laid by Rodney Urdahl, a district committeeman in the state Young Democrats' organization and the party's candidate for state senator from the 37th district.

He issues a cordial invitation to the general public to take advantage of the opportunity to hear Mr. Gillette and particularly urges young voters registered as Democrats to participate in revival of the Young Democrats as a political force in Wright county.

Mr. Gillette, it will be recalled, was chairman of the 8th District board of the Farm Credit Administration up to the time he threw his hat in the ring prior to last June's primary.

He has held a wide range of public offices, including that of state senator. In winning the latter post in 1936, he gained the distinction of being the only Democrat ever elected to the state senate from the old 47th district, comprised of Clay, Dickinson, Emmet, Kossuth and Palo Alto counties.

A graduate of Iowa State college with a B. S. degree in agriculture and a graduate of Missouri university with an M. S., Mr. Gillette was on the ISC faculty from 1914-19.

Until recently, Mr. Thompson was manager of the L. and G. Implement company. Prior to his appointment in that capacity he was a partner with the late Wayne Wesenberg in the Farmers Implement company and manager of the implement store.

Next Inductees, Oct. 5th, Going to Fort Knox, Ky.

Another induction call has been received by the Wright county local selective service board, to provide eight men for the U. S. Army on Oct. 25. Elaine Schmidt, secretary of the board, says the list has not yet been drawn.

Notification has been received by state Selective Service headquarters to the effect that inductees from this state, who have not seen previously seen military service, will no longer report to the 10th Infantry Division at Fort Riley, Kans.

Starting with the next draft of men, the selectees will b esent to the 3rd Armored Divison, stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Who? What? When? Where? Why? These are the questions which should be answered in the first paragraph of a news story. If a news item follows this simple rule, the question so often asked, "Why was my story all changed?" will be unnecessary.

There are reasons for this rule, which is observed by all news writers. It permits cutting the length of a story without re-writing. An editor tries to pack as much news in his paper as he can get, written in clear, readable style, and arranged to give the paper a varied and attractive appearance.

Writing, editing, setting type, putting the type in the page forms, printing, addressing and delivering takes time, and an early start is necessary to meet the weekly "deadline". A poorly written story, arriving late, requires a "re-write", and sometimes there is insufficient time for that and the story is not used.

The editor is a specialist who understands what interests people. He welcomes news and does his best to present it in accurate, readable and interesting form.

BHS Band Performance Will Provide Halftime Entertainment at Game

After being rained out of its halftime performance at the year's first home football game two weeks ago, Belmond High's 62-piece marching mand has big plans for intermission time during Friday's contest with Northwood.

Director Duane Cunning plans for his proteges to salute various school organizations with appropriate formations. The F. F. A. will be recognized with playing of the "Iowa Corn Song" and forming of a stalk of corn.

Then the F. H. A. symbol will be outlined, the science and mathematics department will be represented with a geometric design and the Pep Club will receive a bow in the form of a "living megaphone".

A drill by the baton experts is also on the program, featuring Drum Majorette Mavis Pierce and Twirlers Betty Clare Henderson, Barbara Mariga, Barbara Bohning, Dixie Carstens and Susan Halfpap.

BOBBY GRIGGS' BAND ENGAGED BY FIREMEN

One of the most popular orchestras in this area, Bobby Griggs and his band, will provide music for the annual Firemen's Ball on Oct. 12 at the Veterans' Memorial hall.

All members of Belmond's volunteer fire department are equipped with tickets to the big event and will happily fill any and all requests for ducats.

Since all fire company personnel are unpaid, the annual ball is their only source of funds for periodic department entertainment and for replacing or cleaning clothes that are damaged as the "smoke-eaters" go about their important fire-fighting duties.

ON THE MOVE

October first will see four families changing homes. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benson will stay at her mother's home until their new home is completed. The Russell Porter family will move into the former home of Bensons'. The Royal Whitman family will move to the house vacated by the Porters and the. Paul Quigley family will again occupy their own home, rented over the summer by the Whitmans.

Beuttler to Fly Here Friday for Hospital Confab

Word has been received by Gene Woolley, hospital committee chairman, that Architect William Beauttler of Sioux City will fly to Belmond on Friday to confer on hospital plans at 1:00 p. m.

Members of the hospital planning committee are invited to meet with Mr. Beuttler and the recently elected hospital trustees—Jack Shepard, R. W. Courson and Eva Hansen—at the office of Laurence Murray.

Mr. Beuttler will submit some modifications he was requested to make in original preliminary plans in order to keep the cost of the proposed hospital within limits of the budget.

Mr. Woolley is hopeful that the Friday meeting will clear the way for drafting of final plans for the structure so that letting of bids may be possible before the end of the year.

Letters are being mailed by the finance committee to all persons who pledged donations to the hospital, urging prompt payment of the amounts promised. Future rapid progress towards actual construction of the hospital will hinge directly upon quick response to these letters.

WW II Memories Fly Fast as Five Pals Meet Again

Reminiscences flew thick and fast as five buddies of the Army 37th Engineers last week talked over World War II experiences in the home of Carroll Bamford and other members of the quintet.

John Hekel of Denver, Colo., touched off the fuse when he and his wife came for a visit in the Bamford home. On Monday and Tuesday the Hekels and Bamfords drove to Willmar, Minn., where the two men "chewed the fat" with George Lindner, another ex-engineer of their outfit.

Ray Hitchens of Independence, party of the fourth part, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Bamford home; and Ray Wright spent considerable time with the group and helped entertain the visitors.

All the men, except Lindner, shared the same tent while training for the engineers at Camp Bowie, Tex. The five of them soon afterward found themselves in Scotland awaiting the African invasion.

Wright parted company with the others after about a year and a half, but the other four fought the entire war together, from Africa and Sicily clear through to the fall of Germany.

Climax of the reunion was reached in a long distance call late one night to their former "C. O", Capt. John D. Mason of Pittsburg, Pa., during which the three-minute limit got small consideration.

Gunderson Will Observe Market's 1st Anniversary

Larry Gunderson is planning a celebration of the first anniversary of Gunderson's Market this Saturday with a special sale boasting a number of features.

Besides offering some fine "buys", Gundersons will have several alarm clocks stationed about the store, each signalling a free gift for the person standing nearest it when it rings. Larry promises to keep them ringing with generous frequency.

There will be free frosticks for the youngsters and a $15.00 doll will be awarded to some lucky registrant. No purchase will be necessary in order to register.

SECOND POLIO CASE

Little Timothy Sheriff, 9½-month-old son of the Donald Sheriffs of Goodell, Tuesday was taken to Blank hospital at Des Moines as a polio patient. His sister Linda had come down with the disease on Saturday. Both cases were reportedly mild.

VETS INSTALL "TV"

A coin-operated television set has been installed at the Veterans' Memorial building and will be available to the public. With top-flight football games being televized this fall, such as the Notre Dame tilt this coming Saturday, it is anticipated that the set will attract a good deal of attention on Saturday afternoons. In addition, WOI-TV at Ames is now carrying many of the best chain television programs and these can be viewed on the set at a small cost.

FFA to Initiate Eight Wednesday

Eight "Greenhands" will be initiated into the Belmond High school chapter of Future Farmers of America at a formal candle-light ceremony at 8:00 p. m. next Wednesday in the high school gymnasium. Their addition to the organization will bring its active membership to 28.

Twelve present Future Farmers will be elevated to the Chapter Farmer degree during the same program, and several honorary members will be inducted into the FFA, according to Adviser Duane Sandage.

Special speaker for the occasion will be Jim Gatchel, Garner farmer, who in 1945 headed the Iowa organization of Future Farmers of America and the year following was recipient of the American Farmer degree — the highest honor paid by the FFA. Mr. Gatchel is a good friend of Mr. Sandage and the latter guarantees some interesting and worthwhile remarks from the Garner guest.

Those to be initiated next week as "Greenhands" are: Richard Christensen, Kenneth Halfpap, Kenneth Loats, Larry Mennenga, Herbert Pals, Wayne Pastour, Jack Spitler and Merlin Stockseth.

Seven Brought to Clinic Sunday After Collision

Seven persons were hurt about 5:00 p. m. Sunday as two cars collided about three miles east of Meservey at an intersection where tall corn obscured the drivers' vision. All the injured were brought to Steele Memorial clinic for first aid, but only one had to be hospitalized.

Mrs. Cora McCormick of Eagle Grove suffered several severe lacerations about the head and was held for observation. X-rays revealed no fracture and examination later showed she had not sustained a brain concussion, as first feared.

She was riding with her son-in-law, Merle Gearhart, also of Eagle Grove. Mrs. Gearhart and two children, Marsha and Kent, were also in the car. None suffered any injury more serious than abrasions.

Martin Korsjens of Klemme, driver of the second car, and his wife also were treated for abrasions and then released.

BAZAAR NEXT WEEK

Next Wednesday evening at the Veterans' Memorial hall, members of the Rosary Society of St. Francis church will hold a chicken supper and bazaar. Serving will start at 5:30 p. m.

Senator to Join Belmond Gridiron Club in Evening

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, back in Iowa for a respite from congressional duties—and to renew acquaintanceship with constituents—will spend next Monday in Wright county, according to County Republican Chairman M. B. Crabb of Eagle Grove.

G. O. P. party workers will undoubtedly regard as the climax of the senator's day a dinner for Republican faithfuls at 6:00 p. m. at the Clarion Grill. In retrospect, Mr. Hickenlooper may consider as the day's highlight his initiation "pro tem" into the Belmond Gridiron club which is scheduled to take place at Clarmond Country club.

The senator plans to arrive in Eagle Grove sometime during the morning and will spend the balance of the day, up to the evening dinner hour, greeting voters in various communities of the county. Besides making the rounds in Eagle Grove and Clarion, he hopes to make brief stops at Holmes, Goldfield and possibly Dows.

Members of the Republican county committee and any others interested in the affairs of the party are cordially invited to attend the dinner at Clarion. Tickets must be bought in advance, so sufficient reservations can be made. In Belmond they may be obtained from either Clark McNeal or George Hansen.

Mr. Hickenlooper, who is running for his second term in the U. S. senate, plans to reach the weekly meeting of the Gridiron club while the annual initiation is in progress.

While Mac Jensen, as chairman of the committee drafting initiation requirements, has not confirmed it, there is a rumor afoot that the distinguished guest will be asked to present a five-minute speech on the subject, "That's What I Like About the Democrats".

Student Patrols Go on Duty Soon

Through the cooperation of the city and school officials and Belmond Boy Scouts, student patrols will soon be established to control student and auto traffic in the vicinity of the school before and after class hours.

According to Mayor A. W. Loats, the stop signs on Third street NE at Sixth avenue will be taken down, and vehicle traffic on Third will be required to stop thereafter only upon order of the student patrolmen.

Supt. Don Faris says that young patrolmen will be stationed at the corners of Third street at Fifth and Sixth avenues and on Fifth street at Sixth avenue. Another will oversee the heavy cross-street traffic between the school and Kinseth's grocery, created by the popsicle and candy bar trade.

Mr. Faris adds that regular Sam Brown belts for school patrols can be obtained without charge from the Motor Club of Iowa.

Scout Leader Glenn Martin has agreed to create from regular stop signs enough pairs of portable signs, with standards, that mid-street signs will be available for all patrolled areas. He is also taking responsibility for drafting the required patrol personnel from among his junior high school Scouts.

FARIS READS CRYSTAL BALL
Sees School Growth Continuing

Looking in his crystal ball for probable enrollment figures a year from now, Supt. Don Faris has determined that the Belmond public school will have a student body of 707. This would represent an increase of 40 over the present enrollment—and represent an increase of 98 over a two-year period.

Most of this increase will represent growth in the high school student body. Indications are that BHS will boast 218 students next fall, an increase of 33 over the year 1950-51. As near as he can forsee now, Mr. Faris puts the grade school increase at only seven pupils, bringing the total to 489.

Non-resident students have contributed heavily to the steady growth of Belmond's enrollment. Of 482 grade pupils, 134—or nearly 28 per cent—are tuition students living outside the limits of the independent school district. In high school the non-resident pupils total 79 out of 185, or almost 43 per cent.

While boys in the present high school student body can afford to be rather selective in their dating, since they're outnumbered by girls 104 to 81, this state of affairs is due to change radically before many years pass.

Prospects of being in a superior bargaining positions are bright for the young ladies in the grades. They are only 213 in number, whereas there are 269 potential swains.

Jo Ann Slining and Mary Lou Baker, who represented the Belmond Busy Bees and Wright county at the girls 4-H demonstration contest at the recent North Iowa Fair, last weekend were named as top team in the competition.

This distinction will bring them a trip to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago late in November, with all expenses paid by radio station KGLO of Mason City.

Twelve teams were entered at the fair and seven of them won blue ribbons with their demonstrations. Mrs. E. H. Strait and Mrs. Art Homervald—co-leaders of the Busy Bees — were highly gratified at their team's success, in view of the keen competition.

Both girls have been very active in 4-H work. Jo Ann is newly elected club president. She was selected to attend 4-H district camp at Clear Lake last summer and has sung in the county girls' chorus the past year.

Mary Lou is retiring president of the Busy Bees and now serves as reporter. She was a delegate to the girls' state convention last summer and sang in the convention chorus.

She was a vocal soloist at the installation of state officers. She has been prominent in the county chorus the past two years. Also, she was voted her clubs "outstanding girl" this year and was Fune Nite Queen candidate.

Colby 'Spent' Billions Buying Tanks for Uncle Sam in WWII

The Independent has obtained some highly interesting biographical data regarding Col. Joseph M. Colby, probably the most important military figure ever to visit this community.

Although the information reached our hands too late for its release to coincide with Colonel Colby's recent visit here with his brother, H. E. "Hub" Colby, we feel it warrants publication—even if a bit belatedly.

Colonel Colby was born and reared at nearby Lake Mills, attended both the University of Iowa and Virginia Military Institute, and in 1929 graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

After brief service with the cavalry, he was transferred to the ordinance department and was sent to Massachusetts Institute of Technology. There he received his Master's Degree in 1935.

Since 1932 Colonel Colby's primary interest has been centered on ordinance tank-automotive equipment, including design, development, proof tests, supply and maintenance.

Perhaps the climax of his career to date might be considereder the lengthy period during World War II that he was responsible for the spending of approximately $400,000,000 in behalf of Uncle Sam EVERY MONTH as director of tank procurement.

Prior to this job, back in 1940, he was in charge of designing the medium tank, Mark III, and was responsible for the design of the Mark IV in the spring of 1941.

In May of '41 he went to Egypt as a military observer, followed by a stint as Assistant Defense Aid Representative handling the ordinance end of lend-lease equipment to the Middle East and making a preliminary survey for lend-lease installations in India, Iraq, Iran and Egypt.

COL. J. M. COLBY
In Korea Viewing Tank Tactics

December 1941 found him serving as ordinance officer with the U. S. North African Military Mission. One of his jobs in this connection was a six-week industrial survey of the Union of South Africa. It was upon his return from Africa that he was placed in charge of tank procurement, a responsibility he carried through V-J Day. After the war's end he directed termination of wartime contracts and disposition of inventories and machine tools.

As Chief of the Development and Engineering Department at the Detroit Arsenal, the former Iowan has been the guiding spirit behind planning, development and production engineering on all Army tanks and their components.

Just what will grow out of his conference last week with Gen. Douglas Mac Arthur and his ensuing study of U. S. tank performances on the Korean battlefront remains to be seen. But if Uncle Sam pops up at some later date with a clanking behemoth that puts a crimp in the Russian 30-ton T-34s, you can count on it that Colonel Colby will have had a big hand in its creation.

Improving Old Pastures Will Help Stockmen Add To Their Feed Supplies

Stockmen can start now to increase feed for their livestock by improving old pastures. The first step is to open up the gates to the old pasture and graze it down to the ground.

Short grazing, while usually ruled out, is recommended in this case. It offers farmers a chance to utilize all available pasture, explains Ralph Krenzin, extension agronomist at Iowa State college.

Besides, short grazing weakens the sod so it's possible to prepare a good seedbed when the time comes to work the soil.

Farmers who took soil samples and had them tested are in a position to order their lime now so it will be ready to apply just before the sod is worked up this fall. This gives the lime a chance to start reacting with the acid condition in the soil right away.

The best time to work up these old pastures is just before the ground freezes, Krenzin says. Where there's a heavy sod he recommends shallow plowing on the contour.

A disk just won't tear up the sod enough except on steep areas where the sod and topsoil are thin. There a heavy disk or field cultivator will do the job.

Farmers who plow will want to keep several things in mind. Besides plowing as shallow as possible and on the contour, it's wise to do the work late in the fall and leave the ground rough. These are all precautions against soil erosion which may cause trouble, unless steps are taken to prevent it.

Krenzin also reminds pasture renovators that natural waterways in the pasture need to be left alone. If these are worked up, the pasture will be left wide open for gullying.

Vestweber-Ostendorf Nuptials Performed Sunday Afternoon

St. John Lutheran church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Joye Vestweber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vestweber of Alexander, to Robert Ostendorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ostendorf of Meservey, last Sunday afternoon. The bride and groom spoke their vows before the altar, which was decorated with baskets and bouquets of gladioli and lighted candelabra.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H P. Senft after a sermon on the text "For Me and My House, We Will Serve the Lord".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin princess-style gown, trimmed with a lace stand-up collar and lace gussets in the skirt, which fell into a long train. Her lace-edged fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a bride's bouquet of white camellias and red roses.

The bridesmaids, who also acted as candlelighters, were Mrs. Calvin Schulte of Alexander, and Mrs. Delwyn Stomer of Garner, a sister of the groom. They wore identical orchid gowns with matching headbands and carried bouquets of pink gladioli .

The best man was Arnett Ostendorf of Goodell, a brother of the groom. The groom's attendants, who also acted as ushers, were Carel Oxley of Kanawha, and Gene Ostendorf of Thornton, a brother of the groom.

The flower girls were two cousins of the bride, Carol Hoffman of Humboldt and Laurie Baker. They wore identical gowns of lime-green organdy trimmed in white lace with matching headbands.

The ringbearer, Jimmy Erickson of Kanawha, also a cousin of the bride, wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin, lace-trimmed pillow.

Mary Lou Baker, a cousin of the bride, as soloist sang three appropriate numbers accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Senft, who also played the wedding marches and during the ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for about 150 guests. The bride's colors of orchid and green were carried out in the decorations and a three tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, centered the bride's table.

Mrs. Arnett Ostendorf of Goodell, a sister-in-law of the groom, cut and served the wedding cake; Shirley Kuper of Hampton and Mrs Gene Ostendorf of Thornton, a sister-in-law of the groom, poured the coffee; Mrs. Robert Greenwood and Judy Baker, cousins of the bride, served the punch.

Mrs. Donald Baker of Kanawha, Mrs Merle Whipple of Mason City and Mrs. Robert Erickson of Kanawha took care of the gifts and Miss Kuper had charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Dora Fjetland was in charge of the reception, with Mrs. Walter Hoffman of Humboldt, Mrs. Clarence Vestweber of Alexander, Mrs. Bob Erickson of Kanawha and Mrs. Ralph Baker as her assistants.

After they return from a week's trip, Mr. and Mrs. Ostendorf will be at home at the farm home of the groom's parents near Meservey.

Judge Sets Aside Will of H. Gruis

In accordance with a jury decision that Herman Gruis of Meservey had been unduly influenced in drafting his last will and testament, Judge T. A. Beardsmore last Friday in Mason City district cort ordered that the will be set aside.

The long-time resident of Meservey died last April 23. He had been making his home on the family farm with a son, Ben H. Gruis, and a widowed daughter, Mrs. Kate Dirks.

Contesting the will were two other sons, Carl of Des Moines and Edward of Los Angeles, Calif., and two daughters, Mrs. Hio Goeman of Belmond and Mrs. Alma Kirk, also of Los Angeles. It was the plaintiffs' contention that undue influence was exerted over their father by the two primary beneficiaries, Ben and Mrs. Dirks.

The son and daughter at home were given title to the 200-acre Gruis farm, while each of the other children were awarded $1.00 only under terms of the will. The plaintiffs contended that Mrs. Dirks and Ben should have submitted claim against the estate for services rendered their father and the remainder then shared.

Principal substantiation of the claim that undue influence was exercised consisted of testimony regarding the manner in which the will was drawn up, which Mr. Gruis signed on March 29, 1949.

According to the plaintiffs' attorneys, the document was drawn by a Meservey banker, K. Clarence Ruigh, in accord with suggestions made by Ben and Kate and delivered directly to them. The father was bedfast at the time and Mr. Ruigh, the testimony stated, never consulted him concerning the terms of the will.

Knoll Takes Over Lead

The "Good Will" subscription campaign is fast drawing to a close. The second period ends Sept. 28 and at this time contestants receive an extra 400,000 votes for every $20 in business turned in during the period. Votes in the last period, Sept. 28 to Oct. 6, are much smaller.

The campaign will close Oct. 6 at 1 p. m. and subscriptions turned in after that time will not be credited to any contestant.

Many people are extending their subscriptions in order to assist a favorite contestant. Subscriptions may be left at the Independent office and credit will be given to the contestants designated. New subscribers who have not received their papers are asked to notify the Independent office. Should any patron receive two papers, he is asked to notify the office.

The lead this week has changed. Mrs. Lynn Knoll, of Kanawha has advanced from third to first place, with Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. Homer U. Ness (both of whom have held first placings) following closely.

Mrs. Howard Boller is also close and Mrs. Glen Eccles is another contender for prize money. Mrs. H. A. Peters and Mrs. Claude Larkin have dropped out. All contestants to be eligible for prizes are required to make two reports (or more) each week of the campaign.

School Patrols in This State Protect Over 90,000 Students

Iowa's elementary school safety patrols, last year, were responsible for protecting the lives of more than 90.000 students in 504 schools and these students made an estimated 65,000,000 crossings without a single fatality. Only five injuries were reported.

This outstanding safety record is revealed in the annual report of the Safety Department of the Motor Club of Iowa, which provides equipment for the majority of the nearly 7,000 students in these patrols.

The reports show that the Motor Club of Iowa organized 64 new patrols during the 1949-50 school year and provided a half day training period for an additional 156 schools. Belmond is among schools being added to the list this year.

Floyd L. Link, Director of Civil Activities for the Motor Club, said national figures showed that in the United States there are more than 460,000 students participating in patrol work in an estimated 4,000 schools with a total enrollment of over 9,000,000 children.

Effectiveness of the school safety patrol program is indicated by the fact that since 1922, when the first school safety patrol was organized in Davenport by the Motor Club of Iowa, the accident rate for adult pedestrians increased 91 per cent.

Since 1936, according to Mr. Link, not one single school age youngster has been killed at a school crossing where a school safety patrol officer was on duty.

Link said that teachers and other school officials, who are directly responsible for the direction and supervision of the school patrols, are to be congratulated on the excellent job they are doing. He pointed out that each year more and more schools are requesting equipment for patrols and this equipment is furnished free to schools by the Motor Club of Iowa as a civic service.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benson spent the weekend at Cedar Rapids visiting Mr. and Mrs. Don Benson.

WATCHED

ACCOMMODATING

Red Oak police are accommodating. Mrs. Norman Paul of that city was detained overnight in Atlantic, so she called the Red Oak police and asked them to take down her laundry, put it in a basket and leave it at the city hall. Patrolmen Grover Douglas and Herb Whitney complied, glad that Mrs. Paul did not also want them dampened and ironed.

ORIGINAL NOTICE

MILDRED SCHULTZ NUNN, Plaintiff,
vs.
The Unknown Claimants, and all Persons unknown claiming any right, title or interest in and to the following described real estate, to-wit: Lot Three (3), in Block One (1), Orginal Town of Belmond, Iowa; Henry L. Schultz, Executor of the Estate of John T. Schultz, Deceased; and the State of Iowa,
Defendants.

To the Above named defendants:

You are hereby notified that a petition of the above named plaintiff in the above entitled action is now on file in the office of the clerk of the above named court, claiming that the plaintiff is the absolute and unqualified owner, in fee simple, of the following described real property, to-wit:

and praying for the establishment of her estate and title against the adverse claims of the defendants, and that each and all of them, and all unknown claimants, and all persons unknown, having or claiming any right, title, or interest in or to said premises, and all persons claiming by, through, or under them, be barred and forever estopped from ever having, asserting, or claiming any right, title, or interest in or to said premises or any part thereof adverse to the plaintiff or the plaintiff's title therein, and that the plaintiff's title to the said premises be quieted, established and confirmed.

Plaintiff's petition sets out certain instruments of record which cloud the title of this plaintiff to said real estate and to the pretended claims and questions which have arisen with reference to said title and you are referred to said petition for a more particular statement thereof.

Said petition asks that all claims or liens which the State of Iowa may have or claim to the real estate involved in this action be adjudicated, and alleges that the plaintiff and her immediate grantors have been in the sole, complete, actual, open, notorious and undisputed possession of said premises for more than thirty-seven years last past under claim of right and ownership thereof adverse to the defandents.

(For further particulars see petition now filed)

County Farm Bureau Approves New Procedure on Resolutions

The county Farm Bureau resolutions committee met recently at the Farm Bureau office and adopted the following procedure for drafting resolutions:

1. Farm Bureau directors appoint a township resolutions committee.

2. County resolutions committee meet to write questionnaire to be used.

3. Reproduce and mail questionnaire to all Farm Bureau families with a request to bring it to annual township meeting, or fill out and mail to Farm Bureau office (township committee or member of county resolutions committee will discuss resolutions questionnaire at township meetings).

4. Resolutions committee meet to develop county resolutions from completed questionnaires from townships after township annual meetings.

5. Chairman of county resolutions committee present resolutions at county annual Farm Bureau meeting for additions or changes by the membership and their final approval.

On the resolutions committee are: Gerhard Thompson, Belmond, chairman; Rammer Goeman, Belmond; Raynard Richardson, Clarion; Willis Kurtz, Kanawha; Mrs. Gerhard Thompson, Belmond, Oscar Holmes, Dows; Hubert Tudor, Rowan; and Mrs. Albert Moellering, secretary.

Persons interested in having issues considered in the resolutions are urged to contact one of the committee or the Farm Bureau office.

In an effort to get as large a participation as possible the questionnaire, as well as the tentative resolutions, are being mailed to all Farm Bureau families. No member can say he had no voice in the resolutions process, the committee points out.

STRAYER POINTS NEED FOR HAVING STORAGE TO HANDLE SOYBEANS

HUDSON, IOWA — Farmers should be prepared to store a large part of their soybeans if they expect to take advantage of the government's support program for the 1950 crop, Geo. M. Strayer, secretary-treasurer of the American Soybean association, warned here today.

"The government's average loan price on No. 2 yellow soybeans is $2.06, but this is only available on soybeans for which adequate storage is available," said Strayer.

"There just is not sufficient commercial storage nor are the boxcars available to handle the record 274-million-bushel crop predicted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture if the greater part of it is rushed to market during the next few weeks.

"Most available commercial storage is filled with other commodities such as wheat and corn already under government loan. The boxcar shortage is the worst in years due to increasing military movement and industrial activity."

The government support price, based on 90 percent of parity Sept. 1, is an average price only, and will vary in different localities. There will be premiums for moisture content of less than 14 per cent. But Commodity Credit Corporation will make no payment for storage this year.

"Farmers who store their soybeans should be well repaid", said Strayer. "There apparently will be no surplus of soybeans or of other oil crops. The increase in soybeans this year has been offset by decreased production of cottonseed and peanuts. There should be a good market for soybeans if they are marketed in an orderly manner."

Sam Torgerson, Lake Mills, Winnebago Council finance chairman, announced today that the annual "Friends of Scouting" Campaign, to raise funds for 1951 will be launched in practically every county and community of the nine-county area on the morning of Oct. 17. The goal is $42,000 00.

Present plan of Belmond Scout Leaders is to have the 1950 Scout fund campaign here combined with the proposed Community Chest Drive. Belmond's share of the Winnebago Council budget for the comnig year is $1,000, according to Scout Leader Jack Shepard.

The budget of the Winnebago Council for 1951 was determined last June when representatives from every Scouting community and from every sponsoring group were invited to participate in a budget planning conference.

The budget was again reviewed at the semi-annual meeting of the council in July, and in early September. This week district and community campaign chairmen met to make a final study of the budget and to plan the campaign program.

Scout Executive Pete DeJong outlines the following summary of achievements for the information of those who have given to the support of the council for the current year. Boys attending camp for one week or more totaled 642, and 119 boys and men attended the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge.

Membership in the council area has increased 506 boys over one year ago. Advancement has improved 210 per cent. Camporees or Scout Merit Badge and Cub Hobby Shows were held in each of the nine districts. Junior Leaders Training Conference and the Cub Leaders Pow Wow was attended by over 250 people.

A monthly training program for all Scouting groups was held in each district each month except during the summer months. Four hundred Cubs and dads attended the Dad and Lad Weekends at Camp Roosevelt.

Eight Scouts — including Dick Elliott of Belmond— earned the highest and most difficult rank in Scouting, that of Eagle. Ten Scouts, again including Elliott, earned the national Church Scout Award.

The year 1950 has been one of the most active and successful in the history of the council, according to Mr. De Jong.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Luick and family were Sunday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Akers in Dows.

IOWA U-GO-I-GO

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Lois Aldrich, president; Marjorie McKinley, vice president; Judy Baker, secretary; Shirley Gram, treasurer; Judy Sellers, historian; Joyce Lyons, reporter. Marjorie McKinley and Pat Ketchum gave a talk on "A Week at the State Fair". A lunch was served by the hostesses, Jean Lagar and Barbara Martin, and their mothers.

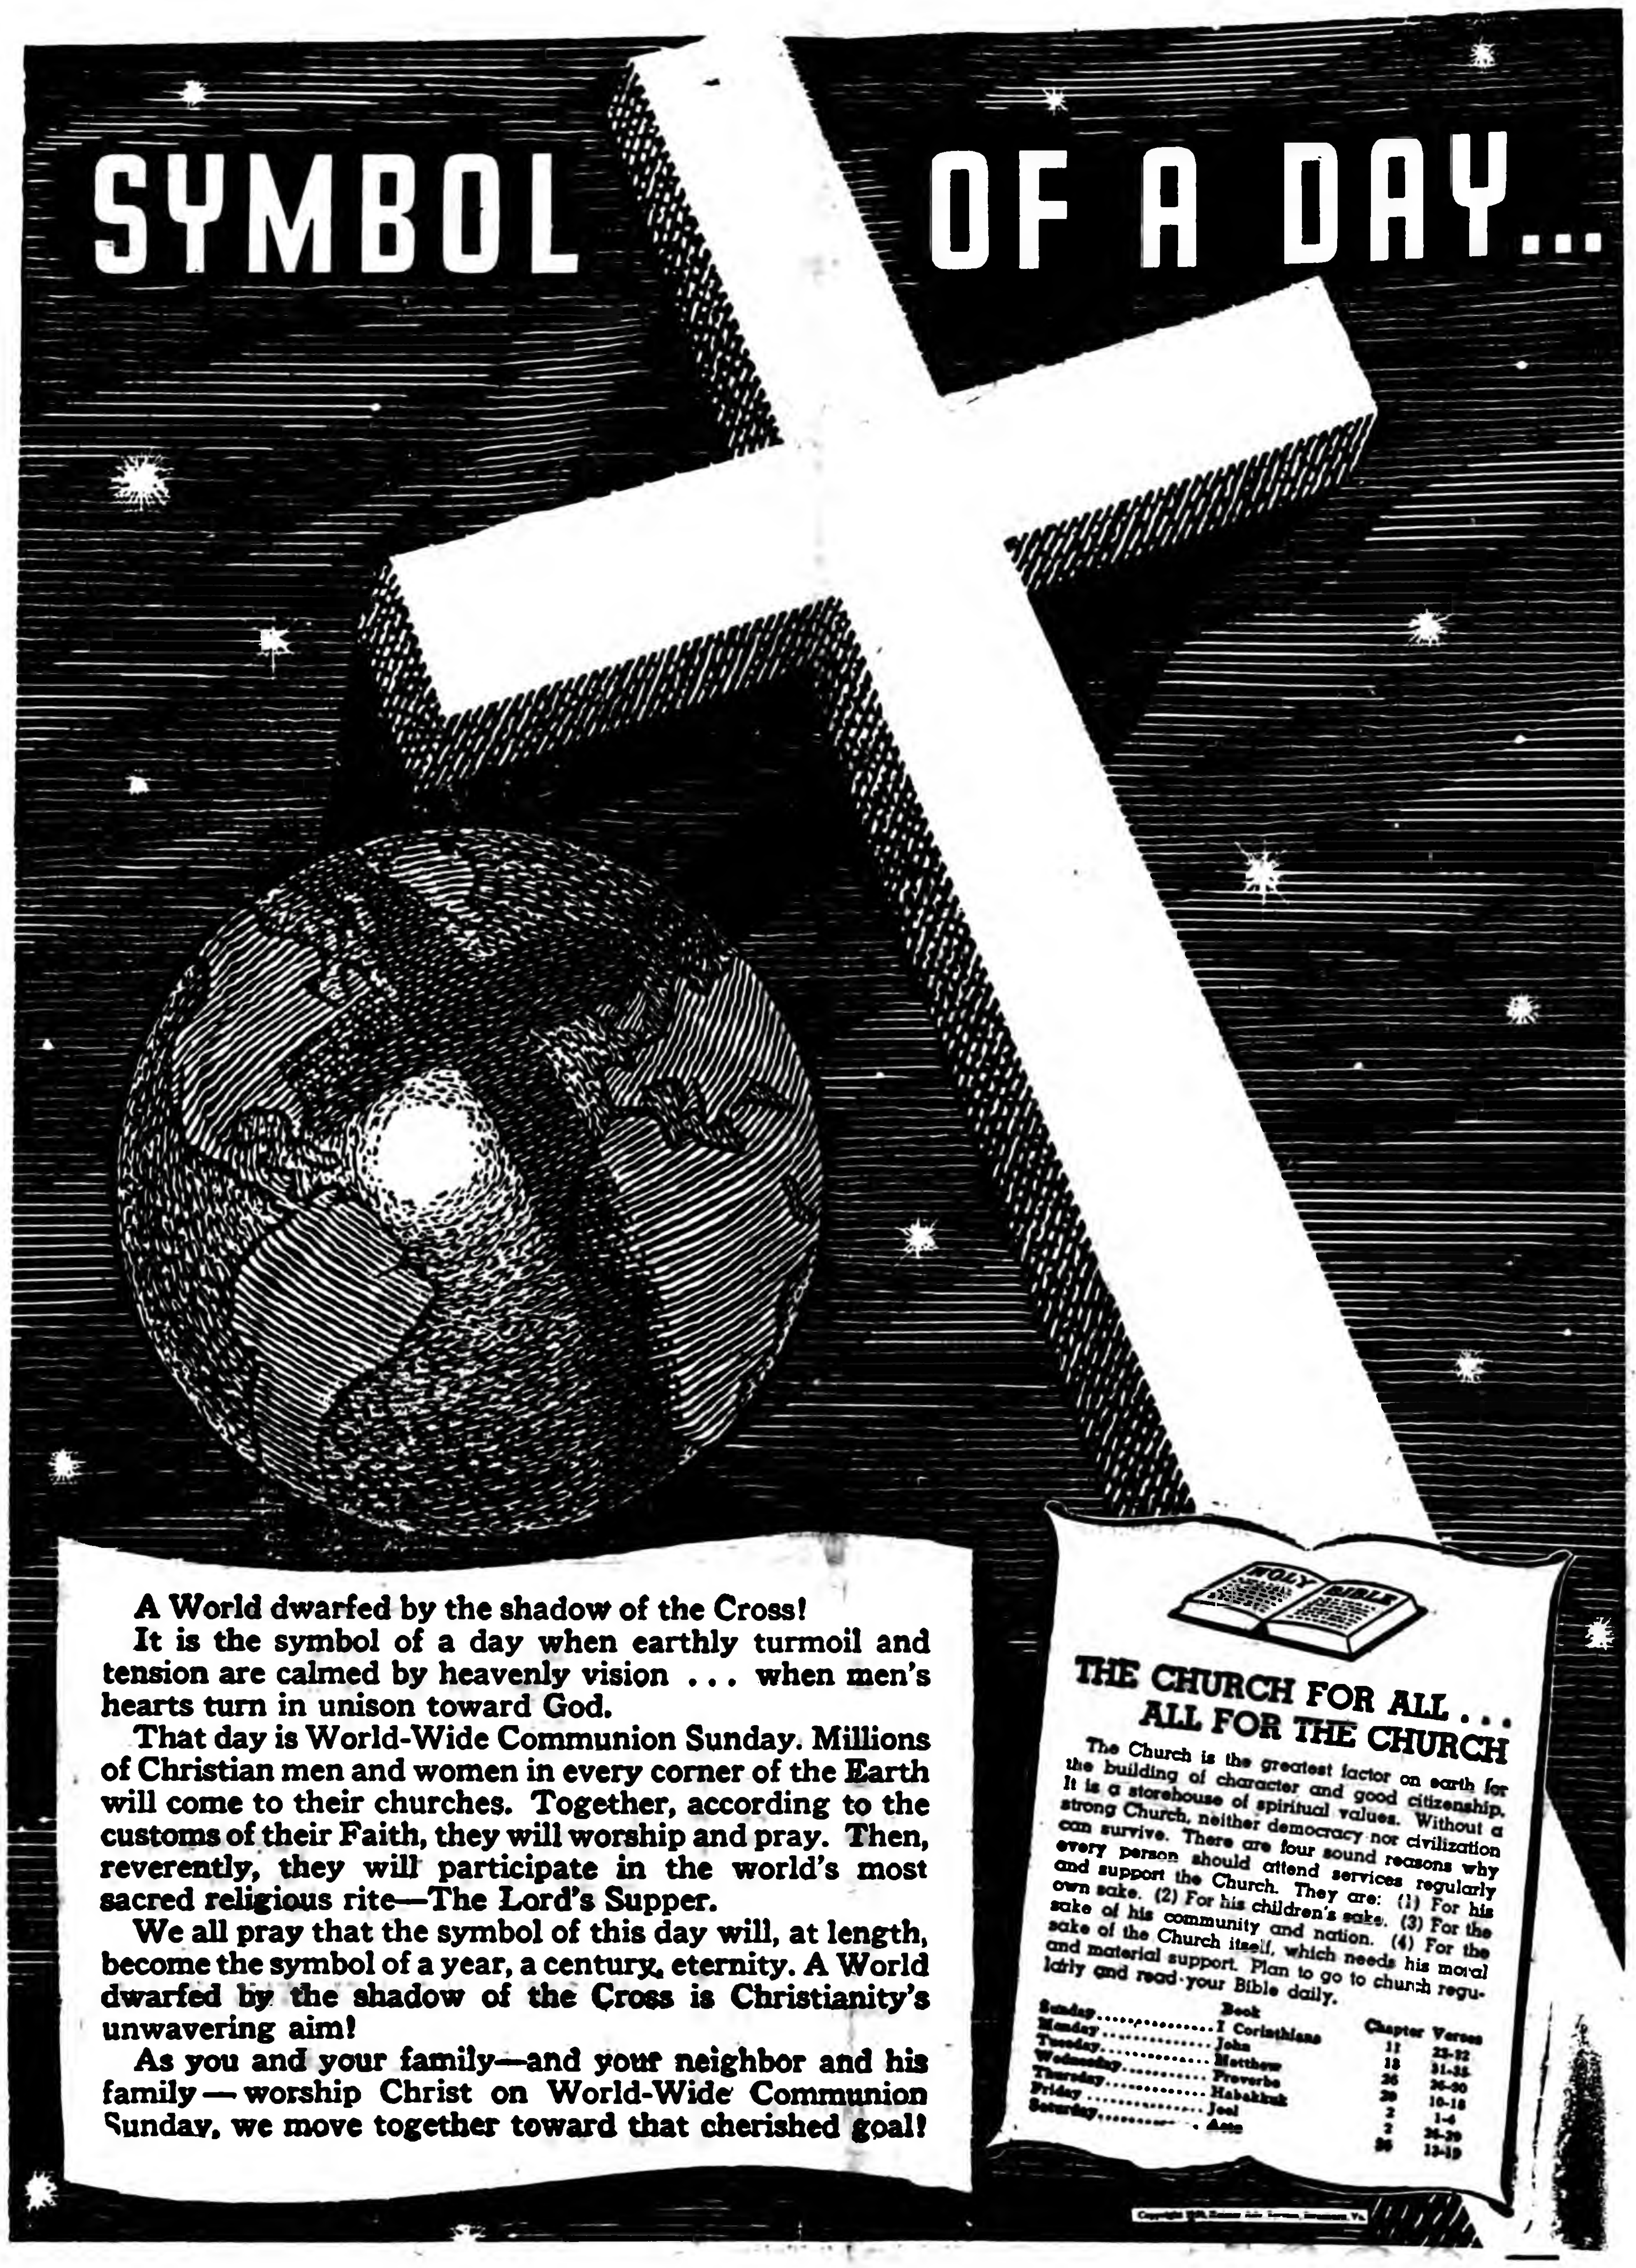
SYMBOL OF A DAY...



A World dwarfed by the shadow of the Cross!

It is the symbol of a day when earthly turmoil and tension are calmed by heavenly vision . . . when men's hearts turn in unison toward God.

That day is World-Wide Communion Sunday. Millions of Christian men and women in every corner of the Earth will come to their churches. Together, according to the customs of their Faith, they will worship and pray. Then, reverently, they will participate in the world's most sacred religious rite—The Lord's Supper.

We all pray that the symbol of this day will, at length, become the symbol of a year, a century, eternity. A World dwarfed by the shadow of the Cross is Christianity's unwavering aim!

As you and your family—and your neighbor and his family — worship Christ on World-Wide Communion Sunday, we move together toward that cherished goal!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

More on What The Community Chest Will, And Will Not, Encompass

Steady progress is being made toward the establishment of a Community Chest in Belmond. Consequently, it is not too soon to correct some misunderstandings that are quite prevailingly held regarding the explicit purpose of a Community Chest and the agencies that can logically be included as participants.

Some Belmond businessmen have wishfully envisioned it as a means of uniting into a single campaign ALL of the solicitations to which they are subjected in the course of a year. Unfortunately, it won't be—and never could be—that. It CAN, however, consolidate into a single drive the fund-raising efforts of all organizations and projects having the following qualifications:

(1). The cause must be one to which all members of the community, as Americans or residents of the city of Belmond, owe relatively equal responsibility.

(2). Its annual needs must be ascertainable within definite limits and its demands must be defensible from the standpoint of both amount and purpose.

(3 . Its benefits must not be limited in any way to specific social groups or classes.

Just how many agencies will meet all these requirements is difficult at this point to predict, 100 per cent. As recently outlined in this column, the following organizations and projects will receive serious consideration: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, American Cancer Society, Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, Summer Recreation Program, Children's Aid Society, Christian Rural Overseas Program—and possibly, the U. S. O.

Particularly in the first year, a fair-sized contingency fund should be set up to provide for legitimate demands overlooked in drafting the initial budget.

Here are some campaigns and contributions that the Community Chest definitely will NOT eliminate:

(1). National policy of the American Red Cross bars affiliation of any local drive with a Community Chest campaign.

(2). Seal sales such as those of the National Tuberculosis association at Christmas time and Crippled Children's society at Easter, which are conducted entirely by mail.

(3). Poppy Days, tag days and similar street solicitations which involve no dooo-to-door canvasses.

(4). Appeals to individual merchants by church, school, sports and similar organizations on a "good will" basis.

The Community Chest WILL greatly reduce the number of annual solicitations; it WILL enable a much wider participation in the financial support of member organizations; and it WILL assure the fairest possible division of youth, welfare and charitable funds contributed annually by Belmond residents.

The Community Chest will earn and deserve your whole-hearted support.

Just What Would You Do, If Ordered to Certain Doom?

On the published facts of the case, and without knowing any of the details, we must say that our sympathy goes out to the young Negro lieutenant who's been sentenced to death in Korea for refusal to obey a command.

Of course, exposure to death is a part military service in time of war. And, at least in theory, a chance at safety for a number must sometimes be bought at the price of certain death for a few.

Possibly the Negro officer's estimate of the inevitability of death for himself and his men was distorted by fatigue, and the order involved only a heavy but calculated risk. On the other hand, we imagine there are in the army some martinets of the old order who would hesitate little to send men—and, in some instances, particularly colored troops — to their doom without complete justification.

It cannot be denied that strict discipline is essential to military success. But any father of tiny children would certainly not be blamed too severely for at least giving thought to them if ordered to deliberately sacrifice his life. A man would want the sacrifice to count heavily in lives saved, if faced with such a proposition.

Marines Have Lots of Company In Utilizing "Propaganda"

When President Truman described the Marine corps as having a propaganda machine to surpass Stalin's, he could almost as well have attached the label to practically any other integrated part of Uncle Sam's fighting machine. Not only do the Army and Navy and — to a lesser degree—the Air Force continually have to defend themselves from their critics, but specific elements of each must regularly justify their existence.

Col. Joseph M. Colby, whose distinguished military career is briefly outlined elsewhere in today's issue, in a recent issue of the Armored Cavalry Journal has an article explaining and defending the importance of the armored tank in modern warfare. We herewith present the portion of his article that is intended to establish the vital need for efficient tanks in adequate number.

Politicians scientists who thrill their readers with dream fantasies of tomorrow's battles would have us believe that the tank has met its stalemate in the land mine, bazooka, recoilless rifle and the shaped charge.

A properly developed mine field is as defensive in its concept as the Chinese and Hadrian Walls, or the Maginot Line. A breakthrough may be achieved at a designated point by local superiority in the air, superiority of artillery, and the employment of one or more of the many mine detecting or eradicating devices. Careful technical and tactical planning can accomplish this breakthrough with minimum loss of life.

The cited Russian method of using human mine exploders is not the approved American solution. The shaped charge fired from the bazooka or recoilless rifle may be defeated by some types and thicknesses of armor. Both are low velocity weapons fired at short ranges by unarmored personnel, who in turn may be effectively neutralized by the machine gun, infantry on foot, and artillery using the VT (anti-personnel) fuse.

When the breakthrough is accomplished, the tank provides the mobility and power to exploit enemy confusion to prevent their early reorganization for defense. After the Saint Lo breakthrough in the summer of 1944, the Ninth, First and Third Armies had penetrated the Siegfried Line, where they were stopped —not by hostile opposition—but by the exhaustion of fuel supply. This gave the Germans time to organize the Battle of the Bulge and to delay Allied victory until the summer of 1945.

Many with mental inertia would have us think of the tank as descending from the Battle Elephants of Pyrrhus, the armored knights of the medieval ages, and about ready to pass into limbo with its ancestors. The term "tank" is more appropriately applied to those land vehicles wherein the internal combustion engine is exploited to give land forces and their weapons mobility.

Weapons may be based on new principles, armor may increase in thickness or almost disappear, the reciprocating engine may yield to other motive sources, configuration may change, but the "tank" will remain so long as men on the ground wish to move their weapons.

PROTECT YOUR SCHOOL DRIVING PERMIT...
DRIVE TO AND FROM SCHOOL BY THE MOST DIRECT ROUTE · THAT IS THE LAW!
WRONG ROAD

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

Do you know how to get home from school? If you have a school driving permit, there is only one right way.

A school driving permit allows you to drive from home to school and from school back home by the most direct and accessible route. Now that last is legal language, but it's clear enough. It means you must drive straight to school and straight home afterwards—no 'roundabout joyriding during the noon hour or after school.

At first glance, this law may seem confining, but actually, it is set up for the convenience and protection of you young drivers.

Fourteen and fifteen year-olds are allowed to apply for a school driving permit, with their parents consent, to help solve the problem of getting to school in time over long distances

And the ". . direct and accessible route" part of the law is designed to give young drivers the least possible exposure to heavy traffic.

The young holder of a school driving permit may drive at other times but he must be accompanied by a parent or guardian who has a valid drivers license and who is actually sitting in the seat beside the young driver.

RURAL COUNTIES HAVE LESS CRIMINAL CASES, LEVY HEAVIEST FINES

Fewer criminal court cases but heavier fines are the rule in Iowa's rural counties as compared with those in which the large cities are located.

Walter Lunden, sociologist at Iowa State college, has drawn comparisons between the two groups for the year 1948, the latest year for which complete figures are available. The report was published in a recent issue of Iowa Sheriff Journal.

He found that in counties where the largest town was not more than 2,500 in population there were 139 criminal court cases per 100,000 people during the year. In cases where fines were assessed, they averaged $245 each.

In counties where the largest city was 25,000 or more, the number of criminal cases was 288 per 100,000 population. Average fine was only $135.

Counties having towns of from 5,000 to 10,000 had 177 criminal cases per 100,000 people, and fines averaged $236.

Where the largest town was between 10,000 and 25,000 the number of criminal cases was 167 per 100,000 population, and fines were $215.

Counties having towns of between 2,500 and 5,000 population—the category into which Wright falls—had 144 criminal cases per 100,000 people, and assessed fines averaging $244.

In making his study, Lunden also found that criminal cases in the courts of Iowa reached an all-time high in 1948. Back in 1935, when the depression was still making its effects felt, the number of criminal cases in the state was 4,099.

It rose to 4,880 as times became better just before the war. Then in the midst of World War II it dropped to a low of 2,990. From there it shot up to a postwar high of 5,230 in 1948.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa Makes Citizens

Don't things seem quiet around the house since the kids started back to school?

"I miss their clatter," Edna said this morning.

But isn't it grand to see the wonders school does for them, as the years go along.

I say: "Hats off to our schools here in Iowa!" They've made Iowa the most literate state in the Union. They're teaching a fine brand of citizenship, too — teaching tolerance, the ability to live and work with our fellow men.

They teach folks how to see things fairly and get along together in the true democratic way.

And when we practice respecting the other fellow's viewpoint, considering the other man's rights and opinions, we have a better, stronger America.

It's as important as a man's right to choose his own politics or as simple as his preference for a temperate glass of beer, or the friends he likes.

Let's keep on teaching tolerance and broadmindedness, because that is the cornerstone of good citizenship.

Broncs Outscore Britt; Northwood Here This Friday

NORTH IOWA STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Belmond	1	0	1.000
Buffalo Center	1	0	1.000
Garner	1	0	1.000
Forest City	0	0	.000
Britt	0	1	.000
Lake Mills	0	1	.000
Northwood	0	1	.000

Belmond went to "the top of the class" in the current North Iowa conference standings last Friday night by proving to Britt that football games are won on touchdowns, not first downs.

Although out-downed by the host Eagle eleven by a 12 to 4 margin, the Broncs outscored their opponents 13 to 6 to share first place in the loop with Buffalo Center and Garner.

Both Belmond tallies came in the second quarter. The first was produced by a 40-yard pass play, Don Faris to Marlyn Watermiller. The Bronco end nabbed the toss some 25 yards from the line of scrimmage and had no trouble trotting the rest of the distance.

Britt retaliated later in the period wih a counter on a five-yard jaunt by Pat Grant around end, after three previous downs from close to the pay stripe had failed to bring a score. The kick attempt for extra block was blocked.

Before halftime, Belmond finished the evening's scoring with a second TD on a 45-yard dash by Jack Riggs. It was the same off-tackle play that Jack performed so effectively several times against Dows a week earlier. End run for extra point by Arnette Ter Hark fell short.

Coach Don Merritt had drilled the Broncs on defense for three days solid last week, and he felt that appreciable improvement was demonstrated by the boys against Britt. Odean Severseike, particularly, showed impressive progress. Merritt declares the Belmond defense still leaves a good deal to be desired, but he's feeling somewhat encouraged.

Despite scarcity of Belmond first downs, he also thought the backs showed more aggressiveness and were getting "off their marks" quicker.

Garner repeatedly turned back Northwood scoring efforts to upset last year's NI champions Friday night, 6 to 0. Buffalo Center had it easy against Lake Mills, scoring four times in the last half to whip the Bulldogs 25-0.

Although Forest City was idle last week, a tip-off regarding the Indians' strength can be gained by comparison with Clarion's 14-7 win over Clear Lake. The week before, Forest City had easily routed the Clear Lake Lions 19 to 0.

This coming Friday, here, the Broncos will endeavor to keep the Northwood defending champs shunted into the cellar. Buffalo Center and Garner will battle for their respective shares of first place in a game scheduled for the Cardinals' gridiron; and the potent Forest City eleven will open its loop card as host to Britt.

Mrs. F. E. Purcell and Mrs. E. F. Bailey visited friends in Garner on Wednesday.

Chuck Wilmarth, head of Thompson Hybrid's research department, on Monday brought into The Independent office an oddity that comes very close to qualifying for that often misused adjective, "unique". It was an ear of corn with an odd number of rows—a circumstance so rare as to make the birth of human quintuplets a relatively everyday occurence.

At one time, according to Chuck, Robert Ripley offered $500 for such an ear, to be featured in his "Believe It or Not" cartoon. There were no takers. Chuck can recall only one instance of such an ear being discovered. That was in 1946, and the discovery caused a great to-do among agronomists and plant geneticists.

—M. S.—

The Thompson ear was plucked off the delivery belt at the local plant by a woman worker, because of its queer appearance, and delivered to the office. At first the reason for its odd look was not detected; then someone thought to count the rows and it was found that there were just nine.

Normally the rows on an ear can vary anywhere from as few as eight to as many as 32—but the number is always even. Chuck explains that the ovaries that produced the kernels always split, so the number of rows is invariably divisible by two. The rows on the freak ear give a gap-toothed appearance, since there is much more than the normal amount of space between.

—M. S.—

For curiosity's sake, Chuck plans to inbreed or "self" the seed from the "once-in-a-lifetime" ear and produce a strain that will consistently have odd-numbered rows. It will take two years of inbreeding to create any plants that will bear entirely odd-number-rowed ears — and they will be in a three-to-one ratio. That is, Chuck will ge from the parenta stock three normal plants to each one bearing the freak ears. From the latter, however, he can obtain seed that will consistently produce the unusual ears.

—M. S.—

Chuck admits that all this work will serve no useful purpose, that he can foresee. It's simply a research challenge that intrigues him. However, he looked at the ear speculatively and grinned at a thought that entered his mind.

"Might cross it with sweet corn," he suggested, eyeing the widely separated rows. "Could make eatin' off the cob a bit simpler, if nothing else."

—M. S.—

We received last week from a William Bradford Dillingham (there's an impressive handle for you!) an offer to provide The Independent with a weekly column of European news. His letter was mailed from Spain, and bore no return address with name of the sender. Needless to say, our curiosity was promptly aroused as to what friend of ours could possibly be traveling so far afield.

Mr. Dillingham (and we'll bet his real name is John Brown or something equally romantic) offered a pretty fair deal, at that. A buck a week for his 800-word dispatches. But since it's a consistent battle trying to get in all the local news, we decided to forego his offer.

If he'd promised us ear-to-the-ground reports from Russia, by golly he'd have had a new customer.

—M. S.—

Apparently some Easter lilies survived the frost of early last week. Mrs. E. Kampman reports that she still had lilies with which to decorate the Meservey Reformed church last Sunday. And two weeks ago she supplied the church with a sizeable bouquet, obtaining two blooms from each of seven stalks in her garden. All the plants were ones received at Easter time and later planted in the Kampman garden.

—M. S.—

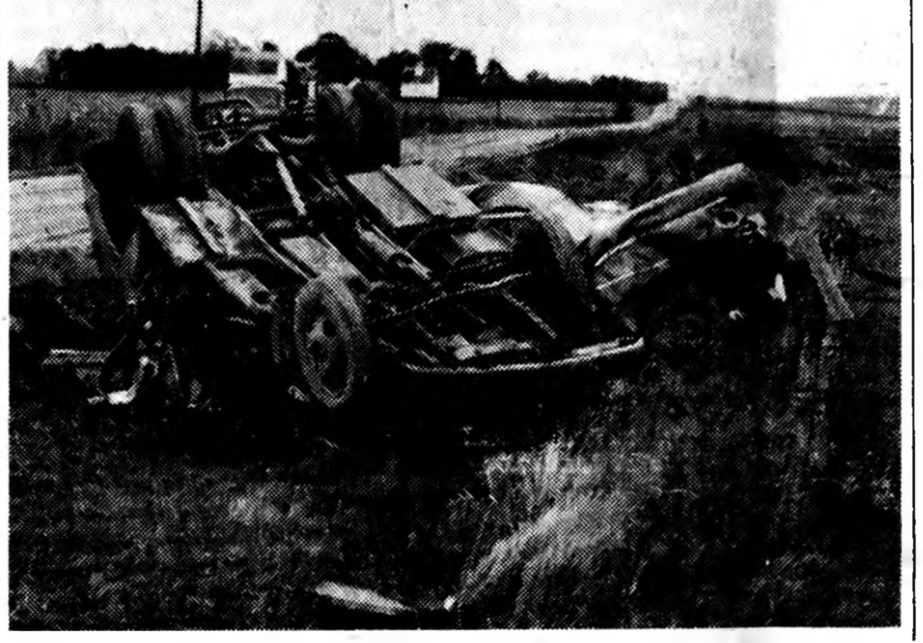
Ted Behrends is still having shoe trouble. Last week he advertised for the accidental possessor of one 8AAA woman's shoe, recently repaired at his shop, to come in and trade for the 6½AAA mate to her OWN shoe. The two pairs, identical in appearance, were mixed up while Ted was on vacation.

The rightful owner of the 8AAA's has found the 6½AAA a wee mite tightish and would very much like to exchange . . . Could it be that the wearer of the 6½'s has found that 8 so comfortable that she dislikes to give it up?

—M. S.—

From our departed co-worker, Bob Foss, comes a postcard mailed last Monday at his home-away-from-home, Camp Pendleton, at Oceanside, Calif. He reported Eddie Albers, a fellow "leatherneck" recalled to duty at the same time Bob was, was still with him. Bob stated he was ready to turn in, after writing the card — remarking that 5:30 a. m. rolls around mighty early . . . Poor Bob! We can remember when he got IN at that hour, instead of UP.

Collision Monday Fatal to Clarion Couple



SUDDEN DEATH CAME to Marvin S. Schmidt, driver of the car practically concealed by overturned truck in the above picture. The Clarion man's wife also sustained fatal injuries when the sedan and truck collided at a Woolstock township intersection Monday morning.

Parents of Three In Tragic Mishap

Two lives were lost, and three children left parentless, as the result of a tragic auto-truck collision Monday morning eight miles south and two miles west of Clarion.

Marvin Schmidt, 47-year-old Clarion insurance agent, died instantly of a compound skull fracture, basal skull fracture and other injuries. His wife Gladys, 36, passed away at the Webster City hospital about two hours after mishap. She had only recently undergone major surgery and her death was attributed to a massive internal hemorrhage.

Failure of both drivers to see the other vehicle approaching was the apparent cause of the accident, which occurrred at 10:30 a. m. Winfield Comstock of Eagle Grove was driver of the truck, which was owned by Heard and Sons, Phillips 66 distributors at Eagle Grove.

Comstock approached from the west as the Schmidts entered the intersection from the north. The truck crashed into the '46 Ford sedan just back of the right, front wheel. Impact hurled both vehicles off the road, the truck coming to rest practically on top of the car.

Six hundred gallons of gas drained out of the demolished tank on the truck and the Clarion fire department was hurriedly summoned by law officers at the scene to guard against a conflagration.

According to Patrolman Harland Sievers, no charges are being filed in connection with the accident. He reported that Comstock was only slightly injured, incurring minor lacerations and bruises. He was not hospitalized.

The Schmidts were on their way to Webster City to pick up a newly purchased car at the time of the collision. They are survived by two sons and a daughter, ages 16, 14 and 10.

CRAB TREE IN BLOOM

Owen Sullivan dropped in at The Independent office Tuesday morning with a sprig of flowering crab blossoms plucked from a tree in his yard. NUEHRING DEFENDANT IN PETITION SEEKING UNPAID CHILD SUPPORT

Petition has been filed in district court to establish a lien against properties of Edwin Nuehring of Belmond for failure to pay child support as ordered in October of 1938.

Plaintiffs are Henry Schulte, in behalf of two grandchildren — Duane and Duone Nuehring — and the defendant's former wife, Grace L. Hanna. The document declares Nuehring was to pay $12 monthly for the children's support but has failed to do so since Oct. 1, 1939.

In addition, the petition states that Nuehring owns, or has owned since the default on support payments, one city lot in Belmond, two in Morse addition and one in Barry addition.

The plaintiffs assert that title to the city lot and one of the Morse lots was illegally conveyed to Nuehring's present wife, Mary Elizabeth Nuehring; and that the Barry lot has been acquired by Martin and Jennie Harms. Mrs. Nuehring and Mr. and Mrs. Harms are listed as co-defendants.

Liens against the mentioned properties are sought in the amount of the defaulted payments, plus five per cent interest on the unpaid monthly amounts.

Corn-n-Beans Will Take Spotlight at Gala Event Oct. 21

C-of-C Promises Scores of Prizes; Two "Professor Quiz" Shows Slated

Corn-n-beans, the products that provide Belmond with its two major industries, will be given the spotlight on Saturday, Oct. 21, when the Chamber of Commerce plans a gala event in their honor.

Fun for all and prizes galore are promised the throng that Corn-n-Beans Day is certain to attract from throughout the Belmond trade territory. Two major attractions will highlight the occasion, according to Chamber President George Infelt.

Arrangements have been made with the grocery division of General Mills to have Professor Quiz on hand to conduct question-and-answer shows on the street, both afternoon and evening. Correct answers to the Prof's questions will bring rewards in merchandise or cash.

As second feature, glass containers of either soybeans or corn will be placed in the show windows of Belmond business houses, and an attractive merchandise award will go to the each person registering the most accurate guess on the number contained in each jar or bottle.

There will be well over 100 separate prizes offered in the course of the quiz shows and guessing contest. The containers of beans or corn will be placed on display on the preceeding Wednesday, to give those individuals of a scientific turn ample opportunity to study the question of count.

Guesses may be registered in the various business places any time up to the closing hour on Saturday. Names of the winners will be placed in the various windows on the following Saturday, Oct. 28, and prizes may be claimed any time during the day.

Both the General Mills plant and Thompson's Hybrid Corn company are cooperating with the GMI grocery division and the Belmond Chamber of Commerce in sponsorship of Corn-n-Beans Day. Both establishments have enjoyed steady growth through the patronage of farmers in the Belmond area and are taking advantage of the approaching occasion as a means of expressing their thanks.

Subscription Campaign Nearing End

By Grace C. Koppenhaver
Campaign Manager

The race for the grand prizes given in the Belmond Independent's "Good Will" circulation campaign is nearly over. The campaign will lend this Friday at 1:00 p. m. Subscriptions received after that time will not be given contestant credit.

Where is your favorite today? But much more important—where will she be when the ballot box closes? A few subscriptions given or withheld can turn the tide either way. Not one of the contestants can have TOO MANY votes, but TOO FEW may mean defeat.

All are working hard in the few remaining hours. Don't let YOUR favorite down. Give your new, renewal or extension subscription before the closing hour of the campaign and help one of those workers.

All workers who do not win a prize will be paid a 20 per cent commission. All contestants MUST return lists and receipt books to the Independent office before prizes or commissions will be paid. The winner will be determined by the work done even during these last hours of the campaign.

Let it not be said that it was the subscription which YOU withheld which prevented your favorite from winning one of these prizes—the 1950 Ford tudor sedan, $400.00, $200.00, or $100.00.

After due consideration by the campaign department, it has been decided to withhold further standings of the candidates because some of the workers are so closely bunched that a listing would, at this time, be unfair. The last publication is so close to the closing hour of the contest, that it would be almost impossible to give a fair reporting of changes.

The Belmond Independent, the campaign manager and the contestants deeply appreciate the splendid cooperation and support given by patrons and friends of the paper during the weeks of the subscription campaign.

Immediately after the close of the campaign tomorrow at 1:00 p. m., the records will be brought to date and then judges, who will announce inspected by three local the winners after the records have been carefully checked. The judges will Mayor A. W. Loats, Chamber of Commerce President George Infelt, and Ellis Elliott.

The candidates, listed alphabetically, are: Mrs. Howard Boller, Goodell; Mrs. Glenn Eccles, Belmond; Mrs. Henry (Gertrude) Johnson, Belmond; Mrs. Lynn (Donna) Knoll, Kanawha; and Mrs. Homer U. Ness, Olaf.

Congregational Church Marked Sixtieth Anniversary Sunday

The Congregational church of Rowan celebrated the 60th anniversary of its founding and the dedication of a new organ at special services held Sunday. About 170 persons registered in the guest book and attended all or some of the three services held.

At the morning worship service, Dr. Halsey Carstens, guest organist from the Vance Music company in Mason City, played for the service. Special music included two vocal solos, "Bless This House', sung by Howard G. Box, and "The Lord's Prayer", sung by Wilma Whitten.

The choir anthem featured LeRoy Pesch as soloist. Edgar Bingham, one of the living charter members of the church, gave the morning prayer, and the pastor, Rev. Harold A. Sanders, used as his message theme "After Sixty Years".

A fellowship dinner was held at noon, with the basement of the church crowded beyond capacity. In the afternoon, another service was held, and the pastor called on several of the members to speak representing the church. A film was shown in the evening, with a number of young people from out of town in attendance.

A tape recording of the service was made and was later run off for Mrs. Elsie Allen, another charter member. The third living charter members, Mrs. Etta Ballou, of Whittier, Calif., is to be the recipient of the recording. A number of the older members sent greetings to Mrs. Ballou, including Mrs. Allen.

The Galt Congregational church presented the local group with a large birthday cake, appropriately decorated with a large golden 60. A number of plants were also sent, and these were given to the older members.

On display were a very interesting collection of old pictures and mementoes of the last six decades. Two quilts with names on them and now belonging to Mrs. H. J. Whitten were also shown. These had been made by the Congregational ladies and sold as one of their money making projects. One was dated 1907 and the other 1940.

Another display which was most interesting was the old communion set dating back from the early days of the church. This included the silver wine decanter, two goblets, and two serving plates. These had been stored in the church for years, and Mrs. H. J. Whitten had cleaned and restored them for the occasion.

Dedicated in 1890, the church had as its first minister Rev. S. A. Martin. "Father" Sands of Belmond, an early circuit rider, had been holding services prior to that time.

Other ministers through the six decades have included Revs. Chambers, V. A. Carlton, Couchman, Bonnell, Nye, Halbert, Ada Anderson, Clark, Marquardt, LaBounty, Farnham, Kemp, Nelson, Arnot, Roberts, Rice and the present pastor the Rev. Mr. Sanders.

For three quarters Belmond held a small but definite margin of superiority over Northwood here last Friday evening, but absence of Jack Riggs from the line-up seemed to take the starch out of the Broncos in the final period. The end result was two tallies for the visitors and a 13-0 defeat against Belmond's record.

Throughout the first half, neither team was able to set up a scoring threat. The Broncos held the edge statistically with three first downs to two and a yardage advantage of 71 to 40. In addition, Belmond lost only one yard through scrimmage while dumping the visiting backs for an aggregate loss of 20 yards. Neither team completed a pass.

Opening the second half, the Broncos appeared to have the hobbles off. Riggs ran the kick-off from his own eight to the 26, and on the first scrimmage play broke loose for 34 yards. Momentarily it appeared the Belmond speedster migh tbe loose, but a shoestring tackle by Halfback Dave Johnson spilled him on Northwood's 40.

Dick Elliott picked up a couple of yards and a Helland-to-Severseike pass added 11 more. On the next play, Riggs was snowed under—and there was a question in the minds of some onlookers as to whether he wasn't piled on a bit more than necessary, or legal. In the melee he got a severe kick in the face.

Two plays later Jack was taken from the game, and that ended his activity for the evening. Northwood gained the ball on downs on their own 28. The Vikings' offense sputtered and their fourth-down punt was returned by Faris to the visitors' 40.

Despite two five yard penalties, the Broncos picked up a first down on the 24 via a nice run of 21 yards by Clelan Redmond. A couple of yards by Faris and another pass from Helland to Severseike placed the pigskin on the 11-yard stripe.

After Helland had lost a couple of yards, the young quarterback tossed a pass to Marlys Watermiller in the end zone; but the Bronco wingman was well covered and wasn't quite able to keep ahold of the ball. Another pass effort was no good, and on fourth down an aerial found Faris on about the eighth, but he, too, had racked up five first in his mitts.

At this point, Belmond failed to keep the slippery sphere downs to Northwood's two, and boasted a net yardage advantage of 150 to 17. But with Riggs on the bench, the Broncos suddenly lost their snap.

Taking the ball over on their own 13, the Vikings promptly dashed into Belmond territory on a 40-yard pass play, Dean Sandberg to Dave Johnson. Four consecutive first downs, with Sandberg, Johnson and Gaylord Anderson doing the ball toting, put Northwood in front 6-0. A plunge for extra kickoff was no good.

After the kickoff, Belmond nabbed one first down on a pass from Helland to Watermiller, but soon afterwards the Broncos had to kick and Johnson returned the punt to his own 49. On the next play Johnson all but got away before he was dumped after a 29-yard gain to Belmond's 22.

Belmond hopes rose when three downs netted the Vikings only three yards, but on the fourth Carroll Schmidt tossed a pitchout to Dave Johnson and the shifty halfback went all the way. He also plunged for the extra point to give Northwood its 13-0 margin.

If nothing else, the game supplied unhappy evidence that the Broncos are a pretty fair ball club with Riggs in the line-up—and a mighty punchless crew with him out.

Northwood	1	1	.500
Britt	0	2	.000

"Who's going to stop Buffalo Center?" is the $64 question at present among North Iowa conference football fans. The Bison so far have been a second-half team — all of their seven loop touchdowns to date have been manufactured after the rest period—but as long as they're so effective in the final two quarters, they have little to worry about.

Last week Buffalo Center poured it on Lake Mills, 18 to 6, while Belmond was taking its lumps from Northwood in a 13-0 shut-out. Forest City found its hands full in concocting a 19-12 victory over Britt.

The assignment of stopping the Bison falls this week to the Broncos. Coach Don Merritt reports that Jack Riggs is completely recovered from the kick in the face he received in the Northwood game and will be ready to go. Whether or not Belmond can stop Buffalo Center's two Blasting Bobs—Burger and Berhow—and the Bisons' new-found passing attack is a moot question.

Forest City will endeavor to protect its share of the conference lead in a joust with the Cardinals at Garner; and Lake Mills—a 7-6 winner over Osage last week—will attempt to post a win over Northwood on the Vikings' gridiron.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McLean of Northwood were weekend guests in the Duane Cunning home. Mrs. McLean will be remembered as Connie Lunde, vocal music teacher here.

JUNIOR HIGH ELEVEN, FROSH-SOPH GRIDDERS EACH POST VICTORIES

Belmond's junior high and frosh-soph football elevents each won victories over corresponding opponents from Britt here Wednesday evening of last week, the former 6-0 and the latter by a 7-0 margin.

Gary Brothers accounted for the winning score in the Colts' game, taking a pass from Dave Helland on a scoring play that covered approximately 40 yards. Most of the game was played in midfield, and no scoring opportunity developed other than the one of which the winners took advantage.

In the junior high fray, Gary Dippel rambled around end in the third period for 20 yards and a touchdown. It was a repetition of an earlier performance which was cancelled out by a clipping penalty. Keith Madsen successfully plunged for extra point folfollowing the coring effort that "took".

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

A good example of what FFA and 4-H training leads many a modern farm boy into is provided by 15-year-old Roy Johnson and his herd of purebred Hampshire hogs. Roy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jens Johnson, who live just south from the schoolhouse corner on Cornelia road.

Last winter, with money earned from picking up corn last fall, driving tractor for neighbors and similar work — plus some cash from bonds and a $40 loan from his father — Roy purchased a couple of bred gilts from Nels Lindvold.

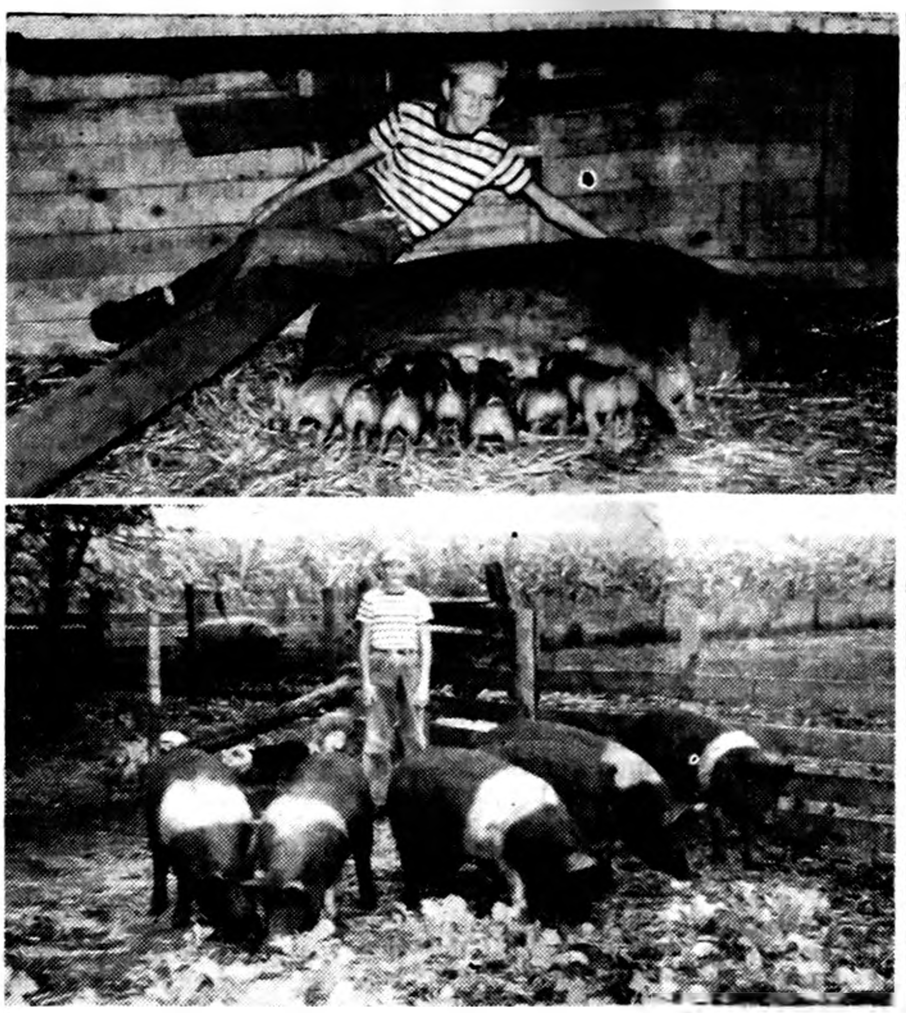
—RFD—

One of his sows produced a spring litter of 13, of which nine pigs were saved; and the other had nine, eight of which lived. The first litter was farrowed on March 7 and the second on March 15. The pigs have come along in good shape on a ration of home-grown feeds, skim milk and tankage, and the four that are barrows are about ready for the market now.

Roy intends to sell six boars. He feels that the one sow did very well by him in producing five of the animals that looked sufficiently promising to save as boars; they all came from the litter that was originally 13 in number. He also has seven gilts, two of which he intends to keep for himself.

—RFD—

When your reported visited the Johnsons, there was still a friendly argument in progress as to just what sort of "cut" from the spring litters Dad should get in return for his $40 loan, feed—and the labor involved when Roy's in school. Jens figures he should get the remaining five gilts and the four barrows. Roy thinks a split on the barrows would make it about right. Your reporter maintained strict neutrality in the matter.



IT WAS DINNER TIME for the FFA project pigs (above) when this picture was taken of them and their caretaker, Roy Johnson, last weekend. There should have been 10 tails in evidence; but one seems to be missing. Roy is shown below with his six Hampshire boars. One of them proved timid and turned his back on the camera (third from right).

Roy hopes to be able to build a three-pen hoghouse from his take on the boars—and the barrows, if he gets to keep title to any of them. The way his herd of Hamps is growing, there's danger of Jens being crowded out of space for his own hogs, without some housing being added.

—RFD—

Neighbor Lindvold generously agreed to provide, free of charge, the boar for breeding Roy's two original sows for fall litters and they have both farrowed again. The two sows will now go to Jens—along with the spring gilts and whatever portion of the barrows is agreed upon—in return for expense gone to and services rendered.

This fall, the sows did even better than they did with their spring litters. One produced 11 pigs, all but one of which was saved (it was overlooked at farrowing time and had suffocated before it was discovered). The other sow gave birth to 10 pigs and they are all thriving today. The fall pigs arrived on Sept. 9th and 11th.

—RFD—

Besides the two gilts Roy plans to keep for producing spring litters next year, he intends to buy a couple of more promising-looking gilts and a boar of his own. That would give him four litters of purebreds next spring; and for next fall . . . Well, Roy isn't projecting himself that far into the future, but it's plain to see that he's firmly determined to get himself established as a Hamp breeder. He figures he'll have to level off at about six gilts, because—with the hogs Jens, himself, regularly raises—that's about all the farm will accommodate.

Whether the stock he is presently acquiring will provide a basic herd for branching into the purebred business on a larger scale, once he gets out "on his own", depends upon whether he goes to college. He's uncertain on that score, at this point. If he does continue his education beyond high school, his hogs will likely be sold to contribute to college funds. But Roy's just a sophomore at Belmond High this year, so that's a problem te doesn't have to solve for several years.

—RFD—

At any rate, he's learning a lot about the breeding and raising of hogs, and FFA Adviser Duane Sandage has complete confidence that Roy will develop into a first class hog-raiser in due time. Duane says Roy's doing a fine job at present—and there's no questioning the keenness of his interest in becoming a capable breeder and raiser of purebreds.

—RFD—

The Johnson farm also boasts some purebred Duroc stock, consisting of an FFA project sow and litter 110 pigs—five boars and the same number of gilts. The sow, which is one of the two fine animals the Belmond chapter of FFA purchased last spring frcm Joe Duea, had a litter of 13 but three pigs weren't sufficiently matured to make the grade. This sow was bred to an excellent boar which Joe and Dale Hauge own in partnership, and the pigs give promise of developing into especially good purebred stock.

It will, perhaps, be recalled that the FFA sows for their spring litwhich for their spring litters, ters were turned over to Louis Oberhauser and Ronald Ketchum. Both were to be in Roy's charge for the fall litters. Only the one, however, got with pig the second time; and the other paid the price of stubbornness by being sent to market.

—RFD—

From the litter of 10, the FFA chapter will get first choice and the third, while the Johnsons will get the second — and the balance of the litter. This arrangement not only will soon be giving a purebred start in Durocs to several FFA boys each fall and spring—with the number growing progressively larger as the basic herd increases in size—but is giving the chapter a fine start on a herd of its own.

Belmond's been taking a back seat to those young hog-raisers of the Eagle Grove vicinity with regularity at recent Junior Fairs. But give Roy and his fellow FFA chapter members a few more years and you may see that Eagle Grove monopoly beginning to give way.

Fire Chief Plans Check on Business Places for Fire Hazards

Johnson Offers Suggestions For Cutting Fire Risk

As a local feature of National Fire Prevention Week, Chief A. W. Johnson of the Belmond Fire Department plans to have his firemen inspect all downtown business places for fire hazards.

It's been a considerable period of time since Belmond has had anything resembling a major conflagration in the business district—and if Chief Johnson has anything to say about it, it's going to stay that way.

Both businessmen and home-owners can do much to protect their properties, says Chief Johnson, by observing a relatively few basic rules of fire prevention. He adds that employees can help considerably to assure themselves against being "burned out" of a job by helping guard against fire hazards.

Chief Johnson passes along a nine-point safety test, based on many years of study by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, as a good basis for each individual to judge his own standing as to observance of safety measures.

1. Do I make sure that every cigarette is out before disposing of it?

2. Do I realize that "No Smoking" signs are put up for a purpose—and observe them?

3. Am I careful not to toss matches into waste baskets?

4. Do I let an experienced electrician do any wiring needed, realizing that I am not an expert myself?

5. Am I careful not to allow discarded paper, litter, or anything combustible to collect in my home or where I work?

6. Do I keep in mind the constant danger that oily rags can catch fire all by themselves—particularly if left in a closet or other closed, hot space?

7. Do I use only safe, non-flammable liquids for cleaning?

8. Do I see that any fire hazards—such as worn extension cords or collections or rubbish are eliminated?

9. Do I know how to summon the fire department—and get out of the building in which I work?

To farmers, Chief Johnson gives the following advice to help combat rural fire hazards:

1. Have new wiring installed by an experienced electrician.

2. Don't overload wires—when adding new electrical devices such as motors or corn driers, get an expert to check whether new circuits are needed.

3. Remember that gasoline can be dangerous—and store it with care. Don't let gasoline spill, or drop over a hot muffler or engine.

4. For carrying small quantities of gasoline, use a self-closing approved safety can.

5. Do not store tractors in a hay barn.

6. Give your entire heating system a thorough inspection at least once a year—and do not delay necessary repairs.

7. Prohibit smoking in the barn or where inflammable liquids are stored.

8. Be sure that everyone knows how to call the fire department, and how to use the farm's fire protection equipment.

9. Have lightning rods of the proper type installed on every farm building.

10. Inspect stored hay regularly for odors, smoke, gas, or heat. These are warning signals.

Farm Girls Reminded, It's Enrollment Time

4-H Work Has Much to Offer

She's 10 or 12 or a teen-ager—this 4-H club girl you know. If you ask her how to refinish some furniture, just as surely as not she will roll up her sleeves and show you how it's done. She knows about color selection to make her room prettier, and how to solve puzzling problems of furniture arrangement.

She's good at sewing, too, and has all the latest sewing methods at her fingertips. She knows how to plan her wardrobe, to be thrifty, to care for her clothes, and how to be her most attractive self.

Ask her to plan a meal for her family or for company, and she can take over in the kitchen without hesitation. Making nourishing meals and serving them attractively are among her talents as a 4-H miss.

This month she, and 20,000 more of her sisterhood, will enroll in 4-H club work. And one of the first things they will do is to invite other girls of their age to club meetings so these girls may also come to know what 4-H club work is all about.

She will look to her 4-H club for fun, friendships and friendly rivalry in her project work. And you as her parents will encourage her to do her best, for you know that this is a fine way to awaken her interest in her home, her community and her country.

Last year 20,420 4-H club girls made up the membership in 1,306 local clubs. More than 3,600 volunteer leaders, most of them homemakers, willingly gave their time to conduct the teaching in home furnishings, clothing and foods and nutrition projects.

The girls set some impressive records too. They canned more than 279,700 quarts of fruits and fruit juices, 274,100 quarts of vegetables, and 31,700 quarts of meats and fish. They froze more than 213,000 pounds of fruits, 320,000 pounds of vegetables, and 818,000 pounds of meat and fish. And they planned, prepared and served more than 182,000 meals for their families.

They made more than 26,000 new garments for themselves and made over or repaired 35,000 more.

They made out clothing bugets, studied the selection of clothing from the standpoint of color and design, and learned good buying practices.

To make their own homes more attractive they made or refinished more than 13,700 articles of household furnishings, and remodeled or improvised 2,900 desks, storage centers and dressing tables. They learned how to paper or paint their walls, and how to fix up the woodwork and the floors.

And along with all this activity, they took part in home and community safety programs, contributed money and gifts to community Red Cross, cancer and tuberculosis funds, and other worthwhile projects.

"This year, as in the past few years, 4-H club girls are making citizenship an even greater part of their club program," says Esther Whetstone, state leader of girls' club work, Iowa State college.

"Just as they have demonstrated their ability to 'make the best better' in their club projects, so will they prove their ability, as young citizens, to contribute to world peace".

SLIDIN' DOWN THE CHUTE

What fun these youngsters have on the numerous contrivances designed for their exercise and amusement! The children of past generations would have been delighted with such elaborate provisions for their enjoyment.

Physical training has become an important part of our modern educational system. Regular periods are assigned to it in most schools, and instructors are employed to supervise the children's play.

We are thus spending billions of dollars each year to develop the minds and bodies of our children. But what are we doing for their spiritual development? The body without the soul is dead, and education without spiritual growth is a hollow mockery.

The Church has the stupendous task of supplying this vital need in human life. Its function is to show people the way of God and teach them to think and feel and act in accordance with His will. Body, mind and spirit—but the most important of these is the spirit.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

About $20,000 is being spent by Wright county to rebuild the Cornelia road running from Lake Cornelia east to Highway 15, a distance of three and three-fourths miles.

MARRIAGES IN IOWA ON UPTREND, PERHAPS DUE TO KOREAN WAR

Marriages reported during July and August of this year amounted to 5,392 compared with 4,469 during the same months last year—an increase of 923 and perhaps a result of the Korean crisis.

Records for the first eight months of 1950 also point to a higher death rate. Unless there is a substantial decline in deaths in the remainder of the year, the 1950 death toll will be the highest in Iowa in more than a decade, reports Director L. E. Chancellor, director of the vital statistics division of the state department of health.

Marriages have also increased over the similar period in 1949—to the extent of 6.0 per cent. Births have increased in the first eight months of 1950 1.6 per cent over 1949's first eight-month figures.

The highest peak in the number of births occurring in Iowa was in 1947. These preliminary 1950 data indicate that the number of 1950 births will rank second to this 1947 peak.

Marriages reached a post-war peak in 1946 and have been declining each year since. However, these preliminary 1950 figures would indicate a reversal of the downward trend in marriages, adds Mr. Chancellor.

MARGIN of SAFETY

Alertness and preparedness, the margin of safety that protects you against the danger and destruction of fire. Have you checked your electrical wiring lately? Are there oily rags in the open, exposed and ready to burst into flame? Do you have a fire extinguisher handy to stop fires before they become too big? Be alert! Be prepared! Those Volunteer Fire-Fighters Deserve Our Complete Support

Because two members of The Independent staff are members of the Belmond Fire Department, we've been somewhat hesitant about giving our volunteer fire-fighters a long over due pat on the back. But since the writer of these remarks is only an idle bystander like most of you, we've decided that National Fire Prevention Week would be a good time to give credit where credit is due.

Belmond is indeed fortunate to have so capable and conscientious a crew of smoke-eaters. They not only drop everything to respond to every fire call, but they keep astride of all latest developments in fire-fighting technique. More than once, members of the department have literally risked their lives to save property jeopardized by the owner's personal carelessness; and absolutely all they get out of it is an occasional free feed and the satisfaction of a job well done.

We're all, each and every one of us, deeply in the debt of these men. Certainly we're being less than grateful if we expose them to unnecessary hazards through neglect of basic safety precautions such as listed elsewhere in today's paper. Therefor we urge you to read the list—and reflect.

We further urge you to plunk out a couple of bucks for tickets to the annual Firemen's Ball, which is scheduled for next Thursday. Whether you can actually attend or not, this event affords the one occasion during the year that you can—in a small way—express your gratitude for the protection to homes and business establishments that the Belmond Fire Department so efficiently provides.

———O———

We Commend Neighbor M. B. Crabbe For Frank Expression of Opinion

Although The Independent frankly has Republican leanings, and particularly regards the socialistic tendencies and fiscal carelessness of the national administration as inviting targets for criticism, we earnestly try not to be blind to the faults of the G. O. P. and its elected representatives. We don't believe that any paper should invariably support the party of its choice on a "right or wrong" basis.

For that reason we respectfully tip our hat to our Wright county neighbor, Maurice B. Crabbe of the Eagle Grove Eagle. Maurie is not only a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, but he's the party's county chairman. Yet when he, like many of the rest of us, felt that Governor Beardsley had overstepped the bounds of propriety in dabbling with the state liquor commission, the Eagle Grove editor did not hesitate to speak his mind.

"Governor Beardsley made a serious mistake when he stuck his nose into the liquor commission business," Mr. Crabbe declared editorially. After citing several results of the governor's unwarranted interference with the commission's operation, the editorial concluded, "He (the governor) couldn't leave the liquor commission alone, functioning honestly and smoothly, as it was. He had to get into it with the result that he has furnished the Democrats with the first really good campaign material they have had in Iowa for a good many years."

State Democratic headquarters gleefully quotes from the editorial this week in its regular publicity release; and we don't question that many hurt looks will be directed by Republican big-wigs in Maurie Crabbe's direction. It's our belief, though, that such honest criticism by loyal party members is essential to the good health and success of any political faction.

For that reason, we not only make our bow to Mr. Crabbe; but we suggest that he's worth more to his party than any number of mealy-mouthed "yes men".

Of Course, New Dealers Would Say "What's a Mere Million Dollars?"

Maybe this adds up to sense for you. It doesn't to us!

(1). The department of agriculture has been buying up potatoes at $1.68 per hundred -- and selling them back to farmers for fertilizer at a penny per hundred. But when the defense department needed 23½ million pounds of spuds, they were purchased on the open market at $2.95 per hundred pounds. If that $693,250 is tabbed by the administration as legitimate expense to keep potato-raising voters happy, we deem them mighty costly votes.

(2). With the agriculture department already owner of 192 million pounds of butter and adding to its stock at a rate of nine million more per week, the Army in a four-week period purchased over 4,100,000 pounds at a cost of 60.7 cents each. That's about $270,000 for a product the government already had in amply supply.

(3). The USDA has 80 million pounds of cheese on hand, but the defense department plunks out 34.8 per pound for 954,664 pounds. That's $332,223 more.

No doubt any good and true member of the Truman administration would point out that a mere matter of some $1,300,000 is involved in these instances of duplicate buying. And in these days of billion dollars deficits, that's plainly a trifling amount.

In this regard we can only say, "Nevertheless, boys — a million here, a million there; it all adds up, you know!"

———O———

Speaking of "propaganda machines", some members of congress certainly qualify as propagandists par excellence—for themselves. Near the top of the list is Sen. George W. Malone, Nevada Republican, from whom The Independent gets more franked mail than anyone else at the national capitol. Why he feels he must keep us posted regarding his personal opinions on this and that, we don't know. One thing we HAVEN'T found him yapping about is the postal deficit. He has a mighty fine reason to keep his mouth shut on that score.

———O———

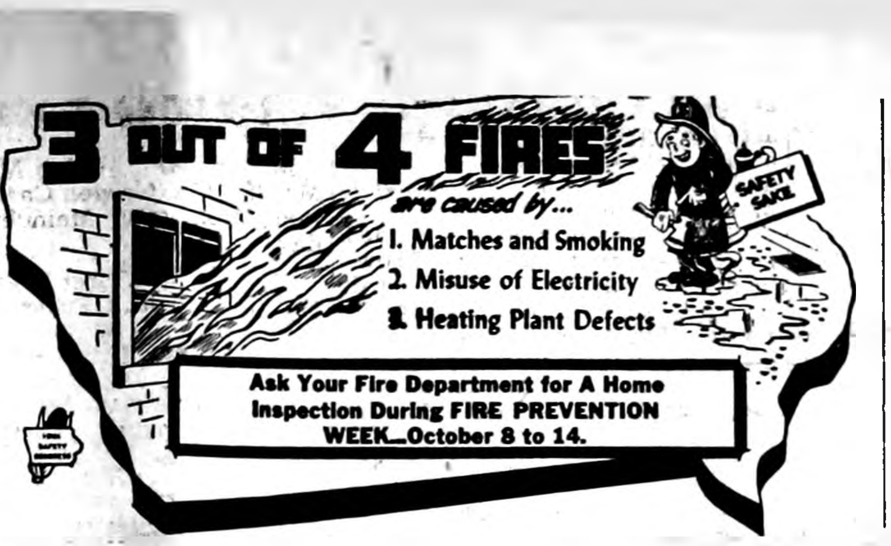
One of our readers has indignantly passed along to us a newspaper clipping regarding a $100,000 survey by the U. S. department of agriculture to determine what percentage of American men wear pajamas. We'd already heard of the project some time ago. In fact, through it we learned that rich men are more likely to wear pajamas than poor men; and that a college grad is liklier to wear 'em than a less educated man. On the other hand, it might surprise you how well we were getting along before we learned these significant facts.

———O———

We've ascertained (through a Democratic source, natch) that Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, the jukebox tycoon, declared $91,000 in campaign expenses for the recent primary—although he was unopposed. His Demo opponent, though he had three rivals for the nomination, boasted of having spent less than $7,500. We'll concede there's a considerable matter of degree involved. Either sum represents a neat tax deduction, though; and we're willing to wager that the difference in expenditures made th Democratic candidate more envious than indignant.

———O———

Offhand, we can think of few cliques that stand in regular need of sound advice on how to win friends and influence people more than those administrative military officers who invariably seek the spotlight after the shootin's over. In the Navy we used to call them LMD "skippers" (Large Mahogany Desk!). Now we see the 1st Marine division is beefing bitterly about "brass" from Tokyo taking the bows during the liberation ceremonies at Seoul -- while the battered leathernecks were kept out of sight. That's one military maneuver that the advent of atomic warfare will have no effect upon.



This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

That roof over your head—looks permanent does it? And the walls of the house around you—seems they might stand for 50 years to come? Think about fire and look again. Maybe your home, your place of business is just standing on a day to day basis.

During the rest of this year in Iowa, home fires will strike one out of every 100 families. During the next five years, one out of every 20 families in the state will scramble for the telephone to call the fire department. The most common cause of these fires will be carelessness with matches and smoking, misuse of electricity and defective heating plants.

These statistics, these common causes of fire, seem to bring the purpose of national fire prevention week close to each one of us. Fire prevention week begins Oct. 8. During this period the Iowa safety congress urges you to think of fire hazards and to correct them. Call your local fire department for a home inspection.

Your fire department is equipped and trained to put out fires, but only you are in a position to prevent fire in your home.

IF You Had A Fire . . .

Would You Have Enough Insurance To Cover Your Loss?

Perhaps, you say to yourself . . .

"Oh, I have enough insurance, if fire should damage my house or its contents."

But, have you? Are you sure?

You know, of course, that most things you own cost far more today to repair or replace.

Unless you want a dig into your own pocket in case of a loss, we suggest you see us and talk things over. Our advice will help you to determine just how much insurance you should carry to adequately PROTECT WHAT YOU HAVE. Remember . . . it's not safe these days to be UNDER insured. Especially since ADEQUATE protection costs little more than not enough protection.

QUESTIONS you'd Hate to have your wife ask about Insurance?

● YOUR FURNISHINGS: "Have we added any articles of value since we last took out insurance? Have any of our furnishings increased in value since then? Have we enough insurance?"

● YOUR SILVERWARE: "If our silverware was destroyed, have we enough insurance to pay for its replacement value?"

● YOUR JEWELRY: "Have we enough insurance to meet our loss if any of my jewelry should be destroyed?"

● YOUR FUR COAT: "Are my furs insured for what they are worth today?"

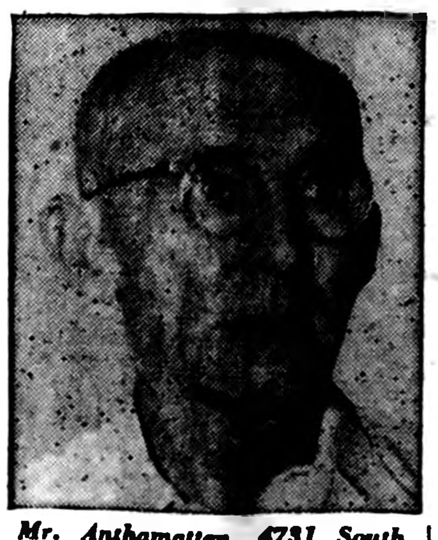
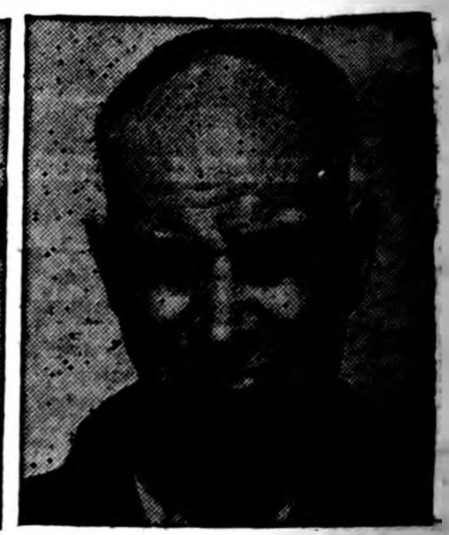
Read How These Folks Benefited Who Had Such Deficiencies



Mr. Anthamatten, 4731 South 32nd West Ave., Tulsa 7, Oklahoma, suffered from stomach distress for quite some time. He had spent much money trying everything possible for relief and was in bad health when he started taking HADACOL. He says, "After taking three bottles of the $3.50 size, I've gained 27 pounds and now eat anything I desire and positively have no trouble." (HADACOL gives such wonderful results because it actually relieves the REAL CAUSE of stomach distress [gas pains, heartburn, indigestion after eating] due to such deficiencies. And continued use of this great HADACOL helps prevent such distress from returning.)

Mrs. Mabel Kitchen, 1650 Amsterdam, Cincinnati, Ohio. "Before I started taking HADACOL I had aches and pains of neuritis in my shoulders, my back and arms. I could hardly move without having those terrible pains. Then I heard about HADACOL. After the second bottle the pains and aches were about gone. I'm now starting my fourth bottle and am on top of the world. I eat well and, best of all, the aches and pains are completely gone." (Mrs. Kitchen is a very smart woman because she relieves the REAL CAUSE of her neuritis pains due to such deficiencies. HADACOL often brings a wonderful improvement within a few days' time.)

Mrs. J. Sciesszinski, 514 Kruger, Ottumwa, Iowa, writes: "My daughter, Marilyn Sue, is 5 years old and for some time lacked pep, had a poor appetite, was generally run-down. Since giving her HADACOL, we have noticed wonderful results . . . she has a much better appetite, eats everything on the table and doesn't seem tired like she used to. Incidentally, she likes to take HADACOL, too." (HADACOL is a great 'builder-upper' for sick, nervous, puny kids whose systems lack precious Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin. A big improvement in their well-being is often noticed within a few days' time after taking the great new HADACOL.)



Mr. Henry Angel, RD No. 1, Springfield, Ohio. "I used to suffer great pain from neuritis aches in all parts of my body, especially in my legs, arms and shoulders. I never got any real relief until I tried HADACOL. After taking several bottles, my pain is all gone. And I'm working every day." (Now there's a smart man! Mr. Angel took HADACOL and relieved the REAL CAUSE of his neuritis pains because they were due to such deficiencies. HADACOL is helping thousands upon thousands of grateful men and women troubled this way. Why don't you give HADACOL a chance to help you? Start taking it today!).

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

It seems rarely to fail that when a Wednesday evening event is written up in advance for the following day's Independent (which is actually printed about Wednesday noon), something queers the story.

We were victimized again last week, when we wrote up the FFA initiation and named the new honorary members — identified for us by Duane Sandage.

What Duane didn't know was that he, too, had been selected by the chapter for honorary membership. Consequently, he didn't tell us; consequently, we didn't tell you . . . Anyway, Mr. Sandage is now an honorary Future Farmer and was duly initiated last week.

—M-S—

Periodically we have the riot act read to us on account of omissions from stories handed in to the paper. We carefully explain the reason stories sometimes have to be cut; but rarely does it do any good. The offended individual goes away just as angry as when he or she (usually she) came in.

Now we wouldn't dream of trying to tell a housewife how to hem a dress, can tomatoes—or even how to dust her furniture. That's not our department. But we are painfully well acquainted with space limitations that constantly plague the editor of a weekly newspaper; and they sometimes force us to cut submitted reports, regardless of the pleasure it would give us to present them in full.

—M-S—

Weddings are a major bone of contention. We frequently receive clippings from larger papers that run close to a column, or even more, in length. If we reduce their length, we know we risk the wrath of the principals involved. If we don't, it may often mean the complete omission of a half dozen or more social affairs in which a large number of our readers are interested. What would YOU do?

One of the portions we sometimes cut from lengthy reports is out-of-town guests lists, involving names familiar only to the small handful of local individuals involved in the event reported. If we had ample space, we would gladly print such lists in full. But when their publication would mean leaving out items involving a couple of dozen townspeople known to ALL of our readers—well, you can see there ARE two sides to this matter of cutting news reports.

—M-S—

We wish we could convince our contributors that we DON'T get out our snickersnee and simply slash stories from devilish delight in mutilating them. We'd much prefer to publish them in full, if space allowed.

But we are under a constant obligation to keep ALL of our readers in mind; and therefor we must insist on the privilege of judging how long any specific story can reasonably be allowed to run. So if the blue pencil makes inroads on a story of YOURS sometime, please be tolerant of us. Rest assured, we're simply trying to be as fair as possible to all.

—M-S—

We have a bit of information to pass along to any and all amateur wine producers in these parts. From the department of internal revenue we learn that wine can be produced for family use (up to 200 gallons) with impugnity if a Form 1541 is filled in duplicate with the Alcohol Tax unit at St. Paul five days before production starts.

And if you change abodes during the year—before the hooch is used up, that is—you must get permission of the District Supervisor of the Tax Unit before transporting the wine to your new cellar . . . Now, if you get snarled up with the law, don't blame us.

—M-S—

That patent medicine company really came up with a lulu in its offer of a life of ease and luxury for some lucky owner of a parrot who succeeds in teaching the bird to say, "I want . . . "(No free advertising from US!)

Says the "Want Ad": "The owner of such a bird, if selected, will be given a reasonable compensation on a contract basis . . owner and parrot will travel throughout the nation in a limosine with the parrot's name engraved in gold on the door and will stay at only the best hotels."

Of course, if the medicine company succeeds in getting several thousand parrot-owners to bite on the deal, the obvious gimmick exists in the multitude of unsuccessful, feathered contenders who will insistently continue their clamor for you-know-what long after the contest has been forgotten. Forgotten, except by their long-suffering masters!

Annual Homecoming Program Near Completion; Game, Coronation of Queen Among Highlights

With the Forest City-Belmond football game as climax of the occasion, plans have been all but completed for the annual Belmond High school Homecoming a week from Friday, Oct. 20.

Festivities will get under way at 7:00 p. m. when a parade will start on its line of march from the city park, south on First Avenue to Main Street, and then east of the football field.

Floats are being entered by each of the seven high school home rooms, by the junior high, Future Farmers of America, and possibly the Future Homemakers of America. Merchants, too, will be invited to provide floats.

Youngsters are also being urged to take part in the parade with decorated bicycles. Cash prizes of $10 for first place and $5.00 for second are offered in the float division of the parade and bicycle prizes of $3.00, $2.00 and $1.00 will be awarded.

Both the Belmond and Forest City High school bands will march in the parade and a special float will bear the Homecoming Queen and her retinue. "Her Highness" will be selected by members of the football squad from a list of eight candidates, two of whom will be elected by each high school class.

The Queen's coronation will be a halftime feature during the game. Both school bands will perform during the game intermission, also.

Concluding event on the program will be the Homecoming dance at the high school gymnasium following the game. Fred Wasicek and his orchestra from Mason City will provide the music. As intermission entertainment the high school girls' trio—Marilyn Ellis, Connie Benson and Adelaide Jenison — will offer several vocal numbers.

Tickets for the dance will be only 50 cents and are now being offered for sale by members of the Student Council. Tickets will also be available at the box office on Friday night.

Mrs. Knoll Wins New Ford Sedan; Johnson Second

When the final subscription had been counted last Friday by Grace C. Koppenhaver, manager of The Independent's circulation contest, and results of the campaign had been verified by the board of judges, Mrs. Lynn Knoll of Kanawha was revealed as winner of the 1950 Ford sedan offered as first prize.

She held a fairly comfortable lead over the next two place winners, Mrs. Henry Johnson of Belmond and Mrs. Donna Boller of Goodell, but only a very narrow margin separated the second and third place totals.

Mrs. Homer U. Ness of Olaf won fourth prize and Mrs. Glenn Eccles of Belmond was fifth. The three judges provided The Independent with the following statement:

To Whom It May Concern:

We, the undersigned, acting as judges in the "Good Will" circulation campaign for The Belmond Independent, have examined the records and have found them to be correct and as tabulated below.

First — Mrs. Lynn Knoll, 85,565,000 votes; second — Mrs. Henry Johnson, 73,292,700; third—Mrs. Donna Boller, 71,624,000; fourth—Mrs. Homer U. Ness, 65,050,000.

Signed, George H. Infelt
E. J. Elliott
A. W. Loats

Mrs. Eccles' vote total was 40,418,000. Except for Mrs. Knoll and Mrs. Johnson, whose prize award amounted to $400, all of the contestants received more in commissions than the cash prize offered for their respective places. They were told in advance they would have the option of commissions, in lieu of prize award, if it proved to their advantage.

Instead of the $200 third prize, Mrs. Boller claimed $293.15 in commissions and Mrs. Ness received $179.70 in place of the $100 fourth prize. Mrs. Eccles' commissions also exceeded the amount of the official fourth prize award, totaling $117.65.

All told, 482 new names were added to The Independent's circulation list and 846 current subscribers renewed their subscriptions for periods of one to three years.

Mrs. Koppenhaver had complete praise for the contestants who participated in the contest and commended all for the high standard of competition that was maintained throughout the campaign.

"PATRIOTIC SERVICE" KEYNOTES AUXILIARY'S DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

"Patriotic service will keynote the activities of the American Legion Auxiliary during the coming year," Mrs. Marian Pals, president of the Belmond Auxiliary units announced today as the organization began enrollment of members for 1951.

Already the largest women's patriotic organization in the United States, with nearly one million members, the Auxiliary is seeking a large enrollment increase during the coming year in order to expand its activities. Invitations to enroll are being extended to all women of war service families in the community.

"The coming year will see the Auxiliary in action by the side of the Legion in all forms of patriotic activities," says Mrs. Pals. "Our program will be geared to the needs of the times, as our nation endeavors to lead the free peoples of the world in the struggle against aggression. Every Auxiliary member will have full opportunity to do her part.

"Anyone who at this time sits on the sidelines and does less than she can to serve her country, is in effect, giving aid and comfort to the enemy," the unit president declares. Belmond's Auxiliary included about 90 women last year and Mrs. Pals hopes this mark can be surpassed by an appreciable margin for 1951.

Ike Waltons Plan Meeting Tuesday

A county-wide meeting of the Isaac Walton league will be held at Veterans' Memorial hall here next Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Main object of the gathering will be to revive local interest in the county organization of the "Ikes" and line up members from this community.

Joe L. Larson of Goldfield, president of the Wright county chapter, will conduct the meeting. He points out that all sportsmen have a stake in the projects and purposes of the league and he believes Belmond anglers and hunters will be willing to lend it the support it deserves.

Only recently the county organization installed a cattle guard at the pasture entry south of Morse lake so that anglers and hunters will no longer have to bother with a gate at that point. President Larson cited this as a typical project undertaken for the benefit of sportsman and landowner, alike.

Two entertaining and educational films have been obtained for showing at next Tuesday's meeting, "Trigger-Happy Harry" and "Our Five Best in Game". Another feature of the evening will be a talk by Clark McNeal on the subject of conservation.

A free lunch will be served at the conclusion of the meeting. Joe Larson and other officers of the league issue a cordial invitation to all sportsmen of the Belmond area to attend county gathering.

Six in One Auto Hurt in Collision Sunday Afternoon

Six occupants of a single car were injured Sunday about 5:45 p. m. in a collision on the county road six miles south and three miles east of Clarion, three of the victims suffering brain concussions.

According to the report of Patrolman Harland Sievers, there is clear vision in all directions from the road crossing. Robert Dishman, 25, of Clarion was driver of the car whose occupants were injured. Roger Mechem, 15, of Galt was at the wheel of the other vehicle.

In the court of Mayor Chet Buchan at Clarion on Monday morning, the youthful driver's father—Max. A. Mechem—was fined $10 and costs for permitting a person without a valid license to drive his car. The boy possessed only a school driving permit.

Dishman's wife Beverly, 23, suffered a brain concussion and sprained ankle; and his eight-month-old daughter Renee, a concussion and severe head bruises. Dishman received facial cuts and a bruised knee. Randy, his two-year-old son, was unhurt.

Other occupants of the Dishman car were John Terry, 22, whose injuries consisted of a sprained wrist and cut lip; Betty Terry, 22, his wife, who suffered a back injury; and the Terrys' 20-month-old son, John, Jr., a brain concussion.

Roger Mechem and a younger brother, Larry, only ones in the second car, were unhurt.

Dishman was headed north and Mechem east when the collision occurred. Patrolman Sievers says position of the cars after the accident indicated Dishman's car was traveling considerably the faster. The youth's car struck Dishman's at the left door. About $300 damage was done to Dishman's car and $150 to Mechem's.

Sheriff Bob Blecker, who was with Sievers at the scene of the Dishman accident, reports that several other lesser traffic mishaps kept him on the jump Sunday.

Among them was a collision in the morning between cars driven by Paul McNulty of Belmond and Mrs. Leo Hunst of Clarion. About $250 damage was done to McNulty's '47 Pontiac and about $75 to the Hunst '41 Plymouth.

60th Anniversary Of St. Olaf's Aid Observed Friday

Two charter members — Julia Jacobson and Mrs. Mons Oustad —were present as the Ladies Aid of St. Olaf's Lutheran church last Friday observed its sixtieth anniversary with a special program. Ninety-five Aid members and friends participated in the memorable occasion.

Among the particularly interesting parts of the program were the following: a history of the St. Olaf Ladies Aid, presented by Mrs. Jon Rokke; secretary's reports in Norwegian, Mrs. Tillie Ben-Benson; a solo in Norwegian by Rev. I. Marthinussen, visiting evangelist.

"Interesting Bits from the Past", given by Mrs. Harold Simerson; report on "The South Aid" by Mrs. Otto Tegland; and figures from past treasurers books, Mrs. Abner Toftey.

Devotion was led by Mrs. O. M. Severseike, a welcome was given by Mrs. Clarence Johnson and greetings from former members were read and roll call was conducted by Mrs. Chester Hill. A memorial service was led by Mrs. Thomas Mathre.

Musical numbers included an organ and piano duet by Mrs. Mathre and Mrs. Eldon Eliason and group singing of the hymns, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds".

Approximately $60 was received in the free will offering, which will be added to the "In Memoriam" department of the Sa. Olaf's Woman's Missionary Federation.

Cattle Men Will Meet Next Week

Beef cattle outlook and feeder supplies are the two main subjects that will be discussed at the fall meeting of the Wright County Cattle Feeder's association next Wednesday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall in Clarion.

The beef cattle outlook information will be given by H. B. Howell, extension economist from Iowa State college. Feeder cattle supplies will be discussed by Lyle Lamphere, director of public relations of the Central Livestock association, Inc., of South St. Paul, Minn.

One feature of the program will be awarding the prize, a $15 hat, to the cattle feeder who guessed the nearest at the spring meeting to the price of the top-car-load of fat cattle this fall at Chicago for the week of Oct. 1 to 7. The average of the 185 guesses on Feb. 21, 1950 was $33.19.

A generous helping of Double-A grade swiss steak will be the big item on the menu of the cattle feeder's dinner. One hundred and fifty pounds of this top quality beef will be used to serve the 200 expected at the dinner. Only 200 tickets will be sold.

IT WAS A GREAT DAY FOR THE KNOLLS of Kanawha last Friday when Editor Pat Gallagher turned over to Mrs. Lynn (Donna) Knoll the keys to the gleaming new Ford she had won in this paper's "Good Will" circulation contest. Interested competitors of Mrs. Knoll's, looking on, are — left to right: Mrs. Glenn Eccles of Belmond, Mrs. Homer U. Ness of Olaf, Mrs. Henry Johnson of Belmond and Mrs. Donna Boller of Goodell. Their disappointment at not getting the car was considerably assuaged by the fact that they shared in cash prizes and commissions totaling over $990. Mrs. Johnson got the $440 second prize.

Have Those Corn-n-Bean Jars Ready to Fill: Infelt

GEORGE INFELT
Countin' Them Out . . .
"1,111 - 1,112 - 1,113 - 1,114"

Chamber of Commerce President George Infelt urges Belmond's business men to be keeping a watchful eye out for a bottle or other recepticle that will make a deceptive container for corn or soybeans.

"We want to give everybody a fair chance to win a window prize during the Corn-n-Bean Day guessing contest," says the C-of-C mogul. "This can be best assured by putting the grain in bottles of odd shape and size or articles of merchandise that will lend themselves to the purpose. Coffee-makers, toy wagons, and like have been suggested.

"We don't want it possible for some ambitious individual to get an advantage in the contest by counting out the number of kernels or beans in a standard pint or quart—so avoid those sizes."

Plans rapidly are being completed for Belmond's Corn-n-Bean Day on Saturday of next week, Oct. 21. Chamber representatives will visit the various business houses next Wednesday to ladle out the soybeans and corn for containers. Each merchant is to have on hand a notebook in which numerical guesses can be registered.

Guesses can be written down any time up to the Saturday night closing hour; and there is no limit to the number of guesses one person can make.

"Professor Mark Question" will be on hand for quiz sessions both in the afternoon and evening of Oct. 21, under the auspices of General Mills grocery division. Local food stores will cooperate with the professor by featuring GMI products in their advertising for the weekend.

Both the local General Mills plant and Thompson's Hybrid Corn company are lending the Chamber of Commerce project special support. They are providing cash awards to be given for correct answers to the queries of "Professor Mark Question." A wide variety of merchandise prizes will also be handed out by the "prof".

Mr. Infelt reminds Belmond shoppers that window prizes can be claimed the Saturday following Corn-n-Bean Day. This provision was adopted so an early registration deadline would not have to be set for Oct. 21 to make possible the determining of winners' names on that date.

Draft Call Goes To 8 for Oct. 25

Notice of call has been received by the Wright county local selective service board to deliver eight men for induction on Oct. 25 and names of the selectees have been released by Elaine Schmidt, draft board clerk.

Three of the men drawn are from Belmond—Gordon Quandt, Chair Hanson and Jacob Eekhoff. Others on the list are Howard Tulp of Rowan, Donald Martin and Lloyd Steffenson of Clarion, Lyle Nelson and Donald Hammond of Eagle Grove.

Countermanding an order received last month, Iowa's selective service headquarters has been notified that registrants from this state will until further notice be sent to the 6th Armored Division, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., for processing and basic training.

Previously it had been stated that Iowa inductees—instead of going to Fort Riley, Kans., as in past months—would be sent to the 3rd Armored Division at Fort Knox, Ky.

Clerk Elaine Schmidt reports that, besides the Oct. 25th call, the local board has been ordered to send 28 registrants to Des Moines for draft examinations on Oct. 23.

H. S. Music Departments Plan Stage Entertainment Oct. 25th

Whistles of glee and—well, just whistles — are anticipated when good old-fashioned vaudeville returns to the local boards at 8:00 o'clock Wednesday evening, Oct. 25, in the form of a musical entertainment sponsored by the high school music departments.

Complete with chorus line, minstrels and a stage band, the entertainment will be presented in three parts: "The Gay 'Nineties", "The "The Roaring 'Twenties" and "Minstrel Show".

Od-timers will be regaled with such vocal favorites as "Hot Time in the Old Town" and "Shine On Harvest Moon" and a medley of tunes from the period of World War I.

Seven nifties will compose the chorus line-up: Maxine Gartz, Connie Benson, Dixie Carstens, Helen Gabrielson, Betty Clare Henderson, Adelaide Jenison and Frances Palmer.

Featured soloists in the vocal numbers will be Arnette Ter Hark, Marilyn Ellis, Mary Lou Baker and Dick Elliott. Miss Ellis will also appear in a duet with Paul Griesy.

Dick Elliott will "double in brass" by serving also as interlocutor for the minstrel show. His "end men" will be Odean Severseike and Mike O'Connor.

Band Director Duane Cunning, himself, will head the brass section of the show band, abetted by Ruth Kalkwarf, Doris Mourlam and Richard Goeman. Others in the aggregation are: saxophones—Aileen Kalkwarf, Doris Kickbush, Eleanor Dorr and Joan Dorr; clarinets—Judy Baker, Deloris Nelson, Gertrude McLaughlin and Margo Gowdy; drums—Dick Eliott; and piano—Maxine Gartz.

The entire production will be under the direction of Mr. Hugh and Mrs. Eldoris Bunnell, head of the vocal music department.

WHAT IF FIRE STRUCK YOUR HOME?

Members of the Belmond Fire Department were greatly dismayed in the course of Fire Prevention Week inspections in the business district to discover how few individuals know the dial number that calls forth the fire truck. The FIRE number—and it's a good one to REMEMBER—is

Even some members of the volunteer fire-fighting force were obliged to admit they didn't know, offhand, the proper number to call . . . Incidentally, the firemen were well pleased to discover during the downtown inspection that most businessmen are doing an excellent job of keeping their premises free of fire hazards.

Robert Ketchum Rallying From Spinal Operation

At the latest reports, he was rallying from the operation. His address is Robert Ketchum, 2-271, St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Methodist church in Livermore, Velma Darlene Osborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborn of Fort Dodge, was united in marriage with Burl Burneil Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones of Rowan. Rev. Robert Phillips, pastor of the church, read the double-ring ceremony.

The altar of the church was decorated with large baskets of yellow roses. Preceding the ceremony, Nina Heathershaw of Rowan, played several piano selections and Donna Jean Keleher sang before and after the wedding rites.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a formal wedding dress of white satin and lace. A tiara of pearls held her veil in place, and she carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Miss Groom wore a rose formal and Miss Osborn an American Beauty formal. Both carried colonial bouquets of white carnations. The reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was decorated in her chosen colors of yellow and white . A three-tiered wedding cake centered the atble.

Blake-Denny Rites Performed Here on Tuesday of Last Week

In a pretty ceremony Tuesday morning of last week, Miss Kathryn Ann Blake, daughter of Benjamin F. Blake of Belmond, wed Robert B. Denny, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Denney of Garner. Rev. R. A. Ormsby read the nuptial mass.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a colonial styled gown of white Chantilly lace and a veil of imported silk illusion which fell from a satin Juliet cap. Her jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet fashioned of sweetheart roses, feathered "mums" and stephanotis with lace streamers.

Mrs. W. S. Pritchard, Jr., of Garner, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. She wore a colonial styled dress of yellow satin trimmed with yellow lace and net, and matching satin bonnet and mitts. She carried a bouquet of tiny yellow "mums" and sunburst roses centering a large bronze chrysanthemum from which fell rose and gold satin streamers.

Kathy Sue Pritchard, niece of the bride, as flower girl wore a period gown of blue taffeta and net trimmed with tiny pink roses and pink velvet ribbon. Her bonnet was blue as was the net ruffle that outlined the miniature bouquet she carried.

W. S. Pritchard, Jr., served as best man. The ushers were John S. Pritchard and Patrick O'Harrow of Mason City. The men wore blue-gray business suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party was served breakfast at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. E. Bock.

At noon, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Pritchard, Jr., entertained the bridal party, relatives and out-of-town guests at a buffet luncheon. Forty-five guests attended.

A reception was held from 2:00 until 4:00 in the afternoon at the Clear Lake Country club for 150 guests. The table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake in pastel colors topped by a miniature bride and groom. Other table dceorations were white lighted tapers in crystal candelabra and white bouquets.

Helen Engstler of Garner presided at the coffee table, assisted by Betty Clare Henderson. Mrs. M. C. Barry of Iowa City and Maye Tracy of Clarion had charge of the gifts. Elaine Denney and Peggy Pritchard were in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Iowa State Teachers college and a former Belmond teacher. For the past several years she has been teaching at Fort Dodge. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi. She had lately been serving as first vice-president of the Iowa State Association for Childhood Education.

The groom, a graduate of Garner High school, is associated with the Bud Pritchard Auto company at Garner.

With three North Iowa conference games behind them, Buffalo Center's gridders have to date failed to score in any first half—but have crossed the goal line 10 times in the composite final two quarters. Last Friday night on the Bison's field, Belmond was third victim of their habitual, concluding onslaught by a 19-6 tally.

Bob Burger and Ronnie Fredericks proved more than the Broncos could handle, throughout the game, but miscues in the first half kept the victors hobbled and permitted Belmond to retain a 0-0 deadlock to the rest period. Buffalo Center's superiority during the initial two quarters was manifested by their yardage advantage, however.

Up to the intermission, the Bison rolled up 133 yards from scrimmage (exactly the total Belmond posted for the entire game), while Belmond gained only 43 yards. Even so, Belmond came the closest to scoring.

Midway in the opening stanza, Buffalo Center quick-kicked on a third down from its own 26-yard line and punt was blocked, Belmond recovering the ball on the 13. Riggs spurted off tackle for 10 yards to make it first down on the three-yard stripe.

After another try by Riggs proved fruitless, Marlyn Watermiller advanced to the goal line but the officials declared his forward motion had stopped some three or four inches short. On the next play a pitch-out went awry when some Bronc got confused on his assignment and an 11-yard loss resulted. Riggs' fourth-down try was good for six, but was still five yards short of pay dirt.

Buffalo Center started marching from the five-yard line and in six plays had progressed to Belmond's 38, a 28-yard slash by Fredericks featuring the advance. Then a fumble cost the Bison two yards and on the next play Bill Trees and Bob Erdman spilled Fredericks for a 10-yard loss, forcing the host team to kick.

Belmond gained one first down on a nifty 21-yard pass play, Don Faris to Vernon Meyer, but the offense then sputtered and a punt was required. Starting from their own 25, the Bison marched to the Broncos' 12 on a series of 14 plays. At that point, time ran out on them as a final pass across the goal line fell incomplete.
